An attractive jabot for your mother can be made from velvet ribbon which has been looped up at each end to conceal cut edges. Strips of rhinestone trimming, available at notion counters, add twinkle.

Interesting gifts may also be made from woven-straw mats, according to Dorothy Layfield Murray, who is noted for her designs in this material.

An inexpensive photograph album may be glorified by folding mats around the front and back covers, and, on the front, hand-stitching designs appropriate to the recipient's interests.

A handsome desk blotter may be made by stitching together two mats, and adding both name and decorative trim of millinery braid. A commercial blotter, in a shade to match the braid, is slipped inside. A pencil holder may be made from a strip of matting, a circle of cork for the bottom, and braid fastened into place with carpet tacks.

Shopping Takes On Thrill Hunting Gifts For Children

Christmas shopping takes on an added thrill when you're hunting a gift for the youngsters!

For the small boy, there are T-shirts emblazoned with their favorite cowboy, radio or television hero. Team one of these with a pair of rugged jeans and you'll be giving him his favorite play-time outfit.

Little girls of the grammar school set are surprisingly fashion-minded! They love cute little sweaters, frilly cotton blouses, a perky little raincoat with matching cap or umbrella, or cleverly styled pyjamas. Just browse around the girls' department and see all the adorable togs for little girls!

Your favorite book shop or department will yield a wealth of gift ideas. There's a wide choice of titles for the little tykes, from the classic children's books to modern stories that are well-illustrated and written especially for the particular age group.

World Globe

For the older child, consider a handsome world globe or an atlas to further his interest in geography. You'll find many fine one-volumed encyclopedia and reference books that children will be proud to own.

If the child has a particular talent or hobby, seek out gifts to further his interest. Your gift shopping may take you to a hobby shop or art store. But the unabashed joy when he opens your gift will be well worth the extra effort.

Girls of all ages love jewelry! For the tiny tot there are dainty little lockets and bracelets. A smart idea is the expansion bracelet, usually styled with a locket heart centre.

The teen-ager would love one of the new dangle bracelets. They're styled with a clever little gadget attached to a link bracelet.

You'll be cherished always if you're the one to give the teen-age girl her first set of toiletries. Many famous houses are putting out beautifully packaged sets of beauty care essentials, especially for young skins. Your gift will make her feel so grown-up!

Boys in their teens are fond of dressing in a blaze of color these days! They'll love a gift in the new fluorescent fabric that comes in terrifically bright colors. You can give a windbreaker jacket, shirt, cap, socks or shoe laces in this fabric—and he'll be delighted.

Popular With Boys

Sports shirts, casual jackets, robes, pyjamas that are styled like his Dad's are always popular with boys. Popular for school wear are the new jackets of weather-proof fabric that resists wind and rain.

If you're buying wearables for boys, choose something rugged and in a style that's popular with the gang.

For the high school crowd, you can't go wrong if you give them phonograph records featuring their favorites. The sales-person in the record department can readily tell you the best-loved musicians and help you make your choice. Hi-schoolers love having a record collection for their jam sessions.

OCEAN DOTS

The Scilly Islands 25 miles from Lands End in Cornwall consist of about 40 islets with a total area of 4,000 acres.

Africans Need British Theatre Stars

JOHANNESBURG (CP) — The South African theatre, largely dependent on British touring companies, has seen very few leading British actors in recent years. Post-war conditions in the British theatre are mainly responsible.

"The war created insuperable difficulties in the way of assembling and transporting professional companies to South Africa on a scale comparing with the pre-war period," explains A. H. Stodel, manager of South Africa's leading theatre and movie organization.

As a result, many well-known British actors turned to other fields, especially radio. The security offered by radio work won many players over from the touring theatre. Film companies were also constantly on the watch for talent.

Rising Costs

On the other hand, South Africa and other overseas fields seeking talent in London were faced with steeply rising costs in all aspects of the theatre—talent, copyright, production and transport.

"London, as always, continues the magnet both for actor and playgoer," said Mr. Stodel. "Notwithstanding the living problems in England, plus high taxation, there is a big proportion of actors who have not wanted to leave the capital and venture on tours abroad."

Stodel expressed hope for a change. "It is almost a tradition in entertainment business that tastes run in cycles," he said. The fact that the cycle was changing again in favor of the stage had been demonstrated here this year, when stage shows did good business.

"In London," he added, "certain West End names associated with successful plays are prepared to discuss the touring of their productions. We are about to get life into the South African theatre again."

Kingston Paper Has Anniversary

KINGSTON, Dec. 3—(CP)—The Kingston Whig-Standard Saturday celebrated its 25th anniversary as this city's only daily newspaper. It was formed Dec. 1, 1926, with the amalgamation of the Kingston Daily Standard and the Daily British Whig.

Eleven staff members who have been with the paper since it started were presented with long-service awards at an anniversary dinner. They were W. M. Ashton, W. J. Breen, C. A. Devlin, F. E. Garrigan, J. V. Carrigan, J. E. Gibson, Miss E. I. Gwatkin, H. L. McCrum, Isabel Myles, C. A. Reynolds and A. E. Salsbury.

A contrast in region as well as in mood is offered by these two table settings. The warm Christmases of the South are suggested by quietly-elegant arrangement of camellias and holly which repeat the green-and-white color scheme set by two-tone china, monogrammed napkins and net-over-felt table covering. The stark beauty of glittering icicles on bare black limbs, complemented by clean-lined modern china, silver and glassware (left) is suitable for Yule season in the snowy North.

Imagination Can Convert Table Into Banquet Board

Christmas dinners in many homes this year will no doubt feel the sharp edge of the high cost of living, with lavish touches of yesteryear lopped off the traditional menu as unnecessary trifles.

There's no need, however, for the air of festivity to be lacking from your table simply because stuffed pork chops must be substituted for your usual suckling pig. Imaginative table decorations can make of any meal a feast.

Converting your dinner table into a banquet board need not strain your already overstretched budget. Highly effective arrangements can be concooted from what you find discarded in the attic or the garage, tucked away in your Christmas-decoration box, or growing in your own back yard.

If you've an old table in decrepit condition, you can salvage enough raw material to create one of the most ingenious arrangements ever praised by family or friends. Simply saw the legs into appropriate lengths and convert them into candle holders.

To make these wooden candlesticks, drill a hole in one end to fit the candle and square off the other end so that it will stand firm and level.

The next step, according to Peter Hunt, Provincetown artist who originated this idea, is to sit down with a paint brush and several cans of paint, and simply let your artistic instincts lead you in whatever direction they will.

The brighter the colors you choose, the gayer your candlesticks will look; the more lavish your designs, the more fitting to the general abandonment of the season.

A table setting traditionally Southern in feeling may be created by a festive-minded hostess at very little cost. The tablecloth used in the elegantly-simple arrangement is of dark green felt, which is covered with an overlayer of white net to set the color scheme.

The felt is allowed to hang to the floor, giving the table an air of Victorian opulence that harmonizes well with the rich design of the sterling flatware. The net, which overhangs the table edge by about ten inches, is scalloped around its border. A small plate is an excellent aid in creating this scalloped design.

The striking green and white are repeated in a garland of holly and white camellias which is twined the length of the table. Artificial snow, sprinkled upon the green, adds a touch of restrained glitter. Christmas roses, or any white December flower, may be substituted for the camellias.

The same feeling of tasteful richness is carried out in the china, which is bordered with a jade-colored band, in the handsome water goblets, and in the monogrammed napkins of linen damask.

The icy breath of the North wind is suggested in a table setting appropriate for a hearty Yankee dinner. The bare branch of a tree, treated with molten plastic to simulate, very realistically, icicles is thrust upright in a bank of living ivy which has been touched here and there with silver paint. A cluster of silver Christmas balls further highlights this simple centerpiece.

Plain white china, including a service plate banded in platinum, harmonizes well with the mood of icy brilliance set by the table decoration. With this simple modern china is used clean-lined but handsome flatware in a morning star pattern and water goblets of stark, uncluttered beauty.

EARLY CANALS

The Imperiel Canal of China running about 650 miles from Hang-Chau to Tientsin was built in ancient times.

Bright peasant art adds a touch of holiday gaiety to these candle-holders, which were fashioned from sections of old, discarded table legs.

Of Interest to Women

This Christmas belle becomes queen of the ball with this bubble crown which glitters with king's ransom magnificence at penny-bank cost. Self-stem Christmas tree ornaments and silver pipe cleaners are only materials needed for this regal hair accessory.

For The Christmas Belles Here Are Some Suggestions

Many women, feeling that the Christmas season calls for something special in the way of personal adornment, are discouraged when a trek through the shops produces nothing more exciting than some colored pine cones or a cluster of holly berries. The answer is to make your own.

A decided conversation piece is a bubble crown which bestows regality upon its wearer at pin money cost. All that's needed to create this gleaming magnificence is a handful of Christmas tree balls—the kind that self-stems and a half-dozen pipe cleaners.

Silver pipe cleaners, which catch the eye with a tinsely glitter, are available at your florist. Twist these into a circle to fit the crown of your head, then loop on additional cleaners to form pegs for the silver balls. Attach the ornaments, and then you're all set to be the most brilliant Christmas belle at the ball.

To peek coyly from beneath the hem of a swishing formal, here's another idea involving pipe cleaners. They're of red chenille this time paired with red metallic thread which is available at needlework counters.

A Juliet cap of green metallic and white chenille pipe cleaners twisted together, studded with starry white straw flowers, is a gay touch for a teen-ager dressed for holiday fun.

Gleaming butterflies, made of red metallic thread and red chenille pipe cleaners, twinkle on toes peeking from beneath skirt adorned with matching gossamer-winged insects.

To make a holiday-happy butterfly to perch upon each shoe, begin by looping the metallic thread in figure-eight fashion around the thumb and little finger of your left hand. Continue winding until there's enough thickness for fluffy wings.

The body and the feelers of the gossamer insect are made of red pipe cleaners, which are looped under at the bottom to form little hooks for securing the butterflies to your slippers.

Create A Stir

A Juliet cap is an accessory that's sure to create a stir of admiration at teen-age holiday festivities. Pipe cleaners are again the heroes of the tale.

Green metallic and white chenille ones are twined together to form a circle to fit the head, and to serve as cross bars from ear to ear and from front to back. Little white straw flowers, tacked on around the circle and at the peak of the cap, give a translucent delicacy to the design. Aqua glitter, sprinkled onto their centers to which you've dropped a bit of glue, adds a final touch of seasonal sparkle.

Straw flowers are used again to make an arresting wristlet to wear on formal occasions. Fresh ivy leaves, bordered with silver glitter which has been applied to an edging of glue, form effective, glossy-green background for the snow-white flowers. The arrangement is secured to the wrist with green chenille pipe cleaners.

If it's a suit or a tailored dress you're wearing, a Victorian Christmas posy is the thing to proclaim your holiday spirit. To make a backing for the little nose-gay, pleat red metallic paper into a small circle. Onto this attach in layers ivy leaves and white straw flowers, ending with a single perfect blossom standing out in the center like a Christmas star against the green.

A wristlet of white straw flowers, glowing against a setting of ivy leaves edged with silver paint, adds a handsome complement to any formal gown.

Blind Girls Expert In Make-Up Art

MONTREAL — (CP)—Do you think you could put your make-up on and set your hair in the dark and still be confident of your grooming?

Well, there's a group of young blind women and girls in Montreal who, in effect, do just that and who can put most women who have the advantage of sight to shame when it comes to "putting a new face on."

Recently the group staged a make-up demonstration. Seated in front of little tables covered with all the paraphernalia employed in the subtle art of gilding the human lily, each sightless woman did a perfect job on her own face and hair-do.

The only concession to their lack of sight was the addition of Braille labels on the bottles and jars.

The skill of the group is the result of a unique make-up course given them by a beauty salon of a Montreal store.

Experimented First

The salon girls had to prepare themselves to teach the blind, trying various methods on themselves in the dark and in doing so learned a lot about themselves.

They found the best way for a sightless person to apply rouge was as follows: wit hone finger of each hand take a dab of cream rouge, rub the fingers together to make sure each has an equal amount of color, then apply it first at a point at the top of the cheekbone, directly beneath the centre of the eye and work it out across the cheek.

But, they didn't have to teach them to apply lipstick. They found that for some reason the blind women are more adept than they themselves are.

These Christmas gifts for her look glamorous, are practical from a woman's point of view. Robe (left) is budget-priced bemberg quilted crepe. Tiny evening purse (upper center) in bemberg brocade has own matching compact and lipstick and a small price. Maltese cross (upper center) is studded with colorful cabachons, is worn at the hipline. Necklace and bracelet (lower center) are in Far-Eastern mood of design. Black velvet lounging pajamas (upper right) have pink brocade coolie coat. Unique timepiece (lower right) folds like an envelope, can be used as watch for night-table. Every gift here will be useful long after the holidays.

Few Men Know The Rules When Shopping for Women

Even during the Christmas season, there are rules about shopping. But it's the women who know them, not the men.

Men are abashed about shopping for women. They take the first large, economy size bottle of French perfume or the first black lace lingerie the salesgirl shoves at them. They know there must be something around in the stores that women like. But what, they can't imagine.

They need help. They need to know how to pick things that women won't exchange on Dec. 26 and they need to consider their wallets when they shop.

Costume jewelry is a good place to start. A handsome Maltese cross, for instance, looks inexpensive pinned at the hipline of a suit. But it costs little.

The same thing can be said for necklace, earrings and bracelet in twisted gold, tipped with Oriental spikes. And it holds true for a watch that flips shut like an envelope, slips readily into a handbag. It can double as a watch on a bedside table because it can stand upright.

Lounging Pyjamas

Brunch coats and lounging pyjamas are popular as Christmas gifts and with good reason. They're priced as reasonably as you like and they're the kind of gift any woman loves but hesitates to buy for herself.

Lounging pyjamas in black velvet bemberg topped by a pink brocade coolie coat with tremendous sleeves are pretty an inexpensive. Mandarin collar, sleeves and jacket bottom are edged in velvet.

A brunch coat would look equally nice in a big white box under the tree on Christmas morning. Pick one that's washable, in a pale yellow quilted bemberg crepe. Lovely at breakfast on Christmas Day and for many days thereafter.

One of the many small gifts that looks luxurious and is priced for pennies is a tiny evening purse in rich pastel bemberg brocade. It comes equipped with matching compact and lipstick.

The French purse in metallic bemberg brocade is a wonderful and deceptive gift; deceptive because it looks so trim and flat and actually holds so much. Inexpensive, too, though it has a costly look.

There are just starters. There are also checkbook covers in velvet studded with rhinestone crowns. There are glasses and comb cases in beaded velvets. Or satin belts alight with iridescent bugle beads.

For the older woman try a spray of red velvet rosebuds on navy satin stems or black velvet roses with rhinestone dewdrops shining on the petals. Or she might like an engagement book or shopping list case in lovely silk brocade. All of these gifts any woman would love to own and none of them are costly.

Mark St. CGIT Makes $130. At Christmas Bazaar, Tea

With wonderful support received from the ladies of Mark St. congregation and friends, the CGIT girls of Mark St. realized from their Christmas tea and bazaar Saturday a sum over $130. The support was earned by the girls who worked hard to make up attractive items for the bazaar table, and their decorative ability turned the church basement into a delighful Christmas fairyland for the afternoon.

Mrs. B. S. Morwood and other leaders and the mothers assisted the girls in making this event such a success. Mrs. Morwood received throughout the tea hours, assisted by Pat Berry and Ruth Hendren in turn, and Margaret Fell was taking the tickets.

A nursery for the guests' children was operated by Alma Hendren and Eunice Weaver.

The tea table with a Christmas scene as centrepiece was lighted with red candles and highlighted with glittering balls in tree form. Filling the tea cups were Mrs. G. Eason, Mrs. R. Hendren, Mrs. A. E. Denure and Mrs. F. Samis and servers, under the direction of Mrs. Georoge Bennett, were Karen Hopcroft, Shirley Cordell, Janice Berry, Betty Found, Sandra Bickell, Donna McConnachie, Margo Jennings and Dorothy Dickson.

Mothers assisting in the kitchen were Mrs. Carlyle Ferguson, Mrs. M. Clysdale, Mrs. A. Roberts, Mrs. R. J. Miller and Mrs. W. H. Powell.

Piano music was played during the tea by Arlene Clysdale and Nancy Wilson and Shirley and Margaret Fell contributed a piano duet.

The bazaar table, just loaded with crafts, was in charge of Mrs. L. Pepper, leader, and Sally McMullen, Pat Elliott, Karen Johnson, Nancy Wilson, Barbara Bonnie, Lillian Fulton and Marion Eggleton.

The bake table, in charge of Mrs. A. Ferguson, was attended by Arlene Clysdale, Pat McNeely, Gail Ferguson, Gloria Whatman, Jean Price and Joan Francis.

The post office was in charge of Hilary Powell and Dolly Price and the fish pond operated by Carol O'Dette, Florence Miller and Vesta Chute, with Miss Leitha Mansell, leader, in charge.

Leaders Mrs. Jean Murray and Miss Nancy Walsh also assisted with the affair.

Canadian Scottish Pay Tribute To Saint Andrew

It was all for Scotland and not a dissenting voice was raised during the St. Andrew's Day supper dance held Saturday evening by the Canadian Scottish Club of Peterborough. The program was opened in the Legion Hall with the Pipe Band playing "My Home" and during intermission the pipers entertained with several medleys.

The dance began with a grand march to the tune of "Bonnie Dundee" played by the orchestra, with club president David Leckie and Mrs. Leckie in the lead. Among the guests was Mr. M. J. Swanston, making his second last public appearance as mayor, accompanied by Mrs. Swanston.

ChristmasEgg-Nog Serve 25 Persons

The following recipe will serve about 25 persons.

Six eggs, 2-3 cup sugar, 1½ quarts milk, ½ teaspoon salt, 1½ quarts light cream, 2 tablespoons vanilla, 1 cup heavy cream, and grated nutmeg.

Beat eggs and sugar together until the sugar is all dissolved. Add milk, salt, and then chill in the refrigerator overnight, or for a minimum of four hours.

When ready to serve, add the chilled light cream and then the vanilla. Pour into punch bowl. Beat cold heavy cream until real frothy, pour over eggnog; sprinkle with grated nutmeg.

YPAC Plans Dance

YOUNG'S POINT, Dec. 3 (ENS) —The weekly meeting of the YPAC was held in the school on Thursday night. Ross Freeburn acted as president and Mary Spencer secretary-treasurer. The treasurer reported that the last dance netted $14.09 giving a total of $50.88 in the treasury. It was moved by Ethel Traynor and seconded by Joan Townsend that a hard-time dance be held December 7. The remainder of the evening was spent in making plans for the dance.

Popular Legends Identifies Three Wise Men Of East

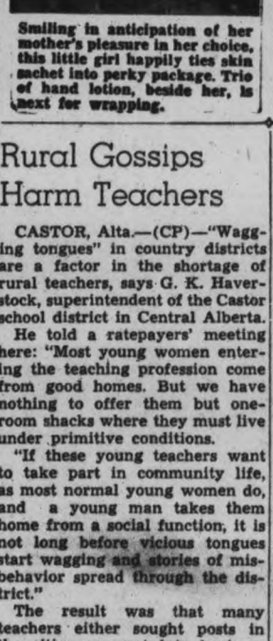
The Three Wise Men of the East who brought gifts to the infant Saviour have been identified over the centures as Melchior, Gaspar and Balthazar.

Melchior means "king of light," Gaspar or Caspar "the white one," and Balthazar "the lord of treasures."

The first of the magi, offered gold—the emblem of royalty; the second offered frankincense in token of divinity; and the third, myrrh—the prophetic allusion to the persecution and death which awaited the "Man of Sorrows."

Medieval legend calls them the Three Kings of Cologne, and the Cathedral there, claims their relics. They are commemorated on January 2, 3 and 4, and particularly on the Feast of Epiphany.

Among the ancient Medes and Persians, the Magi were members of a priestly caste considered to have great occult powers.



According to popular legend, these Magi were reported to have come from the kingdoms of Tarsus, Arabia and Ethiopia.

In a pose of elfin whimsy, this red-felt Santa awaits the lucky recipient who will claim the cologne, purse perfume and lipstick forming body and arms.

Luxury at budget prices is offered by these two gifts in elegant brocade. Attractive jewelry box (left) contains three purse-sized bottles of perfume nestled within its removable tray. Tiny evening purse (right) contains mirrored compact and has a loop at top for lipstick case. Present them separately, or as duo.

Smiling in anticipation of her mother's pleasure in her choice, this little girl happily ties skin sachet into perky package. Trio of hand lotion, beside her, is next for wrapping.

Rural Gossips Harm Teachers

CASTOR, Alta.—(CP)—"Wagging tongues" in country districts are a factor in the shortage of rural teachers, says G. K. Haverstock, superintendent of the Castor school district in Central Alberta.

He told a ratepayers' meeting here: "Most young women entering the teaching profession come from good homes. But we have nothing to offer them but one-room shacks where they must live under primitive conditions.

"If these young teachers want to take part in community life, as most normal young women do, and a young man takes them home from a social function, it is not long before vicious tongues start wagging and stories of misbehavior spread through the district."

The result was that many teachers either sought posts in the cities or went into business life, creating the teacher shortage most country points are experiencing.

The solution, Mr. Haverstock suggested, lay in the provision of three-or four-room teacherages where a married teacher could bring up his family under normal conditions.

Find Package Luxury Gifts Most Pleasing To Women

Few things please a woman more at Christmastime than small offerings of packaged luxury—the sort of thing she continually yearns for, but somehow never gets around to buying.

Fine cosmetics come under this heading, particularly for those women on your list who limit their own purchasing strictly to work-a-day make-up. For them, it's really feminity and glamor you're presenting when you choose a fine dusting powder, an exciting perfume, or an extravagantly-packaged lipstick.

For elegance-on-a-budget you'd be sure to please with a richly-brocaded little evening purse that contains a small mirrored compact fitted with its own automatic powder puff. Lipstick fits into a brocaded loop at the top.

Feel Cherished

Designed also to make a woman feel cherished is a brocaded jewelry box which contains, nestled in the removable silk-lined tray, a selection of three purse-size perfumes.

If you're seeking something in perfume that will grace her dressing table with magnificence, a new scent by a noted French perfume house is an excellent choice. The bottle, resting in a white satin niche, is patterned lavishly with gold leaf, contains a matching stopper laced with gold.

Also for the luxury gift lists of discriminating shoppers this year are dusting powders so lavish both in quantity and quality as to make a woman feel beloved for months to come. Nearly two and a half pounds are contained in a box of red silk for those with tailored tastes. A somewhat smaller box, containing a still-generous quantity of 19 ounces, is the height of feminine frivolity in pink or blue shirred chiffon. Also for the tailored woman is a bath powder in a celebrated French scent, boxed handsomely in black and white hound's tooth check.

If you like a bit of whimsy at Christmastime, an elfish Santa with a minute round nose peeking out above a fluffy white beard is a good choice for you. His body is a bottle of cologne, one arm a matching purse perfume, and the other arm a color-right lipstick.

Lipsticks are lavish this year. If you're feeling extravagant, take your choice of lipstick cases sheathed in ranch mink, ermine, broadtail or leopard. Or, if gems are more to your fancy than fur, a red suede case be-dazzled with bogus turquoise may take your eye.

More Special

Those who feel they wish their gifts to be a little more special than simply a bottle of cologne or a box of dusting powder may find a happy answer in a duo of these cosmetic products offered by a well-known firm.

A snowman, concealing under his white styrofoam rotundity a bottle of magnolia-scented cologne beats merrily upon a drum which is in actually a box of fragrance-matched bath powder.

Small fry who are looking for attention-flagging gifts for mother at penny-bank prices might consider a new trio of hand lotions packaged in a transparent case to show their delicate colors. The lotions, one pink, one blue and one ivory, are all scented with the light fragrance of blended fresh flowers.

Another gift well within the reach of juvenile purses is liquid skin sachet, which is distributed for Christmas in a see-through pyramid twinkling with stars and angels.

This stalwart snowman, standing poised before his drum of dusting powder, conceals a bottle of cologne beneath his sparkling white jacket.

DOROTHY DIX

Family Refuses Affection To Son's Adopted Child

DEAR MISS DIX: What can I do to make my husband's family realize how they are hurting our adopted son? They say mean things to him, never bring him gifts and speak scornfully of him.

Dorothy Dix

I would appreciate a few words from you about parents who adopt children, and of the petty jealousy that prompts families to go out of their way to hurt innocent youngsters. Things have been made so miserable for us all since we adopted the child that I am heartsore.

V. A.

ANSWER: How anyone could be so contemptible as to refuse love and affection to an orphaned child who has been befriended by strangers is more than I can see. Your adopted son is probably old enough to remember his friendless, lonely existence before you took him. It should be the chief aim of all about him to dispel those unhappy memories and give him a childhood to cherish.

Fortunately for others, your husband's family is exceptional. Most families are very proud of a member who will take on the responsibility of bringing up a homeless child and they are usually inclined to shower the youngster with more toys, clothes and attention that he can possibly use.

He Needs Extra Love

An adopted child needs an extra supply of loving kindness at least until he is fully adjusted to his new surroundings and has become an integral part of the family circle. He must feel "wanted," and fully entitled to the parental love he was denied at birth.

Jealousy, of course, is at the roots of your relatives' behavior. Jealousy of your courage in taking the child, perhaps, or fear that he may take from them some of the love and attention to which they feel completely entitled.

Don't try to push this problem. Forcing the child on the rest of the family will only antagonize them more. Do, however, insist that the unkind remarks in his presence be stopped. Otherwise, bide your time. It's a rare person who won't eventually melt to the trusting innocence of a child's eyes; I hope you haven't acquired relatives so hard that they are impervious to everything decent in the world.

DEAR MISS DIX. Our mother passed away some time ago and since then our father has been running around with several women. Do you think it should concern us or not? We have been thinking of speaking to him about it. Do you think we should, or leave it alone?

E. T. A.

ANSWER: Your father is suffering a reaction from his wife's death, and in his loneliness is simply seeking whatever company he can find. Perhaps you children have failed to provide him with the companionship he so sorely needs at this time.

Look back over your own actions. If you feel this is so, do what you can to make amends now. Invite him out—to your homes, if you're married, for trips, visits—anything to make him feel he is needed and wanted by someone. That will bring him back to his repsonsibilities quicker than anything.

If you do speak to him, don't do it in a nagging or fault-finding manner. Be sympathetic, try to make him realize that you love him and want him. In time he may find a congenial companion whom he will marry. Don't discourage the right woman but do keep him away from questionable characters.

DEAR MISS DIX: I have been going with a girl for two weeks. Now I find she is married to a soldier and has a small baby. Should I continue to see her? She is not divorced.

JACK

ANSWER: Stop seeing her—but immediately! You are being unfair to her, yourself and her husband by continuing the friendship. Even if she urges you to see her again, don't!

BREAK THE LAXATIVE HABIT THIS PROVEN WAY

If you take laxatives regularly, here is how you can stop! This proven plan helps you establish your natural powers of regularity, controlled tests prove.

Stop taking whatever you now take. Instead, every night for one week take two Carter's Little Liver Pills. Second week—one each night. Third week—one every other night. Then nothing! Every day drink eight glasses of water; set a definite time for regularity. This plan was proven in scientifically controlled tests.

How can a laxative break the laxative habit? Because Carter's unblock the lower digestive tract and from then on let it make use of its own natural powers. Further, Carter's contain no habit forming drugs. Break the laxative habit with Carter's . . . be regular naturally.

When worry, overwork, overeating make you irregular temporarily—take Carter's temporarily. Never get the laxative habit.

Get mild, gentle Carter's Little Liver Pills at any drug store. Only 35c. You'll be grateful the rest of your life.

MARY MOORE SAYS:

Variations In Lunch Routine Men Fed Up With Sandwich

You surprise me sometimes. One day I'll receive a batch of mail bulging with requests for Christmas food recipes, and next day the mail will bring several letters never mentioning Christmas but saying "isn't there something you can do about lunch menus" or "we're fed up with soup and sandwiches for lunch", etc.

One lady asked for a recipe for a Tomato Custard. She says the only ingredients that she can recall are stewed tomatoes, breadcrumbs and eggs. I hope my recipe fills her order. If not, some of you faithful readers and writers will come to our rescue, I am sure.

Follows the Tomato Custard for "E" who lives at 210 "S" St.

Tomato Custards (or Timbales)

One tablespoon butter or margarine, 1 tablespoon flour, 2/3 cup thick part stewed tomatoes (preferably strained or without seeds), 3 eggs, 1 tablespoon finely chopped parsley, ½ teaspoon salt, ⅛ teaspoon pepper, few grains celery salt, few grains cayenne. Melt butter, stir in flour, then tomatoes until thick. Beat yolks until thick and lemon-colored—then add with seasonings. Beat whites of eggs until stiff and dry, and cut and fold into first mixture. Turn into buttered custard cups, stand in pan of water, and bake at 325° Fahr. until firm.

Variation of Tomato Custards: Use milk instead of tomatoes and serve over them:

Tomato Cream Sauce: ½ can tomatoes (1½ cups), 1 stalk celery, 1 slice onion, ¼ of a bay leaf, 1 cup white sauce (see below), ½ teaspoon salt, shake of cayenne, ¼ teaspoon soda.

Cook tomatoes 20 minutes with seasonings; rub through strainer, then add soda and white sauce. To make white sauce melt 2 tablespoons butter or fat, stir in 2 tablespoons flour, ½ teaspoon salt and 1 cup milk until thick. This is good on Baked Fish or poached eggs.

Baked Rice and Eggs With Tomato Sauce

(This is a standby in one farm home I visit. The children look for it at least once per week).

One-half cup rice, boiling salted water, 2 cups canned tomatoes, ½ teaspoon salt, 1 small onion sliced, 2 whole cloves, ½ bay leaf, 2 tablespons each butter and flour, 5 eggs, ¾ cup buttered crumbs, 2 to 4 tablespoons grated old cheese. Cook the rice in the boiling salted water until tender, then drain, rinse under cold water and keep hot in top of double boiler—uncovered. To the tomatoes add the salt, onion, cloves and bay leaf and simmer 10 minutes. Strain and add the hot liquid to the butter and flour which have been blended. Stir over heat until thick. Spread rice in bottom of greased casserole, carefully slip the eggs onto the rice. Cover with the tomato sauce and sprinkle with cheese. Bake at 275° Fahr. for about 20 minutes or until eggs are set. Serve at once or eggs will cook a little more and get hard.

Tomato Rarebit

Two tablespoons each butter or margarine and flour, ¾ cup whole milk or thin cream, ¾ cup stewed or canned tomatoes strained, ½ teaspon soda, 2 cups finely cut cheese, 2 slightly beaten eggs, shake of salt, pinch of mustard, and cayenne. Melt butter, add flour, then stir in milk or cream, and when thick stir in tomatoes mixed with the soda. Stir in cheese and eggs and heat through; add seasonings. Serve on graham toast as soon as cheese is melted. This is excellent because it is so quickly made and so full of flavor.

Attention Reader with initials Mrs. B. J., whose husband owns a garage and whose doctor has advised him to reduce his weight; I have a letter from another reader for you. Would you please send me your name and address as soon as possible?—Mary Moore.

Small Dutch Boy Hero In Alberta Book

EDMONTON (CP)—A primary school teacher spotted a little Dutch boy wearing wooden clogs in downtown Edmonton one day.

The lad clutched his father's hand and stared wide-eyed at the department store nearby.

The teacher, Miss Audrey McK[illegible] had been shaping a child[illegible] in her mind. Why not make the Dutch boy her storybook hero?

The result: "Here Comes Dirk," Miss McKim's first published book.

Six-year-old Dirk Willem comes to Alberta with his "moeder and vader." He is too shy to follow his older sister, Anna, to school.

"It happens so often," Miss McKim says. "The new youngster is afraid of the first day at school. And imagine how much more frightening for a little boy in a new country."

But gradually, with the school picnic, the Christmas concert and a wise and kind teacher, young Dirk begins to feel at home.

Miss McKim knows what the seven-to-ten bracket likes to read. A number of years ago she was a faithful contributor to "Jack and Jill," the "Country Guide," and Sunday school papers.

She used the impressive nom-de-plume "A. Fulton Peers"—a combination of her grandmothers' maiden names.

Didn't Last Long

"But that name didn't last for long," she says. "And I was soon back to my own."

Miss McKim is the author of a novel, as yet unpublished, called "Lexy O'Connor," it is a sprightly story of a young girl's first year as a teacher in rural Alberta. In 1950 it tied for first place with Barbara Villy Cormack's "Local Rag" in the Alberta IODE contest.

Miss McKim got the idea for "Here Comes Dirk" in 1947 when, after a term in Ottawa as an exchange teacher, she took a summer course in juvenile writing at Columbia University, New York.

She was struck by the ignorance of Canadian customs among her fellow students.

"For instance, they hadn't heard of giving children 'the bumps' on birthdays," Miss McKim recalls. "That's when I began to think of contrasting the Canadian and Dutch ways of life."

6—In Memoriam

DALEY— In loving memory of John Wm. Daley who died 2 years ago, December 3, 1949.
Its not the words they are but few
Its the memories, Daddy, we have of you
You left us quickly, your thoughts unknown
But a beautiful memory all our own.
—Lovingly remembered by his wife and sons.

7—Cards of Thanks

I wish to take this opportunity to thank the nurses of St. Joseph's Hospital, doctors in attendance, Rev. H. G. Douglas of Knox United church and all friends and neighbors for flowers, fruit, candy, cards and many other kindnesses shown during my recent illness—Mrs. Percy Killingbeck.

The family of the late Robert Winn wishes to thank the Sisters of St. Joseph's Hospital, clergy, the attending doctors and all kind friends for their floral and spiritual bouquets, loan of cars and expression of sympathy also CWL of Sacred Heart and St. Peter's, in their recent sad bereavement.

BANG
Yes, here is a Tapestry Brick Home that should really sell with a bang. Priced at only $7,500, it's only nine years old, has 18' living-room, modern kitchen with tile floor, modern 4-pc. bathroom, two nice bedrooms, hot water heating with stoker. There's also a semi-finished room upstairs. Located near Lansdowne and Park Sts. Easy terms arranged. Phone 8402.

NO MISTAKE
Some people thought we'd made a mistake in the price. But it really is only $3,500 for this four-room Bungalow in the central part of the city, 20' living-room, large kitchen, two bedrooms, 3-pc. bath, hot air heating. About $1,700 cash will handle. Phone 8402.

TAXES $50
That's just one advantage of living in this lovely modern Home, just outside the north end of the city. Situated on a lot 100' x 100', it has comfortable living-room, two bedrooms, modern kitchen and bathroom attached garage, hot air heat. A lovely Home for $6,000. Terms. Phone 8402.

Driver Fined In Liquor Counts

Lawrence C. Marsden, 41, RR 4, Bowmanville, pleaded guilty in police court today to driving while his ability was impaired by alcohol and having liquor in a place other than his residence.

He was fined $50 and $7.50 costs or one month on the impaired charge and $15 and $2.50 costs or one month on the liquor charge.

Magistrate W. R. Philp said if the fines were not paid the jail sentences were to run concurrently.

Marsden was arrested by Chief Garnet Samis of Lakefield Sunday night in Lakefield.

Chief Samis testified he had received several complaints about a car driving in a very erratic manner on Bridge St., Lkefield. He said he found Marsden stopped at the side of the street, almost asleep.

A pint of beer was found in the front seat of the car and Marsden had been drinking considerably, Constable Samis said.

Obituaries

MRS. CECIL WATSON

Mrs. Cecil Watson, 55, Norwood, died in Peterborough hospital Saturday following a lengthy illness.

Mrs. Watson, the former Beatrice Angeline Lennox, was born in South Dummer Township, daughter of William Lennox and the late Jean Turner and has lived in Norwood all her life.

She was a member of Norwood Baptist Church.

She leaves her husband, Cecil Watson, two daughters, Helen, Toronto, Mrs. Kenneth Thompson (Vivian), Norwood; one sister, Mrs. N. S. Rogers (Winnifred), Norwood, and two grandchildren, Linda and Jimmie Thompson.

The funeral will be held Tuesday at 2:30 pm at the McConnell-Warner Funeral Home, Norwood. The Rev. J. Bingham of the Norwood Baptist Church will conduct the service. Burial will be in Norwood Cemetery.

MRS. FREDERICK BRADD

The funeral of Margaret V. McCormack, wife of the late Dr. Frederick Bradd a Peterborough physician years ago, took place to little Lake cemetery on the arrival of the CPR noon train here Lesley L. (Eva) Kennedy of today.

Mrs. Bradd died suddenly at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Lesley L. (Eva) Kennedy of Lake Forest, Illinois, who is the only remaining member of the family.

Dr. Bradd's residence and office were on Stewart St., in the premises now occupied by Dr. Herbert N. Young. The Bradd family was socially prominent. Their son, Stanley Bradd, played on a great Junior OHA championship hockey team. They were locally known as the Colts. Several of the other players were: Roy and Harold Armstrong, Fred Whitcroft, Elmer Smith.

One other daughter, was the late Mrs. Charles (Alta) Schofield of Oshawa. Mrs. Bradd was in her ninetieth year at her death. The family had come to Peterborough from Omemee. Dr. Bradd was keenly interested in athletics, and was a member of the local hockey club executive when two OHA championships were won for Peterborough within a few years.

PATRICK MALONEY

A onetime resident of Peterborough, Patrick Maloney, 75, Frankford, died suddenly Saturday in Trenton hospital after a seizure. He had been ill for only a couple of days.

Mr. Maloney was a native of Frankford but he lived in Peterborough for eight years with his daughter, Mrs. Anne Armstrong. While here he was a member of St. Peter's Cathedral.

He leaves three daughters—Mrs. Arthur Limerick (Mary), Coboconk; Mrs. Ott Nesbitt (Bernadette); and Mrs. Anne Armstrong, Frankford. He was predeceased by his wife.

Before coming to Peterborough he lived in Marmora.

The funeral will be at 9:30 am Tuesday from the residence of Mrs. Mary Stephens, Marmora. Burial will be in Sacred Heart cemetery, Marmora.

Friday Night Club To Edit YMCA Paper

The Friday Night Club will edit a second issue of the YMCA paper, the Army News, before Christmas.

This was decided at the club meeting held Friday night.

Master-at-arms for the meeting was Rolly Whithard.

Reds Crush

going to send $5,000 to save a son while he is suffering in jail? If they refuse to pay, a telegram will advise them this is the last chance to pay up and save his life or he will be shot. If the money has already been sent to meet one or two demands where will a Chinese get more money to save him? In some cases $20,000 has been the ultimatum.

Refuse To Pay

A San Francisco man received word last week that his mother who was victimized twice because she had two sons in the United States, killed herself rather than pay new demands. She committed suicide November 24.

The 67-year-old woman lived alone in Chungsan. A month ago she was arrested and tortured and finally released after paying $1,000. Then on November 7 she was re-arrested and fined $1,600 (US). Released and told to produced the money in two weeks, she drowned herself when the time limit expired.

Forty victims of the ransom racket in San Francisco have solemnly joined in a pledge to send no more money to ransom their kinfolk threatened with imprisonment, torture and death.

At the end of an emotional meeting, sobbing Chinese voted to cut off the flow of money to the Peiping Government, although it meant the end of their hopes to keep their relatives in China alive.

"In voting to deny payments of 'back taxes' and land rent refunds to the Communists, Chinese Americans went against the time-honored tradition of family solidarity," a spokesman said. "But it was realized that as long as money was sent, it was helping the Reds entrench their power."

Mrs. Elizabeth Traviss

Funeral service for Mrs. Elizabeth Traviss, 367 McDonnel St., who died Friday, was held today from the Lane funeral home to St. Peter's cathedral for requiem mass at 9 am. The Rev. R. J. Garvey officiated.

Pallbearers were John Campbell, George Crowley, Nelson Routley, Vincent Crowley, Robert Walker and William Traviss.

Burial was in St. Martin's cemetery, Ennismore, where graveside prayers were said by the Rev. T. Lynch.

THE RACE IS ON—There's an entry to please Senator Taft and one to please President Truman in the "race" set in a Chicago department store. The stuffed animals, wheeled and suitable for riding, are part of this year's stock of Christmas toys. The political overtones are purely coincidental. LeRoy Schaffer, 7, is astride the elephant, while Linda Moore, 3, takes a chance on the donkey.

Customs, Excise Receipts

By The Canadian Press.

Customs and excise receipts at Ontario points of entry for November were with one exception, above those for the same month last year. Stratford showed November receipts below last year's figures.

Among reports received were:

	1951	1950
Stratford—	$ 196,257.38	$ 193,897.55
Brantford—	$ 402,965.90	$ 444,060.05

Orange Lodges Hold Banquet

City and county Orange Lodges held their annual banquet and dance in the new basement at the rear of the Orange Hall Friday night.

County master Gordon Trennum was chairman for the evening.

Head table guests included Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Trennum; grand master of Ontario east, Fred Bateman and Mrs. Bateman of Stirling; Arthur Holden, lecturer of British America and Mrs. Holden, Morgan Brown lecturer of Ontario east and Capt. J. D. Sharp of the Salvation Army.

Guest speaker Fred Bateman was introduced by Morgan Brown. Arthur Holden thanked Mr. Bateman and proposed the toast to the king. Capt. Sharp also addressed the gathering of district Orangemen.

The entertainment program consisted of community singing, followed by round and square dancing.

Miss Mary J. Stabler Dies In Lakefield

The funeral for Miss Mary Jane Stabler, 82, Lakefield, who died in Peterborough Saturday was held today at the Hendren funeral home, Lakefield.

Miss Stabler was born in Selwyn, the daughter of the late Henry Stabler and Mary Keats and has been a dressmaker in Lakefield since she was 16. She was an active member of the Lakefield Baptist Church; a member of the choir, a Sunday School teacher and a member of various church organizations.

She leaves two brothers, Edgar, Peterborodugh, and William Lakefield.

The Rev. W. B. Walker of Lakefield Baptist Church conducted the funeral service.

Pallbearers were Trude Waldon, Clarence Fitzgerald, Wilbert Abbott, Harold Pemberthy, Bruce Garbutt, Ernie Waldon. Burial was in Lakefield cemetery.

Falls Through Ice Student 17, Drowns

BOSTON, Dec. 3.(CP)—Homer J. Couzens, 17-year-old son of former Mayor Frank Couzens of Detroit, was drowned Sunday in Laurel Lake, Lenox, Mass.

Couzens and Dennis Dwyer, 17, of Pelham, NY, fell through thin ice near Cranwell Preparatory School, where both were students.

They were pulled into a boat by two other students, but as the boat neared shore Couzens toppled back into the water.

Salvador Dali Done With Surrealism

LONDON, Dec. 3 (AP)—Spanish artist Salvador Dali Sunday declared himself done with the surrealism that made him famous.

He said there would be no more paintings of limp and dripping watches and no more sleeping in silk-lined coffins.

Now, he told a press conference, he's a mysticist, primarily concerned with religious themes.

Women Take Over

ODESSA, Tex., Dec. 3 (AP)—Women ran most Odessa business houses today as their men toiled to rid the city of refuse which might be breeding ground for polio carriers. For the first time, the polio situation officially has been termed an epidemic. The list of victims mounted to 59. Five new cases were reported Sunday. Nine deaths have resulted.

Six Injured

Waited For Doctor

Mrs. Galvin, a passenger in Shearer's car appeared to be quite seriously injured. Since it was feared she might have internal or spinal injuries, Constables Andre Dalton and John Conlin did not think it wise to try and move her until a doctor arrived in spite of the urgings of a crowd of spectators.

When Dr. Robert Bell arrived, Mrs. Galvin was given a sedative before she was removed from the wrecked car and taken to hospital.

The accident in which John Wolff was injured occurred when Wolff who was driving east on Hunter St., and a car coming north on Stewart St., driven by Bernard J. Delaney of 15 Warren Ave. Oshawa, collided at the intersection of Hunter and Stewart. After the two cars collided, Wolff's car was spun sideways and struck a car parked on the north curb of Hunter St., owned by Jack E. Sullivan, 468 Gilmour St.

The Wolff car was completely wrecked. Considerable damage was done to the rear of Sullivan's car and the front of the Delaney car was also badly damaged.

APS Harold Mesley and Constable Harold Andrew investigated.

Damage estimated at $185 resulted when one car collided with the rear of another at George and King streets at 9 p.m. Saturday.

Ross Wood, RR 3, Millbrook, said he was going north on George St., and was forced to slow up at King St., for a car coming east through the intersection on King St.

Brake Line Broken

Roger Wilson, 364 Woodbine Ave., travelling behind Wood, applied his brakes when Wood slowed down, Wilson's brake line broke, spilling fluid on the street, and he collided with the rear of Wood's car.

An estimated $115 damage resulted to the rear of Wood's car, Wilson's grill and front bumper were damaged to the extent of about $70.

Constable Sherman Kelleie investigated.

Whe nher foot slipped off the clutch as she was turning around in the driveway of George H. Robinson, 746 Lansdowne St., Saturday afternoon, Mrs. K. Harvey, 337 Caddy St., was unable to stop her car before it crunched into the Robinson verandah.

Three cars were damaged in an accident at Aylmer and Sherbrooke Sts. Friday morning. Kenneth A. Outwater, 734 Young St., driving north on Aylmer St., and Charles Gardner, 558 Sherbrooke St., collided in the intersection. The impact swung the rear end of Gardner's car around, and struck the left front corner of a car driven by James Burns, RR 4 Peterborough, who had stopped for the stop sign on Sherbrooke St., at the east side of Aylmer.

Knocked Down

Miss Florence Mitchell, 301 Park St., slipped as she stepped down from the curb at Charlotte and Downie Sts. at noon Friday and was struck and knocked down by a truck backing into a parking space.

Constable Reg McMillan investigated and said she received scratches on the right side of her face.

The truck was being driven by Allen Eagleson of RR 2 Millbrook.

Mrs. Fern Berry, 417 Sheridan St., was struck by a car Friday evening as she was crossing Hunter St., at Water St. She was taken to hospital and treated for a bruised elbow and later driven home by the driver of the car which hit her, Malcolm Fitzsimmons, 577 Armour Rd.

Fitzsimmons told Contable Harold Andrew he was making a right hand turn to go north on Hunter St. when Mrs. Berry was struck.

Approximately $145 damage resulted when a car and truck collided at the east end of the Hunter St. bridge Friday morning.

Driving his truck west on Hunter St., Charles J. Watkins, RR 7 Peterborough, said he pulled into the curb to avoid hitting a passing car which cut in sharply. His front wheel grabbed on the sidewalk, and spun the truck around.

Following behind Watkins on the slippery street, James E. Ross, 313 Caddy St., was unable to stop when Watkins' truck went out of control and struck the truck, damaging the front of his car to the extent of $125. Damage to the truck was estimated at $12.50.

Unable To Stop

Unable to stop in time when a car ahead of him, driven by M. McLean, 303 Euclid Ave., stopped quickly, M. Kinginsmith, 420 Rubidge St., ran into the rear of McLean's car. The accident occurred as the cars were going north on Aylmer St. Friday evening.

New Zealand Commissioner Speaks To UN

The high commissioner for New Zealand, the Hon. T. C. A. Hislop, will be guest speaker at meeting of the Peterboro of the United Nations Association Wednesday at the Public Library.

The Hislop family are well-known in New Zealand's public affairs.

Mr. Hislop's grandfather was New Zealand's first secretary of education and is regarded as founder of New Zealand's educational system. Mr. Hislop's father was elected to parliament in 1876 when only 26 years old, later serving as minister of education and colonial secretary. For three years at the turn of the century he was mayor of Wellington.

HON. T. C. A. HISLOP

Mr. Hislop, was educated in Cambridge University.

He entered the municipal affairs in Wellington on the city council in 1913 and later received leave of absence during the First World War. He saw service in the Gallipoli campaign and in France. After twice wounded he was invalided home.

Twice in 1927 and 1929 he was elected to the Wellington city council, then became mayor in 1931, retaining that position throughout the depression and during the Second World War. He retired in 1944 after a record term of 13 years.

UK Soldiers May Get Atomic-Ray Gun

LONDON, Dec. 3 (Reuters)—British soldiers may have a light, mobile atomic-ray gun in 18 months, the Sunday Graphic said Sunday.

The newspaper declared experiments are under way for a machine to strengthen metals by utilizing radio-active waste materials.

The war office, it claimed, sees the tests as a chance "to provide the nation with a revolutionary defence weapon."

If it can find a suitable material to contain the radio-active "sludge" — rather than concrete, evidently used in the present tests —the war office might develop a "death eye," the paper said.

Pounce On Guerrilla Near Lyttelton

BENTONG PAHANG, Malaya, Dec. 3, —(Reuters)—Police today pounced on a grenade-carrying communist guerrilla found standing barley 200 yards from Oliver Lyttelton, Britain's Colonial Secretary.

In view of the recent murder of Sir Henry Gurney, British High Commissioner in Malaya, police and troops have watched closely over Lyttelton since he arrived on an official inspection tour last week.

Authorities said they believed the outlaw had no idea the High British personage was in town.

US Unit Citation Goes To Australians

TOKYO, Dec. 3 (AP). — The United States distinguished unit citation will be presented Tuesday to the 3rd Battalion, Royal Australian Regiment, for its stand during the Chinese offensive in Korea last April.

Prime Minister R. G. Menzies of Australia and other Commonwealth officials sent congratulatory messages to the battalion Sunday night.

French Academy Has Big Problem Of Finding Occupant For Seat 18

PARIS, Dec. 3—(Reuters)—The French Academy, home of the "immortals," is having a delicate task finding an occupant for seat No. 18.

No. 18 was vacated by order of the high court Aug. 15, 1945, but nothing was done to fill it. This year its former occupant died and the Academy is looking for a successor.

The former occupant was Marshall Phillippe Petain. The problem of succession is that Academy tradition requires a successor to pronounce a Euology of his predecessor.

Two other collaborators, Abel Bonnard and Abel Hermant, were also expelled from the Academy by the high court in 1945, but novelists Jules Romains and Etienne Gilson succeeded them. Bonnard and Hermant were not in the limelight and a cautious eulogy was feasible.

There are 234 Academy seats in five groups under the generic title of "French Academy". They are the Academy of Humanities, Fine Arts, Moral and Political Sciences (of which Philippe Petain was a member), Science and the central body which also bears the name of "French Academy".

Section For Foreigners

Along with the French Academy's native members, there is a section for foreigners as associate members.

Gen. Georges Vanier, Canadian ambassador to France, was recently an associate member of the Academy of Moral and Political Sciences. He replaced the late Maurice Maeterlinck, Belgian writer.

The late W. L. Mackenzie King, former Canadian Prime Minister, was also an associate member. His place has not yet been filled.

Various categories of members —writers, noblemen, ambassadors, soldiers — are plentifully mixed in all Academies.

Basic requirements are that members be qualified to preserve the purity of the French language, for which purpose the Academy was created in 1635 by Louis XIII.

Meet Regularly

Members meet regularly to revise the existing dictionary, going through it word by word, discussing connotation, origin, bastardization of meaning, etcetera. Dictionary production is very slow—eight editions in 300 years —and the last appeared in 1935. Academicians are working on a current revision.

The feeling is strong among most "immortals" 'that the successor to Petain should be a soldier. No. 18, they declare, is a soldier's seat.

Two names mentioned as possible are those of General Alphonse Juin and General Jean de Lattre de Tassigny, two of the most eminent French soldiers living.

But both are still on the active list and, even if willing, might find a eulogy of Petain a risky undertaking.

Reds Can Have Cease-Fire Now—Reporter

By JOHN RANDOLPH

SEOUL, Korea, Dec. 3 (AP)—It looks as though the Communists can have an unofficial but very real cease-fire on the Korean ground front any time they want it.

According to information now available, all they have to do is honor four conditions:

1. Stop all attacks on allied positions.
2. Keep artillery and mortars quiet and out of sight.
3. Send out nothing more than small scouting patrols and keep a tight leash on these.
4. Keep their heads down.

If the Reds fall in with these four points, the shooting war will come to an almost complete—if informal and possibly temporary—stop.

Still Catch

It is necessary to say "almost" for two reasons:

1. Since it is not a formal agreement reached by both sides, it can be changed or reversed on a moment's notice.
2. Since it is not an iron-clad agreement enforced by strict orders, there is nothing to prevent an occasional lapse into a shooting scrape. Such a slip might come on either side from a misunderstanding of the enemy's movements. Or it might come as a reflex action to sudden surprise.

But aside from an occasional accident, Communist understanding and acceptance of the four points should bring about a de facto cease-fire.

Give Demonstration

As far as anyone knows, the allied high command has not told the Communists that in so many words.

But for the last five days the allies have been demonstrating that policy.

Sooner or later, simply by trial and error, the Communists are going to discover those four points.

In these last five days the Communists should have made some deductions:

1. Allied infantry has gone into action only when attacked or to regain lost ground.
2. Allied patrols have been non-offensive.
3. Allied artillery has fired only in reply to enemy fire, or against known gun and mortar positions that threaten allied troops.

All this sooner or later must add up to one thing to the Communist high command: that it is they, not the allies, who have provoked every attack since Nov. 27, the day the allies decided to call off the ground war as much as possible for the time being.

Woman Ignores Pleas Jumps Off Bridge

DETROIT, Dec. 3 (AP)—Ignoring the pleas of a bridge worker, Mrs. Gladys Wilson, 34, let herself drop 150 feet from the Ambasador Bridge into the Detroit River Sunday. Her body was recovered a short time later.

Her husband, James, 39, an assistant principal of a Detroit public school, told police she had been depressed over world conditions and the Korean war.

She left her husband and two children, Barbara, 7 and Patricia, 4, at home.

OTTAWA, Dec. 3 — (CP) — Defence Minister Claxton returned to Ottawa Sunday by plane from a two-week trip to the continent during which he met Canadian troops bound for Germany and attended the North Atlantic Treaty Council meetings in Rome.

Russia Claims Great Steel Production

NEW YORK (AP)—How much steel is Russia producing? And how much cotton?

The western world has long wondered about Communist output of these and other war-vital materials, but it's highly improbable that anyone outside of Russia knows the right answers. The Russians rarely give out with so much as a hint.

However, one of the top members of the politburo, Lavrenti P. Beria, who undoubtedly knows the correct figures, has given some broad approximations for steel and cotton. Beria, the chief speaker at the traditional ceremony which marked the 34th anniversary of the Russian revolution, said the Soviet Union had made enormous industrial gains this year, with production running 15 per cent ahead of 1950.

Speaking of steel, Beria said Russia is producing 4,000,000 tons more this year than last. The total, he added, would be about equal to the combined output of England, France, Belgium and Sweden.

Immediately Dubious

American sources were immediately dubious. That would mean the Russians were currently making nearly 37,000,000 net tons of steel annually, according to latest available figures on production in those four western nations.

If Beria's statement were true, industry sources estimated it would mean that Russia has expanded her steel industry nearly one-half again as much as the United States this year. The American industry has been growing at a rapid rate.

Find Discrepancy

Industry sources placed Russia's 1950 steel production at about 25,500,900 tons. An increase of 4,000,000, to 29,500,000 tons would represent a little over 15 per cent. But the 1950 total for the United Kingdom, France, Belgium and Sweden was placed at 33,537,827. And the 1951 total for these countries was expected to reach nearly 37,000,000 tons, based on preliminary figures. This would make a discrepancy in Beria's figure on expanded production of about 7,-500,000 tons, or show Russia increasing output in one year by approximately 11,500,000 tons.

American steel production in 1950 totalled 96,836,075 tons. For the first nine months of 1951, American Iron and Steel Institute figures show output of 78,328,742 tons. If that rate is coninued for the rest of the year, 1951 production should reach at least 105,-000,000, or an increase of a little over 8,000,000 tons.

If the Russian figure for 1950 was correct, she was producing about 13 per cent of the world's steel. And if Beria's current approximation was right, Russia would now be making around 17 per cent of the world's steel, and more than one-third as much as America.

Beria said Russia now is growing more cotton than India, Pakistan and Egypt combined. That would be somewhere between 15 and 20 per cent of the world output, cotton circles said. They estimated total output of the three countries at between 2,612,000,-000 and 3,236,000,000 pounds, with world production this season at about 17,000,000,000 pounds. America is expected to produce about 8,500,000,000 pounds, or one-half the world's output. If the Russian claim were correct, she would be harvesting approximately one-third as much cotton as the United States.

Radio "Wolf" Gives Husbands Competition

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 3 (AP)—American husbands will soon be getting competition in their own homes. The Continental is going country-wide.

The Continental is a smooth-talking, accented wolf who has made love to thousands of southern California women—via television. His popularity has spread and he will soon romance over a network show from New York.

Renzo Cesana is the Continental. A shrewd man with a good sense of humor, he is not overly handsome. But he has a charming manner and a warm voice accented by his native Italy.

What does he do on TV?

"I am the epitome of the bachelor wolf," he explained. "The camera personifies the woman in the audience and I speak directly to her. The beginning of the show has her entering my apartment. I help her off with her coat and offer her a cigarette. Then I open some champagne.

"Of course, there are implications. But they are only incidental. What really matters is the conversation that we have. It is not only about love; it could be about religion or any other matter."

Cesana, who writes two-thirds of his script and ad libs the rest, plays his romance with tongue in cheek. He offers such wisdom as:

"How to get a man—promise him paradise with your eyes, then make him go through hell to get it."

"How to hold a man: in your arms, how to hold a woman: lock her up in her room."

He said the reaction to his show has been immense: "Fifty per cent of the women appreciate the show for what it is—a difficult job well done," he remarked. "The other half take it seriously; the humor I inject goes right over their heads."

Traffic Accidents Kill 12 Of 15 Weekend Fatalities

By The Canadian Press

Traffic accidents claimed 12 lives in eastern Canada during the weekend, bringing the total of violent deaths in the area to 15.

A Canadian Press survey today showed two persons killed by falls and one crushed to death, besides the 12 killed in traffic. Nine were killed in Ontario, five in Quebec and one in New Brunswick.

In Ontario, three children were killed at once when the automobile in which their father was driving them to see Santa Claus was struck by a train. Dead are William Campbell, 12, and his sisters, Carol, 10, and Olive, 11.

A Nova Scotia seaman, Robert Penny, 23, of Bras d'Or, Cape Breton island, was killed when he fell off a train near Toronto. Alfred Marks, 54, was killed at Toronto while helping to trim a tree.

A county constable, Monte Wood, 57, was killed when he was struck by a car in a fog at Northbrook, near Belleville, while investigating an earlier accident. Joly A. Cadman, 75, a retired farmer, was killed when hit by a car at St. Thomas.

William Reid, 32, of Brantford, was killed when his station wagon failed to make a turn and hit the ditch. John W. Pierce, 40, of Brantford died at London during the weekend of injuries suffered in an automobile accident there Oct. 31.

In the province of Quebec, two men were killed in an accident near Drummondville. Gerard Houle, 44, was helping to pull a station wagon out of a ditch when he was hit by an auto driven by Gaston Ratte, 21. Ratte was killed when his car overturned.

Mrs. Leon Proulx, 80, was fatally injured on her way to Sunday mass when hit by a taxi at Levis, and Evariste Michael, 70, was killed in a similar accident at Montreal. In a truck-car collision at Montreal, Rene Viau, 22, was killed.

In New Brunswick, Henry Sarchfield, 77, was killed near Hartland when his team of horses bolted, spilling a load of pulpwood over him from his sleigh.

BC City Builds Canyon Dam To Get New Water Supply

VANCOUVER — (CP) — Two years after it was envisioned by the builder of Vancouver's first waterworks, a giant dam is being put across the Capilano River on the north shore of Burrard Inlet.

H. B. Smith, who constructed the city's first waterworks in 1889, visualized the dam which would store enough water to satisfy Vancouver's needs.

The $8,500,000 dam is being built in a narrow, deep canyon where the Capilano cuts through solid rock.

When it is finished in December, 1953, 185,000 cubic yards of concrete and 1,600 tons of steel will have gone into it. Then, when the spill gates are closed, a man-made lake will be filled with 13,-000,000,000 gallons of mountain water.

The domestic water outlet will supply 220,000,000 gallons of water for the city and surrounding district daily.

Because of the narrowness of the canyon, preliminary work on the dam has to be done almost completely from the air, with derricks and overhead wires.

All In Day's Work

It is an everyday story to lower a 15-ton power shovel 300 feet down the face of the canyon to a 10-foot-wide ledge.

To carry workers and small tools up a 60-degree angle to the top of the canyon, the contractors will have built the shortest railway in the province.

A moving platform, officially noted by the Department of Transport as a railway, rattles up and down a 300-foot section of greased beams to and from the water's edge.

Work is being completed on a 31½-foot wire tunnel blasted through a 963-foot section of mountainside. The river will be diverted through that while the dam is being built.

All trees and debris below the water line of the man-made lake are being cleared away to prevent contamination.

The dam will be called the Cleveland Dam, for Dr. E. A. Cleveland, commissioner of the Greater Vancouver Water Board since its inception in 1926.

Small Baby Suffers Fractured Skull

PICTON, Dec. 3.—Hurled from her mother's arms when she was struck by a car Sunday, a 14-months-old girl suffered a fractured skull and is in critical condition in the Prince Edward County Hospital here. Mrs. Ruby McConnell, 18, was crossing Bridge St. with her daughter, Dale Lorraine, in her arms when she was struck down.

Police said mother and daughter had almost reached the curb when a car driven by Elwood Pringle of North Marysburg township, swerved and struck them. Police said the driver swung wide and skidded on mud and gravel which covered the pavement.

Mrs. McConnell, wife of Carl McConnell of Picton, escaped with cuts and bruises.

Dies of Poisoning

EAST ORANGE, NJ, Dec. 3—(AP)—Mrs. Florence C. Casler, 51, died tonight in hospital of radium poisoning which her doctor said was contracted 30 years ago. The physician, Dr. Harrison S. Martland, Essex county chief medical examiner, said Mrs. Casler was the first victim among employees of the old US Radium Corporation in Orange.

Charges Laid In Currency Case

TORONTO, Dec. 3 —(CP)— Charges relating to an alleged transaction involving about $2,000 in United States funds were laid Saturday against Bryan W. Newkirk, Toronto mining promoter, and Benny Litman, club proprietor. They will appear Dec. 7 for preliminary hearing.

The charges followed filing by Joseph Gould, special counsel for the Foreign Exchange Control Board, of information charging an irregular dealing in United States funds. Several charges were laid against each man.

The charges against Newkirk include buying US currency from a person not an authorized dealer, dealing in US currency, incurring a debt to a US citizen and paying the debt in US funds, and not declaring US funds in his possession.

Charge against Litman, president and owner of the Atlas Recreation Club, involve selling US funds, buying US funds and having US funds illegally in his possession.

Newkirk, a native of the United States and a resident of Toronto for some years, has taken a major part in financing several important mining developments.

Arthur Neale Dies

SEIGNIORY CLUB, Que., Dec. 3 (CP)—Arthur D. Neale, 64, well-known in railways circles, died here Saturday. Born in St. Thomas, he was president of The Holden Company, Ltd., Montreal Steel Wheel Company, Ltd., and chairman of Canadian Unicast-Steel, Ltd.

Canadians Win 47 Titles At Chicago Fair

CHICAGO, Dec. 3 (CP)—Canadian exhibitors won 47 championships and first prizes at the 52nd International Livestock Exposition and grain and hay show.

Ontario led the six provinces which had entries at the big farm show with nine championships and 25 first prizes of the states and provinces represented.

Alberta with two championships and four firsts—all in the grain exhibition — placed 17th. Saskatchewan had one championship and four firsts to place 18th, and British Columbia was in 20th spot with two firsts. New Brunswick, which had several samples of cereal grains entered, failed to win a blue ribbon—the insignia for first prize in the United States.

This year's Canadian showing was better than last year when the Dominion's finest grain, cattle and sheep amassed 43 first placings, including 10 championships.

Don't Tell Story

However, the bare statistics do not tell the real story. Every Canadian exhibitor at the big show which ended its eight-day stand Saturday, conceded the competition was much stiffer than at Toronto's Royal Winter Fair and that they were satisfied with their showing.

At this show a first, especially in the livestock classes, is a real triumph for the classes are large and are made up of the best on the continent. Thus in many cases, such as in the fat cattle division, any exhibitor who stood in the top 10 made a real showing.

In the grain section of the show, Canadians continued their winning ways taking the grand championships in oats, barley and rye. But for the first time in 23 years the Canadian entries missed winning the wheat crown, considered the top award of the grain show.

To Expel AP Chief

CAIRO, Dec. 3 — (AP)—The Egyptian government has decided to expel Fred Zusy, Associated Press Chief Bureau in Cairo, for "bad faith," Abdel Basit Al Haggagi, director of the press department of the Ministry of the Interior, said Sunday night. The press director said Zusy had been warned "several times" that the work was "aimed at harming the interests of Egypt." Zusy denied that he had received any warning from Egyptian authorities.

New Ambassador

AUCKLAND, NZ, Dec. 3—(AP)—Prime Minister Sidney Holland announced Monday night the appointment of editor Leslie Knox Munro, 50, as New Zealand's new ambassador to Washington. He succeeds Sir Carl Berendsen, whose term expires next month. Munro has been editor of The New Zealand Herald, the country's leading newspaper, since 1941.

Canada Boosting Aid As Pact Power

OTTAWA, Dec. 3 (CP)—Seven months ago, while Canadian soldiers were fighting in Korea, the defence department issued a white paper which said this:

"Without minimizing the significance of the fighting in Korea, it is the view of the Canadian and other allied governments that the vital area of our global defence is in western Europe."

Nothing, it said, in the last two years has altered that concept.

By late 1951, Canada's contributions to Europe were beginning to back it with men and guns. By November, the movement of the 27th brigade to Germany was well on its way. By the end of the year, it is expected to be established there and in training.

In November, too, RCAF jet fighter squadron equipped with F86E Sabres moved to England as the forerunner of an 11-squadron air division to be established in western Europe by 1954.

First Contributions

Both formations were under the over-all command of Gen. Eisenhower's supreme headquarters of the allied powers in Europe. They were Canada's first contributions of manpower for implementation of the Atlantic pact powers' policy of containing Communism by arming to the teeth and making Europe the crucial testing ground.

In October, the government approved an order authorizing despatch of up to 12,000 soldiers and airmen to Europe for that purpose. About half that number now are on duty there. The army's brigade, for which recruiting started in May, made up most of it. In time, however, the air force contribution to Europe will outrank the army's, at least in importance even if manpower will be about equal.

Important Meeting

Canada's association with the North Atlantic Treaty Oragnization was highlighted in 1951 by the movement of the brigade and by Ottawa's biggest, most distinguished international gathering, the September meeting of the NATO council of ministers.

The meeting, attended by 32 cabinet ministers from 12 countries, approved the admission of Greece and Turkey and set the stage for the Rome meeting in November. It turned the centre block of parliament into a security-bound fortress.

The movements of the brigade and air squadron signalled a new phase of Canada's aid to Europe under the pact principle of mutual aid. Under the earlier phases, she sent enough arms for a division to each of three countries the Netherlands, Belgium and Italy, the last two in 1951; launched a training program slated to turn out 1,400 European and 1,900 Canadian air crew a year; and announced she'll be shipping radar sets, 45,000 walkie-talkie army signals sets, 400 anti-aircraft guns and other equipment.

Off Stride

The training plan was expected to cost $55,000,000 this fiscal year, mainly for the reopening of training schools on the prairies and the purchase of training planes. By December, however, it was still well off full stride.

Arms shipments lagged after the Italian shipment moved overseas in the summer. Defence Minister Claxton said at that time there were more British-type arms to go but the government was awaiting some sort of decision for or against a common rifle by the United States and United Kingdom so Canada can chart her own future rifle course.

The first sign that the swapping of arms can be a two-way proposition came in the fall when Britain announced she is giving to Canada two destroyers which have been on loan to the RCN.

Another development which was hailed as important was appointment of Air Vice Marshall J. L. Plante as a senior staff officer at the Eisenhower headquarters. He is the top man among the relatively few Canadian officers who have gone to Europe to serve on NATO staffs. He gives Canada a voice at the top levels and that, defence people say, is always important.

Civic Voting Routine Job In Many Centres

TORONTO, Dec. 3 (CP)—This is election day in Toronto, Windsor, London and many other Ontario centres.

In most places voters may look on the civic voting as just the routine job of choosing new civic leaders. London residents will have more at stake.

Suburban London township will vote on an annexation proposal which could more than double the city's 11.3-square-miles area, boosting its population from 96,000 to more than 100,000.

In London proper, voters must choose a mayor and also decide on two bylaws. One is a proposal to spend $1,923,000 on an addition to Victoria hospital. The other involves no expenditure of city funds. It is for a 25-year extension of the City Gas Company franchise.

In the three-way mayoralty contest Londoners will re-elect Mayor Allan J. Rush or put into office former mayor George A. Wenige or William J. Stone.

Don't Expect Heavy Vote

At Windsor, little more than half the 37,000 eligible voters are expected to turn out for this year's off-year election. The mayoralty is not at stake. However, 25 candidates are battling for nine civic offices, including two board of control seats, one council seat and two on the Windsor Utilities Commission.

In addition, two questions will be put to Windsor voters—whether this will be the city's last "off-year" election, and whether Windsor will go on daylight time next summer.

At Toronto Hiram E. McCallum —mayor since 1948—is seeking a fourth term. He is opposed by Alderman Nathan Phillips and Allan Lamport. Mr. Phillips has been an alderman for 28 years and Mr. Lamport is a former controller who contested the mayoralty unsuccessfully last year.

INDEPENDENT FIGHTERS "Free-lances" originally denoted the roving companies of knights and soldiers who sold their fighting services to different states.

Something important you should know about your husband...

You know him better than anyone else in the world. You know his bad points as well as his good ones. But one of his best points may have escaped your notice.

You know that he doesn't do many of the things he'd like to do with his money—because the family income will only go so far. And you know that he might reasonably spend money freely now — without a thought for your future. But he doesn't.

Regularly, he puts aside money to give you the protection of life insurance. True, he may gain benefit from that insurance during his own life, but that isn't why he owns it. The real reason can be found in his concern for your welfare.

Do you co-operate with his efforts to provide for you in this important way? Are you encouraging his habit of thrift?

Right now, it's more important than ever to save money. For every dollar put aside for the future helps to check inflation . . . helps to protect the value of all your money.

So check over your budget. See what new savings you can make!

Life insurance dollars serve you these other ways!

A large part of every life insurance dollar is put to work in investments that bring you— and all other Canadians — extra benefits.

Hundreds of millions of these dollars have been used in this way, helping to provide new schools, highways, power plants, oil pipelines, homes and many other vital projects that raise living standards.

Today, by their thrifty habit of paying life insurance premiums regularly, nearly five million Canadians are providing security for their families . . . working to check inflation . . . and promoting progress throughout the nation!

Dewart Heads City Polls, Leads Miller By 127 Votes

2 New Candidates Black, Longhurst Elected To Council

Three of the present members of the council and two new candidates were elected in the municipal voting Monday. Ald. John A. Dewart was returned at the head of the polls with 5,357 ballots to his credit, and a lead of 127 over Ald. T. D. Miller's 5,230. Sydney J. Black received strong support with his 4,222 votes as a new volunteer for public service. Ald. P. J. Anglesey, with 4,039, was fourth, and H. Stanley Longhurst wrested fifth place from another of the new entries, William J. Beggs.

Two years ago Ald. Dewart was second to Mayor-elect, Ald. Hugh Waddell, and Ald. Miller was in third postion.

Results 2 Years Ago

The results at that time were: Waddell 4976; Dewart 4278; Miller 3973; E. C. Braund 3567; P. J. Anglesey 3140.

The official count in the aldermanic field Monday was announced by City Clerk Outram at 10 p.m. Monday night as follows:

Ald. J. A. Dewart	5,357
Ald. T. D. Miller	5,230
Sydney J. Black	4,222
Ald. P. J. Anglesey	4,039
H. S. Longhurst	3,363

The other candidates were:

Wm. J. Beggs	2,834
Ald. E. C. Braund	2,782
G. B. Lathangue	2,259
G. P. Brook	1,265

Board Of Education

The results for the Board of Education were:

Mrs. Paige Rowell	4,561
Stanley R. Adamson	4,397
G. Wilson Craw	3,904
Chas. H. Huffman	3,761
Arthur Pitchford	3,174

The other of the six candidates was Edmund Humphrey—1,722.

Mrs. Rowell was second two years ago to Dr. Russell Morgan who with, Murray Irwin, did not seek renomination.

The vote for the Board in 1949 was: Dr. Morgan, 3,883; Mrs. Rowell, 3,679; G. W. Craw, 3,409; Stanley R. Adamson, 3,180; Murray Irwin 2,946.

Utilities Commission

The first election in years for the Utilities Commission brought about the defeat of George A. Macdonald by Dr. G. R. Langley by 50 votes in the closest contest of the day. The results were: Langley, 2,262; Macdonald 2,212; James Juby, 1,396; and Charles K. Hurst, 1,341.

Ald. Dewart carried 34 of the 62 polls; 24 went to Ald. Miller; Ald. Anglesey claimed two and Mr. Black one.

The elections lacked the usually principal interest of a mayoralty contest. Mayor Max J. Swanston

Volcano Eruption Kills 141 Villagers, Toll Grows Hourly

MANILA, Dec. 4. (AP)—Hibok Hibok volcano in the central Philippines erupted today, killing at least 141 villagers. Rescue workers, clawing frantically in smoking ashes which covered half a dozen settlements, expressed fear the casualty toll would reach several hundred. The Red Cross said the figure was growing hourly. Scores of Filipinos burned by red hot ash or streams of lava were treated at makeshift hospitals set up on Camiguin Island.

The volcano blew its top like an atomic explosion. It spread a layer of thick ash over half a dozen sitios, crossroads clusters of farm houses.

The Philippines weather bureau seismologist said about four square miles on Camiguin Island was covered. He said ashes and noxious fumes limited rescuers to working on the outer fringes of the volcano's destruction.

Rush Supplies

A US Air Force amphibian plane will leave early Wednesday with needed medical supplies and several doctors. A US Navy seaplane will follow with Red Cross workers and more supplies.

Land planes cannot reach the island directly. The nearest air base is 40 miles away on Mindanao Island.

Not Over Yet

The seismologist said the overall situation at the volcano apparently had improved, but added he had "no confidence" that the eruption was subsiding.

The official, whose name was not available, said smoking ash covered about four square miles in the vicinity of the 5,620-foot peak. He said rescue workers could only search around the fringes.

The Red Cross worker, a Miss Bonfacia, told headquarters in a telegram: "Areas affected still

Chevrier States Canada Ready To Build Seaway

OTTAWA, Dec. 4 (CP).—The St. Lawrence seaway-power project is important for economic development and urgent for national defence, Transport Minister Chevrier said today in the Commons.

In parliament's major seaway speech of the last 10 years, the Minister emphasized Canada's intention of going ahead alone with an all-Canadian seaway in view of long United States delay in getting a joint scheme under way.

However, he said Canada would prefer to have US participation and made it clear the US will still be welcomed into the project providing Congress acts "at an early date" on a 1941 agreement between the two governments.

"We believe not merely that it can pay its way but that the benefits to both Canada and the United States will far outweigh its original cost," Mr. Chevrier said.

Reviews Developments

The Minister gave the House a 6,000-word review of Canada's stand on the $700,000,000 navigation-power undertaking as he launched a legislative move for getting the development under way.

He moved a resolution to create a "seaway authority" that would have power to build and operate the navigation end of the project for Canada. If the US should join, the authority would deal with the Canadian end of the joint venture.

The new agency would be empowered to borrow up to $300,000,000 estimated as enough to meet the cost of a 27-foot-deep navigation channel from Montreal into Lake Erie.

While he made clear that Canada still wants the US to join in the work, Mr. Chevrier told the House this country can and will go ahead.

Prefer 1941 Agreement

Canada would prefer approval of the 1941 agreement with certain modifications such as the provision for charging tolls on shipping using the seaway, at a rate that would cover running costs and wipe out the investment in about 50 years.

Floor Collapses 1 Killed, 5 Hurt

TORONTO, Dec. 4 — (CP) — One man was killed and five injured when a floor collapsed today at the Dunlop Tire and Rubber Goods Limited plant in East Toronto.

Name of the man killed was not announced. He was an employee of the Foundation Company of Canada, contractors on a job at the plant.

The injured men were said to be Finnish laborers who came recently to Canada.

Officials of the firm closed the building. Employees said a section of the cement floor crashed through a temporary flooring, pinning the men under tons of concrete.

Demand Release Of 4 US Airmen

BUDAPEST, Hungary, Dec. 4 (AP)—The United States today demanded the release of four American airmen forced down in their plane by Soviet fighters in western Hungary on Nov. 19.

The return of the plane, a C-47, also was sought.

The action was taken through Charge d'Affaires George Abbott, who has headed the US legation here since the retirement of US Minister Nathaniel Davis last summer.

Abbott visited Hungary's foreign minister, Karoly Kiss, and presented a formal note on the subject.

"I was informed by Mr. Kiss that our request will be transmitted to the competent Hungarian authority and I will be advised when a reply is received," Abbott told newspapermen.

Sees Farm Prices Staying Firm In '52

OTTAWA, Dec. 4 (CP)—Prices for Canadian farm products in 1952 likely will remain as "firm" as they were in 1951, J. F. Booth, the agriculture department's chief economist, said today.

He told the annual federal-provincial agricultural conference that one factor to be considered is the pace of western rearmament which in Canada and the United States will be stepped up next year.

"This being the case," he said, "it is reasonable to assume that world economic activity will remain at very high levels."

C. V. Parker, director of the Bureau of Statistics' Agriculture division, predicted an increase in the farmers' cash income for 1952, but farm operating expenses also are expected to rise. The result, he said, likely will be that net farm income will be lower than it was in 1951.

Want 4 Curbs On Truce Inspections—Red

MUNSAN, Korea, Dec. 4 (AP) Communist negotiators today insisted on four limitations to supervision of a truce in Korea. The Allies objected to all four.

The Reds may have other restrictions the Allies don't like. But these four came out in response to lengthy questioning by United Nations' delegates in a newly-created sub-committee:

1. The Reds would be free to build airfields during an armistice. So would the UN Command. But the Allies have plenty and the Reds haven't a single usable field in Korea.

2. Neutral inspection would be limited strictly to ports of entry. The Allies want inspection teams free to go anywhere in Korea.

3. A ban on troop rotation. That would mean an end to American veterans coming home after a year of service.

No Inspection

4. No interference with or inspection of any reconstruction in Korea. Communist reporters at Panmunjom said much construction work in North Korea is underground and the Reds don't want the Allies to know where it is.

Questioning Allied sub-committeemen were trying to find out just what the Reds mean in a compromise proposal they offered Monday.

"They seemed puzzled themselves," a UN spokesman said.

The new sub-committee—two men from each side—was created today in an effort to beat a Dec. 27 deadline. A previous sub-committee drew a cease-fire line across the front to become effective if an armsitice is signed by them.

Vice-Admiral C. Turner Joy, head of the UN negotiating team, proposed another sub-committee to start work on a clause for exchanging prisoners. North Korean Lt.-Gen. Nam Il said he would give an answer. But he didn't say when.

115 Casualities In Suez Battle

CAIRO, Dec. 4. (CP)—An estimated 20 Egyptian police and civilians were killed or wounded and two British soldiers injured when fighting broke out again in Suez today for the second time in 24 hours. British sources said today's battle broke out when Egyptian police and civilians fired on British soldiers who then returned the fire. Today's clash in the troubled canal zone brought the dead and wounded on both sides to about 115 in the last 24 hours. British casualties have been: Killed — three British soldiers, eight Mauritians (colonial troops). Wounded — Three British soldiers. Egyptian casualties—which vary—are: twelve listed as definitely killed—the Egyptians say 16—68 wounded plus today's indefinite total of about 20 killed or wounded.

British troops drew a circle around the city of Suez today sealing off the trouble spot where British and Egyptians battled on Monday.

An Egyptian government communique on Monday's fighting—the bloodiest outbreak in two months of sporadic encounters between Egyptians and British troops — lists 13 Britons and 16 Egyptians—two policemen and 14 civilians—dead.

The communique said a battle involving 70 British armored cars raged for six hours on the outskirts of the city of Suez, southern terminus of the 100-mile-long canal.

Renewal of fighting ended an uneasy truce which was agreed on after a stiff battle at Ismailia, mid-way along the canal's 100-mile length, took the lives of 18 persons on Nov. 18.

British sources said 25 prisoners were captured.

The Egyptians said Monday's battle was touched off by British soldiers who opened fire on a squad of policemen.

The British account said the Egyptians started the fracas when "terrorists"—later joined by policemen—fired on British troops moving gasoline supplies. It said a British corporal was shot in the back in a separate incident.

Later, the British report said, Egyptians ambushed a convoy of two trucks, killing six Mauritian troops of the British forces. An officer and a trooper were reported missing after this affray.

The Egyptian report said fighting ceased late Monday afternoon, but the British report said the situation in Suez was still tense last night.

Recommend 8-Cent Boost For Employees At Ford

TORONTO, Dec. 4. (CP)—A pay increase of eight cents an hour for all employees of the Ford Motor Company at Windsor, retroactive to June 1, was recommended by a conciliation board in a report released today. In addition, the board recommended an "escalator" clause tying Ford's Windsor wages to the Dominion Bureau of Statistics cost-of-living index which means about another five cents.

This pay adjustment, to be made quarterly, would be one cent an hour for each increase of 1.3 points in the index over the June index of 184.1.

(The November index was 190.4.)

The cost-of-living bonus—but not basic wage rates—would be subject to reduction at the same rate if the index drops.

Announce Findings

Report of the board, headed by Judge W. S. Lane of Picton was made public as more than 10,000 Ford employees were idle at Windsor in a walkout which union officials said was caused by the firing of 26 key union workers.

The employees are members of Local 200 of the United Automobile Workers of America (CIO-CCL).

The announcement from the Ontario Labor Department, was in three sections: a report on economic factors of the company-union dispute; a report on suggested changes in grievance procedure and other technical clauses of the existing contract; and a brief separate report by the employer representative on the conciliation board, R. Presgrave of Toronto. The union was represented by Drummond Wren of Ayr, Ont.

Make Suggestions

The economic section said:

Big Landslide Dooms Town

ROME, Dec. 4 (Reuters)—Peasants in remote canals fled their homes today as a huge landslide threatened to swallow their small town, perched on a mountain slope in southern Italy.

News of this new danger came as floodwaters, which recently covered more than 900 square miles in the north, continued to gush into the Adriatic Sea.

A massive weight of rock and earth, loosened by the October floods which killed 80 persons in Calabria, was moving slowly but relentlessly down towards the town and neighboring farms.

Some of the 3,500 inhabitants abandoned the town last weekend, when an avalanche sent rock hurtling down the mountainside.

For two days the little town's church was packed with people praying that the moving mountainside would halt.

The prefect of the province of Reggio Calabria ordered total evacuation, Monday night.

Government engineers reported that the town is doomed. Even if it is not obliterated in the next few days, they said, the loosened mass above it would make it uninhabitable.

Vishinsky Makes Atomic Offer

PARIS, Dec. 4 — (Reuters) — Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Vishinsky said today Russia would allow inspection of Russian atomic weapon plants immediately after the United Nations General Assembly decides that all atomic weapons should be outlawed.

Vishinsky made his statement at a press conference shortly after the Big Four disarmament subcommittee ended a 3½-hour session.

Canada Not Consulted About Freeing Meyer

LONDON, Dec. 4 (Reuters).—Foreign Secretary Eden was asked in the House of Commons Monday if the Canadian government was consulted or informed before the former Nazi Maj.-Gen. Kurt Meyer was released on compassionate leave in the British zone of Germany.

He replied it was not, but a Canadian order in council had previously enacted that Meyer—sentenced to life imprisonment by a Canadian military court for ordering the murder of 18 Canadians—would be dealt with in the same way as the other prisoners detained at Werl.

He added that Meyer was released from Werl prison on seven days' compassionate leave. The granting of leave for strong compassionate reasons or to attend to urgent family business was recognized German penal practice which applied to war criminals at Werl.

Churchill Tackles Dollar Problems

LONDON, Dec. 4 — (AP) — Prime Minister Winston Churchill tackled dollar problems and Germany's role in defence of the west in two separate meetings Monday with W. Averell Harriman and Chancellor Konrad Adenauer.

Churchill lunched with Harriman, American administrator of the Mutual Security Agency and head of a comimittee of 12 experts seeking a formula on rearming the west without bankrupting it.

LONDON, Dec. 4 — (CP). — A worker's blowtorch set fire to the roof in Buckingham Palace today. However, firemen put it out in 20 minutes. The King and Queen are in residence, having returned from Windsor Monday.

UN Decides Ask Germans To Join Debate

PARIS, Dec. 4 —(CP)—Over violent Russian objections, the United Nations special political committee today voted to ask representatives of East and West Germany to take part in its debates on all-German elections.

Russia's Jacob Malik had told the committee earlier that the question of German elections was none of the United Nations' business and the Soviet Union could not favor extending an invitation to the Germans to take part in the discussions.

The vote was 50 to 6 with one abstention. The committee's action marks the first time German representatives have been asked to take part in a United Nations debate.

Malik's rejection of the resolution submitted by Pakistan to extend the invitation made it almost inevitable that representatives of Soviet-occupied East Germany would refuse to appear before the United Nations special political committee to express their views on all German elections.

"Fear Conditions"

Malik stated Russia's position after Britain accused the Soviet of creating "fear conditions" that would stand in the way of free elections "throughout Germany."

Malik's contention was that the only proper way to determine whether divided Germany was ready for all-German elections was through a joint conference of East and West Germans under the supervision of the four occupying powers.

He said France, Britain, the United States and Russia have—under the Yalta and Potsdam agreements—the sole responsibility for the postwar problems of Germany.

Egypt Has Cancelled Reporter's Expulsion

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4 (AP)—The Egyptian Embassy here announced Monday night the Egyptian government has cancelled orders for the expulsion of AP correspondent Fred Zusy from Egypt.

"This action was taken by the Egyptian government in order to dispel any false impression that might be created concerning the free flow of news from Egypt," the Egyptian Asbassador Kamil Abdul Rahim, said in a statement.

Earlier in the day, the State Department said the American Embassy in Cairo, where Zusy is chief of bureau for The Associated Press, discussed the expulsion order with the Egyptian foreign office and pointed out "the most unfortunate consequence of the Egyptian action."

Won't Seek Seat Jolliffe Says

TORONTO, Dec. 4 (CP). — E. B. Jolliffe, Ontario CCF leader, will not seek a seat in the Ontario Legislature at this time, the party's provincial office announced Monday. Mr. Jolliffe was defeated in York South riding in the Nov. 22 Ontario general election.

Morden Lazarus CCF provincial secretary, said the decision was reached with the concurrence of the provincial executive after a weekend meeting.

Mr. Lazarus said consideration had been given "to the courteous intonations" of Premier Frost that Mr. Jolliffe would not be opposed by a government candidate if he were to stand in one of the two ridings now held by the CCF.

Mr. Jolliffe was defeated by William Beech, Progressive Conservative. The CCF held only the ridings of Ontario and Cochrane South.

Police Hold 3 In Gold Smuggling Chase

BUFFALO, NY, Dec. 4 (AP) — Police late Monday night stopped a speeding auto and seized $30,000 worth of gold and silver.

Three men—one from Northern Ontario—were arrested by the secret service on charges of smuggling.

In custody are Paul LaMothe, 25, of South Porcupine, Ont.; Manuel Lester, 30, Bronx, NY, and David N. Brown, 42, New York City.

Police seized 50 pounds of unrefined gold and a quantity of oxidized silver nuggets worth about $2,000. The gold was estimated to be worth $28,000.

Edwin Manning, agent in charge of the Buffalo secret service office, said the men had been under investigation for about 18 months.

Specific charges against the men are violating the Gold Reserve Act and the Tariff Act of 1930, both federal offences. Federal officials said the maximum penalties could be $15,000 fines and 11 years in jail if they are convicted.

Manning said the recent investigation had been in progress since Saturday morning.

Spotted In Hotel

The chase began early Monday night when the men were spotted in a Niagara Falls hotel. Manning posed as a room clerk to obtain positive identification.

Brown and Lester left the hotel on foot, trailed by federal agents. Lamothe had left earlier. Manning said Lamothe was getting the car, a rented auto bearing a New York City licence.

When the two others got into a taxi, a pickup order was radioed to Buffalo police. Buffalo is 20 miles south of Niagara Falls. The Buffalo police relayed the call to police in Tonawanda, a suburban township in between.

Manning said the two autos presumably made contact after they had temporarily lost the pursuing federals and all transferred to the rented auto.

Narrow Escapes

The New York car was spotted several times during the evening by local police, but it eluded them each time. Finally, a town of Tonawanda radio car forced it to halt and they were taken into custody.

The gold and silver were found in the trunk and back seat. Manning said the gold was stolen in small amounts from the Timmins mining area and allowed to accumulate until there was enough for a shipment. This shipment, he said, came over Monday afternoon.

The plan, he said, was to bring the gold to New York for refining and eventual shipment out of the country to Europe and North Africa, where he said it would bring $50 to $60 an ounce on the black market.

Manning said the silver was "just a sideline."

UN Casualties 107,616 In Korean War

PARIS, Dec. 4 —(AP)—United Nations casualties in the Korean war total 107,616, a survey of UN delegations from countries participating in the fighting showed today.

The figure does not include 212,544 South Korean casualties announced in their last report in June. Adding this figure to the UN losses would give a total of 320,155 for the Allied side, compared with total North Korean and Communist Chinese casualties, estimated by the Pentagon in Washington through Oct. 13, of 1,402,504.

The total casualties for UN forces include 16,805 dead, 75,949 wounded, 14,113 missing, and 609 British prisoners. Also, Thailand, with a small total of casualties, did not give a breakdown of killed, wounded or missing.

Except for the South Koreans, the United States, with 100,883, led the list of total casualties on the Allied side, when the latest report was released in Washington. These included 15,323 dead, 72,952 wounded, and 12,608 missing.

The survey of other UN delegations made here since the General Assembly convened showed:

Britain: 343 dead; 1,042 wounded; 1,097 missing; 609 known prisoners; for a total of 3,073 as announced by the war office Oct. 31.

France: 152 dead; 172 wounded; 14 missing; total 338.

Canada: 106 dead; 430 wounded; four missing; total 540.

Australia: 140 dead; 451 wounded; 13 pilots missing; total 604.

Philippines: 45 dead; 164 wounded; 67 missing; total 276.

Colombia: 50 dead; 126 wounded; total 176.

The Netherlands: 69 dead; 128 wounded; three missing; total 200.

New Zealand: 15 dead; 41 wounded; two missing; total 58.

South Africa: 23 fighter squadron pilots missing.

Turkey: 458 killed; 1,170 wounded; 282 missing; total 1,910.

Greece: 86 killed; 226 wounded; total 312.

Thailand (June figure): 135 casualties.

Belgium: 18 killed; 65 wounded; total 83.

No figures have been disclosed on Ethiopian casualties.

Toronto Elects Lamport As New Mayor, By Margin Of 13,156 Votes

TORONTO, Dec. 4. (CP)—A 210-pound former football player, who says he believes in fewer parking tickets for errant motorists, will head Toronto's civic government in 1952. Allan A. Lamport, 46-year-old insurance broker, Monday ousted Hiram E. McCallum as mayor of Canada's second largest city by a 13,156-vote margin. The office eluded him last year by 1,607 votes. Nathan Phillips, an alderman for 28 years, was last in the three-man field. He had hoped to become Toronto's first Jewish mayor.

The complete vote:

Lamport, 72,648; McCallum, 59,492; Phillips, 24,811.

The vote of 156,951 was 42.7 per cent of the eligible 367,402. Lack of a major campaign issue contributed to a comparatively light turnout. The record of some 177,000 was set in 1950 when Mr. Lamport, who had led throughout the vote-counting, was nosed out by a last-minute flood of McCallum ballots from north-end wards.

One new face will be on the 1952 Board of Control, the city council's executive body. Ford Brand, who received strong support from organized labor, was elected to the post he failed to gain last year.

Others On Board

Others on the four-man board will be Controllers David Balfour, Leslie H. Saunders and Louis Shannon, all re-elected. The voters turned an emphatic thumbs down on former Controller Stewart Smith, a Communist candidate, and Fred Vacher, who never has been elected in many attempts.

Mayor-elect Lamport was largely responsible for bringing Sunday sports to Toronto. His advocacy of more open Sundays in a city noted for its lack of entertainment on that day led to introduction of a bylaw, overwhelmingly approved by the electorate two years ago, permitting the playing of baseball and other sports on Sunday afternoons.

Heavyweight boxing champion in Upper Canada College and former Toronto Argonaut football player, Mr. Lamport was elected on a platform promising more federal and provincial help for the city. He was critical of what he termed extravagances by the McCallum administration. Appealing to many automobile-owning voters, too, was his objection in proposed increases in fines for parking violations and of a current police drive in which summonses for such violations are being handed out freely.

No Paper Support

He received no support from any of Toronto's three newspapers. Of this he said: "Give me the people and let the other fellows take their papers."

Mayor McCallum, who took office in 1948 and who in the 1949 and 1950 elections said he would not run again, campaigned on his record. He expressed a desire to see through Toronto's proposals to amalgamate with 12 surrounding municipalities, an issue here for several years. Alderman Phillips promised to end "the clique rule in city hall."

$100,000 Fire Razes Building

BUFFALO, N.Y., Dec. 4—(AP)—Flames ripped through a freight warehouse Monday night, leaving a wake of $100,000 in damage and seven persons injured.

The blaze, which may have been started by a children's bonfire, forced 10 families to flee their scorched homes. Electric power was temporarily cut off in the immediate area when power and telephone lines were burned.

The blaze destroyed the warehouse, property of the Western New York State freight lines.

Two firemen were injured fighting the flames. Three others were hurt, along with two doctors, in a collision involving a fire truck and an ambulance.

At least a half a dozen drums of oil in the building exploded as the fire spread, but their damage was confined to the warehouse.

Police Sgt. Charles Haggerty said the owner of the warehouse had reported that young boys had been seen building a bonfire near the building.

ECA Denies Members Fired

VIENNA, Dec. 4 (AP)—The Economic Co-operation Administration special mission to Austria Monday night termed "completely untrue" a published report asserting that some of its members had been dismissed or transferred because of difference with the United States economic policy adopted for Austria.

An official statement signed by E. C. Meyer, chief of the ECA mission to Austria, referred to the newly-enacted mutual security agency legislation, which calls for reducing ECA personnel by 10 per cent by Jan. 1, 1952.

"To meet this Congressional requirement several members of the ECA mission to Austria have been advised that the newly-imposed personnel ceilings do not provide for the continuation of their positions here.

"Any other interpretation of the reductions reflect complete ignorance of facts," the statement said.

Aid Evacuation

All Philippines naval vessels south of Manila were ordered to speed to Camiguin to aid in evacuation. The island, with 45,000 population, is in the Mindanao Sea just north of Mindanao.

Philippines air force planes will fly to the area Wednesday with Red Cross workers.

Hibok Hibok, quiet since a mild eruption last July, shot a flame-filled tower of smoke and ash into the air at 7:15 am today (6:15 pm EST Monday). It gave no warning.

The weather bureau seismologist on the three-mile long island said the blast was "atomic-like."

The captain of a ship in the Minanao Sea compared the cloud to that of an atomic explosion.

Gov. Paciencio Ysalina of Misamis province said the eruption was worse than the big blasts of 1948 and 1950. A blast Sept. 15, 1950, killed 66 persons. In the September, 1948, eruption, 30,000 residents were evacuated and five deaths were recorded.

Question of Loans

LONDON, Dec. 4 — (Reuters) —First repayments on Canadian and United States post-war loans to Britain fall due December 31, and ministers here are believed to favor meeting them in full. The US loan was $4,359,000,000 and Canada's $1,250,000,000 (Canadian). The agreement specified annual repayments spread over the remainder of this century.

Power Contract Signed, Seaway Next

OTTAWA, Dec. 4 (CP)—Parliament today begins the job of clearing the decks for all-Canadian construction of the navigation end of the St. Lawrence seaway project.

With a newly-signed Federal-Ontario agreement on river power development before it, the Commons is due to deal with Transport Minister Chevrier's motion for setting up a "seaway authority" to build and operate the deep-ship channel.

Later in the session, the House will deal with a government motion for ratification of the agreement between the Federal and Ontario governments, authorizing Ontario as the Canadian authority in the development of hydro power in the international section of the river between Cornwall and Prescott.

Tables Agreement

In the Commons Monday, Prime Minister St. Laurent tabled this agreement a half-hour after its signing. Under it, Ontario would share with some US agency—still undetermined — the $400,000,000 cost of the hydro development and the 2,200,000 horsepower of energy it would yield.

The prime minister told the House that, in the event of Congress ratifying the 1941 Canada-US treaty for a joint project, the Federal and Ontario governments would modify their agreement in the light of the international arrangements.

(President Truman has informed the Canadian government he will give his consent to Canada undertaking the seaway alone unless Congress acts before too long. For the implementing of the Federal-Ontario agreement, the approval of the international joint commission also is needed. The commission controls the use of boundary waters between Canada and the United States.)

In signing the agreement in his office, the prime minister threw out a suggestion that it might spur Congress into action.

Hopes To Get Action

Looking up at a battery of bright and hot klieg lights, he observed:

"I hope the result of this will not only be that the heat is upon us but that the heat will be applied elsewhere."

Signing with the prime minister were Premier Frost of Ontario, Transport Minister Chevrier and Hon. George Challies, Ontario's acting provincial secretary.

The tabling of the agreement was the big item in Commons business Monday, even overshadowing the government's victory in the third of the confidence votes that have evolved from the Throne-Speech debate.

In this division, the government won by a vote of 103 to 39. The House rejected a Progressive Conservative non-confidence motion urging the government to take "adequate" steps to fight inflation and deal effectively with the high cost of living.

"In the event that approval of Congress is withheld or action further delayed," he said, "this government is prepared to undertake . . . an all-Canadian seaway and to endeavour to bring about the development of power in the international rapids section by the province of Ontario and an appropriate United States authority. . .

"If the costs not borne by power are covered by tolls on shipping, it is of much less consequence who makes the initial expenditures, and Canada can do any necessary financing."

The estimated cost, somewhat over $250,000,000, was considerably less than what Canada already had invested in lake and river navigation facilities, these on a toll-free basis.

Mr. Chevrier said each section of Canada would derive regional benefits from the seaway.

MONTREAL, Dec. 4 (CP) — Trading continued fairly slow today on the Montreal livestock markets.

Receipts were 51 cattle, 46 calves, 16 sheep and lambs and 98 hogs. Total offerings on Monday were 1,040 cattle, 896 calves, 583 sheep and lambs and 1,428 hogs.

The few early cattle sales, mostly of cows and bulls, brought about steady prices. Common steers sold at 23-27. Common heifers made 19-24. Medium cows were 23.00-24.50, common 20-22 and canners and cutters 15-20. Common and medium bulls brought 20-24.

Prices of vealers remained unchanged. Good quality vealers sold at 37-39 and common and medium 29-36. Grassers were steady at 22-24.

Lamb prices were steady at 32-33 with common at 25-30 and a few at 31. Sheep were 10-20.

Hogs were selling at 29.25 for grade "A," while sows brought 22-23.

TORONTO LIVESTOCK

TORONTO, Dec. 4 (CP) — At the Ontario Stockyards today the supply was mostly stockers and plain quality killers. Prices were about steady. Receipts: cattle 800; calves 120; hogs 400; sheep and lambs 300. The leftover from Monday was 1,800 cattle.

A few choice weight steers brought $35.50-$36. Common to medium light steers and heifers sold from $23-$32 and good heifers selling $33. Medium to good cows were $25-$26 with a few tops selling at $26.50, while common cows sold downward to $20. Common to medium bulls were $22-$27. Medium to good stockers made $30-$33.

Calves were steady at $36-$38 for choice vealers, and from $30-$35 for common to medium.

There were no hog prices established.

Lambs were steady at $32.25 for good ewes and wethers with bucks $31.25. Culls sold mostly $25-$30. Medium to good sheep brought $16-$23 with culls selling downward to $11.

Young Drivers Have Insurance Rates Boosted

TORONTO, Dec. 4 (CP). —"A terrifying accident record" was the reason given Monday for an increase in insurance rates on Ontario automobiles driven by persons under 25.

A statement today by the Canadian Underwriters' Association and Independent Automobile and Casualty Insurance Conference said the driving habits of the younger generation "are a menace to public safety."

Records show that Ontario automobiles with drivers under 25 had 38 per cent more accidents during the last year than automobiles driven by older persons.

The average rate increase for autos driven by under-25's in Ontario is to be 15.4 per cent. In the Toronto-Oakville-Hamilton district, the increase is only to be 10 per cent.

Windsor Worst Area

The worst accident record in the province during 1951 was rung up in the Windsor districts. Consequently, it's going to cost 27 per cent more to insure cars driven by under-25 operators in that area.

The insurance experts add that while figures based on auto premiums across the country do not indicate a sharp rise in the number of accidents, the claims made by victims have risen 11.5 per cent "because of rising prices and the increased cost of repairs, hospitalization and loss of time from employment."

Drivers who use their cars for business purposes are going to get it in the pocketbook, too. Their rates will be jacked up 7.3 per cent. And to offset all these increases in rates, the insurers have one minor compensation to offer. Cars used for pleasure only and driven by persons over 25 will be given a .8 (eighth-tenths of 1 cent) reduction.

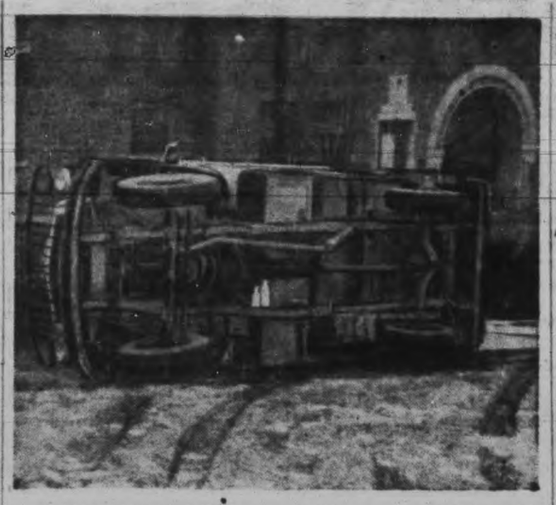
New policy forms will be used in 1952 business, except in Quebec and Newfoundland. The companies say that these new policies will provide additional protection at no extra premium.

For instance, if you can persuade a garage to lend you another auto while your car is undergoing a major operation, your insurance will be extended to the borrowed car.

Navy Flagship In Collision

SYDNEY, Australia, Dec. 4 — (Reuters) — The flagship of the Royal Australian Navy, the 10,000-ton cruiser Australia, was holed above the waterline today when the warship and the 9,943-ton British freighter Somerset collided in Sydney harbor.

No one was injured and naval sources said the Australia suffered no underwater damage.



About 20 feet of the Australia's bow was crumpled, leaving holes in the plating above the waterline.

Steel plates of the Somerset's deck were cut through and about 60 feet of her railing ripped away.

Pacific Council Work Under Way

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4 (AP)—United States, Australian and New Zealand officials took first steps today to set up a Pacific security council.

The council may serve as the hub of a broader Pacific defence organization.

American Ambassador Myron Cowen, Australian Foreign Secretary Richard G. Casey and Percy Spender, Australian Ambassador to the US, scheduled a meeting in New York at which officials said arrangements for the council would be taken up. The agency, a small-scale counterpart of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization Council, was provided for in the security treaty signed here three months ago.

Expectation was voiced then that the council might serve as the nucleus of a general Pacific security arrangement embracing several other countries.

Commandos Raid Red Sector

Troops Shoot Up Communications In Surprise Attack

SEOUL, Korea, Dec. 4. (AP)—British and American Marines ripped through Communist defences 130 miles behind the front in the most powerful hit-and-run Commando raid of the Korean war, the Allies announced today.

The Anglo-American force stormed ashore on the east coast Sunday night under cover of heavy naval gunfire. The troops shot up Communist communications and transport midway between the Soviet frontier and the front.

The announcement was withheld until, presumably, the raiders had withdrawn. UN naval headquarters listed two British Commandos as wounded. No United States Marine casualties were reported.

The surprise assault on the beaches near Tanchon, 170 miles north of the 38th Parallel, broke through heavy Red machine-gun fire and carried the raiders astride Communist coastal transport lines.

Two Days Later

It came two days after the Reds captured the island of Taehwa, far up on Red Korea's west coast between the mouths of the Yalu and Chongchon Rivers..

The Allies had not reported occupation of the island. But the US Eighth Army Tuesday said 1,000 Chinese stormed ashore from canoes, sampans and motorboats.

British and Canadian ships evacuated 300 to 400 Allied guerrillas on the island. The United Nations Command did not mention two other smaller islands near Taehwa which the Reds said they recaptured.

The Red amphibious action apparently led to Friday's big air battle and explained the mysterious appearance of a flight of Russian-type bombers. Eight twin - engined TU-2 bombers were shot down by US Sabre jets before they could reach the islands.

Four Red planes, apparently jets, swept over Seoul in daylight Monday in their deepest penetration. No bombs were dropped. But three Red planes did bomb the frozen western front.

The Allied Command did not mention damage or casualties.

In northwestern Korea jets battled for the eighth straight day Monday. Far East air forces said four Red jets were damaged. It reported no Allied losses. Fifth Air Force said the score for the eight straight days of fighting was 27 MIGs shot down, one probably shot down and 25 damaged. Six UN planes were lost.

Britain's Stand In Abadan Told In Letter

By FORBES RHUDE

The current issue of "This Is Britain", a monthly news letter issued by the United Kingdom information office in Ottawa, gives a summary of Britain's stand in the Abadan oil controversy.

From the outset, says the news letter, Britain's case has been based on the following four principles:

"1. Fair compensation: the amount must be agreed upon by both parties or settled by independent arbitration, not merely "announced" by the Persian government. If this principle is not accepted, it is good-bye to further foreign investment in Persia and other backward countries. No one will feel safe to risk his money.

"2. Security for payment of compensation: Persia can only have a profit and pay compensation if her oil industry is run on its former large scale. This can only be done by co-operation between an efficient management in Persia and some company having world-wide markets. No company would commit itself to market Persian oil unless it could be sure that the oilfields and refineries were to be properly run by qualified people with full control over policy, so that regular supply and quality would be maintained.

No Wild-Cat Moves

"3. Wild-cat cancellation of concessions must not pay: Persia must not, by her one-sided action get a better bargain than other governments who have respected their oil concessions.

"4. No national discrimination: Persia will have to have foreigners to run the oil industry; British subjects and British companies must not be excluded just because they are British."

Building Highlights

MacLean Building Reports, Ltd., states that construction contracts in November totalled $157,068,800, down by $3,380,700 from November last year.

Projects not reaching the contract-award stage because of deferment or cancellation were sharply up over November a year ago, accounting for a volume loss of $5,738,200.

November residential contracts, which had been down since May, were up by $2,924,600 at $46,959,300. Commercial contracts were down $12,800,000 at $35,967,900; and engineering contracts were down $13,200,000 at $44,883,800.

Industrial construction was up $19,600,000 at $30,057,800, reflecting, says MacLean reports, "The bullishness this category has shown with remarkable steadiness all year.

"The steady stream of major expansions announced by one manufacturing firm after another, along with the entry of new firms into the Canadian picture, has carried industrial construction to new high levels."

Big Boost

A $30,000,000 project at Chalk River, and an $18,000,000 steel strip mill at Sault Ste. Marie, gave Ontario contracts a big boost. Next highest was $3,000,000 for a power plant at Medicine Hat, Alta., followed by a 325-unit low-rental housing project at Windsor; a $2,000,000 industrial plant at Sarnia, and a $1,600,000 hospital at Pembroke.

Regional figures, compared with last November, were:

Maritimes $7,289,000, down $5,500,000; Quebec $25,371,800, down $55,500,000; Ontario $103,600,400, up $8,600,000; west, $21,607,600, down $900,000.

Contracts for the first 11 months of the year total $2,175,047,100, a gain of $751,770,600 over the same period last year.

Members Elected At Monday's Polls

FIVE SUCESSFUL CANDIDATES were Monday night elected to the city council. Among them were two newcomers to municipal politics and three veterans. Syd. Black (left) in his first try placed third in the running, polling 4222. Doug Miller, pictured next, had a private race with John A. Dewart (second from right) to see who would lead the polls. Mr. Dewart won, polling 5357 votes to Mr. Miller's 5230. Pat Anglesey (centre) placed fourth in the voting with 4039 ballots in his favour. The other rookie on the 1952 council will be Stanley Longhurst who polled 3363.

Reds Have Little Luck In Ontario Elections

By The Canadian Press.

Communists had scant success in Monday's municipal elections in various communities.

Six ran in Toronto. Only one, Mrs. Edna Ryerson was successful and she won re-election to the Board of Education.

One of the six, former Controller Stewart Smith, was soundly trounced in his attempt to regain a seat on the city's four-man Board of Control. Two others sought aldermanic seats and the remaining two were Board of Education candidates.

Windsor's only communist candidate, Michael J. Kennedy, came sixth in a contest for controller. Nine candidates sought the two available seats.

Find New Homes

HAYDEN, Colo., Dec. 4 — (AP) —The 10 orphaned Montoya children have found new homes. The children whose parents shot themselves to death last week, moved in with the three sisters of their mother. Six were provided with a home by Mr. and Mrs. Chares Baca of Denver. Three others are at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Olivas of Denver. The 10th is living with Mr. and Mrs. Alex Druan of Redcliffe, Colo.

Charge Ottawa Plays Politics With Taxing

OTTAWA, Dec. 4 (CP). — Hazen Argue (CCF-Assiniboia) charged Monday night in the Commons that the government is playing politics with the levying of income tax on farmers. .

Conceding that he had worked them out himself, he produced figures in the Throne-speech debate which he claimed proved that farmers of Ontario and Quebec paid less income tax per farm than did those of other provinces.

Amid cries of "shame" from the Liberal benches, he suggested that the government "knows that the bulk of its support comes from Ontario and Quebec, and very little effort is made to collect tax from those farmers."

When the government of Canada "lays down a law," he said, "it should be applied equally."

Reds Take Over Tientsin Church

HONG KONG, Dec. 4 (Reuters) —All Roman Catholic churches in Tientsin are being taken over by Chinese priests sympathetic to the Communist regime, a report reaching here from the China mainland said today.

They have launched a "brainwashing" campaign from the pulpits to cleanse the minds of congregations of "imperialist" church teachings, the report said.

Tientsin was formerly regarded as the biggest Catholic centre in North China.

The official Communist journal Sin Wen Jih Pao of Shanghai said Chinese priests are devlivering sermons and lectures on "thought reform" and patriotism. More than 28,000 Roman Catholics had joined the "learning campaign."

Meanwhile, Roman Catholic authorities here awaited the arrival from China of three Canadian nuns whose deportation was ordered by the peoples' court in Canton last Sunday.

Dangerous Plaything

MIDDLESEX, N C, Dec. 4 — (AP)— Coroner Van B. Matthews said Monday that the gasoline tanker explosion which killed four boys here Sunday was caused by the firing o a toy cap pistol. Matthews said that a roll of caps had been found in the pocket of one of the victims. He added that one boy apparently had fired a cap pistol near a vent in the side of the tank from which fumes were escapaing.

Latest Invention

LONDON, Dec. 4 — (Reuters)— Robot factories where work is done by machines are the latest invention of the Soviets, a Tass dispatch received here claimed. Tass, official Soviet news agency, said a robot factory producing pistons for automobiles— fully automatic and employing only four operators— had been built in the USSR.

Had To Bail Out

MANILA, Dec. 4 — (AP) — An RAF fighter pilot was killed and another injured Monday night when they bailed out of their planes near Concepcion, Tarlac province. Officials said the pilots became lost in a dense overcast near the end of a flight from Singapore. The pilot of a third plane landed safely.

Says Juveniles Terrorize Police

OTTAWA, Dec. 4 — (CP). — Senator Thomas Reid (L-British Columbia) said Monday night in the Senate that there is growing in Canada a segment of youth who are a danger to law and order and who, in his province at least, have "terrorized the police."

He referred, he said, to the "zoot-suiter bands" which staged fights in various British Columbia cities, particularly with the Army in Victoria.

These youths, he said, would be the first to join any organized Communist movement in Canada.

Yet when they came before the courts, they didn't get "the good old-fashioned lash that has been a corrective method since the time of Adam, but instead got a fine or a few days in jail."

Senator Arthur Roebuck (L-Ontario) said he hoped that Senator Reid's remarks that juvenile gangs had terrorized the police forces would not get wide publicity because it might spur such unlawful activity among young people.

Sees Prices Drop If More Sales

OTTAWA, Dec. 4—(CP)—L. E. Butters, of Toronto, manager of the Canadian General Electric Company appliance division, expressed confidence Monday that if the sales volume in Canada could be doubled, prices of major electrical appliances in this country could be reduced to US levels.

He was testifying before the parliamentary committee on government legislation to remove the practice of retail price-fixing by manufacturers.

Senator G. P. Burchill (L. New Brunswick) said the Maritimes would be "delighted" to hear Mr. Butters' remarks. The eastern provinces were critical of the "awful prices" they had to pay for goods manufactured in Ontario and Quebec.

Slept In Station Two Fined By Court

Two men, said to have been using benches in the CPR station as their sleeping quarters "four or five nights a week," were convicted on vagrancy charges in police court Monday.

They were: Ray Brown, 21, and Edward Weaver, 43, no fixed addresses. Both pleaded not guilty to the charges Saturday morning and were remanded until today. Each was fined $10 and $2.50 costs or ten days in jail.

Weaver who was on adjournment on a charge of having liquor in a place other than his residence when picked up, pleaded guilty today and was fined $10 and $2.50 costs or ten days in default.

When arrested by Constable Grant Gillespie, Weaver was broke and Brown had $2 which he claimed was not enough to rent a room. He admitted he had been working.

"Without further delay, I want you to arrange for some place to stay when you get out," Magistrate Philp told Brown. "As far as you're concerned this general picture has been going on for years."

Maj.-Gen. MacDonald Dies In London

LONDON, Ont., Dec. 4—(CP) —Maj.-Gen. Donald J. MacDonald, 62, one-time commander of Military District 11 with headquarters in Vancouver, died Monday. He retired from the army recently.

He farmed in Saskatchewan for a brief period after graduation from Royal Military College in Kingston, in 1909. For a time between the First and Second World Wars, he was general staff officer with Military District 12 with headquarters in Regina and also was on the staff of Military District 13 with headquarters in Calgary. He also served at National Defence Headquarters in Ottawa.

Lawyer Outlines Law To Rotary

CAMPBELLFORD, Dec. 4 — (ENS)—The Campbellford Rotary Club plans to have a number of the town's senior citizens as guests at their annual Christmas meeting December 17. There will also be a meeting on December 24, but as it was felt there would be a larger number absent on the day before Christmas, it was thought advisable to hold the Christmas meeting a week early.

Bob Bateson was named chairman of the Christmas cheer baskets for the needy, and the club will co-operate with other local clubs and organizations in looking after as many families as possible.

Rotarian F. G. DeCarrol introduced the guest speaker, J.F.R. Douglas, local barrister. Mr. Douglas was scheduled to speak on court procedure, but he thought it better to give the club members a little understanding of the law leading up to court proceedings.

He sidestepped criminal law as he did not think knowledge of it would be of much practical use. The speaker described civil law and its two main branches.

In the administration of the laws, there are three trial courts. These are the division court, the county court and the supreme court. There are two courts of appeal: the Supreme Court of Ontario and the Supreme Court of Canada. There are no appeals heard now by the Privy Council.

The judge of the county court usually presides at the division court. This court deals with matters generally not exceeding $200 and does not cover deeds, titles or the recovery of property. Appeals from this court go before one judge at Osgoode hall. County court appeals also go to Osgoode Hall but are heard by at least three judges.

Personal actions not generally exceeding $1,000 are heard by the county court. This court deals with properties and legacies and can be presided over by a judge or judge and jury.

The speaker went on to describe the steps in taking action through the various courts and procedure of filing claims.

President Franklin S. Linton thanked Mr. Douglas for his talk, on behalf of the members of the local club.

Canada's World Role Presents Challenge, Says B. C. Gardner

Bank of Montreal President Warns Against Danger of Further Inflation — Sees Need for Savings, Productivity, Intelligent Realism

GORDON BALL, GENERAL MANAGER, REPORTS INCREASE IN DEMAND FOR ALL BANK SERVICES —ASSETS, DEPOSITS, LOANS BREAK RECORDS

MONTREAL, Dec. 3—The march of events "is hurrying this country along a pathway of development which otherwise might have taken a longer time to traverse," B. C. Gardner, M.C., president of the Bank of Montreal, told shareholders at their 134th annual meeting today. Canadians would do well to think of the challenging aspects of these "dynamic forces", he said, in view of the danger that, "with more insistent demands on our output than can readily be met," there was a "very real" possibility of further inflation.

A new high in B of M year-end assets, $2,222,000,000, was reported by Gordon R. Ball, general manager. Deposits also stood at a record peak, $2,085,000,000, and the number of deposit accounts increased to a new all-time level —1,873,519. Provision for taxes was $5,001,000, while $4,320,000 had been paid in dividends. A transfer of $3,000,000 to the Reserve Fund increased it to $51,000,000.

Current loans and discounts in Canada amounted to $558 millions, compared with $480 millions a year ago, Mr. Ball said. "This increase occurred mainly in the early months of our fiscal year before the change in national monetary policy began to take effect."

Progress Plus Problems

Summing up 1951 economic trends in Canada, Mr. Gardner said that, while business activity has continued at "a very high level," the whole picture "has been complicated by the distortions of an inflationary trend, and in some measure, by the steps taken to combat the trend itself."

Due to official deviation from an easy-money policy, he continued, a "more realistic" interest-rate structure now existed, permitting the price of money to begin to exercise "its traditional stabilizing function." The government's emergency credit restrictions, although irksome—or worse—to some, had been met with "a gratifying understanding" on the part of B of M customers.

Where major difficulties were being experienced, the president felt they were, in the main, the consequences of the psychological response to the sudden advent of the Korean crisis. "A situation such as we had in the second half of 1950, with sharply rising prices and widespread fear of shortages, naturally encourages overbuying and a tendency to run into debt to acquire goods. Such a condition, however, inevitably builds up its own correctives."

These readjustments had, he said, been taking place in recent months, and while they might be in part the consequences of deliberate anti-inflationary policy, they were also, in large measure the inevitable reaction from overbuying.

National Future Bright

"One may safely forecast a brilliant long-range future for Canada," Mr. Gardner said. ". . . In a desperately uneasy world, in which the shadows of communism and turbulent nationalism do not grow less, the march of events is hurrying this country along a pathway of development which otherwise might have taken a longer time to traverse."

But Canadians should see not only the opportunity but the challenge, he stated. In the immediate future, the proportion of national output devoted to defence production and to the building of industrial plant and equipment seemed likely to be increased. All this, added to a "natural urge" for bettering living-standards and extending social services, resulted in a danger of "more insistent demands on our output than can readily be met." If this is so, "the possibility of further inflationary pressure is still very real."

Analyzing powerful long-term influences which were "tending gradually to undermine the value of the dollar," the president commented upon the danger of the assumption that "all of us can have more and more by doing less and less to get it." The country had great resources, but they could be converted into wealth only through the efforts of "a working force of less than five and a half million people."

". . . We stand at present in need of a great re-emphasis on the place and value of saving as a force on the side of stability." Mr. Gardner said. National policies, he felt, should recognize fully that saving must be made worthwhile. Despite breath-taking advances in technology, work and thrift have lost none of their validity. "Now, as always, security and welfare are not free for the taking, but the rewards of constructive effort and intelligent realism."

General Manager's Address

In reviewing the B of M's year, Mr. Ball emphasized the further increase in the number of banking transactions in all categories. "It costs money to handle money," he said, "and we have during the year been obliged to revise upwards some of our loan rates, as well as certain of our commission and service charges where it was apparent that costs had already outrun the remuneration received for handling the business."

Mr. Ball stated that a substantial part of the bank's program of new construction, alterations and improvements, deferred during the war years, had now been completed. While the bank has had to undertake certain new projects of an absolutely essential nature, these are all "considered in the light of the prior needs of defence production."

The general manager expressed pleasure at the record total of 12,236 shareholders at the year-end. "We are glad to see," he said, "a wider participation by the public in the ownership of our shares . . ."

Reasoned Confidence

Mr. Ball noted that, amid the adjustments and uncertainties of the past year, there had been "a highly significant tendency" on the part of businessmen to make long-term plans with a confidence in the Canadian outlook born of a reasoned appraisal of the logic of events.

In discussing external trade, he commented upon the emergence of a sizable deficit on current account transactions. "Exports have been running well ahead of last year. But imports, particularly from the United States, have been rising even more rapidly, reflecting a high level of Canadian business activity, vigorous industrial expansion and the increasing momentum of the defence program." However, "Canada's reserves of gold and US dollars have declined only moderately," because most of the adverse balance of trade was financed by an inflow of capital into Canada.

Mentioning again the great activity of the past year, in all departments of the bank, Mr. Ball said, "I cannot find words to express adequately my appreciation of the services rendered by our staff at all levels, both in meeting these problems and in carrying on the day-to-day task of providing constantly expanding services at a high level of efficiency."

Referring to the welfare of the staff, the general manager noted that the bank was endeavouring to meet the continued increase in the cost of living by the payment of monthly cost-of-living bonuses. He also reported an increased schedule of insurance under the Group Life Insurance Policy, and greater benefits under the Group Accident and Sickness Policy.

The Municipal Elections

Congratulations are owing to the successful candidates in yesterday's elections, and especially to Alderman J. A. Dewart, to Mrs. Anne Rowell and to Dr. G. R. Langley, who headed the polls in the three contests. We offer our congratulations to Aldermen Anglesey and Miller whose good sense will once again be at the disposal of the city, and to aldermen-elect Black and Longhurst, who will strengthen the 1952 Council. On the Board of Education we are glad to see Messrs. Craw and Adamson assured of their places, and are happy that Messrs. Huffman and Pitchford will join them; this will be a busy and perhaps a difficult year for the Board, which has a heavy building program in progress. And we extend our congratulations also to those men who offered their services to the city, but who were not elected; they have given an example of citizenship which is too often overlooked; it takes just as much gumption to run for office and be defeated as it does to run and be elected.

* * *

We do not, however, offer our congratulations to the thirteen thousand or so Peterborough voters who stayed away from the polls. The back of our hand to them. It is all very well to say that when there is no mayoralty contest and no money by-law there is little interest in a civic election, but in our view such an attitude is a weak and shameful one. It is not the mayor alone, but the Council, which carries on the city's business and spends the city's money. And it is not the big money by-laws alone, but the day-to-day spending of the Council and the permanent city officials which consumes the public purse. Yesterday in these columns we summarized a long and thoughtful brief prepared on behalf of the city of Sarnia by its city manager, in which he pointed out the startling increases in municipal expenditure during the past few years, and the difficulties of raising the necessary monies by present means of financing. This is a deeply serious matter in Peterborough, as it is in every Ontario municipality. And yet there are thirteen thousand voters in Peterborough who seem to be no more concerned about city business, and the people who manage it, than thirteen thousand heads of cabbage. Such people do not deserve as good a Council as the other voters have taken the pains to elect for them. Not one of these defaulters, we will venture to say, will hesitate to express an opinion if something goes wrong in city administration, for loud mouths and empty heads are often found together. But people who, from choice, have not voted, have no right to an opinion; their opinion was asked yesterday on a matter of prime importance, and they were too lackadaisical to give it.

* * *

Let us remember that the municipal elections do not finish the business of the present Council, the Utilities Commission or the Board of Education. Nor does the acclamation of Mr. Waddell put an end to the mayoral term of Mr. Swanston. City business is a day-to-day affair, and those who are now in office will remain in power until the inaugurations in the New Year.

Wedding Music

In the Examiner of November 30 we published the opinions of some of the Protestant clergy of Peterborough on wedding music; we were prompted to ask for such opinions because the Canadian College of Organists has asked the Council of Churches to assist in educating the public to like, and ask for, suitable music at marriage ceremonies. We support the local clergy who said that they were opposed to the use of tawdry music at weddings. We feel, however, that the process of education will be a slow one, for a wedding is a great moment in the lives of the contracting parties, and they feel entitled to have the kind of music which they know, and which they feel gives fitting expression to their ideas about marriage.

Simply to recommend that "sacred" music be used at weddings is not enough. Music is called "sacred" when it essays, however ineptly, a sacred theme; the most banal setting of the most tawdry words has as great a claim to be called "sacred" in this sense as the most exalted composition of a master. If a piece of music addresses itself to God, it is called "sacred"; people of taste will not wish to address God through music which they believe to be unworthy of His greatness.

There is, for those who care to seek it, a considerable repertory of music which is suitable for use at weddings, though not all of it is "sacred" in the sense discussed above. Purcell's Hark, the echoing air is infinitely more suited to a wedding, than for instance, O Lovely Night, which has been heard in churches. Among Bach's simpler songs there are several tender and truly fitting expressions of earthly love as it relates to the love of God. As a wedding march, we suggest that the noble Watchet auf would be a pleasant change from the everlasting operatic march from Lohengrin; virtually any truly fine music is in place in a church; cheap music, however often it may mention God in its verses, has no place there.

The suggestion that organists take their part in helping people to choose the better kind of wedding music is an excellent one, but the organist in such cases will need the moral backing of the clergyman. No reform is easy, and in matters relating to anything so wrapped in tradition as a marriage, reform must be achieved with tact.

Smallwood's Sweep

Newfoundland's election results have been trickling in slowly during the last week. The final composition of the Newfoundland Assembly will not be determined for months, because voting in Labrador has been postponed until weather makes it possible for remote electors to get to the polls. Canada's tenth province has an antiquated election act which, in conjunction with transportation difficulties, spreads elections over the year as a dog's breakfast is spread out over the bush. However, this is certain: Premier Joseph Smallwood's government has been returned with an overwhelming majority. The Newfoundland Liberals will have even more representation in the Assembly than they did in the first Provincial legislature. Before the sudden dissolution, the Government had twenty of the twenty-eight seats, with two vacant.

Mr. Smallwood's government had been in office for only three years when he called the election. It was a surprise call to the Opposition, for the Government could have had two more years of tenure. However, a government is entitled to go to the people when it feels like it.

The people of the ancient colony are still enjoying the first fruits of Confederation: the baby bonus, unemployment insurance, special Federal subsidies, and increased business and industry. They have not yet tired of the novelty of mild affluence, and, beginning in January, monthly old age pensions will be given to all inhabitants aged seventy or more—as in the rest of Canada. Mr. Smallwood met the success he bargained for when he went to the people. His new term, combined with the three years of the first, will give him eight years in office. They are the formative years of Newfoundland's provincial history, and Mr. Smallwood will form them. By the end of his reign the opposition to Confederation will have been smothered by time and events.

A Candidate In Time

We are in full agreement with the remarks made by Mr. George Drew on Saturday last in Vancouver; he pointed out that the survival of democracy depended upon a lively and widespread interest in politics and urged that more people "get out of the political bleachers and into the game." There are reasons, of course, why perhaps fewer people are active in politics today than a quarter of a century ago; politics now makes far greater demands on the time of its devotees than was once the case, and for this reason only a man well established in business, or with partners who can take care of his professional interests, can take time to be an M.P.; but there do not seem to be as many political workers as was formerly the case.

It was this quotation from Mr. Drew's speech, however, which impressed us most strongly: "We have a better chance with the second or even the third best, if we name him now, than if we waited until two weeks before the election and named the best candidate that was ever born." Mr. Drew spoke, of course, of his own party, but what he said applies equally to the Liberals and C.C.F. candidates. There is a tendency—bad for politics and for democracy—to consider that certain seats belong, by right, to particular political parties; if these seats are always won by one party because that party has the greatest number of voters in that constituency, and thus truly represents its opinions, that is fair enough; but if such seats are won because the other parties are inert, and have done nothing to find out what the electors really think, or to present other points of view to them, that is wrong.

Good political campaigners do not rest between elections. They work at politics all the time, and that is why they carry their constituencies with them time after time. In Peterborough the one really alert organization is that of the Progressive Conservatives. The Liberals and the C.C.F. could learn a lesson from Mr. Drew.

The Rose Grower's Association says that every woman is entitled to 1,000 roses. Why doesn't somebody think up something every man is entitled to 1,000 of, for a change?

NATO: Churchill vs. Eisenhower

By WILLIAM CLARK (In Rome)

LOOKING back on the eighth meeting of N.A.T.O., it is clear that the British contention that it was premature and should have been held later in the year was partly correct. Twenty-eight Cabinet Ministers and 500 officials have spent five days in Rome without greatly advancing the defence of the West.

But there is no assurance that the problems facing N.A.T.O. will be any nearer to solution in a few weeks' time. The fact is that N.A.T.O. has arrived at a crossroads and awkward decisions will have to be taken which cannot be avoided by waiting.

✧ ✧ ✧

SUPERFICIALLY the Rome meeting seemed to be characterized by British vetoes almost as frequent as the Russian veto in the Security Council. Britain vetoed the unanimous recommendation for the appointment of an American admiral to the North Atlantic Command. The same veto, it was made clear, would be applied to any decision about the Middle Eastern Command. Britain vetoed the report on standardization of arms in spite of the strongest possible pressure from both America and Canada. Britain unexpectedly made it blankly clear that she would take no part at all in the European Army though she felt warmly towards it. This may in fact have vetoed "the ratification of that instrument" in Belgium, France and even Germany. The Chancellor of the Exchequer made it clear that though Britain would not veto the plans for the military committee they would not in fact be able to carry them out and were making this clear to Mr. Harriman's committee. At the same time the otherwise unanimous report of the military committee contained what amounted to a minority decision by the British Chief-of-Staff, Sir John Slessor, maintaining that too much emphasis was being given to land power and not enough to the air.

✧ ✧ ✧

THIS long list of British obstinacies has not made her popular at this conference. But unpopularity will not alter the stand, for it was a conscious and carefully-considered attitude fully supported by Mr. Churchill. Up till now the whole of N.A.T.O. has been dominated by the figure of General Eisenhower and his military staff. Now, for the first time, a political figure with views on world strategy has appeared on the scene.

THE struggle is Eisenhower versus Churchill. But it bears no relation to the MacArthur versus Truman battle, because Eisenhower is himself a firm believer in the supremacy of the civilian branch. However, for the year that he has been at S.H.A.P.E. he, as a military man surrounded by a military staff, has been the most powerful man in Europe. In America, with the support of the Pentagon and the trust of the President, he has not any strong opposition. As a result the planning at S.H.A.P.E. has been almost entirely military, without full political consideration.

When the new British Ministers were confronted with these S.H.A.P.E. military plans they were shocked at the demands made. The idea of an air-shield over Europe had a great attraction and Britain would always be glad, even at great cost, to play her part in a plan for security through air power. But it has now been made plain that the S.H.A.P.E. plans call on Britain to maintain not only a large air force and navy, but also a full-scale army.

THIS, it is felt, is beyond Britain's economic powers, even with quite extensive American military aid. The effort could and would be made, of course, in time of war, but it could not be maintained indefinitely, and it is felt to be of the greatest importance that any plans made now should be capable of almost indefinite prolongation. What is more, the British view increasingly is that vast forces are not necessary to contain Russia. What exactly is necessary is a matter to be decided by politicians in the light of political intelligence about Russia's motives, as well as military intelligence about their forces.

It is just this political direction which N.A.T.O. lacks, as the Rome meeting has shown. It is Britain's intention to try to provide a strong political head to N.A.T.O. The present council meetings, attended by 400 or 500 people, cannot be an executive body, and Mr. Eden has made it very clear that he wishes to reduce the numbers.

MR. CHURCHILL would probably like to see political direction in the hands of a few heads of State, the Big Two, Three or Four, but this would never be acceptable to the smaller yet important nations in N.A.T.O.

A compromise is therefore likely in which there will be frequent Ministerial meetings limited to about 30 to 50 people, and a greatly-strengthened Deputies' conference in permanent session. Even this, however, does not provide the people of the North Atlantic community with a chance to express their views on the actions which affect their lives more than any other action of their Governments. Naturally, Government representatives do not wish to saddle themselves with Parliamentary machinery, but if N.A.T.O. continues to tax the energies, and indirectly the money, of the peoples so heavily, it is recognized that the cry of "No taxation without direct representation" will once more be raised on the Atlantic shores.

Berlin Lullaby

(J. E. P. in Saturday Night, Toronto.)

("West Berlin's Socialist Telegraf last week reported that state-run nurseries in Germany's Soviet zone have been ordered to lull their tots to sleep with a new nursery rhyme

With folded hands,
While eyelids sink,
For a moment
Of Stalin think." —Time.)

Sweet and low, sweet and low,
Breezes of East Berlin;
Stay, stay the thoughtless sleep
Baby will soon begin.
Over the Soviet boundaries go,
Come from the Kremlin and dear Uncle Joe;
Here, use this long, sharp pin
Lest my little one, lest my pretty one sleep.

Sleep and rest, sleep and rest,
Stalin has come to thee;
Rest, rest on mother's breast,
Dreaming of Joe, not me.
Stalin has come to his babe in the nest,
Screaming invective and hate for the West.
Here in the East, we're free;
Sleep, my little one, sleep, my pretty one, sleep.

Letters To The Editor

GIVE UTILITIES A CHANCE

Sir: Seeing the complaint in Saturday's Examiner re utilities services, hot water heaters etc., I am wondering what you have done about it. I have no axe to grind either for or against utilities but having had the same trouble as you say, I did the logical thing, I called their trouble service and received courteous and effective service. I now have all the hot water my household requires. At least give the utilities a chance to remedy what may be a minor adjustment in your home as it was in mine. Let's be fair. Give them a chance.

SAYS EXAMINER SHAMELESS

Sir: I am speaking on behalf of a great many of your readers who have become highly disgusted with your most recent display of anti-Christian ideas, as portrayed in your editorial on the CBC committee, and who are seriously considering dropping their subscriptions to your paper because of it. I refer of course to your publicly sanctioning the series of talks by Brock Chisholm, Bertrand Russell, Anna Freud, and other avowed enemies of Christianity who have been poisoning the air waves of our publicly owned radio system by their insidious attacks upon religion in all its forms.

The leaders of Protestant, Catholic, and Jewish faiths alike, have all joined in sending rigorous protests to the CBC for allowowing such dangerous ideas as these speakers hold, to be aired over our radio system.

These speakers scoff at accepted religious teachings, and sneer at the very idea of God. And yet you, Mr. Editor, who try to pose as an independent thinker on a great many issues, can have the audacity to stand before your reading public and uphold them.

You say that those who object to this godless propaganda are people who do not want to disturb "conventional thinking," and "who want the thoughts of all Canadains on all serious subjects to be imbedded in cement."

Well, if protecting conventional thinking means recognizing basic moral values,—drawing a clear line between what is right and what is wrong,—wishing to abide by the laws of God and guard our youth against the materialistic doctrines dreamed up by these pagan minds,—then we are all for it.

What you and other pseudo-intellectuals would have us believe is that simple fundamental facts like 2+2=4 are now outmoded, old-fashioned, and imbedded in cement; let us now be broad-minded and throw "conventional thinking" to the winds—let us start saying 2 and 2 are 5. A bit ridiculous, isn't it?

That is precisely the theory that won most of Hitler's success in enslaving the minds of men. " A lie, repeated often enough, and loudly enough, will soon be believed."

Government and Opposition M.P.s have added their voices to the mounting tide of protest rising from all over Canada regarding these anti-religious talks. Opposition leader George Drew has repeatedly denounced them as a "subtle, dangerous type of blasphemy." He says in part, "Over and over again, it has been said that the underlying distinction between our democracy and the Communist system is that our democracy is based upon religion; and the most powerful influence opposed to the spread of Communism is religion itself. At a time when we are putting so much effort and so much wealth into the defence of our system, it seems utterly inconsistent that we should spend large sums of money on the maintenance of a publicly owned radio system for educational, cultural and other similar purposes, and at the same time provide a means by which that culture and that system can be undermined.

"We do not pretend that we will permit blasphemy over the radio, especially this subtle, dangerous type which is sometimes not detected for what it really is.

"We do not permit indecent broadcasts when we use the term in another way, and we should not permit indeeent broadcasts when that indecency relates to religious beliefs."

In his regular column in Saturday Night, B. K. Sandwell, Editor Emeritus, contends: "Religious people have a right not to be distressed on the radio, either by broadcasters asking them to believe some other religion than their own, or by broadcasters asking them to believe no religion at all."

There are many of your readers, Mr. Editor, who perceive with disgust, your readiness to print articles by one of the speakers in question, right in your own paper. I refer, of course to Bertrand Russell, who is notoriously anti-Christian, who openly advocates all types of marital infidelity, and who already has been prohibited by the U.S. courts from lecturing in New York because "the practice of his philosophies would be a contravention of the criminal laws of the States."

Just how shameless can you get?

The anti-religious views of another of these speakers, Dr. Brock Chisholm, are already well-known. Among other unadulterated nonsense, he advocates that parents no longer teach their children the difference between right and wrong. It is, in fact, generally believed, that public revulsion with Dr. Chisholm's attacks upon basic moral values, led to his resignation as Canada's deputy minister of health.

There are some who may regard criticism of these radio talks a denial of "freedom of speech." Let it be understood that these speakers do not only attack religion—they deny that there are any absolute moral values at all! If the broadcasting of such views is to be protected by the principle of "freedom of speech", then it would be quite permissable for the CBC to broadcast advice by criminals on how to rob a bank, how to murder a wife, or how to assassinate the King. If intellectual freedom be to insult the intelligence and make a mockery of the religion of the Canadian citizen, then we urge certain members of the CBC to find out what freedom really is, before they, and we, lose it altogether.

I might say here also, that even some of the "so-called" educational programmes for schools (sponsored by CBC in morning and afternoons) are unfit for the ears of children and should be cleaned up. We strenuously object to paying our taxes to have our Christian concepts attacked in Canada over publicly owned facilities.

In closing, I would like to quote from one of the many letters of protest received by National Revenue Minister McCann: "The CBC was created and fostered by public money, and now through these broadcasts, has become a Frankenstein which is attacking the very values it was given a mandate to defend. We won't be satisfied with explanations that these speakers are engaged to 'broaden our outlook' or give us the 'other point of view.'

"We don't, if we can help it, stand in front of moving vehicles. Being run over by a truck certainly adds to our experience, but the harm done us can be considerable. We demand that our servants do not seek to run over our own homes, and that the CBC either clean up or shut up."

Yours very truly,
ON GUARD.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

But there went up a mist from the earth, and watered the whole face of the ground. And the Lord God formed man of the dust of the ground, and breathed into his nostrils the breath of life; and man became a living soul. (Gen. 2: 6, 7.)

✧ ✧ ✧

That which is born of the flesh is flesh; and that which is born of the Spirit is spirit. (John 3: 6.)

✧ ✧ ✧

For they that are after the flesh do mind the things of the flesh; but they that are after the Spirit the things of the Spirit. So then they that are in he flesh cannot please God. But ye are not in the flesh, but in the Spirit, if so be that the Spirit of God dwell in you....

Therefore, brethren, we are debtors, not to the flesh, to live after the flesh. For if ye live after the flesh, ye shall die: but if ye through the Spirit do mortify the deeds of the body, ye shall live. For as many as are led by the Spirit of God, they are the sons of God....

The Spirit itself beareth witness with our spirit, that we are the children of God. (Rom. 8: 5, 8, 9, 12-14, 16.)

"Ridiculous" Love Letters

(Windsor Star)

A Paris janitor was fined for having opened the love letters mailed by a sweetheart to one of the tenants. Thinking them ridiculous, he threw them away after having read them, thus causing a lovers' row when the irate woman complained of having received no replies to the letters never delivered to her beau.

The word that strikes us in this news item is the adjective "ridiculous." Most love letters (though some have had great literary value) would appear such if made public. They usually contain exaggerated language conveying emotion extravagance. The recipient is told that he, or she as the case may be, possesses qualities never before owned by any human being. In a cool appraisal of human imperfections, these praising phrases are apt to look ridiculous indeed.

But to those who write and read the letters, there is magic in the words. These seek to express love, the finest emotion possessed by human kind. The very intensity of the emotions give rise to the extravagant terms used. It may be easy—and also callous—to scoff at the letters of love, but none should sneer at the emotions which inspire them.

Even though the Paris janitor thought the letters he opened were ridiculous, they were interesting enough to cause him to read several. It would be a poor love letter indeed that wasn't interesting.

"A few night-guard duties in Squire's woods'll help the most ration—'Halt, who goes there?' he answers. Bang! And down comes a pheasant."

Wants Milk Sold At 24 Cents Qt.

TORONTO, Dec. 5 — (CP)— Agriculture Minister Kennedy said Monday Ontario milk should sell for 24 cents a quart and farmers should receive $5 a hundredweight for the milk they produce.

He called the milk industry a "depressed industry" that needed higher prices to stay in business.

Milk now sells in Toronto for 21 cents a quart and farmers receive $4.55 a hundredweight.

"Milk is not only far too cheap but the cheapest food in the province," he told representatives of the Milk Drivers' Union in his office at the Parliament Buildings.

"The farm is losing its cattle. Farmers will not stay in an industry where they lose money. Milk production last year went down 17 per cent in the province."

Mr. Kennedy said he blames the decreased consumption on civic officials and others who keep saying milk is too dear.

"Every time they talk about the high cost of milk, they reduce the amount of milk the children of the province drink."

Say 15 Ships Clearing Port Arthur Daily

PORT ARTHUR, Dec. 4 (CP) — Shipping officials predicted today that if the good weather holds, an average of 15 ships will clear here daily until navigation closes.

R. D. Milligan, of the Lake Shippers' Clearance Association ... ates will take ... mps Dec mber 5 and 9, with navigation expected to close on December 12.

He said if the 40-degree temperature of the last four days holds, ships will be moving in large numbers until that date. After December 15, ships move at their own risk and that date usually marks the close of navigation.

Fifteen vessels were loading here Monday and a dozen more are due in to pick up cargoes today.

Collective Defence

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4 (AP)— Prime Minister Adnam Menderes of Turkey says a "collective" defence will rise up in the event of a Soviet thrust into the Middle East. He was quoted in a copyrighted interview published by US News and World Report, weekly news magazine.

Quebec Certain Of '52 Election

QUEBEC, Dec. 4 — (CP). — Quebec elections in 1952 appear to be a sure thing, but one guess as to the date is as good as another.

The speed at which the Provincial Legislature is getting through the business of its fourth session in 1948 election would seem to indicate voting early in the New Year.

Premier Duplessis' celebration next May of the 25th anniversary of his entry into politics presents his Union Nationale Party with an opportunity for an appeal to the people then.

Summertime voting, after farmers have sown their crops and are waiting for early harvest work and with public works in progress through the province has been favored by recent governments.

The only near certainty about the election date is that it will be a Wednesday—Premier Duplessis' traditional lucky day and one always picked by him for important events.

Blame Hard Preaching In Church Fisticuffs

FORT WORTH, Tex., Dec. 4— (AP). — Sex sermons and "hard preaching" were blamed today by members as the cause of a Sunbath free-for-all fight at the Ross Avenue Baptist Church.

Six police officers hauled dozens of the flock to the police station Sunday after a flurry of fists caused minor cuts and rumpled clothing.

About 50 of the churchmen resumed their heated argument at the station. They went home quietly after police threatened them with jail.

The trouble started over the ouster of Rev. W. W. Baker, hired three months ago by the Independent Fundamentalist Church.

His opponents charged he spoke too plainly on sex and attempted to assume administrative authority that belonged to trustees and deacons.

REGINA, Dec. 4 (CP)—Three pension bills up for consideration at the current session of the provincial legislature all were introduced and given first reading Monday. They are an old age assistance bill, a social aid act amending bill, and a blind persons allowance bill.

32,817 Enlist

OTTAWA, Dec. 4 — (CP) — Enlistments in the armed forces totalled 32,817 during the first 10 months of 1951, the Defence Department said Monday in a return tabled in the Commons. Of this number, 1,978 have been discharged from military service.

Big Grain Movements

WINNIPEG, Dec. 4 — (CP) — Trade Minister Howe said Monday Canada expects to move more than 100,000,000 bushels of grain from the Pacific coast during the present crop year—between 30,000,000 and 40,000,000 more than shipped in the 1950-51 crop year.

Footé Addresses Baseball Dinner

BETHANY, Dec. 4—(ENS)— The Bethany Athletic Association held a banquet and dance in the town hall Friday night in honor of their baseball team, winners of the North Durham series and champions for Durham county in the 1951 finals.

Major John Foote, VC, Minister of Reform Institutions, was the guest speaker and said in part: "A community is on the right track when it sponsors a baseball team, or sports of any kind. If a community supports a church and a recreation club, there will be little or no delinquency problems and the larger world problems will be more easily solved, for the small communities are representatives of our nation. If people get along well in their own village, they will get along well in the world."

He mentioned several incidents which had occurred during his term of imprisonment in the last war and said the morale of the Canadian and British prisoners of war was much higher than those of other countries, which he thought was largely due to their interest in athletics and cited one time in particular when a near riot had broken out in one of the adjoining camps and his own Canadian group had ignored the whole situation, continuing in a game of foootball. He also humorously mentioned how his political opponent, John James, MP, had got ahead of him in presenting a trophy for competition in the county this year, but that now he (John Foote) was assured of steady employment for the next four years, he might be able to afford something of the same nature.

He was introduced by Robert Sisson and thanked by J. C. Cummiskey, manager of the baseball team, who also spoke of the cooperation of the team throughout the season and that he had been proud to act as their manager.

W. L. Hannah, president of the North Durham League, was chairman for the evening and in his remarks paid tribute to Dr. J. J. Hamilton, the founder of the Bethany Athletic Association. He also reviewed the summer's games and told some amusing incidents that had occurred among players and spectators.

The toast to the King was given by the Rev. T. S. Gault, who said this age-old toast has been given new significance with the visit to Canada this year of Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh, which had strengthened the ties of our allegiance to the King.

The Rev. James Hampson asked the blessing and led the community singing with Robert Sisson at the piano.

John Burns, of Janetville, presented the North Durham Trophy —the gift of W. J. Duncan, of Veiwlake — congratulating the team on their good record throughout the entire season. The trophy was received by Bruce Ryley, coach of the team, who expressed their thanks, and his personal pleasure in coaching the boys. "Coaching is an easy job when you have the full co-operation of the team." Mr. Ryley also thanked the supporters and fans of the team, whose wholehearted support had meant much to the boys during the entire season.

Arnold Wade, president of the South Durham League, congratulated the Bethany team on their successful year. The final games between Orono (South Durham winners) and Bethany (North Durham winners) had been something to talk about for a long time.

He introduced John James, MP, of Bowmanville, who presented his personal trophy to be known as "The James Throphy" for Durham county rural baseball. This is the first year there has been an award given for County finals and Mr. James in his remarks congratulated the Bethany team on being the first to have their names engraved on it.

The trophy was received by Reg Edmunds, captain of the Bethany team, who thanked the donor for his support and interest in athletics.

Ross Carr, president of the Bethany Athletic Association presented two crests to each team member, one, which signified the North Durham win, and the other that of Durham county. Three new members of the team received jackets of the same style as those given to last year's players. The members are: Wilfred Reynolds, Reg Edmunds, Robert Sisson, Rae Stewart, Bert Ginn, Harry Ryley, Arthur Stewart, Gordon Smith, Russell Kerr, Hubert Lowes, Howard McGill, Ross McGill, Camberon Rowan, Vincent Jackson, J. C. Cummiskey and Bruce Ryley.

Another pleasant feature of the evening was the presentation of a jacket, matching those of the team members, to Mr. Hannah, a charter member of the Athletic Association, always interested in sports of any kind, and for more than 30 years the official scorekeeper for the Bethany teams.

The banquet was catered for by the members of the Women's Institute, who served a turkey dinner with all the trimmings. Mr. Hannah expressed the thanks of the Atheltic Association to the ladies for their dinner.

CGIT Holds Christmas Service

LAKEFIELD, Dec. 4—(ENS)— The Canadian Girls in Training national Christmas vesper service was held Sunday evening in the United church and was well attended by members from all the congregations in the village as well as those of the United church.

Miss Connie Valance was the leader of the service and was assisted by Miss Edith Whetung and Miss Ruth Fraser.

Members of the CGIT formed the choir and druing the service sang two anthems, "Infant Holy" and "Silent Night." A sextette composed of Louis Anderson, Patty Jakins, Helen Kingdon, Helen Hennesy, Margaret Calberry and Jeanette Binnington also sang "Away in a Manger."

The candlelight service was conducted by Marie Mason, Dianne Peters and Dianne Webster.

The offering was received by Barbara Graham and Marilyn Fraser.

A fellowship hour followed the service with the girls as hostesses. They were assisted by Mrs. Theo Down, Mrs. T. Payton, Mrs. N. Wood, Mrs. W. H. Tonge and Mrs. J. L. Fraser.

During the fellowship hour the presentation of a rhinestone necklace was made to Mrs. George Graham by Connie Valance in appreciation of her splendid leadership in former years with the CGIT.

The leaders of these girls are Mrs. Tonge, Mrs. Wood, Mrs. Payton and Miss Margaret Calberry and to them is given the credit for this splendid service.

Oddfellows Down the Vics With a 5-0 Shutout In Smart Junior "B" Fray

Oddfellows came through with flying colors Monday night at Civic Arena defeating Kingston Vics 5-0 in a rousing junior "B" hockey battle to thrill a jubilant home crowd, who saw their favorites play their finest game of the season.

Showing the way to his teammates in a star-studded struggle that saw every Oddfellow giving his best was the staunch figure of Rock Batley, who guarded the twine for Johnny Godfrey's peppery squad.

"That kid was sensational in goal tonight," said coach Max Jackson of Vics after the game. "We were all over him time and again but couldn't get that puck in there. And your defence was terrific," he concluded, sadly but truly.

Play opened fast despite rather soft ice and at 6:25 Dick McCracken, the Lakefield softball pitching star, playing his first game of the season, beat Bob Senior from close range from a scramble. Brian Robinson quickly made it two as Oddfellows set a terrific pace, swarming around Senior and Red let go a low drive from short left-wing that Senior partially stopped, but it dribbled past for a king.

Vics struck back hard but tenacious fore and backchecking by Links held off their best efforts. Don Clapper potted Oddfellows' third tally at the three-quarter mark on a smart play started by Armstrong and Robinson. The first sortie failed, but as the puck came out to Don, he drilled a low quick one past Senior as the crowd cheered wildly. Oddfellows held a good edge in a clean, fast frame.

The second period produced some close checking by both teams and as action speeded up, play became rugged. Oddfellows drew four miscues this frame and Vics two as referee Calhoun clamped down hard on the slightest infractions as tempers flared. Links dominated play in the midframe however, despite penalties and held off Vics in good style even when shorthanded, though their offensive suffered and neither team dented the mesh.

Clare Ferguson, the game's outstanding forward, clicked for two beautiful goals in the final period, the first on a neat combination with Red Robinson; the second on a pass from Ab Buckton. Robinson sped down right wing in his inimitable weaving style and as he neared the defence passed to Fergie near the right boards as the latter flew alongside.

Ferguson drilled a hard 25-footer to the left corner at 2:21. The fifth counter came five minutes later as he drove an icecutter from left wing in close to catch Senior flat-footed. Team play paid off for Oddfellows however, on the whole, as every man worked hard both ways with never an idle moment.

Though outclassed, the Vics gave their best after a long trip and were minus three regulars. The first line of Senior, Reid and Vallier worked most effectively while Gerow, Mulholland, Pat Hegarty, Lozer Maracle and Redmond also toiled well in a losing cause. Oddfellows journey to the limestone city Saturday.

Kingston — Goal, B. Senior; defence, Birchall and Gerow; centre, D. Senior; wings, Reid and Vallier; alternates, Tozer, Mulholland, Roy, Redmond, P. Hegarty, Maracle, Reynolds.

Organize Boys To Curl With 12 Rinks

By HERB MARTIN.

After an absence of several years, we now have a junior boys' curling club. This idea has been gaining favor in the senior club for the last couple of years and this season the young lads were organized. They have 12 rinks and already have a complete schedule drawn up. As yet we have not all the details but believe that the boys are being coached by F. Stenson, W. Switzer, R. Payne, T. Ryan, A. Ingram and G. Hancock. There may be others, and we'll check on that later.

The boys held their first scheduled game yesterday. They play eight ends.

Men's Scores

W. Hamilton 4, R. Dawson 12; F. Sheedy 12, H. Hamblin 7; G. Gable 9, W. Moorehead 9; E. Bickle 6, B. Jeffries 10; J. A. Brown 8, R. Bastable 6; M. Metheral 9, A. Aitkenhead 10; Dr. R. Morgan 8, W. Archibald 7.

Junior Boys' Scores

Whyte 8, Clark 1; Sullivan 8, Hancock 7; Jones 9, Baptie 4; Fanning 6, Hutchinson 7; Coit 7, Innes 6; Butcher 8, Gillespie 6.

Here And There In Sports

By The Canadian Press

Carl Voss of the National Hockey League said Monday he could make no comment on Sunday night's brawl in the Detroit-Toronto game.

Voss said he was trying to call referee George Gravel, and linesmen George Hayes and Doug Davies—officials for the game—by long-distance telephone for an oral report of the incident. He added that he could make no comment until after their written report was in his hands.

Detroit demanded an official investigation of the game, referring to it as the "Mortson incident" in a public statement. Jack Adams, Red Wing general manager, denounced the Toronto player and the officiating.

Gus Mortson, Leaf defenceman, was one of the seven men to be penalized in the affray, which the Leafs won 2-1.

In Montreal, league president Clarence Campbell said he had received the protest but would take no action until he confers with Voss.

Wagering at Rhode Island's two tracks amounted to a record $76,713,196 in 1951, State officials said. This was nearly $15,000,000 more than was bet at Narragansett Park and Lincoln Downs last year.

A charity fight between Sugar Ray Robinson and Carl (Bob) Olson, scheduled at San Francisco Dec. 20, has been postponed indefinitely after Robinson was reported to have injured his sacroiliac while training in New York.

J. F. Velleman, a young Johannesburg, South African amateur heavyweight boxer, died Monday after being knocked unconscious in a boxing bout Saturday night.

Richard Williams of Baltimore, Md., one of three jockeys indicted with three race track figures in a race fixing investigation, pleaded innocent Monday at Baltimore, Md., to three charges and was released in $6,000 bail in court. Williams is charged with attempting to corrupt Patrick Moore, another jockey, by offering him money to run a race improperly at Narragansett Park, with actually corrupting him and with conspiring to corrupt him.

New York Rangers of the National Hockey League recalled defenceman Jim Ross and forward Zellio Toppazzini from their Cincinnati American League farm club Monday. "Topper" was called back to replace rookie right wing Wally Hergesheimer who wrenched his knee in Toronto on Saturday.

Darnaway, owned by Mrs. T. Cristopher of Miami, dropped dead in the stable area, shortly after the six-year-old gelding finished eighth and last in the fifth race at Miami's Tropical Park Monday.

Newark may return to the International League as a farm club of Philadelphia Athletics if league president Frank Shaughnessy can arrange "reasonable rental terms" with the New York Yankees, who own the ball club. Shaughnessy said Monday that A's are willing to meet the purchase price New York placed on their Ottawa franchise and 12 players.

Contending that the betting tax imposed by the provincial government on Ontario race tracks still is excessive, Col. K. R. Marshall, president of the Ontario Jockey Club, said Monday "this short sighted policy is affording encouragement to wagering with bookmakers." He was speaking to an annual general meeting.

The Quebec Senior Hockey League at a special meeting here Monday night, voted unanimously to give financial aid to Sherbrooke Saints to keep them in the loops. Sherbrooke, mired in last position in the seven-team circuit with only six victories in 22 games, suffered from dwindling attendance.

STOOPS TO CONKER—Forward Don Lofgran ducked just before being beaned as his Indianapolis team lost in Minneapolis. Up in the air about the incident was Laker Joe Hutton. Did you ever see a basketball loom so large?

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Next year is 1952, and it's less than a month away. Not only is it Leap Year, but it's also the one-in-four when the Olympic Games are on. Nothing to get unduly excited about, but some good might be served in a troubled world by taking time out for a spot of international sports competition. Particularly since the Summer Games next July are in Helsinki, Finland, a fine little country now under Communist rule. The Winter Games are in February in Oslo, an independent country in a clime somewhat similar to our own. Canada will have ski and hockey representatives, as well as rowing, paddling and cycling entries for the Winter Games.

* * * * * *

A lot of ball talk lately around the Intercounty Loop. Larry Pennell, Brantford, says his club is successful because it carries 13 good players instead of 18 or 20. "Last season," he says, "we had the best colored player in ball, outside of the major leagues, in Wilmer Fields, a pitcher and outfielder. Toronto tried their best to get him. He won 13, lost one, and hit 13 homers. Fields earns $1,100 a month in the Venezuelan League in the winter. How could a man of his ability be obtained at the class 'B' rate of pay? We pay him two salaries. Like I said, he plays two positions." Nope, we don't think Peterborough could afford the Intercounty Loop.

Those Hawks And Eagles

Belleville Hawks now lead the senior "B" puck group in Central Ontario with six points. Bunched right behind 'em are the Eagles, Petes and Kingston with four points each. All clubs see action tomorrow eve: Petes at Kingston, and Belleville vs. Eagles here, so there'll be some standing changes made. Eagles, if they really hustle, should edge Belleville at Civic Arena to go into a top-place tie, with either Petes or Kingston—depending on the result of their tilt. Hawks and Eagles will serve up a sizzling scrap and it should draw a big midweek hockey crowd. The Hawks are plenty potent, but the Eagles have class and the old moxie.

* * * * * *

Hardly a month old, the senior "B" season is sure taking its toll of local players. That injury jinx again. Chum Fryia of the Petes will be out a spell yet with a busted thumb; ditto with George Steele and a fractured jaw, while Jim Millar has been side-lined with a bad cut near the eye. Eagles lost Joe Rochetta with a broken leg, and Goalie Milne may be out for a time with a torn cartilege. We rather expect Ross Nicholls will get the net assignment on the morrow. Dootch Vitarelli and Moon Wootton are recuperating from cuts on the face, but are ready for action again. Probably a few other injuries to both clubs which we've forgotten at the moment. And the season has a long way to go yet.

IOOF-ers Defeat Vics

Sooner or later, Johnny Godfrey's junior IOOF-ers were bound to click—as they've got the class—and they sure did it last eve here. Whitewashed Kingston Vics 5-0 in an impressive showing to keep right in the hunt. McCracken, Robinson and Clapper scored in the first, an assist each going to Sullivan, Buckton, Armstrong, Robinson and Ferguson. Then the latter clinched it with two tallies in the third, Robinson and Buckton having an assist apiece. Rocky Batley starred in the home cage with a swell showing, and he had a strong defence in front of him. A first-class team effort against stiff opposition. They meet again this weekend in Kingston.

Latest NHL scoring bulletin on our desk shows Elmer Lach taking over top place with 24 points from Maurice Richard, also of Canadiens, with 23. Ted Kennedy of Leafs is coming up fast with 21. Rookie Red Sullivan of this city has scored four points to date with Boston Bruins. Same number as such established regulars as Bob Solinger, Roy Conacher, Vic Lynn, Steve Kraftcheck, Bill Juzda, Bill Quackenbush, Bob Goldham and Gus Mortson. A point more than Lewicki, Gadsby, Leswick, Meeker, Lund and some more. Such chaps as Eddolls, Ezinicki and Bouchard have but two so far, and Dumart, Timgren, etc., just one. So, Red is doing okay to date.

City Carpetball

Next week's schedule: Fire Hall 15 vs. SOE 5, Quakers 7 vs. Fire Hall 13, Orphans 15 vs. Legion 6, Legion 8 vs. LOL 14, Glens 1 vs. 2nd Armour 3, Red Patch 10 vs. St. George's 12, Legion 2 vs. Legion 4, Moose 9 vs. Legion 11.

Last week's results: LOL 14 lost one game 6-12 to Glens 1, but won the second 16-5; SOE 5 beat Legion 4 by scores of 16-6 and 21-6; Scouts 3 won the first 11-10 from Legion 8 but lost then 8-15; Fire Hall 15 knocked down the threat for first spot by Legion 2 with two wins, 24-1 and 12-6; Legion 6 won one 18-4 over Moose 9 but lost the other 11-13; St. George's 12 lost 6-10 to Fire Hall 13 but came on to win the next 13-8; Legion 11 lost both over Orphans 16 by 7-12 and 3-19. The game between Quakers 7 and Red Patch 10 is under dispute.

The card of two weeks ago giving St. George's 12 both games over Orphans 16 has been rectified. These cards should be checked before going to the secretary.

By playing every week, the first half will not be over till Jan. 21. Or does the league want to skip the week of Dec. 24? As the memorial doubles and president's cup draws will go early in the New Year, all teams should file names with the secretary now. As the draw takes place soon, all tickets and returns should be turned in to A. Pilling by Dec. 17.

Dauthville TKO's Roy Wouters

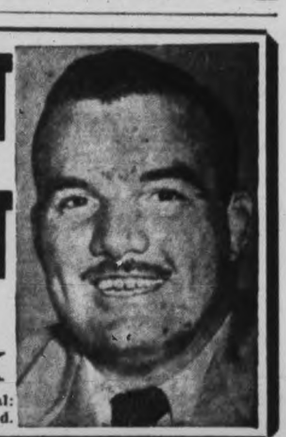
MONTREAL, Dec. 4 (CP). — Laurent Dauthuille of France on Monday night scored a fifth-round technical knockout over Roy Wouters, Canadian middleweight boxing champion, in a 10-round, non-title bout here.

Dauthuille weighed 158 and Wouters 162.

The French battler, who fights out of Montreal, was awarded the verdict at the end of the fourth round after a Montreal Boxing Commission doctor advised referee Maurice O'Connell to stop the fight because Wauters' right eye was badly cut.

Brian Kelly, 18-year-old Niagara Falls battler won a unanimous decision over Armand Savoie of Montreal, Canadian lightweight titlist, in a semi-final bout that followed the main event. This also was a non-title bout.

Kelly weighed 137¾ and Savoie 138½.



A crowd of 5,566 fans paid a gross gate of $14,552.

The 22-year-old French Canadian was in trouble in the seventh round when the young fighter poured vicious left jabs and right-hand crosses that shook Savoie.

Kelly was unable to fight 10 rounds because of his junior rating.

Lach Takes Over Top Spot As NHL Best Point-Getter

MONTREAL, Dec. 4. (CP)—Montreal Canadiens' Elmer Lach finally has taken over sole possession of the National Hockey League's individual scoring race. Lach, who, with teammate Maurice (Rocket) Richard, held [illegible] place for the last six weeks, now is one point ahead of the Rocket. Lach has 24 points, made up of six goals and a pace-setting 18 assists, while Richard has 15 goals — a current league record—and eight assists.

Richard, a standout sniper who led goalgetters for three seasons but never was top point collector, was awarded an assist on a Lach goal last Saturday night, but lost it when officials revised their ruling.

With the Toronto Maple Leafs threatening to unseat Detroit Red Wings from first place in the standings, Queen City players also are moving up the scoring ladder.

Crowding Richard

Ted Kennedy, a Toronto veteran, is crowding Richard with 21 points, two less than the Rocket. Tied in fourth place with 19 points are Bill Mosienko, Chicago, Gordie Howe, Detroit, and Sid Smith, Toronto. Mosienko's 11 goals are closest to the Rocket's mark.

As yet undefeated on the road, Detroit continues to lead the six NHL clubs with 30 points, two more than the Leafs.

Toronto net minder Al Rollins remains top goalie with 40 goals scored against him in 23 games, giving him a 1.74 average. Next is Detroit's Terry Sawchuk who let 40 pucks past in 22 games. Sawchuk has four shutouts, two more than Rollins and Boston's Jim Henry.

The two Canadian entries in the league are the most penalized clubs. Montreal players spent 241 minutes in the penalty box and Toronto had 10 minutes less called against them. Guy Kyle of New York spent more time off than any other player—51 minutes.

Stoddard Leads AHL Scoring Race

NEW YORK, Dec. 4 (AP). — Jack Stoddard, 25-year-old forward of Providence Reds, heads the American Hockey League's scoring race today.

Stoddard scored eight points during the week to boost his output to 35 and break a tie for the lead with rookie Real Chevrefils of Hershey Bears. Chevrefils dropped to second place with 33 points.

George Armstrong of Pittsburgh, Ray Powell of Providence and Cliff Simpson of St. Louis are tied for third place at 27 points each.

Stoddard also tops the league in playmaking with 21 assists and Armstrong is the league's leading goal-getter with 17.

Hershey's Gordon Henry has taken the lead in the race for goaltending honors. Henry has allowed 54 goals in 22 games for a 2.45 average. Gil Mayer of Pittsburgh last week's leader, is second with a 2.50 mark. Pete Durham of Indianapolis remains in the van for "bad man" honors with 83 minutes in the penalty box.

Move Afoot To Give Thorpe Back Medals He Won At 1912 Olympics

By ORLO ROBERTSON.

NEW YORK, Dec. 4 (AP). — Proposals to restore to Jim Thorpe the medals won by the greatest all-round athlete at the 1952 Olympic games in Stockholm have been received with mixed reactions in both the United States and Europe.

The medals, along with the trophies presented to the Sac and Fox Indian by the Czar of Russia and the King of Sweden, were taken from Thorpe when he was ruled a professional for having played minor league profession baseball prior to the Olympics. He was a student at Carlisle Indian Institute in Pennsylvania at the time.

The 63-year-old Indian, in need of financial aid, recently underwent an operation for the removal of a skin cancer on his lip. At present he is living in New York and hopes to organize an all-Indian song and dance troupe.

As a part of a campaign to put big Jim back on his feet, a group of prominent sportsmen and business men have organized a "Fair Play for Thorpe Committee" with return of the Indian's medals its chief objective. The committee also plans a testimonial fund raising dinner.

Given To Others

The decathlon medal won by Thorpe at Stockholm was awarded to runner-up Hugo Wieslander of Sweden by the International Olympic Committee. The pentathlon medal was given to Ferdinand Bie of Norway, second in the five-event competition.

The 61-year-old Wieslander said he had promised to donate the medal to the (Swedish) Sports Museum, and mind you, I always intended to keep that promise."

Wieslander handed over the medal to the museum last Thursday, only a few hours before he learned of the new move by Thorpe's friends.

"If the sports museum directors decide to return it to Thorpe — for whom I am genuinely sorry— then it is up to them," Wieslander added.

Maj. Fredrik Rude, head of the sports museum, said "The medal is firmly anchored here and will continue to be so long as I have a say in the matter."

In Kristiansand in Southern Norway, Bie, who is 63 and a practicing medical doctor, said:

"If the International Olympic Committee and the Norwegian Sports Association approve, I would be glad to let Jim Thorpe have the medal."

Good Sportsman

The Norwegian doctor said Thorpe was a good sportsman and that he deserved the medal. "I'm sorry they took it away from him."

From the Lausanne, Switzerland, headquarters of the International Olympic Committee, Ott Mayer, the IOC chancellor, said several American organizations had been in correspondence with him regarding the medals.

He said all of the letters have been turned over to Avery Brundage of Chicago, vice-president of the IOC and former president of the Amateur Athletic Union.

Jim's friends haven't received much encouragement from Brundage, himself, or the AAU.

"I would be happy to subscribe to a fund to help Jim Thorpe," Brundage said in Chicago. "But I don't think it would be possible to restore his medals to him or to give him copies of them. I don't think the medals themselves would help Jim. He needs cash."

Hogan Canada's White-Hope In Boxing Picture

By JACK SULLIVAN.

TORONTO, Dec. 4 (CP). — More than 1½ tons of beef in the form of large fellows and little guys, some spindly-legged and others barrel-chested, stepped into the ring at Maple Leaf Gardens last night and gave 7,000 fight fans one of the most entertaining nights in years.

They came from cities and towns from Newfoundland to Manitoba with the one thought of clouting opponents and became Canada's white hope in the heavyweight picture. And aged Jersey Joe Walcott needn't fret.

The hope is Al Hogan, a twinkle-eyed Irishman who came to Toronto four years ago from New Waterford, NS, who is in the middleweight division. He took the championship, and the $500 first prize, after four fights and a couple of puffed eyes.

The 18 bouts on the card produced an assortment of glassy-eyed gladiators among the 19 starters, a few stitching jobs over cut eyes and cheeks and no serious injuries as the inexperienced battlers tossed leather around in orthodox and unorthodox fashion. No one can accuse them of not trying.

Wild Rights

For evidence, the score-card showed that only four bouts went the scheduled three rounds. Wild, roundhouse rights were the main weapons of the majority of fighters who sent their opponents kicking early.

It was a good night all-round. The receipts were close to $15,000 and the big crowd saw nearly four hours of action.

The first 11 bouts ended early, starting with Jim McGonigle of Toronto who scored a 40-second technical knockout over Johnny Pidhalchuk of St. Benedict, Sask., in the card opener. Then it was a succession of KO's and TKO's until near the end of the night when decisions were recorded as the gladiators were too tired after three and four appearances to put any zing into their hay-making pitches.

Hogan, whose last amateur fight was three years ago, weighed only 177. He started his string with a knockout over McGonigle (196½) at 2:59 of the second round, followed with a three-round decision over Lyle Staff, 198½ of St. Catharines, another decision over Hans Behrendt, 177½, Toronto, in the semi-finals and clinched the title with a split decision over Joe Stack, 188¾, of Montreal in the final bout.

Remember When—

By The Canadian Press.

Ottawa Rough Riders defeated University of Toronto 10-7 to win the Canadian football championship 25 years ago today. Ottawa's second consecutive title was won on a frozen field at Toronto where Joe Miller was the outstanding star with his kicking for the Ottawa squad who did not win another title until 1940. Ottawa's Grey Cup victory over Saskatchewan Roughriders last month was their first since then.

Stewart Defeats McConkey By 340 Votes In Otonabee

Reeve Dick Stewart of Otonabee was returned Monday with a solid 340 majority over Norman McConkey, who was making his first bid for election.

With Reeve Stewart, deputy reeve Dave McIntyre was returned with a majority of 132 over Roy Speirs.

Gavin Shearer, Jr., polled the largest vote of all candidates, receiving 857. Other councillors elected were William Chambers with 783 votes; and P. J. Mather with 780. Charles Edwards with 478 votes was defeated.

School trustees Harry Stewart, Allan Davis and Thomas Hope were acclaimed.

Reeve Stewart will serve his second term as reeve of the township. He was first elected in 1951. Mr. McIntyre served as deputy reeve on the 1951 council.

Mr. Shearer made a surprisingly successful run in his first bid for a seat on the Otonabee council. Mr. Mather, a former councillor and warden of the county in 1943, has not run for council in recent years.

Norris Whitney Beats Griffith In Close Belmont-Methuen Race

HAVELOCK, Dec. 4—(ENS)—With one poll yet to be heard from which is not expected to change the standings, Norris Whitney is leading by 25 votes and had virtually won in the race for the reeveship for Belmont-Methuen united townships.

The standing was Whitney 321 and Griffith 296.

The four seats on the council are also almost certainly won by George Newton, 419; Gardner Gawley, 392; Robert Wrightly, 353; and Burrell Keating, 304. The defeated candidates are Randall Quackenbush, 245; and George Wilde, 195.

Mr. Newton, leading the polls, begins his 13th consecutive year as a member of the township council.

George Wilde, with 185 votes, trailed the others.

Mr. Whitney, a member of the 1951 council, was first elected in 1948, heading the polls at that time. Mr. Griffith is the veteran of county politics, having first stood for election in 1908.

Messrs. Gawley, Newton and Wrightly are all members of the 1951 council. Mr. Quackenbush was an unsuccessful candidate in 1951.

Following are the results by polls:

Poll Nos.	1	2	3	4	5	6	8
Griffith	70	83	23	55	5	50	11
Whitney	118	69	17	57	15	28	17
Gawley	141	84	22	72	14	50	9
Keating	83	81	18	80	11	25	6
Newton	138	106	30	75	12	45	13
Quackenbush	61	59	17	51	8	22	27
Wilde	64	36	18	37	7	30	3
Wrightly	105	112	30	59	6	30	11

Poll No. 7 at Lasswade was unavailable.

Totals were: Griffith 296, Whitney 321, Gawley 392, Keating 304, Newton 419, Quackenbush 245, Wilde 195, and Wrightly 353.

Flynn Harvey Reeve, Small Margin

With a narrow plurality of four, Charles Flynn became reeve of Harvey township for the second successive year Monday, winning over Gale Elliott and Thomas Gordon.

Mr. Flynn was acclaimed as reeve for 1951 when Mr. Elliott refused to run. Mr. Gordon stepped up from council this year to make his first try at the reeveship.

Four councillors for Harvey were acclaimed. They are Kenneth Hunt, a new member, Kenneth Junkin, Charles Johnston and James Irwin.

Messrs. Junkin and Johnson are veterans of Harvey elections, while Mr. Irwin was elected for the first time in 1950.

School trustees in Harvey are appointed, not elected.

Polls closed in Harvey township at 5 pm Monday afternoon, and the results were known by 7 pm.

CHARLES FLYNN

The vote by polls was as follows:

	Buckhorn	Lakehurst	Nogie's Creek	Bobcaygeon
Flynn	73	59	37	24
Elliott	46	86	33	24
Gordon	66	6	26	13

Totals: for Flynn—193; Elliott—189; Gordon—111.

2 Newcomers On Havelock Council

HAVELOCK, Dec. 4—(ENS)—Two new faces are on Havelock village council today. They are former police chief Bay M. Bell, who headed the polls Monday, and Willliam Ketchen, former Belmont-Methuen councillor, who was third with 257.

Reeve E. J. Leeson went in by acclamation in Havelock, as did the school trustees.

Elected to council were: Mr. Bell with 409 votes, Bruce A. Curtis, a councillor since 1947, with 351, Mr. Ketchen and Richard Sanderson in Havelock public life for 30 years, with 234.

Defeated were former councillor Bert Jewell, with 229, and Henry Ellis, a newcomer, with 201.

These are the results by polls:

	Advance Poll	East	West	Totals
Bell	13	175	221	409
Curtis	11	124	196	331
Ketchen	9	117	131	257
Sanderson	5	115	114	234
Jewell	6	99	124	229
Ellis	6	84	111	201

Tedford Tops Dummer Vote

NORWOOD, Dec. 4—(ENS)—Russell Tedford topped the polls in Dummer township's voting for council Monday. His total of 329 was 58 ahead of Harold Clifford, second on the slate.

The two others who make up the complement of four on the council are Walter Sloan with 268, and Ralph Hamilton with 267. Allan Olver, a councillor in other years, came fifth with 177.

All councillors but Mr. Sloan are newcomers, and he has served seven years on Dummer council.

Results by polls were:

Poll Nos.	1	2	3	4	5	6	Totals
Sloan	37	76	110	15	14	16	268
Olver	10	27	91	33	14	2	177
Tedford	65	33	190	32	7	2	329
Clifford	38	24	168	27	12	2	271
Hamilton	43	26	118	49	27	4	267

Three New Men Fill Out Council

BANCROFT, Dec. 4—(ENS)—Bancroft voters returned only one member of the 1951 council in Monday's election. He is Wilfred Maxwell, who polled 208 votes.

The three others who will sit on the 1952 council are: Gordon E. Broughton with 310 votes, E. C. Ellerbeck with 219, and Don Easton with 196. Donald Russell with 187, Fred Brethour with 120 also ran.

Russell was also a councillor this year, and the two other members, C. O. Fuller and J. J. Bronson, did not run.

Broughton, a theatre owner and high school trustee, was making his first bid for council, as was Don Easton. Ellerbeck was on the council before 1947.

The electorate cast 418 votes, 59.7 per cent of the totals in Bancroft's first municipal election in four years. Reeve Theodore W. Tryon was acclaimed, as were public school trustees S. R. Walker and Ewart Wannamaker.

Lavender Heads Marmora Polls

MARMORA, Dec. 4—(ENS)—William Lavender headed the poll for councillors' seats at the municipal election of Marmora village Monday, securing 339 votes to win him that position. Altogether 478 electors cast their votes of an electorate totalling about 550; 87 per cent of the total balloting strength voted.

Although a newcomer to the council, this councillor-elect was until a few years ago village constable for eight years continuously.

Finishing second and third in the race were two retiring councilors who have spent a few years in the council. Ritchie Wells polled 224 votes and Jack Reynolds was a close third with 201 votes. Carl Heath, making his debut as a councillor, just managed to get the fourth seat in being accorded 194 votes.

Trailing him closely was Harold Price, a new contender, with 189 votes.

Arthur Park, the other new candidate, received 172 votes, but retiring councillors Fred Johnston and Arnold Walker saw defeat with 150 and 147 votes respectively recorded in their favor.

For the office of hydro commissioner, Ralph Neal, ex-reeve, lost to Fred Wills who has held the office for several years but ran well in getting 219 votes on against the 246 received by the commissioner-elect. By noon, in spite of the fine weather of the morning, only 75 had cast their ballots. The tempo increased a little from 1 to 3 pm and the great rushes of voters to the polls were from 4 to 6 pm.

Careful checking of votes was not completed until 9.30 pm. A large crowd of male voters who had assembled outside the hall patiently waiting for the previous two-and-a-half hours, then surged in and village clerk E. C. Prentice, who had been too busy, as had the other election officials, to adjourn for supper, good-naturedly presided for a round of speeches by winning and defeated candidates.

The election was the second one within the last 30 years, when eight sought the four seats on council. But for sickness confining a number to their homes, the total number of votes would have been nearer 500.

Percy Voters Elect Grills Deputy Reeve

WARKWORTH, Dec. 4 (ENS)—Cecil Grills with a 115 majority over Ambrose English, was elected deputy reeve of Percy township Monday. Reeve George Broadworth was acclaimed.

Three council members elected are: Stewart Atkinson with 633 votes, Eric Merrill with 609, and William Johnston with 560. Defeated was Leonard McGee with 506 votes.

Both Grills and English have been members of Percy council for some years. Last year, George Broadworth was deputy-reeve; this year he stepped up to the reeveship when former reeve Arthur Wartman retired.

A $1,000 yearly grant to Campbellford hospital was approved by the voters, 513 to 443. The grant is to be paid yearly for three years.

Named previously as Warkworth village commissioners were William Shaw, Clarence Massey and Walter Covert.

Rejects Proposal

BERLIN, Dec. 4—(AP)—Otto Grotewohl, East German Prime Minister, Monday rejected Western proposals that the United Nations supervise all-German elections or even investigate whether free elections are possible at all.

MORE ABOUT—

2 New Candidates

announced his retirement at the recent nominations after three years in office, and Ald. H. F. Waddell was given an acclamation as his successor.

The members of the 1952 council will be: Mayor Waddell; Aldermen Dewart, Miller, Black, Anglesey, Longhurst, Herbert Young, James E. Gillespie, A. B. Burrows, Norman Graham and Harold T. Rehill.

Polls Tied

Two of the polls returned ties for top place: Dewart and Miller with 82 votes each at No. 31, St. Peter's School; and Aldermen Dewart and Anglesey, at poll No. 32, St. Peter's.

The first poll to report was No. 60 at the home of Mrs. R. King, 684 Monaghan Road, south, where Miss Olive Johnston was the deputy returning oficer.

The comparatively light vote which was telephoned to the city hall at 7:22 pm was fairly close indication of things to come. John A. Dewart had two votes over T. D. Miller with Wm. Beggs in third place; Anglesey was fourth; Longhurt and Brooks were tied for fifth; and Black was next.

That poll declared the ultimate order of the candidates for Board of Education: Mrs. Rowell, Adamson, Craw, Huffman, Pitchford and Humphrey; and also gave a small plurality to Langley for the Utilities Commission.

Second Poll

The second poll to register results was No. 17 at the new city hall where Miss Marjorie Stenton was DRO, and Miss Agnes Stout poll clerk. That one was a Dewart poll, with 51 to Miller's 47 tied by Syd Black, Anglesey fourth and Beggs fifth.

The first two polls gave Dewart 74 to Miller's 68; Black 60; Anglesey 58; Beggs 45; Longhurst 40; Braund 31; Lathangue 30 and Brook 26.

Miller took the next poll, No. 5 at May's School, with 38 to Dewart's 32, leaving them even for three polls at 106. Anglesey was third with 83, Black 79, Beggs 76 and Longhurst 71.

At poll No. 31, St. Peter's School Miller and Dewart tied with 82, one more than Anglesey's 81.

Those first four polls left Dewart and Miller even at 188; followed by Anglesey 164; Black 145; Beggs 128; Longhurst 125; Braund 83; Lathangue 76 Brook 68.

Poll 20 at Central School gave Dewart 38; Miller 34; Anglesey 27; Black and Longhurst 31; Braund 19; Beggs and Lathangue 11; and Brook 8. Dewart was then up four on Miller at five polls. Anglesey was third with 191, followed by Black 176; Longhurst 156; Braund 102.

Parkhill School, No. 34, gave Miller 57, Anglesey 51, Beggs 41, Black and Longhurst 32; Lathangue 31, Braund 30, Brook 25.

Miller Leading

Miller was then leading with 279 to Dewart's 266; Anglesey 242; Black 208; Longhurst 188; Beggs 180.

Seven polls had turned in their count by 7:45 o'clock, showing Miller 316 to Dewart's 307. Anglesey was third at 265; Black 326; Longhurst 204 and Beggs 203.

The first 15 polls left little difference in the leadership. Miller was out in front by a nose, 818 to Dewart's 813; lengths ahead of Anglesey, 673; Black 629; Beggs 557; Longhurst 486; Lathangue 408.

Nineteen polls a few minutes before 8 o'clock had moved Dewart into front position, but Beggs was still in fourth place. The totals then were:

Dewart 1,095; Miller 1,082; Anglesey 895; Black 860; Beggs 704; Longhurst 675.

Neck and Neck

The front-running was still neck and neck at 25 polls. Miller had closed up to only two points behind Dewart. The figures were: Dewart 1,519; Miller 1,517; Anglesey 1,275; Black 1,149; Beggs 993; Longhurst 908; Braund 775; Lathangue 727; Brook 479.

Minor changes occurred as the aldermanic race turned into the home stretch. Dewart was still the pace-setter with 3,199 to Miller's 3,193, one of the narrowest margins, continuously, in years; Black with 2,555 had pushed in front of Anglesey, 2,505; Longhurst was in the fifth slot at 1,984, followed by Braund 1,750 and Beggs 1,737.

Dewart picked up strength nearing home, and passing the 52nd poll in the list of tabulation he had 4,139 to Miller's 4,068; Black appeared to be secure in third place at 3,307; Anglesey 3,094; Longhurst 2,629; Braund 2,215; Beggs 2,185; Lathangue 1,730; Brook 1,046.

There was no change in the placing at 56 polls; Dewart 4,727; Miller 4,616; Black 3,727; Anglesey 3,514; Longhurst 2,989; Braund 2,580; Beggs 2,486.

Man 84 Elected Brockville Alderman

BROCKVILLE, Dec. 4 (CP)—R. J. Higgins, 84, was one of six members of Brockville's city council elected Monday. He may be the oldest city councillor in Canada.

Other members: J. R. McLennan, Norman Cowan, Jack Langmuir—returned by acclamation Nov. 23—Tom Cossitt and James Auld.

Mayor W. Fred Reynolds was re-elected by acclamation Nov. 23 for a sixth term.

Elect Allan Beer Manvers Reeve

Allan Beer, with a majority of 157, defeated Lewis McGill Monday for the reeveship of Manvers township. Mr. Beer totalled 592 votes as compared with 435 for Mr. McGill.

With a majority of 183, Earle Argue defeated Robert Wright for the position of deputy reeve, Argue receiving 576 votes and Wright 393.

Ralph Malcolm, Addison Scott and R. John Payne were elected to the township council, defeating Orme Miller and Henry Jackman.

Mr. Malcolm headed the polls with 564 votes, followed by Mr. Scott with 486 and Mr. Payne with 436. Mr. Miller received 403 votes and Mr. Jackman 396.

Cobourg School Bylaw Carries

COBOURG, Dec. 4 (ENS). — The much debated East-end Public School by-law carried by the slim majority of 91 at yesterday's elections. The by-law for the $280,900 school received 653 votes in favor and 562 against.

A percentage vote is not required to carry it, and it is believed that the Municipal Board will consider it sufficiently supported to approve the by-law.

Purpose of the school is to relieve the congested condition of the Central and West-end schools. It is estimated that the capital cost, maintenance, and operating costs will increase the school rate by six mills.

Election of Jack Burnet as Mayor, George Galbraith, Reeve, and John Erskine, Deputy-Reeve, by acclamation last week. Following were the results of the contested seats yesterday:

Council (six to be elected) — Charles Johnston 1,429, Otto Curtis 1,410, Alex McKinnon 1,199, Allan Field 1,126, Harold Richardson 959, Cedric Smith 937, Harold Rawcliffe 733, Ernest Cooper 716, Douglas Glenn 707, Howard Sauve 519, Thomas Guthrie 394.

Public Utilities Commission (two to be elected) — Maurice Booth 1,406, Robert Love 1,382, Donald Markle 652.

Elected by acclamation to the School Board last week were — Hubert Cooey, West Ward; Mrs. Kathleen Spooner, Centre Ward; Reginald Gardiner, East Ward.

North Cavan Elects 3 School Trustees

MILLBROOK, Dec. 4—Donald Hayes, Hubert Lowes and Morris McGee were elected school trustees of North Cavan school area Monday. There was no election for the council.

Mr. Hayes topped the polls with a total of 249 at the three polls, Millbrook, Ida and Mount Pleasant. Mr. Lowes followed up with 230 votes and Mr. McGee with 210. The defeated candidate, Russell Earle, received 187 votes.

Summary—

	Millbrook	Ida	Mount Pleasant
Russell Earle	16	109	62
Donald Hayes	13	94	142
Hubert Lowes	15	96	119
Morris McGee	15	103	92

BREAK THE LAXATIVE HABIT THIS PROVEN WAY

If you take laxatives regularly, here is how you can stop! This proven plan helps you establish your natural powers of regularity, controlled tests prove.

Stop taking whatever you now take. Instead, every night for one week take two Carter's Little Liver Pills. Second week—one each night. Third week—one every other night. Then nothing! Every day drink eight glasses of water; set a definite time for regularity. This plan was proven in scientifically controlled tests.

How can a laxative break the laxative habit? Because Carter's unblock the lower digestive tract and from then on let it make use of its own natural powers. Further, Carter's contain no habit forming drugs. Break the laxative habit with Carter's . . . be regular naturally.

When worry, overwork, overeating make you irregular temporarily—take Carter's temporarily. Never get the laxative habit.

Get mild, gentle Carter's Little Liver Pills at any drug store. Only 35c. You'll be grateful the rest of your life.

Campbellford Voters Elect First Woman To Council

CAMPBELLFORD, Dec. 4 — (ENS).—A total of 1,370 out of a possible 1,862 votes were cast at the municipal elections held here on Monday, resulting in three new faces on the Campbellford town council for 1952. Four members of the 1951 council ran re-election and only one, F. M. Rutherford, was not elected. One of the new members of the council is Isobel Claire Tatham, and as far anyone can remember, this is the first time a woman has been elected to the Campbellford council.

In the contest for Deputy Reeve the former Deputy Reeve, Oscar Mason, won out with a majority of 41 votes. Wm. R. Nicholas, a member of the 1951 council who tried for the Deputy's position, led the polls in one ward, but lost out in three others, resulting in no change in the Deputy Reeve's chair for 1952.

The Mayor and Reeve positions were filled by acclamation. Wilt A. Kingston, chairman of the finance committee on the 1951 council, received an acclamation for mayor, while Ralph J. Locke, the 1951 Reeve, received an acclamation for that position again.

On Utilities Commission.

A. J. Meyers and Howard E. Hogle were elected to the Public Utilities Commission.

Following are the results of the voting by wards:

"Headache?..take a Disprin"

Why DISPRIN? Because DISPRIN is soluble and substantially neutral. When taken in water as recommended, it enters the stomach as a true solution and not as undissolved particles. It is therefore less liable to cause stomach discomfort.

DISPRIN is readily absorbed. Because it definitely dissolves (not merely disintegrates) DISPRIN permits speedy absorption and gives relief without delay.

DISPRIN is palatable. Even children will take it readily.

DISPRIN REG'D ...FOR PAIN RELIEF SAFE SPEEDY PLEASANT

Science Progresses

For 50 years we have used little white tablets—acetylsalicylic acid—for relief of pain. Today this familiar pain-killer is available in a new form without the disadvantages of acidity, insolubility and bitter taste. It is called "DISPRIN" and is sold at druggists everywhere.

"DISPRIN" is available in Bottles of 26 tablets or Handy Pocket Folders of 3.

VOL. CIII. No. 130 — TUESDAY, DECEMBER 4, 1951 — PRICE FIVE CENTS

G. R. Langley Elected To Utilities

Finishes 50 Votes Ahead Of George Macdonald

Dr. Gordon R. Langley, recently retired works engineer of Canadian General Electric Company, was the choice of the electors of the city Monday for the three year term on the Utilities Commission beginning January 1.

He emerged from a close contest with George A. Macdonald, now completing three terms on the Commission following his experience and public service as mayor and member of the city council.

James Juby, a former alderman, finished in third place, and Mr. Charles K. Hurst, engineer with the Trent Canal department, was a close fourth.

The results of the voting for Commissioner as announced by City Clerk Outram Monday night were:

Langley 2262; Macdonald 2212; Juby 1396; Hurst 1341.

Took Lead

Dr. Langley took a short lead at the first poll on Monaghan Road south 12 votes to 9 for Hurst and six each for Juby and MacDonald. He was farther in front when five polls reported: 156 for Langley; 96 Macdonald; 93 Juby and Hurst.

For a long stretch of polls Langley remained in the lead. The tabulation for 25 polls was: Langley 686; Macdonald 653; Juby 399; Hurst 386.

Macdonald picked up a series of favorable polls on the way to the count for 43, replacing Dr. Langley with 1376 to 1350: Juby 836; Hurst 798.

The score for the 56 polls left the issue still in doubt: Langley 1987; Macdonald 1949; Juby 1230; Hurst 1174.

At that stage it might have been noticed that of the remaining six or seven polls three of them were in Ashburnham, the ward in which Dr. Langley resides.

There was not much hope then for those who may have had some lingering hope for Homewood Ave. candidate, Mr. Macdonald.

Ashburnham Votes

Five of those polls gave Langley 234 votes to Macdonald's 194. Three of them counted in the winner's column, one went to Macdonald by a few votes; and the other was a tie.

No. 47 on Armour Road gave: Langley 63 and Macdonald 43.

No. 48, Howland's grocery, Douro St., Langley 64; Macdonald 49.

No. 16, city hall: Langley 10; Macdonald 13.

No. 7: Braund's store, Chamberlain St.: Langley 58; Macdonald 50.

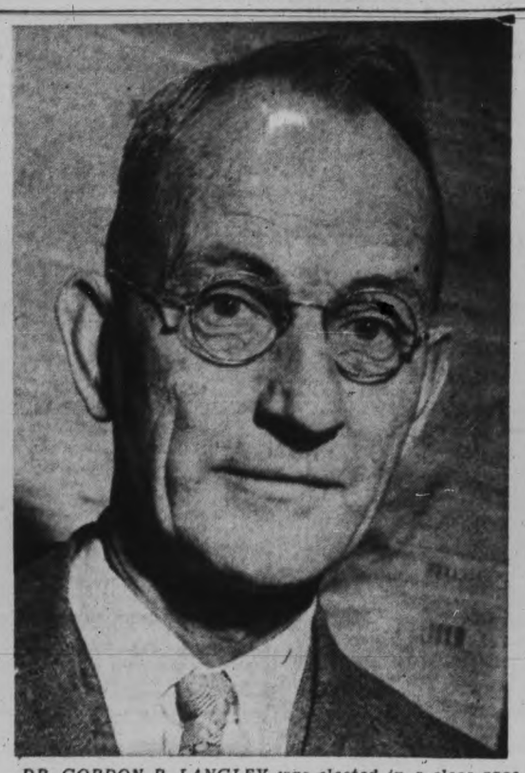
No. 37, Whatley's store, George St. north: 39 each.

Dr. Langley carried four of the six wards. The section results were:

South: Langley 492; Macdonald 326.

Centre: Langley 89; Macdonald 123.

West: Langley 494; Macdonald 491.



North: Langley 502; Macdonald 496.

Ashburnham: Langley 380; Macdonald 318.

Claraday: Langley 305; Macdonald 258.

The only tension in the final phases of the elections was in the run to the wire for the Utilities post.

The Langley margin of less than 40 votes with that handful of polls still to be heard from appeared a possibility either way until some one spotted those polling places across the river, and several others around town. They turned out largely as expected in the last ten minutes on either side of 9 p.m.

DR. GORDON R. LANGLEY was elected in a close race with George Macdonald for a seat on the Peterborough Utilities Commission. Dr. Langley's majority was 50 votes. —(Examiner Staff Photo)

November Unemployment Higher Than In Past 3 Years

The number of unemployed in Peterborough and district during November this year was higher than in three previous Novembers, the National Employment office showed here today. They announced that they were paying claims to 1,167 men and women at the end of the month. William Mellis, manager, said that increases were noted in both the men's and women's claims, especially in short time claims.

He said that employment conditions in Peterborough are worse this year as the factories begin to work only four days a week and in some cases are laying off their help. The unemployment is caused for the most part by a lack of sales on the retail market.

Working short weeks or laying off in Peterborough in the past month were: the Brinton-Peterborough Carpet Company, the Western Clock Co., the Peterborough Lock Company, the Canadian Nashua Paper Company, the Quaker Oats and the CGE.

In the district, especially Campbellford, there was a slight increase in unemployment as the smaller companies also feel the change in buying.

Predict Increase

Mr. Mellis added that he believes the unemployment will increase further, probably in January. Then a number of men and women will be unemployed due to seasonal work.

From a record low in July of 566 people drawing funds, the number of unemployed has more than doubled in the last five months. Other months' totals were: August, 633; September, 659; October, 743.

Of the 1167 on claim, 715 were men as compared with only 595 in November 1950. In the city the number of men on claim, 425, was a decrease of 25 from last year, the only place where a decrease was noted. The out-of-town claims doubled, from 145 to 290 for men.

On short time claims in the city are 86 men, more than double the number in 1950. Meanwhile the men working a short week in the district and drawing insurance money were only five.

Women on unemployment insurance in the district in November were 452 as compared with only 200 last year. The largest increase was in the city where the women's claims 325, were more than double a year ago, only 163. The district women drawing money jumped this year from 37 in 1950 to 127.

The large increase in the number of city women unemployed was among the part-time workers. There were 107 this year and only 14 last year. The district women working a short week numbered 15 where there was was none in November 1950.

Job Hunting

More than 1,200 men and women are registered as job-hunting by the Peterborough office this year. Last year there were 752 men and 302 women looking for work, a total of 1054.

Available jobs, mostly requiring skilled workers, numbered only seven for men and five for women at the end of November. A year ago there were 75 jobs available for men and 11 for women.

Dutch War Bride Gets Citizenship

Judge S. L. Smoke recommended a Dutch warbride and three Peterborough Chinese for their Canadian citizenship Monday afternoon. The petitions were heard at the opening of the general sessions of the peace.

Petitioners were asked questions about the government of Canada, what their responsibilities are as citizens, and they were also asked why they wanted to be Canadians.

Recommended were Henry Hum, Paris Cafe, in Canada since 1922; Hum Wing Dick, DeLuxe Cafe, in Canada since 1903; Hugh Wong, tourist home owner, Queen St., in Canada since 1909. Also Mrs. Christina Johanna Portsmith, Frank St., a Dutch war bride.

Judge Smoke opened the sessions in his new county court robe of office. It is similar to a barrister's robe except the neck and sash are trimmed with mauve. The general effect is to lend color to the black robe.

Smokes, Lighters Taken At Omemee

OMEMEE, Dec. 4 — (ENS) — Tobacco and cigarette lighters, to an undetermined value, were stolen from an Omemee pool room and tobacco shop sometime after midnight. It is also believed that a small amount was taken from the cashbox.

Operator of the pool room, Willard Rehill, discovered the theft this morning when he opened his store. He told police he had been working in the store until midnight.

Corporal Ken Dennis of the Lindsay OPP detachment, said "only small stuff was taken; things that could be picked up easily like lighters." The corporal intimated that the OPP might pick up suspects sometime soon.

Transient

"Why should I vote for any of those fellows running for re-election to council," grumbled an irate lunch counter patron Monday. "They never do anything to the roads in the section of the city where I live." In the course of the conversation which followed this charge of neglect, it was found that the roads referred to are not in the city but part of the county roads system.

Parents Urged To Keep Control Of Own Children

Canada will be weakened if parents yield control of their children to the state, Judge S. L. Smoke said Monday. He was addressing the grand jury at the opening of the general sessions of the peace for Peterborough county.

"No other institution can take the place of the family," said Judge Smoke.

"It is sad to see parental power yielding in some countries to the broadened functions of the state. When totalitarian states encroach upon the sanctity of the home and start to interfere in family life, the state may weaken the nation in two important ways: by raising a race of dependent people—unable to think or do for themselves—and by breaking up the cohesion of the family unit, which is the basis of national unity."

Make Good Citizens

Judge Smoke said the "maintenance of good family relationships" is one of the qualities that go toward making a good citizen.

Much of the blame for juvenile delinquency has been placed on the home and parents, he continued.

"It behooves those of us who are raising families to do all in our power to overcome the forces of evil which beset our children, so that when they reach the 16-20 age group they will not find themselves embroiled with the law."

Judge Smoke then cited some statistics on crime committed in Ontario by young people. In the year 1950, 43,622 people were sent to prison or reformatories in this province. Of these 4,918 were between the ages of 16 and 20 years; 101 others were under the age of 16; 448 were committed to Ontario Training Schools by the courts.

The main reason for the delinquency of 193 of the 448 sent to Training Schools was a fair or poor home with no parental control, said Judge Smoke and the main reason for the delinquency of 73 others was parental separation.

Should Respect Law

"We are good parents, not because we bring up our families to live within the law (that might be achieved by instilling fear of the law into them), but because we bring them up to respect the law and the rights of others.

"We must make our homes permanent, companionable and co-operative, and provide the major opportunity to each one therein for self-development.

"The home ought to be unified, democratic and adaptable and must work with the church, school and community," concluded Judge Smoke. "There is no set of encyclopedic volumes with all the answers but I am sure that the mothers and fathers whose homes are set up on a sound foundation, such as I suggest, need have no fear as to what Canada may be 60 years hence."

Judge Smoke also reminded the grand jury that while they are Canadian citizens they are also British subjects.

"British law is a cherished inheritance in Ontario. Though in future we shall not have recourse to British courts, our common law has been built up over the centuries through British courts and their decisions."

Courtroom

As the Supreme Court jury recently turned in a thorough report on public institutions in this county, Judge Smoke said he didn't think it necessary for this jury to go on another inspection. He suggested, by the way, that they might look over the courtroom and prod the county council into some action.

"The courtroom hasn't been decorated in the 17 years I've been here," said Judge Smoke. "And the acoustics are bad."

He gave them four indictments on which to bring in "true" or "no" bills. Robert Brand, Water St., charged with dangerous driving; Morley Simmons, Belmont township, charged with dangerous driving and failing to remain at the scene of an accident; J. E. Paquette, Crescent St., two charges of false pretences; and Mrs. Jennie Delaire, charged with wounding with intent.

Three other criminal indictments have previously had "true" bills returned. Charged are Jack Allen Cockerill, Holloway Dr., theft of bronze ingots from the DeLaval Co.; Hugh Imming, formerly of Peterborough, and Francis Sabotka, Oshawa, both charged with forgery.

Cavan Man Slashes Hand Sawing Wood

BETHANY, Dev. 4 (ENS). — Hospital treatment has saved two fingers on the left hand of Mervyn Porteous, RR 1, Cavan. Porteous was injured when he was sawing wood Saturday at the Bethany home of Carl Smith.

It was feared at first that the two fingers would have to be amputated. Porteous is now in St. Joseph's hospital, where he was taken shortly after the accident.

Woman Member Heads Poll For Board Of Education

Mrs. Anne Rowell, only woman candidate in Monday's civic elections was re-elected to the Board of Education with 4,561 votes, heading a list of six candidates. Polling 164 more votes than runner-up Stanley R. Adamson's 4,397, Mrs. Rowell received 882 more votes than the first time she was elected to the board in December 1949, running second in a field of seven.

Mr. Adamson will also be serving his second two-year term, having first been elected for the 1950-51 term when he ran fourth among seven.

G. Wilson Craw, former chairman of the board who has served since 1939 (except for one year), ran third, polling 3,904 votes.

First For Office

In his first bid for public office Charles H. Huffman finished a strong fourth with a total of 3,761.

Making a successful comeback, Arthur Pitchford won the fifth position and polled 3,174 votes. He served on the board of education for four years (1945-49) until he was defeated in December 1949. During the last two years, Mr. Pitchford has served on the board's advisory vocational committee.

Edmund Humphrey failed in his first attempt to win a seat on the board but received 1,722 votes.

The results of poll 60, first poll to report at 7.25, placed the six candidates in the order in which they finally finished. Mrs. Rowell edged out Stanley Adamson by one vote in poll 60, with 20 to Mr. Adamson's 19. Mr. Craw was third with 16, Mr. Huffman next with 15; Mr. Pitchford followed with 14 and Mr. Humphrey was sixth with 13.

Results of the first seven polls posted on the blackboard in the Committee Room at 7.50 showed Mrs. Rowell building up a steady lead with 260, Mr. Adamson still second with 246, Mr. Craw 228, Mr. Huffman, 203, Mr. Pitchford 190 and Mr. Humphrey 122.

Ten minutes later, results of 15 polls were posted and Mrs. Rowell was still setting the pace with 717 followed by: Adamson 681; Craw, 604; Huffman 548; Pitchford, 503 and Humphrey trailing with 339.

Mr. Adamson appeared to be overtaking Mrs. Rowell when 19 polls were reported, (the other four candidates remained in the same relative positions) and when the results of 25 polls were chalked on the blackboard at 8.15, Mrs. Rowell's lead had been shaved to two votes, with 1,238 to Adamson's 1,236. At this point the others' totals were: Craw, 1,072, Huffman, 970, Pitchford, 889 and Humphrey, 567.

At 8.30, 43 polls had been heard from, and Mrs. Rowell was pulling away from Adamson again. The standing was: Rowell, 2742; Adamson, 2,653; Craw, 2,359; Huffman, 2,249; and Humphrey, 1,092.

The picture failed to change when 52 polls were posted and at 8.50, ten minutes before the last returns came in, the results of 56 polls showed Mrs. Rowell headed for the finish line, still ahead with 4,083: Adamson, 3,936; Craw, 3,492; Huffman, 3,359; Pitchford, 2,865 and Humphrey, 1,533

Last returns for board of education came in from poll 16, which gave Mrs. Rowell, Huffman and Adamson each 27; Craw 26, Pitchford 20 and Humphrey 19.

Adamson Led in South

Mrs. Rowell drew strong support in all sections of the city except South Ward, where she trailed Mr. Adamson with 856 votes to his 913. Here, Mr. Adamson built up his 57 vote margin by edging out Mrs. Rowell by one vote at polls 5, 6 and 8; and by two votes at polls: 4 and 15. Adamson lead Mrs. Rowell by nine, eight, six and seven votes at polls 2, 9, 10 and 12 respectively. He polled his biggest majorities at poll 14, (17) and poll 13, where he lead by 12. In polls: 1, 3, 7 and 11, they were tied.

Mr. Craw ran a strong third in all polls and the other three candidates followed in the order in which they stood when the final results were tabulated.

No Limit

DUNEDIN, NZ (CP) — New Zealand is neglecting a tourist gold mine in not advertising its deer stalking in North America, a visiting business man from Canada, Garsden Fowler, said here. In New Zealand the season lasts all year round and there is no bag limit. Deer actually have become a pest in some areas.

Wm. C. Grant Opposed By E. H. Northey

LAKEFIELD, Dec. 4 (ENS).—William C. Grant, reeve of Lakefield since 1946, will be opposed this year in seeking re-election by Elwood H. Northey, druggist.

Another nomination meeting may be in store for Lakefield voters.

Only three of the eight nominated for council have indicated they will qualify. There are four vacancies.

Only one nominee for the school board has said he will qualify, another is likely to stand, but there are three vacancies on the board.

Mr. Grant, acclaimed last year, has been reeve of Lakefield since 1946. Both men have qualified.

The three men who have said they will run for council are Kenneth Morris, Walter A. Killoran, and J. L. Fraser. Both Mr. Morris and Mr. Fraser, who have qualified, were councillors this year. Another former councillor, J. Arthur Kingdon, refused to run, and still another, Kenneth Jakins, was not nominated.

Don Hendren was acclaimed as Hydro commissioner for the village.

Waterworks

The election in Lakefield this year will probably be bitterly contested, with the pro-waterworks faction fighting the anti-waterworks faction. Some of the nominees' speeches Monday night indicated this.

For the school board, to which three are to be elected, five have definitely decided against running, and of the remaining four nominees, only one, Ralph Millage has said he will run and has qualified. Mr. Millage refused nomination to council.

The five who will not run are: Stanley Richardson, Mrs. Jessie Doubt, Frank Coyle, Charles H Hunter, Dr. Hugh Gastle, and Archie Stewart. Ralph Jackman may run.

Council nominees were: Dr. Gastle, J. Arthur Kingdon, W. A. Killoran, J. L. Fraser, George Charleton (not decided), Kenneth Morris, Frank Payne (not decided), and Ralph Millage.

Conservation Topic At Teachers' Meeting

DARTFORD, Dec. 4—(ENS)—"Conservation Through the River System," was the subject of the address given by W. Umphreys, principal of Smithfield School, as guest speaker at the monthly meeting of Percy Township Teachers' Association held in Warkworth school. The speaker was introduced by Mrs. Raymond Richardson, teacher of Dartford school and president of the organization, and thanked by Kenneth Harnden, principal of Warkworth public school. L. C. Sutherland, public school inspector for East Northumberland, was present and spoke briefly.

Following the business period a dinner was served in the home economics room of the school. The teachers in charge of the dinner were: Mrs. George Nelson, Miss Evelyn Partridge, Mrs. Ronald Grant and Mrs. Roy McNally.

Following the dinner a musical program was enjoyed with Miss Clarice Atkinson, teacher of West Dartford school, at the piano for community singing.

Grand Jury Throws Out Dangerous Driving Charge Against Robert A. Brand

Jury Brings In "No" Bill Against Driver Of Car Which Crashed Into Train Killing Baby Nephew, Injuring Six Others

A grand jury today returned a "no" bill on a charge of dangerous driving laid against Robert A. Brand, 23, Water St. True bills were returned on three other indictments. Altogether seven criminal cases were listed for the court of general sessions that opened Monday afternoon, Judge S. L. Smoke presiding. Brand was the driver of a car that on July 14 crashed into a CPR Havelock - Bobcaygeon mixed train. His 11-months-old nephew Edward Theobald was killed and he and six other passengers were injured.

The accident occurred on the old Norwood road, six miles east of the city. Brand was driving west along the road, in the early evening, and failed to see the train at the crossing. He ran into it toward the rear of the tender.

Car Wrecked

The car was spun around and completely wrecked. And the occupants were spilled along the right of way. Young Edward Theobald was killed instantly.

A second charge of careless driving will be heard January 2 in police court. Brand was committed for trial in August on bail of $500.

Mrs. Jennie Delaire, 38, 467 Elm St. had a true bill returned against her. She is charged with wounding her husband Sylvester, with intent.

He was taken to hospital with a slashed throat!

True bills were also returned against J. E. Paquette, 21, Crescent St., charged on the counts of false pretences arising out of car finance deals; and Morley Simmons, Belmont township, charged with dangerous driving arising out of serious injury to a soldier, and failing to remain at the scene of an accident.

Previous Charges

True bills were previously brought in against Hugh Imming, formerly of Peterborough, and Francis Sabotka, Oshawa, both charged with forgery.

The trial of Jack A. Cockerill, 26, Holloway Dr., on a charge of stealing a quantity of metal ingots from the DeLaval Co. started today. A Peterborough county jury failed to reach a verdict in his first trial in June.

NZ Strengthens Security Service

WELLINGTON, NZ — (CP)— After a visit by Sir Percy Sillitoe, British security chief, New Zealand is planning to strengthen its security service and make it a link in an integrated commonwealth system.

Announcing the changes Prime Minister Sidney G. Holland said the recent industrial upheaval in New Zealand, the train of world events and development of infiltration by subversive elements had made necessary a review of the security set-up.

The government had accordingly invited Sir Percy Sillitoe to New Zealand and he had made recommendations. He also had made available Michael Serpell, a member of his staff, to remain in New Zealand for some months to assist in the changes.

The proposals include the strengthening of the existing special branch of the police force and its integration with activities carried out by the armed forces. Arrangements are being made for closer links with other commonwealth countries.

Information and training data will be exchanged with Britain and Australia and visits of security chiefs will be interchanged. Special branch officers will attend courses in Britain.

S. W. Hele Buried

Funeral service for Samuel Warwick Hele, 231 King George St., who died Thursday, was conducted Saturday by the Rev. H. F. Scuse, of St. George's Anglican Church, at the Belleghem funeral home.

Pallbearers were A. Goodman, H. Adkinson, A. Howarth, S. Anderson, D. Robbins, and H. Shaer. Burial was in Little Lake cemetery.

Egg Prices Drop Seven Cents In Retail Stores

Egg prices dropped another seven cents today when farmers were offered 40 cents a dozen for their grade A eggs by a retail company.

About a week ago the eggs were bought for 52 cents a dozen.

One large downtown store was featuring eggs today at 59 cents a dozen for grade A large. This was down 10 cents from Monday's price. In other stores the price was running about 61 and 62 cents.

A week ago the eggs were selling in stores at 77 cents a dozen for top quality.

The reason that has been given is that the United States is not buying Canada's surplus at the moment because it has a surplus of its own. Farmers also have all the broiler chickens they want and are not buying from the hatcheries. As a result, hatcheries are not buying eggs for their brooders. These extra eggs have all been dumped on the market with the result that prices have tumbled.

One retail spokesman said he doubted if the price would stay down.

6 Children Orphaned After Murder-Suicide

CHATHAM, Dec. 4—(CP)—A man and his wife, parents of six small children, died early today in what police termed a murder and suicide.

Police said Percy Worth, who had been living with his wife's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Mankiss, arose early today, went to his own home and shot his wife as she fed their baby. Then he turned the gun on himself.

Police blamed domestic strife for the tragedy.

Pre-Nuptial Event

LAKEFIELD, Dec. 4 (ENS) — Miss Lulu Darling, whose marriage to Mr. Harry Wanamaker takes place the latter part of December, was guest of honour at a miscellanious shower held at the home of Mrs. Theodore Crawford Friday evening.

Mrs. W. J. Charlton read a humorous address which she had composed, and Misses Sandra and Karen Walker presented gifts in a decorated cradle.

Remainder of the evening was spent in making a bride's book.

Lunch was served by Mrs. Crawford and Miss Merle Crawford.

Farewell Gifts Presented

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Brown who have moved from Harold to 211 Stewart St., Peterborough, were honored last week by a crowd of friends and neighbors which filled the Orange Hall at Springbrook. A purse of money was presented from the community by Mr. Burton Bateman while an address was read by Mr. Gordon Bailey, and a cheque from Harold Cheese and Butter Company was presented by Mr. W. J. Tanner. A pen and pencil set from Springbrook Lodge IOOF of which Mr. Brown is past noble grand, was presented to him by Mr. Ralph Wellman and an address read by Mr. Philip Baudrie. Mr. and Mrs. Brown expressed sincere thanks and appreciation. A program of instrumental and vocal music and readings by local talent was enjoyed, with the Rev. H. E. Beare being chairman. Latter part of the evening was spent dancing.

Hold Christmas Meeting

Mrs. R. Reynolds, 534 Aylmer St., was hostess Monday evening for the Christmas meeting of George St. WMS Group 7. Mrs. H. Milburn was in charge of the program and opened it by reading a Christmas poem. Miss Shirley Pritchard favored with two piano selections, "All hail the power of Jesus' name" and the pastoral symphony from Handel's Messiah. A duet by Mrs. A. Townsend and Mrs. G. Brown was "O thou joyful day." Mrs. E. Ingall gave the Christmas story titled "God rest ye merry gentlemen." Scripture was read by Miss E. Clysdale followed with prayer by Mrs. V. Boorman. Leader Mrs. R. Powell presided for business. Mrs. Reynolds gave the nominations report and Mrs. Boorman the financial standing. The hostess and all taking part in the meeting were thanked by Mrs. E. L. Sackville. Mrs. Reynolds was assisted with refreshments by Mrs. Tinker and Miss Clysdale.

Holding Children's Party

Plans to hold a Christmas party for veterans' children on Saturday, December 22, at the Legion Hall were made at the meeting of the Ladies' Auxiliary to the Legion Monday evening. The first of these parties was held last year with wonderful success. President Mrs. A. Mason was re-elected to office for the fourth year by acclamation as the election was held. Her executive for the coming year shows only one change, with Mrs. A. Wade appointed as second vice-president, with Mrs. G. Stevens first vice-president, Mrs. C. S. Windsor, secretary, Mrs. R. Ritchie, treasurer, and Mrs. J. Gray, standard bearer. Executive committee includes Mrs. B. Rollins, Mrs. W. Downer, Mrs. E. Dormer, Mrs. A. Devail, and Mrs. E. Graham. Conveners are: social, Mrs. C. Kernohan, assisted by Mrs. H. Beresford; telephone, Mrs. W. McWilliams and Mrs. F. Buchan; sick and visiting, Mrs. E. Wood; sewing, Mrs. A. Wagstaff and Mrs. E. Withers. Installation of these officers will take place at the banquet in January.

ONLY WOMAN elected to Campbellford council in the town's history is Isobel Claire Tatham, who won a seat on the town council in Monday's election. It was her first bid for a council seat.

Woodstock Has First Woman Mayor In History

By The Canadian Press

The southwestern Ontario city of Woodstock has the first woman mayor in its history. She is Mrs. Michael P. Smith, who Monday nosed out 1951 Mayor F. Childs 2964-2360 in his bid for re-election.

The brown-haired housewife, an alderman in 1949 and 1950, won easily in her first bid for the mayoralty.

Elsewhere, also, women scored victories in the municipal elections.

Grace Burke McFarland won a three-day race for the mayoralty in the town of Leamington.

Mrs. Edna Ryerson won re-election as a Toronto public school trustee. She was the only Communist to attain civic office in that city in Monday's voting.

First Women Councillors

Parkhill gained its first women town councillors in Mrs. Aleta Pennington and Adelaide Gibbs.

Mrs. W. C. Richards won a town council seat in Tilbury and Mrs. Vera Bueglas was equally successful in Hanover. Mrs. Ada Sullivan obtained a board of education seat Preston. Mrs. M. Mills was selected town councillor at Ingersoll. Mrs. E. E. Lover and Mrs. B. Haines won school board seats in St. Thomas.

But Mrs. Agnes Spence lost her council seat in Strathroy. Marjory Kemp campaigned unsuccessfully for election as public school trustee at Tillsonburg. Wallaceburg's Mrs. Jean Huchtwith lost out in a bid for the office of deputy-reeve and in the same town Mrs. Mae Bubuque tried in vain for a council seat.

St. John's Bazaar Proves Success

A very successful bazaar has been held by the CWL of St. John the Baptist parish. It was staged on two successive nights last week in the school auditorium where a tall Christmas tree marked the entrance. Tables presented a festive appearance with colorful decorations.

Alderman P. J. Anglesey drew the lucky number in the draw for a panda bear, donated by Mrs. H. J. McLarnon, and the winner was Mrs. R. Pilling. Draw tickets were sold on a hand-knit shawl, donated by Mrs. Jack Shaughnessy, and this will be drawn for before Christmas. A Christmas cake, donated by Mrs. Eugene Reynolds, was won by Mrs. M. Meharrie.

A lottery table with varied array of blankets, towels, aprons, fruit, novelties, was in charge of Mrs. J. W. Philcox, assisted by Mrs. J. Cairns, Robert Whitesides and James Philcox. Home-baking tables offering cakes, cookies, pies and rolls were managed by Mrs. D. Leether Jr., assisted by Mrs. J. Bowen and Mrs. V. B. Langen.

Refreshment both was in charge of Frank McCarthy, James Grady and John Cairns. The toy table, which sold out quite early, was in charge of Mrs. Clayton Buckley, assisted by Mrs. J. Doleman, Mrs. O'Grady, Mrs. Fergus O'Connor and Mrs. T. Sheridan. A "talent" table was in charge of Bill Blair and Dave Leether Jr.

There was a rush to the bacon, egg and chicken table in charge of Fergus O'Connor, Maurice Austin and Clayton Buckley. Miss Doreen Shaughnessy and her assistant, Mrs. Bernie Shaughnessy, were busy at the candy table. Bingo was in charge of Mrs. B. Monahan, with Mrs. Wm. Prindible, Mrs. L. Ritchie and Lorne Ritchie assisting.

Draw tickets were sold by Miss June Daniels and Mrs. N. O'Reilly. Checking was in charge of Barbara and Dorothy Doleman, assisted by Paul Buckley. Mr. Albert Chenier was in charge of Christmas tree lights.

Tickets on "The Thing," a trunk-size decorated box, were sold by Joe McFadden, and when opened by the winner, Mrs. Joe McFadden, proved to be a handmade quilt, donated by Miss Agnes Grant.

The bazaar was under convenership of Mrs. W. I. Blair and Mrs. Peter Gravelle, treasurer, assisted by Mrs. Peter Grady and Mrs. F. Speakman. Holders of tickets numbered 20 and 52 may call them to claim door prizes.

FUNNY BUSINESS -- By Hershberger

"You understand, of course, legally, I haven't robbed you!"

DOROTHY DIX

Man Advised Not To Make Habit of Changing Wives

DEAR MISS DIX: I have a very influential professional position in my community. Four years ago I married a very nice girl. At that time I thought she would be an ideal wife for one in my position. For two years our home was very happy. Then another man destroyed that happiness and the home became a wreck. We separated, she taking our two children. A few months ago I married again and now have a fine wife whom I love very dearly. Two weeks ago my first wife wrote, asking me to give her another chance for the children's sake. I would like very much to be with her for the sake of our youngsters but I don't love her. Should I break up my present marriage in order to be with my children? My first wife still hasn't signed the divorce papers.

P. C.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Your final statement brings up an alarming complication to your problem. It is possible that your second marriage is bigamous, and you should waste no time in ascertaining if this is so.

Having reached a high point in your professional career, I assume you are old enough to have some sense. With this consideration in mind, it is difficult to see how you can reconcile your marital instability with your intelligence. If you leave your second wife and go back to the first, you'll wind up yearning for No. 2 again.

Think Of Children

Even your children will be befuddled by your recurring appearing when you begin the hop from wife to wife. If your children are being well cared for by their mother, you had better stay out of the picture for a while. Make up your mind which wife you prefer to be with, which one will create the happier home for you, which one is more faithful. But first of all, find out which one is legally yours. You might be better off away from both of them for a while. Distance may lend a better perspective to the view, and I would also advise a long talk with a good marriage counselor.

DEAR MISS DIX: I was married for three years, but am now separated from my husband. When I lived with him he did nothing but run around with girls and beat me. I have been away for three months now, am working and very happy. The other day I met my husband on the street and he asked me to come back. He said he was sorry for beating me, but somehow I can't trust him. He has made promises before and broken them. Should I give him another chance? I don't love him any more; I've taken so many of his beatings.

ANSWER: Believing as strongly as I do in preserving marriage and a home, I am loath to advocate separation or divorce, but I think habitual beating or other physical violence constitutes good cause for a wife leaving a husband. Since you have gone through this phase of broken promises before, you'd be foolish to try all over again. You have established yourself well on a separate maintenance basis. Going back to your husband will make you do it all over again later. A man given to wife-beating rarely reforms. The uncontrolable desire to hit someone becomes so instinctive that it cannot be stopped.

You don't love your husband anyway, so what have you to lose by staying away from him? Going back means the same procedure all over. Don't risk it!

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: Am I justified in getting upset and angry when my husband, knowing what time dinner is served, stops in a neighborhood tavern and sits there for an hour or more? When he comes home I have to reheat his dinner. If I send for him, he gets angry. I don't mind him stopping for one drink but gosh, it's no fun to sit around and wait until he gets ready to come home.

PRISCILLA N.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: You certainly are justified. It's no fun to prepare a good meal and then have to spoil it by reheating. Your husband should have more consideration. Perhaps if you gave him a cold meal once or twice he might get a jolt and reform. Otherwise, just stick to meals that take well to reheating, such as soup, stew, etc.

MARY MOORE SAYS:

Watch Your Calorie Count If You Seek To Reduce

It was to Miss M. B. I made a a promise to give more calorie-count meals.

This is such a popular topic I sometimes wonder if folks have substituted counting calories for enjoying meals.

A lot of calorie-calculators could save themselves the bother if they use raw fruits for dessert —thus skipping all of those weight-builders like pie, cake, pudding, cookies and other sweetened desserts. Drop to a minimum butter, gravy, mayonnaise, sugar and cream too. Then if your protein intake is high and you use whole wheat bread instead of white, all that is left for you to eat in unlimited quantities is fresh foods—fruits and vegetables. Presto—you will be lean and what's more, my hearties, healthy.

Breakfasts

(1) Six ounces orange juice, 60 cal.; 1 slice whole wheat toast, 75 cal.; ½ pat butter, 38 cal.; 1 egg, 80 cal.; clear coffee, 0 cal.

(2) One-half grapefruit (no sugar), 50 cal.; ¾ cup hot whole wheat cereal with added wheat germ, 105 cal.; with 2 teaspoons brown sugar, 27 cal., and ½ cup whole milk, 75 cal.; 2 cups clear coffee, 0 cal.

(3) One whole orange sliced or sectioned, 75 cal.; 1 scrambled egg on unbuttered whole wheat toast, 165 cal.; clear coffee, 0 cal.

Lunches

(1) Three-quarters cup (6 oz.) homemade vegetable soup, 105 cal.; 2 slices whole wheat bread sandwich, no butter, 1 ⅛-inch thick slice lean meat, 250-275 cal., 8-oz. glass skim milk, 80 cal.; 1 orange, 60 to 70 cal.

Cook by Colour.

An Amazing New Idea in Home Cookery

COOK BY COLOUR—You get the exact heat you want for any cooking job with a mere touch of the fingertip—indicated by Tel-a-Cook lights, a different colour for each cooking heat. You get perfect results every time when you "cook by colour".

BIG TRIPL-OVEN is actually three ovens in one. A broiler for steaks and chops, a master oven for those full-course meals and an economical speed-oven for one-shelf baking to save time and money. Adjustable racks give twelve different shelf positions.

THREE-IN-ONE CONVENIENCE — Adaptable Tripl-Unit provides a six-quart Pressure Cooker, a Thrift Cooker which is ideal for cooking soups, stews and dumplings or it may easily be converted into an extra Hi-speed element when your range top is full.

GENERAL ELECTRIC

with PUSH BUTTON Magic!

Push-button cooking is an amazing new idea in home cookery. With a mere touch of your fingertip, you get the exact heat you want for every cooking job . . . from a definite high for fast-starting . . . to a definite low for keeping foods at serving temperature. You cook simply by pushing buttons.

Actually you "cook by colour" . . . for Tel-a-Cook lights flash on . . . a different colour indicating each exact cooking heat. Now you can enjoy wonderful meals, shining cleanliness, automatic timing, super-speed units . . . all this, plus the magic of push-button convenience.

Ask your neighbourhood General Electric Dealer to show you the many features that make "push-button" cooking the answer to better meals, bigger economies, happier kitchen hours.

6—In Memoriam

BARNES—In loving memory of our baby daughter, Bonnie Arlene, who passed away suddenly Dec. 4, 1950.
She was only a little rosebud,
A sweet little flower from birth,
God took her home to Heaven
Before she was soiled on earth.
—Lovingly remembered by Mum and Dad, Christine and Kenny.

GIARDINO—In loving memory of a dear son and brother, Louie Giardino, who passed away seven years ago today, Dec. 4, 1944.
We do not forget him
We loved him too dearly
For his memory to fade
From our lives like a dream,
Our lips need not speak
When our hearts mourn sincerely
For grief often dwells
Where it seldom is seen.
—Sadly missed by mother and family.

MALLORY — In loving memory of Elizabeth Mallory who passed away December 4th, 1949.
In our hearts, your memory lingers
Sweetly tender, fond and true,
There is not a day, dear mother,
That we do not think of you.
—Lovingly remembered by Leonard and Bessie and the children.

PARK—In loving memory of my beloved daughter Muriel who died 3rd Dec., 1944.
We loved her yes, we loved her well
God loved her too, it was His will
To take her home with Him to dwell,
And some day soon, I know not when
I know dear Muriel in Heaven we shall meet again.
—Mrs. J. Sandback and family.

Roseneath Bazaar Brings In $112.55

ROSENEATH, Dec. 4 (ENS)—Annual WMS bazaar held on Saturday afternoon in the township hall realized $112.55. The WMS members, numbering about 20, had donated all the articles for the bazaar.

The bazaar was officially opened by the president, Mrs. J. N. Lovelace. The largest receipts were from the sewing table. The ladies in charge of this table were: Mrs. R. C. White, Mrs Lovelace, Mrs. W. Smith, Mrs. C. W. Varcoe and Mrs. T. S. Coyle.

The long table of home baking was looked after by Mrs. A. Halstead, Mrs. A. J. Campbell, Mrs. George Mouncey, Mrs. Reg. Crego, Mrs. Ford Derry and Mrs. Earl Waldie.

The table of notions was in charge of Mrs. H. Macklin, Mrs. D. Coyle and Mrs. F. G. Lewis.

The farm table of dressed chickens, fresh eggs, vegetables and apples was in charge of Mrs. Andrew Brown, Mrs. J. A. Nichol, Mrs. E. J. Milne, Mrs. Delbert Brisbin.

AMBASSADOR TO CUBA — H. A. Scott, 52, of Toronto, has been appointed Canadian ambassador to Cuba, the External Affairs Department announced Monday. Mr. Scott, a long-time government employee and consul-general for Canada in San Francisco since June, 1948, succeeds Dr. E. H. Coleman, recently appointed ambassador to Brazil. Mr. Scott is expected to take over his new job about the year end.

Some Big Upsets Reported For 1952 Ontario Councils

By The Canadian Press

Some new faces will appear on Ontario Municipal councils next year.

Upsets in civic elections in many cities and towns across the province Monday included the election of Allan A. Lamport as mayor of Toronto and of Dan Jessup as Sudbury's chief magistrate. Mrs. Michael P. Smith will head Woodstock's municipal government in 1952.

Communists fared poorly. Mrs. Edna Ryerson re-elected to Toronto's Board of Education was the only one of six Communist candidates in that city to win civic office.

Windsor turned down a proposal to observe daylight time in summer, decided to elect its entire council every two years—instead of part one year and part the next—and gave two newcomers places on its council.

Other centres that held elections Monday included Brantford, Brockville, Galt, Guelph, Waterloo, Niagara Falls, Peterborough, St. Thomas, Aylmer, Sault Ste. Marie, Stratford, Welland and Belleville.

Reject Annexation

London township voted down a proposal that 16.25 acres of its area should be annexed to London. In a petition last month, 250 residents of the suburban township asked for the annexation.

Stratford ratepayers authorized a $60,000 debenture issue for a municipally-operated bus system and $50,000 in debentures for road resurfacing.

Sudbury elected its first Board of Control.

In Sault Ste. Marie, Mayor Herb Smale was re-elected. He defeated Anthony Nini, veteran Alderman for a west-end riding.

Allan J. Rush, whose dismissal as a police detective precipated his election as mayor of London by a narrow margin in 1950, was swept back into office for a second term, piling up a majority of nearly 10 to one over George Wenige, the former mayor who fired him.

London voters also gave overwhelming approval to a proposal for a $3,000,000 addition to Victoria hospital.

Brantford ratepayers approved inclusion of a third band as a recipient of proceeds of a municipal levy.

Mayor E. C. Sargent was re-elected in Owen Sound, but Mayor Vernon Bauman went down to defeat in Waterloo.

Englishman Remanded, Scot Jailed Canadian Kicked Out Of Town

LINDSAY, Dec. 4—An international situation arose in police court here. An Englishman, a Scot and a Canadian were all brought before Magistrate E. A. Gee charge with different offences.

The Englishman, 56, Cavan township, pleaded guilty to the theft of four pairs of socks, from a Lindsay store. He was remanded for one week for sentence.

The Scot, 49, charged with vagrancy, pleaded guilty. He was sent to jail for three weeks.

The Canadian 43-year-old resident of Peterborough was charged with consuming liquor in a place other than his residence. His case was dismissed and he was told to get out of town.

The three men were discovered by Constable John L. Hunter of the Lindsay police department sitting between plies of lumber in a Lindsay lumber yard.

The constable reported that he searched them and found the Englishman was intoxicated and had four pairs of socks hidden under his shirt. The Scot was found very destitute. The Canadian produced an empty wine bottle from under a lumber pile.

They all had stories for the court.

The Scot said that he lived on Sherbourne St., Toronto, and was on his way to Sudbury to work for the winter.

The Englishman said that he had been drinking and didn't remember taking the socks. But an employee of a Lindsay store identified the socks and testified that about nine additional pairs were missing. An employee of the lumber yard said that he had been approached by the accused who was trying to sell the socks.

The Canadian said that he was on his way to Kirkland Lake to a job and had merely stopped to ask the other two if they would care to go with him.

Millbrook WI Hold Tea, Home Baking Sale

MILLBROOK, Dec. 4 (ENS).—The Women's Institute held a successful afternoon tea and home-baking sale on Saturday in the waiting-room.

The guests were welcomed at the door by the president, Mrs. John Lunn.

Mrs. Allie Fallis and Mrs. Gerald Larmer, assisted by Mrs. H. J. Armstrong, Miss Marjorie Skitch and Mrs. E. C. Richards, served tea from the lace-covered tea table, centred with baby 'mums and candles.

Mrs. W. H. Armstrong and Mrs. G. Davidson were in charge of the home-baking table; Mrs. J. W. Hilton sold candy; Mrs. D. Olan presided at the counter of the country store, and Mrs. George Freelove, Mrs. William West and Mrs. H. Blakeley were at the aprons and fancy-work table.

Sale of tickets on a blue and gold patchwork quilt brought in $60. It had been shown by members of Millbrook Institute at the district meeting last May in Mount Pleasant where it had been awarded second prize. Miss Mina Gibson held the winning ticket.

The tea and sale netted $115.

WMS Christmas Bazaar Successful

NORWOOD, Dec. 4—(ENS).—One of the season's most colorful and successful events was the Christmas bazaar and tea held on Saturday afternoon by the Woman's Missionary Society, Evening Auxiliary, and Mission Band, in the basement of Norwood United Church. Guests were welcomed by Mrs. H. K. Wright and Mrs. J. Starke. The rooms were decorated with red and green.

The Mission Band girls served, with a supervisor from the Evening Auxiliary over each table, the supervisors being Mrs. Gerald Martin, Mrs. Kenneth Packenham, Mrs. Keenie Edmunds, Mrs. Earl Hamblin, Mrs. Earl Bongard, and Mrs. Irwin Warner. Mrs. Gerald La Brash was in charge of the kitchen.

An apron booth was in charge of Mrs. Patterson, Miss Betty Chamberlain, Mrs. J. L. Stewart. The home baking table was managed by Mrs. Armar Weir and Miss Pauline Weir.

The plants and vegetables were presided over by Miss M. Carter and Mrs. Robert J. Leeper. An interesting spot for the juniors was a fish pond, looked after by Mrs. Donald Paxton; also the popcorn and candy booth, which Mrs. W. Brown presided over.

The parcel post department was taken care of by Mrs. Stanley Flett.

The total proceeds were $202, and guests included friends from Peterborough, Campbellford and Havelock.

Irregular Support Keeps Stocks Active

TORONTO, Dec. 4 — (CP).—Irregular mid-session support today held early afternoon stock market prices mixed and trendless.

Industrials made little headway in opening dealings as investors hesitated to extend yesterday's moderate gains. Light selling pressure balanced weak support.

Constructions formed the market's strongest section with a scattered list of fractional advances. Papers and steels were firm while utilities, agricultures, foods, refining oils, banks and textiles held gains and losses in balance.

In base metals International Nickel and Noranda strengthened while United Keno Hill weakened. East Sullivan, Mindamar and Normetal climbed pennies.

Western oils made little headway. General Petroleum A, Home Oil, Central Explorers, Royalite and Western Homestead edged upward. Devon-Leduc, Federated Petroleum, Okalta, Security Free and Vulcan slipped.

Junior golds strengthened while prospects drew firm support and holding companies climbed steadily. Seniors posted fractional gains.

Sidney Little Elected Mayor Of Bowmanville

SIDNEY LITTLE

BOWMANVILLE, Dec. 4.—Sidney Little Monday night rolled up an impressive 544 majority over his rival to outdistance Reeve Frank Jamieson and become mayor of Bowmanville for the second time. Three previously untried candidates were successful in their bid for a council seat.

Port Hope born, the 62-year-old mayor-elect also served as mayor of Bowmanville in 1947.

Polling 1,205 votes, Mr. Little won a majority in nine of 10 subdivisions and almost doubled the 661 ballots cast in favor of his opponent. He succeeds Lawrence C. Mason, mayor for the past three years, who declined nomination after six years on council. Fifty-eight per cent of the 3,100 voters turned out.

Vanstone Reeve

Reeve Morley Vanstone, deputy-reeve in this year's council, was the only candidate acclaimed to a municipal seat for 1951. Councillor M. S. Dale defeated veteran councillor Norman Allison for the deputy-reeve's chair, while Norman Scott led a field of 11 councillor candidates with 1,384 votes. Along with Mr. Scott, O. F. Robson and Walter DeGeer were elected to municipal office for the first time.

Following is the complete list of candidates and votes polled. Only six councillors were elected.

Mayor: Sidney Little, 1,205; Frank Jamieson, 661.

Deputy-reeve: Melville S. Dale, 990; Norman Allison, 776.

Councillors: Norman Scott, 1,384; Nelson Osborne, 1,290; Wilfrid Carruthers, 1,159; Fred Cole, 790; O. F. Robson, 754; Walter DeGeer, 753; Jack Niddery, 652; George Buchan, 521; Albert Darch, 434; James Nokes, 378; Bernard Kitney, 320.

Dollar Unchanged

MONTREAL, Dec. 4— (CP) — The American dollar today opened at 3¾ per cent premium to the Canadian dollar, unchanged from Monday's close. That is, it took $1.03¾ Canadian to buy $1 American.

The pound sterling was $2.90½, also unchanged.

Non-Confidence Motion Surprises MP's

OTTAWA, Dec. 4—(CP)— A surprise non-confidence motion calling for financial assistance to distressed prairie farmers was introduced Monday night in the flagging Commons throne-speech debate by Hazen Argue (CCF—Assiniboia).

It asked the chamber to express regret that the government had "failed" to provide for an immediate payment to wheat producers of 75 per cent of the initial price on farm-stored grain.

As a result of shortages of boxcars and congested grain elevators, many prairie farmers have been forced to store heavy stocks from this year's harvest on their farms.

Mr. Argue said he introduced his motion because the government has not made such provision despite many requests directed to Prime Minister St. Laurent.

Successful Plan

Percy Wright (CCF—Melfort) said the United States for some years has successfully advanced farmers up to 90 per cent of its wheat floor price for grain stored on farms. Some farmers faced a complete crop failure and should get some help.

John Sinnott (L—Springfield) suggested the time to seek government aid was when individual efforts had been exhausted. All of the grain could not be harvested, delivered and stored at the one time.

He described Mr. Argue's motion as "just a political dodge to make his position secure in his own constituency".

Victor Quelch (SC—Acadia) said the government should advance payment and pay storage charges on farm-stored grain.

He also said there should be an "escalator clause" in domestic wheat prices so that they would go up with greneral wheat prices.

John Diefenbaker (PC—Lake Centre) called the amendment one of "transcendantal importance" for the west.

He said Prime Minister St. Laurent and Trade Minister Howe, who has charge of the Wheat Board, were in disagreement over recent statements concerning help for the West's distressed farmers.

Gets 20 Years In Jail

GRAZ, Austria, Dec. 4 —(Reuters)-- Franz Kranz, 18, was sentenced to 20 years in jail Monday for a shooting rampage in an Austrian farmhouse which killed a 73-year-old woman and wounded two men. Kranz confessed he planned to wipe out the whole family in order to steal their clothes.

18 Killed In US In Four Plane Crashes

NEW YORK, Dec. 4 (AP)—At least 18 persons, including 17 United States servicemen, died Monday in the widely-separated crashes of three military planes and a twin-engined private craft.

Six air force personnel and five civilians were injured in the mishaps.

Two of the planes—at Denver, Colo., and Reno, Nev. — came down in residential areas and smashed a number of homes. But no one on the ground was killed, and the only injury was to a maid in a demolished Denver home.

Eight airmen lost their lives in the Denver crash, which also accounted for all the military injuries. Their plane, a big B-29 bomber, slashed through five houses and set them afire as it came in two miles short of a Lowry air force base runway.

Authorities today sifted the wreckage to determine the cause of the crash. The plane had reported a failure of one of its engines.

Not Safe On Ground

In Reno, the crippled private plane bounced off the roof of one house, narrowly missed another, and careened into a vacant lot. The pilot died, while four passengers suffered only minor injuries.

Six servicemen died at Pensacola, Fla., when their navy plane plunged to the ground at the edge of a residential area and just 30 feet from the scenic highway overlooking Escambia Bay.

The plane, coming from Miami, was reported making a standard instrument landing at Pensacola's Corry field minutes before it crashed. On board were two marine crew members and four passengers from the air force, army and navy.

A twin-engined air force C-45 transport, carrying three crew members, crashed 12 miles north of Evansville, Ind., in a heavy rain storm. All aboard were killed. The plane was bound for Evansville from Tullahoma, Tenn.

Cheese, Butter Production Higher In Oct.

Ontario production of cheddar cheese and creamery butter in October was higher than in the same month last year. This is the first month in 1951 to show an increase in these products over 1950.

Creamery butter at 5,649,700 lbs. was 6.9 per cent more than the 5,284,100 lbs. in October 1950. Cheese output was 9.2 per cent more than a year ago, at 6,448,400 as compared with 5,907,300 lbs.

Ontario Department of Agriculture estimates that the 204,207,600 lbs. of whole milk were used in the combined production of these two dairy products, as compared with 189,613,800 pounds in Oct last year. That is a gain of 7.7 per cent.

The quantity of milk required for cheese and creamery butter in the ten months of the year to the end of October is estimated at 2,046,941,800 lbs., a decline of 5.7 per cent from the 2,169,151,800 lbs. for the 10 months of 1950.

Commercial dairies report sales of fluid milk during Sept. at 36,365,600 quarts, almost the same as the 36,363,500 qts. in Sept. 1950.

Commercial dairies bought from farmers in Sept. 1951, a total of 1,156,425 cwt. of milk at an average cost of $4.08 per cwt. This was made up of 993,566 cwt. of standard and special fluid milk bought at an average price of $4.26 per cwt. and 162,857 cwt. of standard and secondary milk at an average cost of $2.97 per cwt.

In Sept. 1950, farmers sold 1,096,642 cwt. of milk at an average of $3.91 per cwt., made up of 961,925 cwt. of standard and special fluid milk at $4.13 per cwt., and 134,718 cwt. of secondary milk at an average cost of $2.35 per cwt.

Had Beaver Pelt Victoria Man Fined

LINDSAY, Dec. 4—Roderick Grant, RR 1, Sebright, Dalton township was fined $50 and costs in Lindsay police court for having a beave pelt in his possession.

Grant pleaded guilty to the charge.

Fred Walton, game overseer, told Magistrate E. A. Gee that this was the first charge laid against the accused by the Department of Lands and Forests.

The magistrate gave the minimum fine of $50 and ordered the accused to also pay court costs of $2.50.

DECEMBER HARVEST — This field of wheat on the farm of J. C. Prosser, two miles east of High River, Alta., yielded 35 bushels to the acre as threshing crews operated recently in cool but sunny weather. The wheat had been cut by a binder and stocked and was in good condition. Other farmers in central and southern sections of the province have been busy in the fields for a week and much grain is being threshed.

Family Homeless As Blaze Destroys Home

BETHANY, Dec. 4 (ENS). — Seven children and their parents were left homeless Sunday afternoon when fire destroyed the home of Mr. and Mrs. Mike Hickey west of Pontypool.

Neighbors rallied to quench the blaze, but a shortage of water and difficulty in getting at the flames foiled their efforts.

It is believed the fire started from a spark smouldering in the roof. Heavy smoke pouring into upstairs bedrooms was the first sign of the fire, and brought Mrs. Hickey rushing upstairs to rescue their youngest child, Douglas, who is two.

A Pontypool man located a home for the Hickeys to live in, but the family must collect furniture, bedding and clothing before they can move in, as all their goods but some kitchener furniture and a stove were destroyed.

At present, Mrs. Hickey and her two youngest are living with Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Hayford. Five of the Hickey boys are there as well.

Th children are: Lionel, 16; Michael, 15; Jack, 12; Glen, 10; Ronnie, 8; Susie, 6; Dougie, 2; and two older sisters are at high school in Oshawa.

The Hickey home was near the settlement of Drum, about four miles west of Pontypool.

Only Two Errors Found In Final Ballot Count

Harold Freeman was the first of the usual group reporting for the count of the ballots at the city hall Monday night. He was nearly five minutes ahead of the closing of the polls. Ald. Norman Graham and the Examiner were the next arrivals promptly at seven.

City clerk Outram opened the boxes and had his staff compiling the poll returns from the DRO official statements. That complete sheet was then available to the Examiner for comparison with figures that had been grabbed off the telephone. Of all those figures taken, written, compiled and added in a hurry, the revision with the City Clerk's correct sheet showed only two numerical errors.

Harry Hamley, assistant city clerk, and Jack Callahan of the Bank of Montreal staff, handled the telephones.

Edward Humpage, city auditor, arrived shortly after 7 pm. He usually lands himself into an addition job, but last night the Examiner transferred additional members of its staff to the broader facility of space on the second floor of the new city hall.

Deputy returning officers apparently hustled their information along. Poll figures were whisked to a room across the hall from the main committee room where the telephones were set up. Across the corridor, Miss Margaret Rodney and Miss Jean Stenton of the Examiner, speeded the computing machine work.

Net result? For example, when the veteran of Peterborough's municipal service arrived in the new quarters to find out how the day's pencilling of ballots had gone, hardly anybody was left. That's how fast the work had been done.

Final poll count was received a minute or so after nine o'clock. It could have been earlier.

Meanwhile the DRO's had been arriving downstairs with their ballot boxes, which were opened for the information showing the number of votes and their distribution, spoiled ballots, and so on.

The last period to the job was an hour or more earlier than last year.

When Alderman-elect Syd Black appearaed with Ed Riley and several others, the crowd had vanished. Only the help was left.

About 7:12, two more volunteers, Gordon Hancock and Pete McGillen landed in shortly after Arthur Pitchford. McGillen told the school trustee that he couldn't promise him better than fifth place. That's how it turned out. Anyway, few candidates go into municipal responsibility with a stronger desire to help the community than Mr. Pitchford.

The wise-crackers were in by 7:30 to liven things. Among them were Dick Raine and Milf Hardill . . . Fred Scates took over the chalk job with Gord Hancock. . . Mr. James Dutton was an absentee, and was missed, likewise Herbert Bradburn.

Ald. Doug Miller came early in the win or lose spirit. . . Ald. John Dewart came from some other meeting. Other members of the council noticed were Aldermen Gillespie, Burrows and Rehill.

Among those who congratulated the top-running aldermen were W. J. Beggs, a young man who appeared for a time to have a chance of winding up in the first five for council, and Edmund S. Humphrey who was a candidate for Board of Education.

OBITUARIES

MRS. ALEXANDER MOIR

ROSENEATH, Dec. 4. (ENS)— Roseneath relatives received word of the death of Mrs. Alex Moir, (the former Flora Coyle) in Winnipeg last Friday, after a lengthy illness in her 75th year.

She was born in Alnwick township, in 1877, a daughter of the late John Coyle and Letitia Drope.

She was the first secretary of Roseneath Women's Institute and was organist of St. James' Anglican church for many years, beginning at the age of 10 years, later going to Regina to study music and teaching music in Watrouse, Sask.

Forty years ago she was married to Alex Moir of Winnipeg and since their marriage they have resided in that city.

She is survived by her husband, two sons, Frank of Winnipeg and Thomas of Regina, also six grandchildren; a sister, Miss Elizabeth Coyle, Roseneath and a brother, Mr. William R. Coyle, Cobourg.

The funeral service was held in Winnipeg with burial in a Winnipeg cemetery.

DEREK JOHN DRISCOLL

Infant Derek John Driscoll, age 11 months, died suddenly today from an upper respiratory infection at the home of his parents, Oswald Driscoll and the former Helen Buott, of 470 Park St. N. A post mortem was conducted by Coroner Dr. Herbert Young and there will be no inquest.

Besides his parents he leaves a sister Gail, 4, and a brother, Frank, 2. Funeral will be held from the Anglesey funeral home on Thursday at 9 am, and burial will be at St. Peter's cemetery.

Lakefield Fair Dates May Be Oct. 3, 4

LAKEFIELD, Dec. 4—(ENS)— Roland Darling, president of the Lakefield Fair Board, and Mr. Howard Beavis, secretary-treasurer, attended the annual fair meeting of District No. 4, held in Port Perry on Wednesday.

The dates for Lakefield fair was tentatively set for October 3 and 4, but will definitely be decided at a board meeting this week.

Wm. John Kennedy Dies In Vancouver

Word has been received of the death of William John Kennedy in Vancouver. He was born in Douro township, son of the late John Kennedy and Margaret Crough, and has lived on the west coast for 36 years. His wife, the former Alicia O'Donnell, predeceased him two years ago.

He leaves one daughter, Mrs. Peggy Brown and a son Jack, both of Vancouver, and two brothers of this city, Daniel and Timothy Kennedy. Burial was at Vancouver.

Harold Dingman Political Writer Dies In BC

Harold Dingman, Vancouver, a brother of Mrs. E. J. Thompson, Peterborough, died Sunday, at the age of 38.

A fractured skull suffered in an automobile accident in 1939 reduced Mr. Dingman's health to the point where he experienced recurring breakdowns.

His byline appeared on many stories and articles in newspapers and magazines across Canada. He was one of the best informed writers in Canadian politics as a free lance writer in the Ottawa Press Gallery.

Article On Babies

It was his article, Babies For Expirt, which caused the Alberta government to sue him, publisher Kent Cooke and Charlotte Whitton, welfare authority, now mayor of Ottawa, for libel. The suit was dropped after a lengthy trial.

Mr. Dingman's newspaper career began on the old Globe in Toronto. Later he worked for the Globe and Mail, the United Press in Britain, the Montreal Gazette and the Montreal Herald.

After suffering a nervous collapse last summer, he went to the west coast and worked on an aluminum company project at Kemano. He returned to Vancouver early last week. The cause of death was not immediately determined,. His body was found in a downtown hotel.

His wife, the former Beth Patterson, lives in Winnipeg. A brother J. J. (Jeff) Dingman died in 1947.

Meyer Trial Called Unjust

STRATFORD, Dec. 4—(CP)— Maurice W. Andrew, Stratford lawyer who defended Kurt Meyer at his war-crimes trial, said Monday night that the trial did not conform with Canadian principles of justice and should be reviewed by a panel of civil judges. He said the military court martial disregarded the rules of evidence.

Meyer now is serving a life sentence for his part as a German major-general in the killing of 18 Canadian prisoners-of-war in Normandy.

He was recently returned to Germany and given 10 days' compassionate leave to visit his wife and family.

"The machinery for the trial and the charges were specially set up by the government to deal with war criminals," Mr. Andrew said in a statement. "Rules of evidence were set aside and evidence was introduced that would not have been heard in a common court of law."

Service To Others Way To Reach All Humanity

"Scraping Off Bits of Silver"— a mythical fable was the theme used by F. B. Smitheram for a talk on the ideals of Rotary at the Rotary luncheon Monday.

The story tells of a caliph explaining to a rabbi that he is dissatisfied with life and asks why this is so. The rabbia first points to a window and asks what the caliph sees. The caliph replies that he sees humanity passing by. Next the rabbi points to a mirror and asks what is seen. "Only myself" is the answer.

This the rabbi explains is what is the matter with the caliph. He sees only himself and until he is able by some means to scrape off bits of silver from the back of the mirror and make it a window, so he will see not himself but all humanity, his life will remain the same.

Four Ways To Service.

Mr. Smitheram named service as the only means of scraping off the bits of silver. He enumerated four objects in Rotary of the ideal of service. These were club service; service through high ethical standards in professional and business life; community service; and service in promoting world peace.

"The only safeguard that there is that service will remain the basic object of Rotary depends on the individaul members .You can't delegate responsibilites," Mr. Smitheram concluded.

In passing on the thanks expressed by John McCall to Mr. Smitheram for his address, president Syd Black announced that a copy of the speech would be sent to Rotary International. The speaker was introduced by the Rev. Ivan C. Morgan of Murray Street Baptist Church.

The following guests were introduced by Frank Paterson: M. Murrie and K. R. McNaughton, both of Montreal and Ed. Wilde, Genrock, New Jersey.

Character Role In Western Quite a Change For Coogan

By BOB THOMAS.

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 4 (AP). — Here is the news destined to make the middle-aged feel older — Jackie Coogan is playing a character role in a western movie.

Yes, Jackie, the shaggy little gamin who cavorted with Charlie Chaplin, in "The Kid," is playing the heavy in a horse opera. What's more, he likes the part, too. He's got a bald head, black moustache and grizzled face.

This is Jackie's first character part, and he explained how it all happened.

"Ron Ormond (the producer) showed me the script of 'Outlaw Women' and asked me if I could find a part in it that I liked. I picked the heavy."

I suggested that the role might open up a whole new career.

"Oh no, not that" he exclaimed. "Don't make it sound like a comeback. Every time a guy has been out of work for three months, they say he's making a comeback. If that's true, I've had dozens."

Jackie is observing his 35th year in the movies; not bad for a boy who is 37 year years old. He started in 1916. When he played in "The Kid" (1920) with the turned-around cap, he became the most famous child star of the silent era.

By time he was 21, Jackie had earned $4,700,000, but he didn't have a penny of it left. Because of his experience, the state passed a law requiring court approval of child actor contracts, with provisions for savings funds.

Jackie's fame in adult years has never approached that of his childhood. He has continued his acting career, with occasional ventures into other fields. His longest absence from the screen was during the Second World War.

Later he resumed acting and operated a war surplus business on the side. He retired from the movies last year with the intention of being an appliance salesman.

Professor Rejects Top Literary Prize

PARIS, Dec. 4—(AP)—The top French literary prize was awarded Monday to a 41-year-old history professor, who promptly rejected it.

A jury of distinguished writers gave the "Prix Goncourt"—French equivalent of the Pulitzer prize—to Louis Poirier for a novel of fantasy entitled "Rivage Des Syrtes" (Banks of Quicksand). He wrote it under the name of Julien Cracq.

Only worth 5,000 francs ($15) in cash, the prize is far more valuable than that in publicity and prestige. Poirier is against literary prizes, however, and said he wouldn't accept it.

Serve Summons On Montreal City

MONTREAL, Dec. 4 (CP)—Six big retail stores served summons on the city of Montreal to defend in court its bylaw requiring them to close on certain Roman Catholic holy days. The city was summoned to appear in Superior Court.

Plaintiffs in the action were the T. Eaton Company, Henry Birks and Son Limited, Holt Renfrew and Company Ltd., Henry Morgan and Company Ltd., James A. Ogilvy's Ltd., and Robert Simpson, Ltd.

The bylaw requires stores to close on the feasts of the Immaculate Conception, Epiphany, Ascension and All Saints' Day. The merchants claim the bylaw is not within the city's power to enact.

The city is required to appear in court within a six-day period to answer the summons. Unless a court injunction is granted before Dec. 8, the stores will have to close for the feast of the Immaculate Conception.

The bylaw touched off a controversy after its passage by a one-vote margin in city council last month.

Game, Forests Topics At Omemee Meeting

OMEMEE, Dec. 4 — (ENS) — Omemee and District Horticultural Society had as guest speakers for their November meeting Charles Weir, government biologist for the Game and Fisheries division of the Department of Lands and Forests, and D. A. Fawcett of the Forest Protection division.

Three interesting films were shown on Game, Forest Protection and Timber Salvage.

Mr. Weir stressed the value of sufficient range for big game animals, and the importance of fish and game wintering well. He showed the folly of overpopulating the streams and lakes and creating a food shortage, or of preserving game until it had increased in proportions beyond the food supply of the range. Nature's protection of wild life was an interesting feature of the game pictures.

Mr. Fawcett said the aim of the department was to protect forests against fire, disease and insects. Prevention of fires was given chief emphasis. Timber management is very important, to get the most possible out of our forests with the least possible waste. The timber salvage from the Mississippi forest fire yielded 200,000,000 feet of lumber, enough he said, to build 16,000 homes.

There was some discussion about disease in trees. Both Mr. Weir and Mr. Fawcett invited inquiry on any subject relating to their divisions of the department, saying all correspondence from this section should be directed to them at the Lindsay office of the Department of Lands and Forests and not to the head office since it would only be referred to them eventually. Their district covers the counties of Durham, Northumberland, Peterborough, Victoria and Haliburton.

Horticultural Society announcements included the secretary-treasurer's request that subscriptions for the "Canadian Home and Gardens" be given her before the end of the current year, and that all members are expected to be present at the annual meeting on January 24, which is one week earlier than usual.

Calls Pope's Ruling "Heartless" Decision

LONDON, Dec. 4—(AP)—The Church of Scotland Monday described as "harsh and heartless" the Pope's recent pronouncements on the responsibilty of obstetricians during childbirth.

In its magazine, The Monthly Record, the Scottish church declared the Pope's remarks typified "the thoroughgoing policy of the Vatican to dominate every sphere of human life and conduct."

The Pope told a meeting of Italian obstetricians Oct. 29 that "to save the mother's life is a very noble aim; but the direct killing of the baby as a means to that end is not permitted."

On Nov. 28 he amplified this statement to say that a pregnant mother may receive necessary surgical or medical treatment even if a consequence is "the inevitable death of the fetus." He said this could not be called a "direct killing" of the baby.

Genial Irishman Thorn In Side Of Stolid Reds

By DOUGLAS HOW

HELMSTEDT, Germany, Dec. 4—(AP)—A gallant Irish gentleman once held a beautiful Frenchwoman's hand for six solid hours in the name of democracy at this spot in a German forest where the free world ends and the Soviet world begins.

He also confounds the Russians by asking for matchboxes and football games.

It is pure, but fortunate coincidence for democracy that it has Capt. Leo Douris, an Irish Republican in the service of his Britannic Majesty, to guard its frontier and to see that nothing happens to allied personnel who pass beyond his check point to go the 110 miles to Berlin or to come back again through red territory.

But it's tough on the Russians who operate their own check point a few yards away on the great two-lane highway (Autobahn) which runs from Berlin to the Rhine.

For Capt. Douris is an engaging fellow but very Irish. He's been here two years now and he quickly formed the basic conclusions that (a) it is folly to act the gentleman with the Russians (b) you've got to be tough (c) they're terrified of an incident because (d) several officers have been pulled off the job and sent to penal battalions.

Douris tells the matchbox story as typical of the Russian mind. He asked an officer for a Soviet matchbox for a friend who collects them. For days the Russian kept asking the real reason he wanted it.

Daring And Gallant

The story of the beautiful woman is that she had flown into Berlin and came out by road and the Russians held her up. Douris advanced into the Soviet zone, grabbed her out of a car and for six hours held her hand with one hand and banged desks and gestured with the other until he got her through Soviet red tape.

"She wrote me later," Douris smiles, "and said she was happy to find that not only the French are gallant gentlemen."

He has noted a gradual drying up of even perfunctory conversations after business and he's never obtained the football game he's long been seeking between his staff and the Russians.

"But where," the Russian officer finally said, "could we play?"

"In the nearest village on either side," said Douris.

"Oh no," said the Russian and then his eyes lit up. The game could be played on the bridge between the two check points.

"And what," asked the Irishman, "would we do about changing ends at half time?"

There will be no football game.

If the fish won't bite

Here's an idea for those days when you feel like going down to deal with the fish personally.

Intrepid souls who, with spear in hand and web on foot, chase fish in southern waters, can now increase their range with aluminum harpoon-guns.

Aluminum is used because it is light and does not rust. These are the main reasons why this metal is so popular, and why Alcan is busy with projects which are planned to increase Canada's production to 500,000 tons a year. Aluminum Company of Canada, Ltd. (Alcan).

Wounded Policeman Kills Drugstore Bandit In Holdup

UK Bus Cuts Down Boy Cadets, 23 Killed, 19 Hurt

CHATHAM, Kent, England, Dec. 5. (AP)—An eight-ton double-decker bus—operated by a driver cited for a quarter-century of safe driving—Tuesday night rumbled into the singing ranks of marching boy cadets and killed 23 of them. Nineteen more boys, some near death, lay in hospitals. Ten others were treated for shock. It was the worst road accident in British motoring history. The driver, John George Samson, 57, was put under a doctor's care. Shocked and sick, he was unable to explain immediately how the big bus happened to hit the formation of more than 50 marching boys. It smashed into them from behind in the darkness.

The children, all between 10 and 13 years old, were cadets in the Royal Marine Corps. They sang in step as they marched—their twin files just the width of the bus—to see an amateur boxing match at Chatham's naval barracks.

Passengers on the bus didn't know what was happening until it was all over.

Bodies All Over

Mangled bodies were strewn for 50 yards along the cobblestone road. The huge vehicle lurched through almost the whole formation and careened into a lamp post, its fenders bent and bloody.

A passenger on the upper deck said he felt only "a series of light bumps" as the heavy wheels crunched through.

The bus was operated by the Chatham and District Traction Company. Samson had worked for the firm for 40 years and today was to have received a medal for 25 years of safe driving.

Police declined to say how fast the bus was going. Neither would they speculate on why it did not swing around the marching column.

First-aid workers, shocked at the sight used battle terms to describe the scene.

"It was like the effects of a shell burst on a mess deck," said one sailor. Another described it as like a bomb burst amid marching soldiers.

Strikes Without Warning

The boys, marching to the Navy barracks a quarter-mile away, had gone only about 200 yards along a dimly-lit Pembroke road when the bus plunged into the rear of the formation.

Only those in a few front rows escaped death or painful injury. The boys had been lined up by size, with the smallest in front.

Sailors poured out of a barracks. Police, doctors and ambulances came from several towns.

Priests and ministers gathered to comfort dying children, and to go with police breaking the bitter news to parents.

War-toughened tars, hardened to the sight of violent death, wept as they helped gather up the little bodies.

"I saw some pretty grim things during the war, but this was too much for me," said a veteran navy petty officer. "I had to come away."

Many of the bodies were difficult to identify.

Tito Releases Archbishop Conditionally

BELGRADE, Dec. 5 (Reuters)—Archbishop Alojzia Stepinac was released here today conditionally, it was officially anounced.

Stepinac, 53, head of the Roman Catholic Church in Yugoslavia, was sentenced to 16 years' in jail in October, 1946, for "offences against the people and the state."

Stepinac had been held in Lepoglava prison near Zagreb for five years on charges of collaboration with the Axis powers.

The 53-year-old primate will go to his native village of Krasic near Zagreb to live, the official government news agency Tanjug said.

Stepinac will take up residence in the local parish house in Irasic. Tanjug's statement said this decision had been made by the archbishop himself.

Can't Have Job Back

Yugoslavia had announced previously it intended to release Stepinac with the understanding he would never assume the role of Roman Catholic primate again in this country.

Stepinac, as leader of Yugoslavia's 7,000,000 Catholics, was sentenced Oct. 11, 1946, to 16 years' imprisonment at hard labor on charges he collaborated with the Axis and its wartime puppets, condoned the forceful conversions of hundreds of thousands of Serbian orthodox followers in Coatia to catholicism, helped organize a post-war "independent Croatia" movement and worked for the downfall of the Communist regime of Marshal Tito.

Unlike Cardinal Mindszenty, who "confessed" to charges of espionage, anti-state activities and black marketing in Hungary, Stepinac denied all the charges against him.

Second Bridge Falls In Quebec

RIVIERE DU LOUP, Que., Dec. 5 (CP) — A 100-foot bridge collapsed today in the river from which this town takes its name. No one was reported injured.

The bridge apparently fell as a big truck from Quebec City moved onto it. Both occupants of the vehicle leaped into the shallow rived. The truck then slowly slipped off the deck.

Residents described the bridge as "at least 70 years old."

The wood and steel bridge was part of the main St. Lawrence south shore highway and was located on the eastern outskirts of the town.

The structure, which rested on pillars at both extremities of the 75-foot wide river, apparently broke away from abutments at both ends at the same time.

Cairo Orders State Of Emergency

University Students Spark Violence In Ugly Outbreak

CAIRO, Dec. 5. (Reuters)—A state of emergency was proclaimed in Cairo today as Nationalist demonstrations flared violently here and in other cities.

One of the ugliest outbreaks occurred when university students paraded showing anti-government slogans. Shots were fired by police, tear-gas bombs were flung and the youths were soaked with fire hoses.

Rioters protested against recent gun battles between Egyptians and British troops, the latest of which occurred Tuesday in the town of Suez.

Numerous other clashes occurred in an around Cairo. Police reinforcements were called out in Alexandria as demonstrators collected outside the stock exchange.

Shopkeepers scuttled out of their stores to pull down steel shutters protecting their windows.

Blame Each Other

The Suez gun fight Tuesday, between men of the Royal Sussex Regiment and Egyptians, left two Britishers wounded and—by Egyptian estimates—15 Egyptians dead and 29 wounded.

Each side claimed the other opened fire first.

The pro-government newspaper Al Balagh said some students were hit by rifle fire. Another newspaper reported 40 students were injured and given medical treatment.

The students, numbering several hundred, threw stones and burning tree branches at the police. They shouted against a government decision to take over and control the hitherto independent "liberation battalions" that have been active against the British.

Police Injured

At least six police and several demonstrators were injured earlier when a crowd of 2,000 persons attempted to surge across Boulac bridge to a residential section where many foreigners live. The mob threw soft-drink bottles at the police who prevented the demonstrators from crossing the bridge.

In Alexandria a crowd estimated as high as 10,000 by some sources was dispersed by police without incident. There were no arrests.

BULLETIN

ALEXANDRIA, Egypt — (Reuters). — A bomb exploded at a British educational institute in the centre of Alexandria tonight. First reports said there were some casualties.

BOMBER HITS HOMES — Firemen aim their hose at the buring fuselage of a B-29, which crashed into a row of homes in Denver, Colo. Five homes were demolished. The plane, from Lowray Air Base, carried a crew of 14. Reports said eight were killed, all crewmen, and eight others injured, including some residents of the homes.

Cost-of-Living Up Again For October

OTTAWA, Dec. 5 — (CP) — Chapter 10 of the story of living costs in 1951 reads pretty much the same as the preceding chapters It's still another report on rising prices.

The Bureau of Statistics said on Tuesday that in October the cost-of-living index increased by four-fifths of a point to an all-time high of 191.2 from 190.4. The index is based on 1935-39 prices equalling 100.

So far this year, the index has made one jump after another, climbing 16 points from 175.2 in January. The biggest increase was 4.5 points last February.

In October prices went up for potatoes, milk, men's overcoats, cigarettes and rents. It cost more for canned vegetables, corn flakes, cocoa, jam, corn syrup, men's sweaters, women's woollen hosiery, rubbers, fuel gas and even health.

Some Prices Down

Things would have been worse except some prices did go down—on pork, eggs, sugar, oranges, cabbage and soap.

Despite these declines the food sub-index, after two months of knocking off points suddenly reversed the trend, climbed one-half point to a near-record 250.2. the peak for food was 251.4 in July.

One of the main reasons for the higher index was the jump in rents. Only tabulated quarterly, the quarter recorded a sub-index jump of 2.1 points to a record 144.8.

Peaks also were reached in the fuel and light group, clothing sub-index and the miscellaneous column which reflects such costs as transportation, sundries and health care.

Lower soap prices worked to pull the home furnishings and services sub-index down one-fifth of a point from its peak of 200.1 —the only sub-index to show a drop.

Allies Stage Second Raid

SEOUL, Korea, Dec. 5 (AP)—An Allied raiding party stormed ashore deep behind Red lines on the east coast Monday in the second hit-and-run raid in two nights.

Black-faced United States marines and British commandos scaled a cliff and attacked a vital Communist rail line south of Songjin, about 185 miles north of the 38th Parallel.

Shells from the US destroyer Tingey pounded the rail line farther north.

Allied naval headquarters in Korea said the night raiders left an unknown number of Communist dead. The Allies suffered only two casualties.

South Korean troops pressed home their attack on bandits and Red guerrillas in South Korea. Tuesday the South Koreans reported their biggest haul of the campaign: 407 prisoners taken and 57 killed.

Oil Tanks Explode At Trenton Refinery

DETROIT, Dec. 5 (AP) — A group of oil tanks exploded at the big Socony Vacuum Oil Company refinery in downriver Trenton early today.

Flames towered half a mile, reports said.

Firemen of Trenton, aided by Michigan state police, fought a blaze that followed the explosions.

State police said at 8 am that the fire apparently was under control.

No casualties were reported.

Trenton, a small industrial city, is 17 miles down-river from Detroit. There are no homes near the refinery.

Queen Mary Ill

LONDON, Dec. 5 — (AP). — Queen Mary, 84, came down with a cold today and was advised by her doctor to remain indoors. A spokesman at her Marlborough House residence told reporters the cold was "very slight" and that the Queen was "up and about as normally."

Fear 2,000 May Be Toll In Volcano Eruption, Report 500 Bodies Found

MANILA, Dec. 5. (AP)—The Philippine News Service said tonight more than 500 bodies have been recovered from the ash-strewn slopes of Hibok Hibok volcano on Camiguin Island in the southern Philippines. The volcano erupted twice Tuesday. It still spouted smoke and flames today. Governor Pacieno Ysalina of Eastern Misamis Province estimated that 2,000 may have died in Tuesday's first eruption. Neither the governor's estimate nor the news service's figure had confirmation. Red Cross headquarters in Manila said the Philippines army had recovered 169 bodies.

Volcanic heat began subsiding and rescue workers were able to penetrate deeper into the ash and lava area.

The news service said 10,000 of Camiguin's 45,000 residents had been evacuated to safer areas.

Stand Guard

Police and volunteers stood guard in the hard-hit area to maintain order and prevent looting.

Manila Times correspondent Benigno Aquino quoted Philippines Air Force Capt. Pedro Los Banos that smoke was still rising from fissures and gray soil in a nine-square-mile area on the volcano slopes.

"Coconut trees still are neatly spaced in the area," the officer was quoted, "but denuded of fruit and leaves."

"The soil has turned from a rich brown to ghastly, smouldering gray. There is no sign of life in the devastated area and what looked like former villages and hamlets now are devoid of any form of existence."

Crater Invisible

Hibok Hibok's crater was still invisible later on Wednesday, shrouded by low, dense clouds of smoke.

The volcano issued a second mighty blast Tuesday night, about 10 hours after the first blow-off. Flames and dense smoke still are pouring from the crater, the Philippines army commander in the Mindanao area reported after a flight over the island.

Lt.-Col. Patricio Monzon said: "It was so warm I couldn't get my plane close enough for a good look.

"Camiguin looked like a burning, smoking flat-top (aircraft carrier) as we hovered above it. Smoke billowed up to 7,000 feet and enveloped the whole island."

Heat and fumes hampered searchers, digging for victims in the hot lava rocks and ash.

A steady stream of evacuees fled in all types of watercraft to Mindanao and other nearby islands.

Ten villages on the island were believed destroyed. Philippines news service correspondents who reached the island Tuesday night said they believed about 80 per cent of the villages' inhabitants had perished.

Camiguin is 13 miles long and nine miles wide. Hibok Hibok, 5,620 feet high, is virtually in its centre.

The island, 40 miles north of Mindanao, has a population of 45,000.

Two US air force planes left Sangley Point naval base near Manila this morning for the stricken area. They carried Philippines Red Cross workers, blood plasma and other supplies.

1951 Crop Of Juveniles Not At All Backward Santa Gets Eye-Opener In Christmas Mail

NEW YORK, Dec. 5—(AP)—Santa Claus finds nothing backward about the 1951 crop of juveniles.

Postmaster Albert Goldman has made public some eye-openers among the hundreds of Christmas letters he gets.

A tyke in Middletown, NY, listed just about everything a kid could want. But, taking no chances, he added "and everything else for a little boy like me."

Even offered Santa a bribe too.

"On the kitchen table there will be some apple pie and a glass of home made grape wine for you," he wrote.

A little girl named Barbara wants a baby gorilla "more than anything in the world."

A young boy—and who do you suppose coached him?—suggested Santa "bring my mommy a mink coat and my daddy a car."

Another lad took a dim view of his brother and two sisters.

"I really think you shouldn't bring them anything for Xmas," he told Santa. "They are really very bad."

The clincher came from eight soldiers in Germany:

"Dear Santa Claus: Please send us rifles that never get dirty, boots that always stay shined, beds that always stay tight and uniforms that never need cleaning or pressing. If the above articles are unobtainable, we would be happy with a discharge."

US Planes Down 5 Enemy Jets

US FIFTH AIR FORCE, Korea, Dec. 5 (AP)—American jet pilots today blasted five Communist MIG jets out of the skies and damaged five more, the Fifth Air Force announced.

The Air Force said no US jets were damaged.

This was the 10th consecutive day of jet warfare over northwest Korea.

In the 10 days allied jet pilots have shot down a reported total of 32 Red planes, probably shot down another and damaged 31. Announced allied losses are six jets.

The Communists put about 230 MIG-15 jets into the air today, again far outnumbering American planes sweeping northwestern Korea.

The big bag of Red jets was scored in a fight between 29 F-86 Sabre jets and 80 MIGs. They battled 35 minutes, equalling the longest jet battle in history.

Duplessis Threatens Mayor With Libel Suit

QUEBEC, Dec. 5 (CP)—Premier Duplessis today threatened Mayor J. A. Mongrain of Three Rivers with court action over a statement that the premier had opposed establishment of a $15,000,000 industry at Three Rivers.

The premier made the threat before private bills committee of the legislative assembly studying Three Rivers municipal legislation.

Daniel Johnson (UN—Bagot) noted a newspaper report quoting Mayor Mongrain as having declared the premier "prevented" establishment of the enterprise.

"Did you say that?" Premier Duplessis asked the 44-year-old mayor sitting with a delegation from this city.

"Yes," said Mayor Mongrain.

"What industry was it?"

"A zinc refinery," answered the mayor.

Mystery Robber Shoots Constable 3 Times Before Killed By Own Gun

Police Guarding Stores In Neighborhood After Outbreak of Holdups; Second Gunman Escapes During Excitement

TORONTO, Dec. 5. (CP)—A bandit who had stolen $210 was shot and killed Tuesday night with his own gun after it was wrested from him by a steel-nerved police officer. The slain man had not been identified by early today, despite efforts of fingerprint experts. An accomplice who acted as lookout for the robbery of a drugstore in central Toronto escaped. Because of a recent wave of drugstore holdups, Constable Dick Deadman, veteran of 25 years' service on the police force, had been assigned to guard the Fox-Taylor drug store at Dundas and McCaul streets. Other plainclothesmen were stationed in other drugstores in the area.

The two holdup men entered the store just before the 9 pm closing time, forced proprietor Joseph Fox to open the cash register, then motioned him to go to the back of the store. Fox walked back and signalled to Constable Deadman, who stepped out with drawn gun.

The startled gunman wheeled and fired twice point-blank. One slug from his German automatic ripped into the officer's shoulder and the other struck his leg. The policeman returned the fire.

Mortally Wounded

Constable Deadman then put his own gun back in his pocket and moved in on the bandit who fired again, hitting him in the other leg. Still on his feet, the officer grasped the bandit's right arm, twisted the automatic away from him and fired. The holdup man fell, mortally wounded.

Attracted by the shots, another officer, Constable Ernest Cousins, came running. Constable Deadman, before he lost consciousness, was able to give Constable Cousins a description of the other bandit. Doctors said later that the wounded constable will probably recover.

June Mercer, 19, who came here six months ago from Newfoundland entered the drug store to buy stamps while the second bandit was holding the door open. She saw the shooting. Later, talking to reporters, she said:

"We don't have things like this in Newfoundland."

Find Living Baby Inside Garbage Bag

TORONTO, Dec. 5 (CP). — Robert Moses and Marvin Martin, both 15, were going to drop a paper bag of "garbage" into the river Tuesday to hear it splash when they heard whimpering inside it.

The bag contained a newborn baby. The infant was taken to Sick Children's Hospital. Attendants said today it was in excellent condition.

UN Command Says Red Use "Double Talk"

MUNSAN, Korea, Dec. 5 (AP) —The United Nations' Command today accused Communist truce negotiators of using double talk to gain political objectives through the back door.

The accusation came in a broadcast to Korea after a subcommittee spent 2½ hours at Panmunjom wrangling over the meaning of Red proposals for supervising an armistice.

A "Voice of the UN Command" broadcast from Tokyo said the Communist propsal to freeze troops in Korea during an armistice is a ruse to accomplish the Reds' earlier demand for withdrawal of all foreign troops. The Red plan would prevent any replacements. The broadcast said:

"If a soldier left Korea because he became ill, or was injured, or if his term of enlistment expired or if he were rotated, he would thus be removed from Korea."

TTC Union Denies Strike Planned

TORONTO, Dec. 5 (CP).—Sidney Hare, secretary of the Street Railway and Motor Coach Employees Union (AFL-TLC) in Toronto, today denied published reports that a mass meeting of Toronto Transportation Commission employees next Monday morning might tie up all bus and street car service.

Mr. Hare said no mass membership meeting is planned for next Monday morning. A regularly-scheduled meeting would be held Sunday, Dec. 16 he added. In the past, street car and bus service had not been interrupted by attendance of employees at union meetings.

Mr. Hare also said there is "no justification" for published reports that members of the union at a meeting last Monday night threatened to call a strike for Dec. 17 if a conciliation board has not reported by then on a union-TTC dispute.

Things Look Good

Says Farmers Won't Have Many Marketing Worries

OTTAWA, Dec. 5—(CP)—Canada's farmers won't have too many marketing worries next year if predictions made at the first day of the 10th annual federal - provincial agricultural conference hold true.

J. F. Booth, the federal agriculture department's chief economist, Tuesday told the conference he assumes Canada and the United States will boost rearmament production next year. World economic activity will remain "at very high levels," he said.

Other agricultural experts predicted a resulting heavy demand for Canadian farm products—with only a few exceptions — and "firm" prices for such foods as wheat, beef, eggs, milk and other dairy products.

The 100-odd delegates were told milk production in 1952 is not expected to be sufficient to meet demand. Beef prices likely will be about the same as in the United States but hog prices may come down as a result of increased production.

Demands Strong

Egg production is expected to increase but demand also will be strong. Butter production may be down and "it would seem therefore that prices should remain firm." World demand for wheat is expected to remain strong.

C. V. Parker, director of the Agriculture Division of the Bureau of Statistics, predicted an increase in farmers' cash income for 1952 but anticipated farm operating costs also will rise.

Other officials reported on the problems of supplies and farm labor. The conference was told Canada will need between 15,000 and 20,000 new immigrants next year to fill farm labor shortages. Canada will try to get these immigrants from European countries.

No great shortages of farm supplies are expected in 1952 though certain types of fertilizers and pesticides may be limited by increased defence production. Prices may be slightly higher than in 1951.

The agriculture department presented an official report saying that with world demand high, Canada is not expected to experience much trouble in having her entire 233,000,000 - bushel quota under the international wheat agreement taken up. She may even sell "significant quantities" of wheat outside the agreement's terms.

Agriculture Minister Gardiner opened the conference and warned that there can be no peace until food problems in the Far East are overcome.

Anxious To Experiment

Korean Soldiers Eager To Get New Armored Vests

ON THE WESTERN FRONT, Korea, Dec. 5 (AP).—Soldiers on this front are eager to try the new lightweight body armor just becoming available because the armored vests some wear now are too heavy.

The armored vests the soldiers in this battalion wear weigh about 14 pounds and look something like a baseball catcher's chest protector.

The new model, which weighs only eight pounds, is on order, but it has not reached the Korean front in any quantity.

Maj. Walter Turner is a strong believer in armored vests, but he concedes the present Second World War model is too cumbersome.

"Last week," he said, "they saved 15 to 20 casualties in my battalion."

Turner said the vests were impractical for infantrymen charging up a hill or on the move, but were good for reconnaissance patrols and for stationary, defensive fighting.

Some Objections

Turner makes his men wear the vests in certain situations. But he said several other infantry commanders object to them as impractical.

The vest is shaped like a short underskirt and protects the chest and back. It is made of nylon and overlapping aluminum plates.

The new body armor is made of layers of nylon cemented by plastics. Both are capable of stopping mortar fragments and ordinary rifle or machine gun bullets but not bullets fired at close enough range that they still are travelling at a high velocity.

(While the American Pharmaceutical Manufacturers Association received a report from the army surgeon-general's office last month that 50 of the new vests had passed tests in Korea, this dispatch made no mention of them yet being used.)

Lt.-Col. Edward Cleveland, 3rd division supply officer, said as far as he knew the 3rd division is the only one using the second World War type vests.

"They're great to have if you can carry them," said one soldier.

Toronto Milk Price Set At 22 Cents

TORONTO, Dec. 5 (CP). — Toronto milk consumers will pay 22 cents a quart for their mi... after Dec. 15—whether bought over the counter or delivered at their doors.

The Ontario Milk Control Board Tuesday night announced permission for a one-cent increase in the price of a quart of milk delivered and a two-cent boost in the quart price of store milk in the Toronto area. Distributors will pay another 50 cents a hundredweight, bringing the price paid the farmer to $4.70 a hundredweight.

In abolishing the one-cent store differential, the board said the difference in price had some merit but had not materially increased store sales. They pointed out that maintaining the differential would force a further increase in the home delivered price.

The Milk Board pointed out that the new prices were only maximum ones. Any dairy was free to set prices below the board figures.

Ample Evidence

The Board said both producers and distributors had produced ample evidence to support the request for a price boost.

The Board reserved any decision on milk prices in London and Peterborough at Tuesday's hearings.

In the light of Agriculture Minister Kennedy's Monday statement in which he expressed the opinion that milk should go up to 24 cents a quart, Orville Sinclair, spokesman for the London distributors at Tuesday's hearings, said, "We don't pay much attention to the Minister of Agriculture any more."

Sinclair contended it was no worry of the distributors what was said. "We are in between the producer and the consumer. They are the people we do business with."

Wrong Driver

Driver of the car which crunched into the verandah of the home of George H. Robinson, 746 Lansdowne St., Saturday was Mrs. D. McIntyre, 3 Lansdowne St. She was turning her car around in the side lane.

A delay in recording of a sale of the car in the Motor Vehicles branch of the Department of Highways was responsible for the driver being named as Mrs. Frank Harvey, 337 Caddy St.

Baron W. Richtofen Settles Near Toronto

NASSAGAWEYA, Ont., Dec. 5 —(CP)—Baron W. Richthofen, a cousin of Germany's air ace of the First World War, has settled with his wife on a 200-acre farm in the Campbelleville area, about 35 miles west of Toronto.

Baron Richthofen and his wife plan to farm the land, raise beef cattle and trotting horses.

The farm was purchased three years ago by the Grand Duchess Olga, sister of the assassinated Czar Nicholas of Russia, and her husband, Prince Roulikowsky. They are leaving the district.

Nursing Heads Welcomed To Peterborough

The Peterborough Board of Health entertained 33 supervisors of public health nursing agencies at a luncheon at the Empress Hotel Tuesday.

Alderman P. J. Anglesey represented the board at the luncheon and welcomed the supervisors to Peterborough.

The supervisors are attending a five-day work conference this week at the city hall. The sessions are being held in the committee rooms and are being conducted by Miss Edna Moore, director of public health nursing for Ontario; Miss Alice Nicolle, educational supervisor of public health nursing and two regional supervisors, Miss Edna Squires and Miss Muriel Lowry.

Recommendations

The sessions are all centred around administration and supervision of public nursing in an official capacity. Questions sent into the provincial headquarters have been classified and are presented for discussion which takes place in small groups. The decisions and recommendations of each group is presented in a general discussion. At the end of the day each supervisor makes out a report of the day's proceedings and makes recommendations for improvements in procedure.

A similar conference for the western part of the province was held in Brantford last week.

These conference are sponsored by the Ontario Department of Health, Division of Public Health Nursing, and made possible by the National health grants program.

Stock Prices Mixed On Toronto Exchange

TORONTO, Dec. 5 (CP) — Irregular mid-session support today held early afternoon stock market prices mixed and trendless.

Industrials made little headway. Prices pushed upward within the first hour, but eased as the session progressed.

Penny golds and base metals attracted speculative interest.

Base metal leaders strengthened. Falconbridge, Hudson Bay, International Nickel and Waite Amulet posted fractional advances while Consolidated Smelters climbed $2.75. Anacon Lead, Steep Rock and United Asbestos climbed strongly.

Western oils traded irregularly. Alberta Pacific, Devon-Leduc, Federated Petroleum, Mid-Continent, and Vulcan strengthened while Calgary and Edmonton, General Petroleum A and Security Free weakened.

Senior golds posted four gains against one loss. Secondary issues made little headway.

Dollar Down

MONTREAL, Dec. 5 — (CP) — The United States dollar today opened at 3⅝ per cent premium to the Canadian dollar, down ⅛ from Tuesday's close .That is, it took $1.03⅝ Canadian to buy $1 American.

The pound sterling was $2.09⅛, down ⅜ from Tuesday.

Mrs. David Drain

Funeral service for the late Mrs. David Drain, 87, of Norwood, who died on Saturday following a prolonged illness, was held Monday at her residence.

The Rev. H. K. Wright of Norwood United Church officiated and the pallbearers, six nephews, were Oscar Reid, Stanley Darling, Clarence, Ivan, Percy and Basil Drain. Flowerbearers, her six grandsons, were Percy and Ernest Ivey, David and Eric Drain and Vaughn and Roderick Tucker. Burial was at St. Mark's Cemetery, Warsaw.

"Grrr," growls Alley Oop. "Not a single bearskin left that will fit Foozy." You'll be in the same fix for bearskins and other gifts if you don't shop soon.

All Parties Back Decision To Start Seaway

OTTAWA, Dec. 5 (CP).—Canada's decision to launch the St. Lawrence seaway project alone has the backing of all parties in the Commons.

But opposition support for the huge undertaking was qualified generally by demands that the expanded navigation-power facilities be used in the development of Canadian natural resources.

This view was emphasized by the main spokesmen for all three of the opposition parties after Transport Minister Chevrier had touched off a major seaway debate Tuesday by moving a resolution for setting up a "seaway authority" that would build and operate the $300,000,000 navigation phase of the project.

The Minister's move, still under debate when the Commons adjourned Tuesday night, was the first legislative step towards implementing the government's decision to go ahead with the seaway without Washington's financial help.

The new "authority" would have power to build and operate a deep-draft navigation channel between Montreal and Lake Erie on its own, or to work with a United States agency if the US Congress decided to get in on a joint scheme before Canada has launched it.

Will Go Ahead

The Transport Minister told the House that, while Canada would prefer a joint development, she is ready and able to do the job alone. He called the project important for Canada's economy and urgent for North American defence.

George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, agreed Tuesday the seaway was a necessary undertaking, but was critical of the government for what he termed delay in getting it started and for not pressing hard enough to get the US in on a joint plan.

He took issue, too, with a suggestion by the Minister that one of the big benefits would be in developing Quebec - Labrador iron ore resources by sending ore upriver to steel mills, the largest in the United States.

Mr. Drew contended the Canadian raw materials should be processed in Canada, and he urged too that the seaway be accompanied by the development of natural resources in other sections of the country such as the Maritimes, the northwest and the Pacific coast.

M. J. Coldwell, CCF leader, agreed these natural resources should be developed along with the river. He said, too, it would be regrettable if iron ore going up the seaway were used to expand the steel industries of the US instead of Canadian industry.

For the Social Credit party, John Blackmore, (Lethbridge) said it would support the seaway. But he hoped other provinces besides Ontario and Quebec would benefit. He questioned whether it would work out well for the Maritimes.

The one Maritimes member who spoke in the first day's debate—Clarie Gillis (CCF-Cape-Breton South)—said many in his home province of Nova Scotia are unalterably opposed to the seaway. He was convinced that the seaway would wipe out any chance of expanding the steel industry on the Atlantic seaboard.

One of Canada's three primary steel plants is in Sydney, the chief community in Mr. Gillis' riding.

Search Abandoned For Missing Battleship

LONDON Dec. 5 (CP). — A month-long search of the Atlantic for the old Brazilian battleship Sao Paulo, which vanished Nov. 4 with eight men—two of them Canadians—aboard — has been abandoned, it was learned today.

The Canadians were R. Ellis of Newfoundland and C. Nuffeau of Montreal. The other six seamen were Britons.

The Sao Paulo broke loose from two British tugs towing her in a 75-mile gale northeast of the Azores. She was destined for a scrap yard in Britain.

The British Iron and Steel Corporation, which bought the ship for scrap said today a search of British, American and Portuguese planes over a wide area of the sea had yielded no results.

Budget Surplus Called Anti-Inflationary

HALIFAX, Dec. 5 — (CP) — C. Sydney Frost, general manager of the Bank of Nova Scotia, today described the federal government's budget surplus as an anti-inflationary force.

Addressing the bank's annual meeting, he said the surplus, which in the first seven months of the fiscal year was around $600,000,000, has been an important factor in holding down the supply of money.

Despite lower bond prices, corporations and individuals had continued to sell government bonds, a process which adds to the money in circulation, but, he stated, "the continued retirement of debt which the unexpectedly large surplus made possible has absorbed a substantial part of these sales." He added:

"The unexpected size of the surplus reflects the fact that defence expenditures have taken longer to get into their stride than was anticipated, and reflects also the strength of the inflationary environment in which we have been living.

No Cut In Defence

"There has been no cut in defence plans and expenditures for this purpose will certainly turn out to be a passing phenomenon and those who advocate increasing non-defence outlays to use it up should also explain how we are to finance the higher defence outlays that are coming . . .

"The most potent influence tending to increase government expenditures is the pressure from the public and from organized groups for additional services. The persisting idea that anything from the government is clear gain is one of the main causes of the continual rising tendency in government expenditures for purposes other than defence.

"The only real solution is an increasing realization on the part of the individual citizen that he pays for the extra services or benefits either through taxation or inflation."

Vets Annoyed Money Limited

WINNIPEG, Dec. 5 —(CP)— Fourteen Manitoba soldiers arrived home Tuesday night on rotation leave from Korea. Other Korean veterans continued to their eastern homes.

Among them was Sgt. David McCuish of Winnipeg and Toronto, who was awarded the Distinguished Conduct Medal Tuesday for "inspiring leadership and courage."

Sgt. McCuish didn't discuss his award, but spoke of conditions in Korea.

"I think the Koreans don't care who wins the war now as long as it stops."

Many of the soldiers complained about the regulation which allowed them only $10 of their leave pay as travel money.

Said CQMS. Ken Gawthorn of Kitchener:

"It's a poor show. I've been married for 5½ years and I think I can look after my money.

"Why should they judge the whole battalion by a few boys?"

L. Cpl. Lorne Ross of Oakville said:

"Suppose you wanted to stop over on the way to see relatives—you coudn't do that on $10."

Some soldiers, however, defended the idea.

Sgt. Nick Oshanski of Transcona, Man., said that "some guys didn't like it but it was for their own good."

MAIN ST. TOPICS

REMAND PAQUETTE

Joseph E. Paquette, 21, Crescent St., indicted on two charges of false pretences at the general sessions of the peace, was today remanded to the June sessions on bail of $5,000. A grand jury brought in a "true bill" on both counts against him Tuesday morning. The remand was granted after a lengthy consultation today between Crown Attorney John Bradshaw, KC, and Defence Counsel James Dunn, with Judge S. L. Smoke in attendance. The delay is to allow a civil action to proceed so the evidence obtained in it will be available at the criminal trial next June.

TWO MINOR ACCIDENTS

Despite bad driving conditions Tuesday afternoon and evening, only two minor car accidents were reported in the city. Driving south on Water St., near Charlotte Tuesday evening, Bruce Hillier, 269 Charlotte St., slowed down to let a car ahead into a parking spot. As he began picking up speed, he was bumped from behind by a car driven by Joseph W. Bradshaw, of South Monaghan. A hit-run car damaged the front end of a parked car at Aylmer and King Streets at 6.20 pm. The car was owned by L. A. Clement, 530 Douglas Ave.

CAPT. JOHN. J. SWIFT, of Glen Falls, NY (Right), and Capt. Dave Henderson of Shawnee, Okla., are two of the four-man crew of a US Air Force plane that was reported down in Communist Hungary. The four fliers are being held captive.

Lakefield's Election Centres Around Waterworks Project

LAKEFIELD, Dec. 5 (ENS) — The possibility of a ding-dong battle for the reeveship of Lakefield has roused the village's interest in civic affairs.

It is expected the candidates—Reeve W. C. Grant and Elwood Northey—will fight over the same ground covered in the waterworks dispute of earlier this year.

Reeve Grant declared himself Monday night at the nomination meeting when he said that Lakefield is far behind other communities. He urged the installation of waterworks and the improvement of sanitation in the village.

Mr. Northey offered no platform at the nomination meeting, merely expressing his intention to stand for election.

Only Two Qualify

Another nomination meeting will have to be held, village clerk Harry Hill said, as only two nominees for council have qualified, and there are four seats vacant As well, only two have qualified for the public school board, and one seat remains vacant.

Those who have qualified are: for reeve, W. C. Grant, E. H. Northey; for council, Kenneth Morris, J. Lester Fraser; for the school board, Ralph Millage, Ralph Jackman; for hydro commissioner, Don Hendren. The two for council, two for school board and hydro commissioner all recieved acclamations.

Kenneth Morris and J. Lester Fraser are both members of the 1951 council.

Mr. Morris said he was not against waterworks, but he was determined to see that the costs of a waterworks system for the village did not exceed what the village can afford.

Mr. Fraser said he had always been in favor of sewage disposal and waterworks, He said that the committee appointed to investigate the cost did not receive any definite price from a contractor, but found out the average operating cost would be $5 monthly to each householder.

Dr. Hugh Gastle, MOH, who could not stand for either council or school board, said "the time may come when we may have to have it (sewage disposal and waterworks) regardless of the cost."

Former councillor Arthur Kingdon said he would like to see debentures issued to cover the cost of resurfacing the village streets. It was only throwing good money after bad to repair them.

Retiring school board members Jessie M. Doubt, Stanley Richardson and Charles S. Hunter, each gave brief resumes of the work done by the board over the past two years.

UN Command

In that manner, the broadcast said, the Communists would achieve their political end of having foreign troops withdrawn before a peace is signed.

Not Interested In Peace

Attacking other phases of the Communist plan for supervising the truce, the broadcast said:

"The Communists have indicated that they still are more interested in building airstrips for the war than in rebuilding the country for peace."

The radio described the Red proposal for supervision only at "ports of entry" as a move to bypass any real inspection.

UN Command negotiators spent half of Wednesday's session trying to find out what the Communists mean by "ports of entry."

The Reds insist the supervision against a military build-up must be by neutrals.

Identifying their idea of neutrals Wednesday for the first time in truce talks, Red negotiators mentioned Communist Poland and Czechoslovakia. They also agreed, under UN questioning, that non-Communist Switzerland, Denmark and Sweden are neutrals and acceptable. This was reported in a UN command communique.

Levie said the Communists insisted they have already adequately defined the term. But when Allied sub-committeemen asked, "Is this what you mean?" Red negotiators said the matter could be discussed later.

It went the same way with other items, Levie reported.

The Reds showed no willingness to create a second sub-committee to work simultaneously on provisions for exchange of prisoners, as the Allies had suggested.

3 Chidren Hurt By Cars In 2 Accidents

Three small children received slight injuries when struck by cars on city streets Tuesday.

On his way home from school at noon, eight-year-old Carmen Asta, 222 Dalhousie St., was knocked down by a car driven by Gordon B. Snape of 56 Robinson St.

Snape stated he was driving south on Reid St., when the boy ran from the west curb of Reid St., into the path of the car and was knocked down.

Both of the lad's knees were bruised and Constable Andrew Dalton reported his clothes were ruined by the muddy condition of the street. He was examined at his home by Dr. C. F. Cahill.

At 3:20 in the afternoon, Carol Spinks, seven and Donna Lustic, six, both of 190 Charlotte St., were knocked down and injured slightly by a light truck driven by Orville Sage, RR 10, Peterborough.

Given First Aid

Carol Spinks was taken into a nearby book store on George St., near Hunter where the accident occured and given first aid treatment for a gash on her forehead, a cut lip and shock. The other girl was taken to a clothing store next door and later both were taken home.

The driver of the car, Orville Sage, said he was going south on George St., when the little girls ran into the street from the west curb in front of the oncoming truck.

Police have not yet decided whether or not charges will be laid in connection with both accidents.

Overheated Pipes Start $600 Fire

Stove pipes that became overheated from a roaring wood fire started a blaze late Tuesday afternoon that caused damage of more than $600 to the home of Homer Lundy, 549 Sherbrooke St.

Before they were extinguished the flames shot up into the bathroom in the second storey and continued up into the attic. To cope with them firemen had to chop a hole in the roof near the chimney.

The fire broke out in the partition between the kitchen, where the stove is located—and the dining room; then it headed upward.

Told By Neighbor

Mrs. Lundy was working in the house at the time and did not know anything was wrong until a neighbor, John Fredenburg, rushed in to tell her that her house was afire. Mr. Fredenburg was standing on his lawn next door when he noticed smoke oozing through the roof near the chimney.

Mrs. Lundy's main concern was for the safety of three children in the house: her daughters, Marilyn 12, and Nancy 8, and Norman Good, the nine-months-old son of Mrs. Florence Good, a boarder who was working at the time.

All three children were taken to a neighbor's home.

Most of the damage was in the kitchen and the bathroom. The rooms will have to be renovated and the roof will have to be repaired. Smoke and water damage was light.

Firemen used a booster line to kill the flames.

Durham Badlands' Christmas Tree Story

A truck goes out into the man-made bush to collect the trees.

Trucks piled high with Scotch pine trees is a familiar sight on Orono's main street at this time of the year.

Workers load up the trucks which take the pines into the U.S. for Christmas sale.

Christmas Trees Harvested From Young Forests Grown In Former Wasteland

By NICK NICKELS

ORONO, Dec. 5—Durham county's bisecting strip of badlands is not such a damning feature, after all.

Through man's ingenuity, hard work and far-sightedness the five-mile Pine Ridge is now producing dollars in tobacco and dollars from reforestation thinnings.

Thinnings to Durhamites are Christmas trees to the rest of us. At the present time it is big business.

This big business started about seven years ago.

Listen to its development from two of Santa's right-hand helpers, John and Bill Armstrong, veteran merchants of this neat village of 900 people.

As early as mid-summer the Armstrong brothers are pestered at their general store on the village's single business street. They are pestered by Americans—who are not asking for the location of a dozen of the county's choice trout streams—but for future shipments of Christmas trees, in lots of 1,000, more often 10,000 and in carload lots.

Complaints

Drawled a buyer from Savanah, Ga., last summer,

"Ah've a complaint to make, Suh. Y'all must stop puttin' yore tags on trees this year. Do you think I want every buyer in Dixie knowing where Ah get my choice Scotch pines?"

This true story indicates the present demand of the large American consumer market for Durham's Christmas trees. They demand them now because it is the only type of evergreen that does not shed its needles or turn yellow while standing from two to three weeks in modern superheated homes.

Before their keeping qualities were proven American customers looked on them with suspicion because the market had been flooded for years with spruce and balsam from New England and Upper Michigan. Now they demand the Durham product in such quantities that the Armstrong brothers, and several other smaller operators, cannot begin to fill export orders.

In 1946 the Christmas tree kings secured 100,000 Scotch pine seedlings from the Department of Lands and Forests Nursery at Orono. They planted them, by hand, in a 100-acre abandoned farm. And each year since they have acquired more waste land and more seedlings until their present holdings total 800 acres —500 of them are planted—and half a million Scotch pine under cultivation. Others planted 100-acre blocks at the same time.

Reforestation

These people are not in the Christmas tree business as a sole crop object. Their interest is in reforestation. Forty years from now, they say, their grandchildren will harvest lumber and in 60 years their descendants will take off still larger trees. The Christmas tree sizes, six-footers, that are being taken out now to make room for mature growth, are thinnings.

By this week, as the cutting season ends, the Armstrongs will have shipped 45,000 trees. Of these 16 carloads were loaded at the Pontypool siding for a dealer in Cincinnati and the balance are shipped out of the young forests by tractor trailers to New York state, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Indiana and south of the Mason-Dixon line.

After passing through as many as six jobber outlets before reaching the American corner-lot buyer, these trees sell from $8. to $10. And people are clamoring to pay that amount for them.

Sells In District

Elgin Budd of Simcoe, former transport company owner now turned dairy farmer, harvests from 200 acres. His distribution method differs from the Armstrongs in that he ships all his thinnings to his home for stock piling. He then goes to Detroit and, by keeping his finger of the jobber market, controls the truckload flow from his home to various outlets in the automobile city.

Whenever one lingers in the villages of Orono or Pontypool he hears conversation about the Christmas tree harvest, on street corners, in coffee and barber shops. Burly men stand in the clearings, leaning on pitchforks, as large transports roar away with top-heavy loads while empty trucks wait their turns to be loaded.

Plantation thinnings, Christmas trees—are big business in Durham county. A cool green million will be shipped from there to the United States this season. This does not mean that a cool green million dollars of profit will be made from them, however.

Bring High Prices

There is the original purchase of waste land that has skyrocketed to high prices from the demand of land-hungry tobacco farmers. There is the cost of hand planting, harvesting, loading and trucking when the first crop is taken off at the end of five year. Disease, fire or drought may wipe out the venture at any time.

So far, the business has prospered beyond all expectations.

The Christmas tree kings of the Durham badlands district, the Armstrong brothers, of Orono, also run a general store.

Floyd and Elgin Budd, Simcoe, son and father, also own a 200 acre stretch in the district.—(Photos by Nick Nickels).

The thinnings harvesters of Durham might say a prayer at Christmas time for the English monk, St. Boniface, who started the symbolism of Christmas trees in the first place, more than 1,200 years ago.

Blowing A Gasket On Freshmen

We cannot get as excited as some other Canadian papers about the political vacuum in which many McGill University freshmen move. University students are probably no more ignorant than other young men and women of their age. When a pack of new arrivals at McGill University was quizzed about Canadian political matters, a quarter of them did not know that Mr. St. Laurent was Prime Minister, more did not know the date of Confederation, most had never heard of the Statute of Westminster and one thought Mr. L. B. Pearson was the leader of the Conservative Party. This ignorance does not shock, disgruntle or alarm us. Youth can be blissful, and ignorance can be bliss.

* * *

Politics and history are academic matter to Canadians of university age, not the stuff of their daily lives and gossip, as in France. Ignorance in the young is relative to the use they can make of information. French students voluble on the boulevard about Voltaire and Pleven, are probably quite ignorant about volts and plastics. The McGill freshmen who transformed a Pearson into a Drew may be able to soup up a Model-T. In Canada the arcana of politics have few delights compared with the arena of football—and far less reality to students.

* * *

Few university matriculants may ever have seen or heard Mr. St. Laurent, but they may all recognize a gasket. When a politician blows his top it means little to a young person who has just passed out of high school; but when his car blows a gasket, he knows it even without hearing, and moreover, knows how to get the car running smoothly again. It is a situation affecting a thing he uses which he can recognize and control. Why therefore gas about politics? If the country is not running right, what could he—a minor without a vote—do about it, even if he wanted to do anything of no direct tangible use to himself? But he would not want to do anything. He gets that attitude from his parents, who do not bother to vote (judging from recent municipal elections) and whose dinner table conversation is as intellectually stimulating as a cabbage talking to a sprout.

* * *

Freshmen are fresh the world over, but their ignorance is on varied planes, their information conditioned by the society in which they live and their adolescent egocentricity. Manual dexterity and mechanical knowledge are as highly regarded in Canada as mental agility and political fever in France. One of the functions of the universities is to supplement the knowledge with which students enter them, and condition their attitudes. A special function of Canadian universities is to put a platform over the mental bogs of the homes and to let the students find out that the practical is not always the most important.

* * *

What we are highly concerned about is not the equipment with which a student enters a university, but what he is and how he is furnished when he leaves. If he hasn't heard of the Statute of Westminster by then we hope at least that he knows of the statue of Eros.

Eight Villages Undismayed

Canada is going ahead with its one-sided plans to develop the St. Lawrence seaway and power-producer. The plans are one-sided because the United States has consistently balked at taking the other side. But the actual development must be two-sided. Canada is prepared to take on the entire burden of developing the seaway—doing it on its own side of the international boundary—but in the matter of hydro development the United States must agree, through the International Joint Commission, to the St. Lawrence waters being dammed and used to turn turbines. Half the water belongs to the United States.

In this power realm the Dominion formally agreed on Monday to assign the Province of Ontario power rights. The Canadian way is thus cleared for the Ontario Hydro-Electric Power Commission to undertake the work. A similar authority must be given to some American body, or at least American permission secured for the power development. The State of New York is prepared to go hand in hand with the Province of Ontario. But Washington must give New York State its share of the right, as Ottawa has given Ontario its authority.

When the St. Lawrence seaway and power development of the river from a point four miles east of Prescott to Lake St. Francis, a mile and a half east of Cornwall is completed, eight communities will be flooded out of existence, and a third of the town of Morrisburg (population [1951] 1,826). The chief village to go entirely under will be Iroquois (population [1951] 1,081). But the people of these places are not dismayed: they have been expecting to go under for the last thirty years.

At first, being so destined for transience, they hardly dared to plant perennial borders. But the years wore on and so did the quadrennial alarms. They ceased to have any reality to the inhabitants of Morrisburg, Iroquois, East Williamsburg, Aultsville, Farran Point, Dickson Landing, Wales, Moulinette and Mille Roches. A generation grew up on land that was supposed to have been flooded a quarter of a century ago; young maples became hardy oldsters; perennial borders in the back yards had to be renewed. The people of the villages which will disappear when the St. Lawrence seaway is built ceased to believe in or bother about it. Now, perhaps, for the first time in a decade, their credulity is again stretched. But not until the Iroquoisie actually get a notice to evacuate their homes and see a new village rising on the higher land behind, will they believe that the flood is coming. Then they will know that the Ark of the Hydro is at last floated.

177 In Grade 12

The Peterborough Collegiate and Vocational School has exactly the same number of pupils in Grade 12 that all Protestant High Schols in the entire Province of Quebec have in their Grades 12; 177. This small number of Grade 12 pupils in Quebec's schools was mentioned in an address last week by Dr. W. P. Percival, director of Protestant Education in the Province of Quebec. Enrolments in Grade 12 had dropped from 223 last year to 177 this.

Why is there this astonishing lack of Quebec students in Grade 12? (There are no comparable figures for the Roman Catholic schools, because their system of secondary education is different.) One reason is that Grade 12 in Quebec is the equivalent of Grade 13 in Ontario; it is the top form in the school, the senior matriculation class. Even so; Peterborough's one Collegiate has between 70 and 85 pupils in its Senior Matriculation forms—Grade 13.

Another reason for the low enrolment in Quebec's top school forms is that pupils can and do go from Grade 11 to the universities in the Province of Quebec, with junior matriculation. Very few enter McGill, for instance, with full senior matriculation. Those who do sometimes qualify, from their Grade 12 classes, for admission to the second university year. In Ontario it is almost impossible to get into a university without senior matriculation, that is, without having taken Grade 13 studies in the schools.

Educational authorities in Quebec are not perturbed that so few students become senior matriculants at the schools. They are not dismayed that a mere handful take Grade 12, nor that Grade 12 classes have been discontinued this year at Ormstown, Shawville, and the senior High Schools of Montreal West and Westmount.

The difference between the Ontario and Quebec situations indicates the divergence in state school practices across Canada, and not necessarily a variation in standards. It does seem that Quebec pupils get through their school work faster, since they pass into the universities or out into the world from Grade 11—after eleven years of schooling. In Ontario they are required to pass through Grade 13 before they can be admitted to university—thirteen years of schooling. Perhaps the school grades in Ontario are adjusted to the poor student's pace; in Quebec to the good student's.

What, No Barmaids?

We are suspicious of the request of 120,000 male tavern employees that no women be employed to serve as barmaids in New York State. They say, with pious faces, that such employment would bring back Prohibition, and they imply that the barmaids would engage in immoral practices or would encourage immorality in bars.

We do not believe this. Britain has plenty of barmaids, and we have yet to read of one of them appearing in court; we have seen them in action and they are cheerful, competent, decent girls and women. Their presence is a restraint upon foul language and dirty stories in bars, and in dealing with all but the most ugly drinkers they are fully as competent as men; for some reason a man will take refusal of a drink more readily from a woman than from a man.

Barmaids—the real article—do not encourage immorality. Women of bad character, employed to serve at the bar, do so. It is as simple as that, and the New York tavern workers should be told so. We think they are merely trying to keep women out of jobs which they want as exclusive male property.

A new type of muff has an electric hand-warmer inside. For girls, we presume, who cannot engage the attention of an attractive young hand-warmer who provides his own electricity.

BCG In India: Fight Against TB

By RAWLE KNOX (In New Delhi)

OVER the brown fields that were touched with sprouting green came the din of bright music through a loudspeaker; occasionally it ceased; for a brassy voice to exclaim "The tuberculosis man is here. Have you had your vaccination? Hurry and send along your children".

Dr. Sanyal, who was directing our jeep towards the sounds, remarked, "I'm afraid the Government doesn't give us comprehensive passenger insurance. I mention it because the car fell into the canal yesterday. It often happens".

* * *

DR. SANYAL, an effervescent Bengali who has spent all his life in Uttar Pradesh is in charge of B.C.G. vaccination in six districts (which means about 200,000 persons) of this province. With us in the jeep were Dr. Mahler of Copenhagen, who is W.H.O. (World Health Organization) director of B.C.G.* vaccination in India, and his compatriot, Dr. Kvisselgard, who is about to pioneer this work in Burma. Two years ago Sanyal was one of Kvisselgard's first trainees in Uttar Pradesh.

Cars falling into canals would seem to be only a minor annoyance to these Scandinavian doctors of the International Tuberculosis Campaign, who brought B.C.G. vaccination to India, the first country outside Europe where it was tried on a large scale. Working in the unaccustomed, torrid filth of Indian villages they have earned praise everywhere. "I would like to express", said Rajkumari Amrit Kaur, India's Health Minister, and the only woman in the central Cabinet, "the thanks of the Government of India as well as my personal gratitude to these International organizations who have come forward to help us in this venture and especially our Scandinavian friends...."

* * *

NOW that the International Tuberculosis Campaign has been merged in the World Health Organization, many of these Scandinavians are still at the same job; such as Dr. Nelson, the famous Swedish expert on mass-radiography, who is in charge of the B.C.G. campaign in South East Asia, and the Western Pacific. W.H.O.'s weightier organization has brought about a concentration of forces. From March this year a mass B.C.G. vaccination programme began in three of India's major provinces—Uttar Pradesh, Madhya Bharat and East Punjab; so far over four million have been tested for tuberculosis and one and a half millions (who proved "negative"; that is, had never met the harmless, protective infection which comes to so many children) have been vaccinated.

* * *

TUBERCULOSIS kills half a million Indians every year; another two and a half million sufferers from the disease mingle with and infect the remainder of the population. To undertake any widespread cure for these people in a country underequipped with hospitals, the hospitals themselves understaffed, is obviously impossible. Rajkumari Amrit Kaur quickly accepted the I.T.C. thesis that only mass B.C.G. vaccination of India's youth (there are about 170 million Indians under the age of twenty) held out any prospect of eradicating the disease.

The village of Makanpur, which we happened to be visiting, only five miles off the Grand Trunk Road from Delhi to Calcutta, was in advance of its kind. The Sarpanch (leader of village council) who greeted us with neat khaki shirt hanging outside grey flannel trousers, was a practising dentist, and welcomed the B.C.G. experiment with enthusiasm.

"Without the help of village leaders", said Dr. Mahler, "this job is hopeless. They are the only people who can really make it a success. We have to make them our friends. In South America I worked with a Spaniard who wouldn't shake hands with anyone who wasn't of pure European descent. He was useless".

* * *

THE noise was indescribable. The infants yelled at the sight of the hypodermic syringe, the mothers wept in sympathy and the village dogs, imagining tragedy afoot, added their howls to the din. Through it all the assistant doctor worked on, and by the time we left the village, before eleven in the morning, 1,000 out of a recorded population of 1,500 had been tested.

This was above average—because the Sarpanch was above average. Usually only about half the village turns up for testing (the whole thing is voluntary) and only half of those come three days later when the reading is made to see whether the reaction is positive or negative. The curiosity has worn off; the jab with the syringe seems neither to have killed nor cured, and most villagers have lost interest in the affair. All the music and propaganda which the B.C.G. teams have been able to put through their loudspeakers has not conquered this quick apathy.

* * *

BRIBES have been tried, of course. In Mayhya Bharat, Dr. N. L. Bordia, who directs the scheme there, got a local business man to give toffees to children who turned up for vaccination. Result: the children rushed off after their injection, scrubbed off the gentian violet mark with which they are "branded" for checking purposes, and returned for more.

More effective would be for the B.C.G. doctors to bring with them elementary medicines to cure simple complaints. Makahpur, close as it is to the main road and big towns, ordinarily never sees a doctor. Soon after I arrived a man approached, thinking I must be a doctor, and asked me to do something about the stomach pains of a tiny girl he was carrying. During his short visit Dr. Sanyal must have signed a dozen prescriptions which will be taken to chemists in Ghaziabad six or seven miles away. But W.H.O. funds do not run to frills like castor oil.

* * *

B.C.G. cannot get into India's villages without a fight. In the first place Provincial Governments are responsible for their own health services, and they have little money to spend. Dr. Kvisselgard came across a clinic near Agra that had to cater for 30,000 people on an annual budget of £45.

What funds there are must in many Provinces be shared between development of "Western" medicine and the Ayurvedic (natural cure) in which the country has great belief and whose doctors, unlike most of the "Western" educated ones, are not too finicky to go out into the villages.

* * *

AYURVEDIC practitioners are great enemies of any inoculation or vaccination, and their influence tells. In Madhya Pradesh I.T.C. doctors came across a strong belief that the B.C.G. vaccination was some form of sex sterilization; the villagers shut their doors on them. In Madras only the other day a local paper announced in heavy headlines: "15,000 children used as guinea-pigs".

Nevertheless, W.H.O. plans to carry the campaign in the near future into three more Indian states, Travancore-Cochin, West Bengal and Pepsu. "Whenever I get too depressed about the progress we are making", says Dr. Mahler, "I remember that with a minimum of staff (one doctor and six assistants to deal with 200,000 persons a year) and only 180 vehicles for all India, we have shown that we can get to every village in the country". This is no mean feat. Certainly no medical mission has ever achieved it before.

"SAM, YOU MADE THE PANTS TOO LONG"

Treating The Troubled Mind

(BOSTON HERALD)

THERE are so many ways, good and bad, to treat a troubled mind. There is the alcoholic route to oblivion. There is the firm trust in a divine purpose in which each individual finds his own cosmic role. And there is a long range of psychologists, psychiatrists, vocation counsellors, cultists and those rare understanding persons who instinctively know the answers by some kind of loving sympathy.

The very variety of remedies indicates that the dark recesses of the mind are still unexplored, and there is no universal clarifier. Even what a healthy mind is evades definition. One well-known psychiatrist ventured that a well-adjusted person was one who felt in harmony with himself and was not in conflict with his environment. When asked whether this ruled out a worker in the anti-Communist underground in China, the psychiatrist dropped the latter part of the definition. The rest of the definition went out because in many mental cases perfect harmony or euphoria is a symptom of a pathological state.

When a science is so near an art there are bound to be practitioners who abandon the science altogether. And the problem of quacks in psychology and psychiatry is serious and unsolved.

Several magazines have taken up the matter of charlatans in this field, and the professional leaders themselves are alert to the dangers. The American Psychological Association is completing a code of ethics designed to protect the public.

Mistaken advice can be fatal. A shy, melancholy student advised by a quack to enroll in a public-speaking course and tell his troubles to the class did so but broke down and committed suicide. A problem child, sent to a boarding school for strict discipline, developed a perhaps incurable neurosis, for his real need was the security of being loved.

Standards set up by the professional associations could very well be adopted by the various states as requirements for licensing. Four states now require licensing or certification of psychologists.

Yet there still remains the difficulty that the spiritual and the psychic sectors of the individual are so rarely treated together. In fact, we do not know where one begins and the other leaves off, though each is treated by men trained in but one specialty. We need clinics for the treatment of the whole patient.

Death Of An Author

(Toronto Star)

To the Editor of The Star.

Sir: I went to Port Credit to pay my last respects to Paddy Slater, author of "The Yellow Briar," the finest book of its kind ever written in Canada. The thin, white-haired old man, lying in a cheap coffin, looked as if he might have died of hunger. A news report of his death said he died penniless. I saw no luminaries of the cultural and literary circles of Toronto, no publishers, no editors, no critics, columnists, or radio commenators. No writers or representatives of writing organizations. He died penniless. His book was a best seller. It ran through at least seven editions, sold thousands upon thousands of copies. It made a lot of money for someone. It is still selling. But the author died penniless. Now people will rush to buy his book; they will say what a fine man he was, and how much pleasure he gave them. His story is more eloquent than the Massey Report.

MICHAEL FORAN.

Don't Set A Good Example

"I remember being plaintively asked on more than one occasion—'Even if you like smoking, shouldn't you give it up to set a good example?'—'No, I shouldn't', said I, 'and what you ask me to do is detestable.' It is this business of setting a good example that makes prigs of us and has made religion stink in the nostrils of the ordinary, honest, decent people. Why? Because it is dishonest. It means that we are to do something we don't think important in order to make other people think it is important. Is that dishonest or not? I say it is."

—Dr. Maude Royden, famed women preacher, speaking in the BBC's "Woman's Hour" about the evils of setting a good example.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

And God said, Let the earth bring forth grass, the herb yielding seed, and the fruit tree yielding fruit after his kind, whose seed is in itself, upon the earth: and is was so. And the earth brought forth grass, and herb yielding seed after his kind, and the tree yielding fruit, whose seed was in itself, after his kind: and God saw that it was good. (Gen. 1: 11, 12.)

* * *

The earth is the Lord's, and the fulness thereof; the world, and they that dwell therein. For he hath founded it upon the seas, and established it upon the floods. (Ps. 24: 1, 2.)

* * *

Thus saith the Lord the King of Israel, and his redeemer the Lord of hosts; I am the first, and I am the last; and beside me there is no God....

Sing, O ye heavens; for the Lord hath done it; shout, ye lower parts of the earth: break forth into singing, ye mountains, O forest, and every tree therein: for the Lord hath redeemed Jacob, and glorified himself in Israel.

Thus saith the Lord, thy redeemer, and he that formed thee from the womb, I am the Lord that maketh all things; that stretcheth forth the heavens alone; that spreadeth abroad the earth by myself. (Isa. 44: 6, 23, 24.)

(Victoria Colonist)

Watch yourselves, men! While you simply enjoy tripping the light fantastic, your partner may be figuring out what kind of a husband you would make.

Mrs. Peggy Lippe, Birmingham, Alabama, dance instructor, makes a poor man's psychiatrist's couch out of the dance floor. Men are easier to classify, she explains, because they lead and their personalities predominate.

Most noticeable of all male types is Mr. Milquetoast. He has no lead, fumbles for his partner's hand, and his elbows are glued to his ribs.

Analysis? He is probably awfully nice, but needs to wear a few loud ties to shake off an inferiority complex. Tip to the girls: he's your man if you want to be boss—but you'll have to do the proposing.

At the other extreme is the "middle-aged extrovert". He has a gay swing to his left foot and keeps time with his elbow. He is the life-of-the-party type who "could dance all night".

He makes a good husband, never suffers ulcers and is always first in the party to grab the check.

Somewhere in between the two extremes is the "bear hugger", who is possessive, jealous, thinks he is a wolf and surrounds his partner with octopus-style arms.

Then there's the poker-backed, very neat gentleman who rests his partner comfortably on his bay window or holds her at arm's length while he does a slow fox trot regardless of what the orchestra is playing—he'll continue to say "dear" and open doors long after the honeymoon is over.

HER ONLY HOPE

As often happens when a woman is approaching forty, Miss Robinson was "about twenty-eight," and not without hope. Even her favourite fortune-teller couldn't see a suitor in the offing, but was anxious to keep a customer.

"Ha!" she said, her eyes on the crystal. "I see a tall man. He's going to propose to you."

"Dark?" fluttered the excited client.

"Yes," said the fortune-teller. "Dark. It will have to be."

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

The league-leading Belleville Hawks are here tonight to play Eagles a senior "B" puck tilt at 8.30 in Civic Arena. Eagles can go into a first-place tie by winning this one, whereas the Doran dudes can lengthen their lead with a victory. Petes are at Kingston. Hawks and Eagles will be flying with fury this e'en, both being fast, scrappy squads. Ned Vitarelli's pack pulled out a nice win o'er them on the large Quinte surface not long ago, and think they can do likewise here. Both sides have a few players sidelined with injuries. Anyway, don't pass it up if you want to see two classy clubs in hot hockey action.

* * * * * *

Our congrats to Ross Powless of the OLA Petes' Timbermen—Mann Cup champions—on being named the most valuable Indian athlete in the province this year. He gets the Tom Longboat Memorial Trophy, an annual award put up by friends of the late Indian long distance star runner of several decades ago. Longboat, who died a couple of years ago, hailed from Brantford and made track history in his day. Big Ross Powless proved a popular and capable lacrosser with the senior "A" Petes this past season as they swept through all Ontario competition and then won the Canadian crown. He will be with the club again next summer.

Dave Gets Craig Trophy

Also, our congratulations to 15-year-old Dave Coit on winning the Fred Craig Memorial Trophy as being the most valuable PMBA player the past season. Alex Kay, minor baseball commissioner here, recently judged this fine young catcher of Welch's bantams as tops, and he will receive this trophy—after it has been engraved—put up annually by The Examiner in memory of its former sports editor. Welch's represented the city in provincial bantam playdowns the past diamond semester, losing out in close contests to Belleville. Coit is not only a timely hitter and steady receiver, but he studies batters well and is a good handler of pitchers.

* * * * * *

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Coit of 1193 Kenneth Ave., and played junior football at PCVS this past autumn. Dave started playing ball shortly after he learned to walk, and he was with the southend bantams before going to Welch's Ashburnham entry. Ray Clifford managed that club. Former winners of the Fred Craig Trophy since 1945 were: Jack Sisson, Al Menzies, Ken Pammett, Don Pagett, Sam Murphy and Gary Kearns. A permanent trophy is given each year for a keepsake, and Dave Coit will now join with those other winners in having tangible proof of his value to his ball team.

Sammy Slapped Around

Rather a rough evening at the Brock last p.m. for Referee Sammy Gotter, a midget among the pro matmen. He was tossed around, stepped on, his warnings ignored, and even blamed by Layton once for tapping him (Athol) on the back in token of victory—when 'twas a trick by the Whip all the time. Watson and Layton went to a draw in the main go without a fall, and a hefty crowd saw some steaming action. In and out of the ring, punches, slashes, bloodshed and a free-for-all after the bell. Layton, his trainer, and his man Jeeves (or is it Gerald?) all were floored by the bloodied but unbowed Whipper at the conclusion. Oh, yes, the ref, to. Some fans chucked chairs at his nibs and a large time was had by all. Bobo Brazil beat Steve Stanlee in the semi-windup, as George Scott took Lou Pitoschia in the prelim.

* * * * * *

PMHA executive held a meeting and suspended Goalie Bob Delahaye of the juvenile Marines one game for abuse of a referee. The sentence was light because Bob appeared and apologized—it being his first offence. However, the officials ruled that henceforth there'll be an automatic suspension of at least one game given any player reported abusing referees. The suspension may be considerably longer, depending on the circumstances. Just a warning, boys. Minor puck games this Thursday e'en at Civic, commencing at six: SPS bantams vs. Otonabee Wolves, Martin-Hewitt midgets vs. Snowbirds, IOOF juves vs. Marines, Lions bantams vs. Trojans, St. Peter's vs. Trojan midgets, and Lakefield vs. the juvenile Trojans.

Marines Defeat Trenton By 54-45 In Cage Tussle

Peterborough Marines, coached by Gord McIntyre, jumped into first place in the Eastern Ontario intermediate "B" basketball league Tuesday night, finishing stronger than the Trenton Flyers for a 54-45 victory.

The win, on the large drill hall floor before 400 fans, was Marines' second in four nights, defeating Belleville Glen Roys at the YMCA Saturday. The two wins give Marines four points.

For Trenton it was the first defeat in two starts. They opened the league last Thursday night in Picton with a one-point win.

Marines, shorthanded and using only six players, were held in check by the Flyers, enabling the Trenton cagers to cling closely throughout the game until the last quarter. Then when Marines should have been dog-tired, they broke with bursts of speed for the win.

An Early Edge

Trenton took a slim edge in the first quarter when the tallest man on the floor, O'Hara, helped build up a 10-8 score. But Marines plucked away during the second quarter to tie the score 23-all at half-time.

They continued to become stronger both on the offensive and defensive in the third quarter and were up then by four points. Fast breaks, generally by Ted Payne, gave Marines the victory in the final session.

Ted Payne is maintaining his 1950 pace of 18 points a game, in fact his average for the two games this year is more than last year. In Trenton Tuesday night the Flyers had trouble holding him, especially in the last half, and he racked up 25 points, six better than his Saturday night performance.

Most of his points were scored in the second half, which also featured Doug MacPherson and Harold Grafstein. The two guards reverted to last year's style, throwing passes up the floor to Payne who broke quickly.

Neil Thompson gradually is reaching his 1950 performance pace, placing second in the Marines' scoring with 14 points. Most of his baskets came on long field shots.

Trenton's O'Hara played havoc with Marines' defence for the first half as the tall player was grabbing all rebounds and loose balls around the basket. He accounted for 14 of Trenton's 45.

In the second half the Marines checked him away from the basket where he was less effective.

Lineups:

Marines (54) — Dadson 5, Thompson 14, Trimm 5, MacPherson 1, Payne 25, Grafstein 4.

Trenton (45)—Oliver, Hudson 5, Harris, Blythe 5, Dube 9, Holmes, Watson 4, Hodel 7, O'Hara 14, Hanne 1, Campbell.

Hunter Caught

ANNAPOLIS ROYAL, NS (CP) —Convicted of unlawfully hunting game with aid of a light, a Bridgetown man paid a fine of $125 plus costs in court here. Alternative to the fine was 125 days in jail.

Swedish Experts

STOCKHOLM—(CP)—Swedish paratroops made their first appearance here recently when a detachment of officers and non-commissioned officers, who will serve as instructors, demonstrated landings and fighting tactics at the Skarpnack air field.

MOST VALUABLE — Ross Powless of the Petes' Timbermen, Mann Cup lacrosse champions, has been awarded the Tom Longboat Memorial Trophy as being the most valuable Indian athlete in the province in 1951. The trophy was put up a year ago in memory of the famous long distance runner from Brantford and is for annual competition among Indians.

Swartman Back With Latest Boxing Hopeful

By WILF CHISLETT.

WINNIPEG, Dec. 5 (CP). — After 22 years and 100,000 miles in the fight game, coach Mel Swartman returned to Ottawa today with his latest boxing hopeful.

Looking more like a padre than a 49-year-old army corporal, Swartman watched with twinkling eyes Tuesday night as his middleweight protege—LAC Pinky Mitchell of Ottawa — pounded his way to a split decision over Billy Pinkus of Winnipeg.

Like any good boxing coach, Swartman muttered later "we wuz robbed. The fight never came that close."

Mitchell now is the top stalwart in Ottawa's Beaver Boxing Club, started by Swartman five years ago. By day Swartman works for the army. At night he coaches and trains the 30-odd members of the club.

Swartman first started training kids 22 years ago in Ottawa. Since then he estimates that he's travelled at least 100,000 miles in the interest of boxing, part of it on a round-the-world trip last year when he took six Canadian fighters to the British Empire games at Auckland, NZ.

Long List

Swartman can recall a long list of boxers he's trained who made their mark in the boxing world.

One—Harvey Lacelle of Ottawa who was killed overseas while serving with the RCAF—whipped Sugar Ray Robinson in 1940, just before the present middleweight champion of the world turned professional.

Another Swartman product, Larry Zavelitch of Ottawa, lost a split decision to Robinson in the same year. Four years later after he defeated Jake Lamotta for the second time, Robinson said the toughest fight of his career was the one with Zavelitch.

"After I climbed out of that ring alive I knew nobody could hurt me," Robinson said.

Swartman has coached and trained amateur boxers only except for a brief period in 1936 when he managed Eddie Carrol, an Ottawa pro. Jack Dempsey, former world's heavyweight champion, once described Carrol as one of the best welterweights in the business.

Tonight we begin the first round in the Neill Trophy competition. This is an annual event, and an outstanding one. Play will continue each Wednesday night through the season until the final game has been played. There are two competitions, the primary and the consolation, and in each event there will be a trophy and also first and second prizes. As both events are being conducted on the elimination system, there is no time limit, no ringing of the bell. Each game must declare a winner. The committee is asking players to co-operate and be on time.

Braves Ready To Trade Warren Spahn

By JOE REICHLER.

COLUMBUS, O., Dec. 5 (AP). —Fully aware they must revamp their porous infield if they are to figure in flag contention, the Boston Braves are resigned to taking the wraps off southpaw Warren Spahn, their No. 1 "untouchable" to plug their woefully weak shortstop position.

The Braves were prepared to deal Spahn, one of the best pitchers in baseball, to the Philadelphia Phillies for shortstop Granny Hammer and righthander Emory (Bubba) Church.

Spahn, 31, won 22 and lost 14 last season. Church, five years younger than Spahn, had a 14-11 record in his first full campaign. Promoted to a regular berth in June of 1950, the former Toronto righthander wound up with an 8-6 record. Hamner, regarded as one of the best shortstops in the National League, skidded a bit following a spectacular 1950 season, batting .255 in 150 games. A brilliant glove man, Hamner is only 24.

The only hitch in the deal is that the Phils are demanding a replacement at shortstop and want the veteran Sibby Sisti, who can fill in at any infield position.

Other Negotiations

The Braves also have been negotiating with the Chicago Cubs for third baseman Ransom Jackson, one of the better young infielders in the circuit. The Cubs have asked for first baseman Earl Torgeson in return.

Brooklyn Dodgers, thwarted in their efforts to work out a big three-way deal involving Cincinnati, when the Phillies refused to substitute outfielder Del Ennis for catcher Andy Seminick in a deal for firstbaseman Gil Hodges were on the verge of consummating a trade with the Reds.

President Gabe Paul of the Reds said he had offered righthander Rocky Bridges, outfielder Cal Abrams and catcher Steve Lembo. Al three were utility men with the Dodgers last year.

St. Louis Cardinals have reopened negotiations with the Giants for Eddie Stanky. President Fred Saigh, who wants the scrappy second baseman to manage the Redbirds, has offered righthanded pitcher George (Red) Munger, veteran catcher Del Rice and centrefielder Chuck Diering for Stanky, infielder Jack Lohrke and catcher Sal Yvars. Durocher still says no.

The Chicago White Sox purchased Negro third baseman Hector Rodriguez from the Montreal Royals of the International League. Montreal is a farm of the Brooklyn Dodgers.

Rodriguez, 31, batted .301 last season, led the loop in stolen bases and was voted the circuit's outstanding rookie. The White Sox turned over first baseman Rocky Nelson in addition to undisclosed cash.

Cobourg Edges Orono Juniors

COBOURG, Dec. 5 — Cobourg Juveniles, ousted from the playoffs last season in a surprise upset, got right back on the winning trail here Monday night, whipping Orono Juniors, 12-11.

It was a battle for scoring honors between Rolly Campbell of Cobourg, who got four goals and two assists, while Shelter of the Orono squad rolled up six and had one assist.

Neil Cane and Sleep Dawe were right behind Campbell in the Cobourg scoring.

Caffin, who had a tryout with the Cobourg Intermediate "A" team, was close to Shelter with two goals and four assists in the Orono book.

Terry Evans, Port Hope gift to the Cobourg club, suffered a broken bone in his wrist during the encounter.

L. Vincent Leading

L. Vincent rolled high single of 325 and top three of 897 this week in the Girls' City Bowling League, as Cardinals led teams with a triple of 3347 and one game of 1154. J. Alexander's 585 got the blind score of 586. Apart from Black's 3-0 blank of Dickson's, competition was keen with 2-1 wins posted to Cardinals over Collis', Marines over Aces, Curtin's against Sevenaires, and Arcos over Bassel's.

With the first section of league play over, J. Castle has high season's single to date of 367, L. Vincent leads in high crosses with 879, and L. McClelland has top average of 228. Marines heads the circuit with 26 points, followed by Black's with 21, Arcos and Cardinals 16 each, Curtin's and Collis 15 apiece, Bassel's 12, Aces 11, Dickson's 10 and Sevenaires eight.

Remember When—

By The Canadian Press.

Ivan Parke, champion American jockey of the year rode five straight winners and a second at Jefferson Park 28 years ago today. Parke finished the season with 173 wins on 718 mounts. He was champion jockey again the following year, in 1924, with 205 wins in 844 races. All records were broken last year by J. Culmone, 363 wins in 1,570 races.

MOST VALUABLE PLAYERS—Highlighting the football banquet by the Catholic High School Athletic Advisory Club for the St. Peter's High School championship teams Tuesday night was the presentation of the most valuable player awards. Carl Brioux (left), star backfielder for the SPS seniors, was awarded the T. J. Cavanagh trophy as the most valuable player on the senior team, and Frank Gooley (right), lineman for the St. Peter's juniors, the Key Club Trophy as the most valuable on the junior team.—(Examiner Staff Photo)

St. Peter's Rugby Teams Honored At Club Banquet

St. Peter's High senior and junior football championship teams were banqueted Tuesday by the Catholic High School Athletic Advisory Club at the Kawartha Golf and Country Club. It brought to a close the most successful season in the history of St. Peter's High football.

This year, St. Peter's senior Saints won the Ontario Catholic Conference senior "B" championship from St. Michael's College of Toronto, while the juniors, one of the strongest this year in Ontario, won the first COSSA junior "B" championship from Welland.

Highlight of the banquet was the presentation of the most valuable player awards to Carl Brioux and Frank Gooley. The Rev. F. K. Malane, Bowmanville, presented the T. J. Cavanaugh Trophy to Brioux, star backfielder for the seniors, while John Harrington presented the Key Club Trophy to Gooley, a hard-driving inside for the juniors.

Commends Coach

H. S. Hull, president of the advisory club, congratulated the teams on winning the championships and commended Coach John Lynch on "his fine efforts as coach." He outlined the advisory club work, explaining how they have made St. Peter's High the best-equipped teams in Ontario.

Mr. Hull stressed that the Fathers' Club is "100 per cent behind the boys, win, lose or draw."

Frank Gnup, former Hamilton Wildcat coach and this past season coach of the Orfuns, as guest speaker, stressed team play, recalling experiences in professional and amateur football in the United States which were the outcome of team play.

He told the players that "we must learn the game and take all advice from our elders concerning football (and for that matter anything) while we are young. Youth is the time for learning."

Bishop Gerald Berry, of Peterborough, emphasized Mr. Gnup's remarks, stressing, "you only get out of a thing what you put into it," applying it particularly to life.

Jackets Later

The presentation of jackets to the two teams was postponed until a later time but the crests were presented to the teams by William Roche and Dr. J. R. Epping, and to the cheerleaders by Bernard Jones.

Coach John Lynch was presented with two gifts by the advisory club and by the teams. The players' gift was a brief case with his initials engraved on it.

Port Hope Hits Back

Protests Cobourg Using Players Rowe, McMillan

COBOURG, Dec. 5—The battle of word and committee room sessions involving Cobourg Comets and Port Hope Redmen of the Lakeshore Intermediate "A" Hockey League took a new turn Tuesday when Port Hope officials formally notified the Cobourg team they were protesting Comets' use of players H. Skip Rowe and Fred McMillan. Both took part in the game between Port Hope and Cobourg Friday which Port Hope won 10-1.

Rowe, a goalkeeper, has been the regular Cobourg custodian since the start of the 1950 season. McMillan, a regular rearguard, is a Cobourg boy and an all-round athlete who has played baseball and softball as well as hockey on local teams for the past five years.

Port Hope contends that McMillan, a daily commuter to Port Hope where he works, is ineligible on the ground that he must play where he works.

Rowe, according to the Port Hope protest, did not leave Bowmanville for a Cobourg residence until Nov. 16.

Exchange Tactics

Cobourg executives, including president S. Williams, declare the situation is farcical and put out that the extra committee room work grew from Cobourg's original protest on players Flisch and Medhurst, who took part in a Cobourg-Port Hope game without certificates. The game was subsequently trown out and Medhurst barred from the Port Hope team. Flesch was granted permission to play with the Ports.

Meanwhile the Lakeshore League is beginning to feel the repercussions of the bitter dispute between the two towns and unless some action is taken soon to straighten out the situation, observers believe at least one of the clubs may withdraw. This would almost certainly cause the league to fold, as but two teams would be left.

No comment on the situation has been forthcoming from Bowmanville or Lakefield, who are expected to enter the winter schedule after New Year's Day, playing four-point games.

Athol and Whip Go To Draw In Main Pro Mat Bout And Mix It After the Gong

Whipper Bill Watson and Lord Athol Layton fought it out to an hour time limit draw in the main bout of the pro mat card last night at the Brock Arena before a big crowd. They mixed savagely after the gong with Whipper's blood streaming down his face from a cut over the eye—throwing Layton down and piling Layton's trainer and Gerald, his manager, on top of his opponent. He threw in Referee Sammy Gotter for good measure. The fans threw a lot of boos at the Layton entourage, a number threw some fists at them on leaving, and several tossed chairs into the ring, though the police moved in fast to keep order.

Started Clean

What started out like a good, clean bout between the 260-pound Layton and Whip, at 238, soon roughed up and stayed that way for the full hour. The tide of battle ebbed and flowed throughout with it being a case of wrestler versus slasher. The experienced champion had the best of it in straight exchanges and in mat grappling — besides being faster and more aggressive. Layton, however, resorted regularly to his vicious slash, when he wasn't seeking protection outside the ropes. He slashed and rasped Watson repeatedly on the throat and face, finally opening a cut over his right eye and keeping after it.

They were in and out of the ring a dozen times, with Layton's beefy trainer mixed up at times outside the hemp. While some fair wrestling was shown, and plenty of excitement dished up, a lot of rough stuff went, slugging, kneeing, slashing, use of turnbuckles, etc. The Whipper tried to play it clean, but lost his temper at times at the illegal stuff used by his taller opponent, and he used fists and elbows hard to even matters up. He gave away a lot of reach and weight but held his own easily, apart from the illicit slashing judo tactics of big Athol from England. He said later he'd like a rematch but Gotter couldn't handle such a bout properly.

Poor Sammy

The little referee worked like a trooper and he must have counted up to nine at least 99 times, but they were too big and rough for him. He was tossed about like a cork in a current, and was hoarse from issuing warnings. Gotter admitted afterward that he could have disqualified Layton early for refusing to heed his warnings and lay off the slashing, but he didn't want to gyp the crowd with a short bout. He said he could have disqualified Whipper, too, for pushing the referee and for keeping Layton from returning to the ring. The crowd was all for the champ, and against Layton and the ref.

Bobo Brazil, 247-pound popular Negro, won the semi-final in 17 minutes over blond Steve Stanlee, rough 238-pounder. He caught him off the ropes with a flying head scissors and that did it. Bobo was plenty peeved just previously after taking a rough going-over by the strutting Stanlee, who got away with plenty. Steve earlier complained that the slippery elusiveness of Brazil was due to vaseline rubbed on his head and shoulders, but it was just honest sweat gleaming on his ebony hide. Bobo favored a punishing wristlock, while Stanlee used anything he could pull.

A Hot Prelim

George Scott, 227, got the ref's decision over Lou Pitoschia, weighing 255, in the prelim in a hot session. They were in and out of the ring, hanging on the ropes and all over the place in speedy action, with Lou definitely not going by the book. The crowd hated him all through. Scott tossed Gotter down once and went to work on Lou with his fists in retaliation for a pummelling, the other later using tape on his wrist to advantage as the fans yelled blue murder. It was sizzling near the close, and they fought in and out of the ring again after the gong.

WINS CRAIG TROPHY—Dave Coit of Welch's bantams in the PMBA has been chosen by minor ball commissioner Alex Kay as the most valuable city player for 1951. This smart young catcher—who also plays junior PCVS football—will receive the Fred Craig Memorial Trophy, offered annually by The Examiner.

Bruins Dump Chicago 3-1 As Smythe Offers To Play Overtime With Boston Only

By JACK SULLIVAN, Canadian Press Staff Writer

That fellow Conn Smythe is a big-hearted guy: The latest word from his Toronto headquarters in the National Hockey League is that he is willing to have his Maple Leafs battle it out with Boston Bruins if those two clubs happen to end 60 minutes of hockey in a tie—and if the NHL says it is okay. Of course, the NHL isn't going to allow such goings-on between the Leafs and Bruins, particularly since New York Rangers and Chicago Black Hawks have been screaming for a year or so that the NHL scrap its ban on sudden-death overtime. Why Smythe, a leading advocate against overtime, picked on the Bruins wasn't made clear.

"It would be sort of a local option overtime, applicable to Boston only," Smythe was quoted as saying. He added: "Of course, the league first would have to okay it."

New York and Chicago would have a lot to say about this "local option" before such a thing came to pass. Their fans have been hollering for a return to sudden-death overtime for a couple of years and they would certainly put the Fritz on this "favoritism."

The Bruins didn't need overtime play Tuesday night as they whipped Chicago 3-1 at Boston before a slim 5,391 crowd. The Bruins scored a goal a period on tallies by Dave Creighton, Johnny Peirson and Bill Ezinicki.

Pete Babando opened the scoring for the Hawks at the 13 minute mark of the opening period. The victory moved Boston into third place, one point ahead of Montreal Canadiens and six behind the second-place Leafs.

Tonight the Leafs and first-place Detroit Red Wings, who have been making with the words since they met in a somewhat violent collision Sunday night, will have the chance of showing fans they are just kidding—or that the fist and stick swinging was the real thing.

Chance at Lead

The two meet at Toronto in a game that will give the Stanley Cup champions their big chance of sharing the lead with Tommy Ivan's crew since the 1951-52 season started. The Wings haven't dropped a game away from home—they've won seven and tied three on foreign ice this year.

Another game tonight matches Boston against the Rangers at New York. The Blueshirts have won only six games of 22 to date.

But the thing that intrigues hockey fans is Smythe's offer to Boston concerning overtime. The Bruins have had eight ties, two more than Detroit and Toronto (who are agreed the sudden-death extra play doesn't mean a thing) and three more than the Rangers who set an NHL record of 21 tie games last season.

Cleveland Barons Slam Buffalo 5-2

By The Associated Press.

Eddie Busch, rookie forward of the Cleveland Barons, made a short but impressive American Hockey League debut Tuesday night. Busch joined the Barons from the amateur Quebec Aces and started the Barons off to a 5-2 victory over the Buffalo Bisons in the league's only game.

The recruit slammed home a goal and assisted in another in the first period but he was forced out of action in the final minute of the frame with a bad ankle.

Ike Hildebrand, Fern Perreault, Joe Lund and Steve Wochy tallied the other Cleveland goals. Ab De Marco and Stan Long counted for Buffalo.

Hockey's Big Seven

By The Canadian Press.

Montreal's Elmer Lach continues to hold first place in the National Hockey League's individual scoring race.

With 24 points, including six goals and a pace-setting 18 assists, Lach is one point ahead of linemate Maurice (Rocket) Richard who is top goal-getter with 15.

Committee Backs Bill Giving CBC 6 Million Dollars In Five Years

OTTAWA, Dec. 5—(CP)—The radio committee of the Commons Tuesday approved a bill authorizing an annual parliamentary grant of $6,250,000 to the publicly-owned CBC for five years.

The bill, already approved in principle by the Commons, will be returned to the Chamber for detailed study and third reading. It then will go to the Senate.

The Rev. E. G. Hansell (SC, Macleod) said he wished to object to the CBC receiving additional funds from parliament. A corporation that was in the commercial field should be able to operate under its own steam."

He did not think the taxpayer should be asked to provide another $30,000,000 to the CBC in addition to the annual licence fee on radios.

Donald Fleming (PC, Toronto Eglinton) said he believed that parliament should keep the closest contact with the CBC. Grants to the corporation should be voted annually instead of every five years. In addition, the licence fee should be abolished.

Before making his statement, Mr. Fleming asked A. D. Dunton, CBC chairman, if the CBC board of governors had any views on whether grants or licence fees were preferable. Mr. Dunton replied that the board felt it was up to parliament to decide how the CBC should be financed.

To Improve Facilities

Whatever form that financing took, the board felt strongly that the independence of the CBC should be safeguarded and that there should be no possibility of political interference.

Mr. Dunton gave the committee a broad outline of how some of the money will be spent. Part of it will go towards improvements in coverage and facilities.

Once the grants from parliament are approved, said Mr. Dunton, the CBC plans to drop local advertising in areas where there are private stations. It plans to reduce the number of commercial network programs.

The committee accepted one of three amendments offered. The amendment, sponsored by Maurice Boisvert (L, Nicolet-Yamaska), was to a section of the measure providing for an appeal to the exchequer court from decisions of the CBC board of governors.

The amendment provided that in cases where the CBC orders suspension of operations by a private station for breaches of regulations, the order will not become effective for a 10-day period. The delay would allow the station to launch an appeal and attempt to obtain a stay of the order.

LONG WAIT—Traffic comes to a halt on the San Francisco side of the Golden Gate Bridge, the world's longest single span, after winds, reaching up to 100 miles an hour, caused the bridge to sway. It was the first time in its 14-year history that the span was closed to traffic. The motorists had to wait 2 hours and 45 minutes before the lanes re-opened.

Bewdley Friends Fete Former Resident

BEWDLEY, Dec. 5 (ENS) — Mrs. Lenora Wilson of Toronto was guest of honor at a party for her at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Manley Saturday evening. Mrs. Wilson left this community some months ago, where she and her husband, the late Melville Wilson, spent their married life, to live in Toronto where her two married daughters reside.

Sixty of her former friends and neighbors were present and the evening was spent playing progressive euchre.

The Rev. C. H. Bouldon, rector of St. Annes, was among the guests and as he addressed a few suitable remarks to Mrs. Wilson, Larry and Neil Manley made the presentation of a mantle radio and a cameo brooch and earring set. Mrs. Wilson replied.

From a distance were: Mr. and Mrs. Bill Metreek, Toronto; Mr. and Mrs. Earl Wilson, Sandra and Raymond, Bensfort; Mrs. George Fallow, Oshawa; and Mr. and Mrs. Bouldon, Port Hope.

Mrs. Harold McCallister, Mrs. Nell Kennedy and Mrs. Manley aranged the party.

A party of the Whitehead Corners Group was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Goheen. Twelve tables of progressive euchre were played and the winners were Mrs. Harry Goss, Miss Helen Coates. Mrs. W. Kennedy and Mrs. W. Whitehead. Gents were Messrs. Gordon Scott, Keith Halstead, Larry Manley and Harold McCallister.

Senator Urges Amalgamation Of Two Railways

OTTAWA, Dec. 5 (CP) — Amalgamation of Canada's two railway systems, and unification of all transportation—land, water and air—were recommended in the Senate Tuesday.

Debate was on a bill for equalization of freight rates and otherwise amending the Railway Act to carry out recommendations of the Turgeon Commission on Transportation.

Senator G. H. Ross (L-Alberta) repeated his long-held view that the Canadian National and Canadian Pacific railways should be amalgamated.

If such amalgamation had taken place when it was urged 17 years ago, he said, there would be no railway problem today.

This view was opposed by Senator G. P. Campbell (L-Ontario) who said he did not believe there was undue duplication or waste in operations. He said there was a real competition between the two lines and such competition was desirable.

Other senators believed the legislation had much merit but pleaded for a careful study of this and other associated bills in committee.

It had been expected the bill would get second reading Tuesday and go before the committee on transportation and communications today.

Possible Delay

However a possible delay was foreseen when, late Tuesday afternoon, Senator Thomas Reid (L-British Columbia) adjourned the debate, to give him time to prepare a speech.

The Senate gave second reading without debate to two companion measures, one concerning preparation of the Canadian National Railways annual report and another amending the Maritime Freight Rates Act, both already passed in the Commons. They will go before the standing committee today.

The Senate also gave third and final reading to the bill providing pensions of $40 for all Canadians of $20 years residence when they reach the age of 70. This has already been approved in the Commons and requires only Royal assent to become law.

Canadian Soldiers Go Through Halifax

HALIFAX, Dec. 5 — (CP) — Canadian soldiers going overseas will pass through Halifax Dec. 8 and 14 in the first big troop movements through this old port since the end of the Second World War.

The men are members of the 27th Brigade, now building up near Hannover, Germany. About 1,800 men are involved.

(The Canadian Press reported Tuesday that 600 of the soldiers would sail from Saitn John, NB; the reference should have been that the men would pass through Saint John, en route to Halifax.)

PETERBOROUGH EXAMINER

VOL. CIII. No. 131 WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 5, 1951 PRICE FIVE CENTS

THIRTEEN TONS OF STEEL GIRDERS arrived by transport on Tuesday to the site of the new St. Peter's Elementary School now abuilding on Reid St. The new building will incorporate 11 classrooms, an auditorium and a gymnasium and it is expected to be ready for classes in September, 1952.—(Examiner Staff Photo)

Two Cents On Cards

Signs are up in the post office reminding the public that the unsealed Christmas card envelopes require a two-cent stamp. If the sender fails to comply with this new regulation which became effective last April, and by habit puts only a one-cent stamp on his envelope, the person receiving the letter will have to pay the extra cent plus a one-cent charge. That is contrary to the spirit of Christmas time greetings and good wishes. Postal authorities are stepping up their effort to impress on the public that, for the first time in 47 years, the price of sending Christmas and greeting cards has been increased.

Western Clock Workers Win 12-Cent Increase

Local 570, International Union of Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers (CIO-CCL) have reached an agreement with the Western Clock Co. that gives the production workers a wage increase of 12 cents an hour.

Some 550 production workers are in the bargaining unit.

At the same time management announced that 120 hourly-rated employees, not in the bargaining unit, will receive a corresponding salary increase.

The membership of Local 570 ratified the terms of the agreement at a special meeting in the Orange Hall, Tuesday night.

Retroactive

The wage increase is retroactive to Nov. 19, 1951. It brings the labor rate at Westclox up to $1.21 an hour.

The contract will run for a year. At the end of six months it may be re-opened to discuss wages only.

A major feature of the agreement is the escalator clause granting the employees a cent an hour for each 1.3 rise in cost of living index, computed by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics.

The agreement also liberalizes certain policies now in effect at the plant:

1. Eligibility for holiday pay on eight statutory holidays is reduced from one year to three months.
2. Double time in place of time and one-half for work on Sundays, except for employees whose regular work week includes Sunday.
3. Westclox to pay half the cost of the Hospital and Surgical Benefits Plan which is extended to include maternity benefits.

Other Provisions

Other provisions of the contract include a voluntary check-off; plant-wide seniority on layoffs and recalls, preferential seniority for union officers and plant stewards, and an additional day's vacation if one of the eight statutory holidays falls within the vacation period.

Local 570 was certified by the OLRB as the bargaining agent for the production workers on Sept. 28. Negotiations between the union and the company ended last week in tentative agreement.

On the union negotiating committee were K. L. Nisbett president; C. Batchelor, vice-pres.; and J. Benstead, B. Mathews and R. O'Connor. They were assisted by Joe Wirtz, IUE international representative.

Agreements Allow Hydro Cuts

R. L. Dobbin Says People Sign Contracts, Help Reduce Peaks

Utilities Commission saved the electricity consumers $120,000 last year by its efforts to contain or reduce the monthly peak of power.

Ross L. Dobbin, manager of the Utilities, explained to the Examiner today that the Commission performed its contract with consumers, permitting 10% reduction of power in any day.

Involved, in that circumstance and agreement have been the recent complaints from some of the customers that they were not getting sufficient supply of power to heat water.

"Of course, nobody reads Utilities contracts, or they would have known the terms, and the fact that we have the consent of the consumer to cut power in trying to control the monthly peak.

Buy Power

Possibly people may know that we buy power from the Hydro-Electric Commission on a wholesale basis, and retail it to the public, domestic, commercial and industrial consumers."

"The monthly charge by the Hydro against us for the power we buy is determined by the peak in that month," that is, in plain terms the highest point of purchase of power in any month.

In the electrical business or profession, the kilowatt is a common measure.

Utilities Commission buys kilowatts from the Hydro, and sells kilowatt-hours to the local customers.

So, the monthly peak is a matter of kilowatts; and the higher that peak, the more we have to pay the Hydro in the interim monthly charges."

That procedure is assumed, without asking Mr. Dobbin to verify it, and the explanation is probably correct.

"We are allowed by the contract with the customer to cut off power 10% in any day," he said. "I don't think we ever cut it that much. There were many days when it wasn't cut at all."

Watch Peak Power

If the peak is apparently set early in the month, by consumer demand, there is not much to be gained in thinking about kilowatts for the rest of that month. Otherwise, substation operators keep a vigilant eye on the power consumption, and if it is beginning to mount on the scale of wastage, which the public translates into dollars and cents, it is altogether likely that a row of water heaters would be cut off power.

The fact Mr. Dobbin was emphasizing was simply that the public had agreed to this policy, and that it was aimed at trying to keep down the electricity charges to the consumer, in other words put a reasonable check on the bimonthly bills at the Utilities office.

Somebody complained in a letter to the Examiner about the water-heater temperature at his house. In that case, it is suspected that the writer had increased the volume of water to be heated because more people were living in the house.

In the usual control of power consumption, Mr. Dobbin said the "cuts" are rarely made on Saturdays and Sunday and not often on Fridays. The industries and other heavy users of power are not in action at the weekends. So, the peaks are not likely to ascend on those days.

But when all three branches of consumption get together, domestic, commercial, industrial—that is the time the 10% power cut is likely to be applied—in the financial interest of the public.

E. J. Heard Appointed Passenger Agent

E. J. Heard arrived in Peterborough Monday to take over duties as the new city CPR passenger agent. He succeeds T. G. N. Jamieson.

Mr. Heard has been with the CPR continuously for 25 years. Born in Midland, Ont., he started with the CPR as a telegraph messenger in 1926. A year later he became a telegraph operator in Niagara Falls. He remained in that city a year before moving to Winnipeg in a similar capacity.

His next move was to Galt in 1929, where he continued working as telegraph operator for six months, when he received a promotion to operator clerk.

Moved Around

"I didn't pay my rent, so I had to move around quite a bit," the new passenger agent quipped.

However, he remained in Galt for 10 years and then moved to Kitchener where he was operator clerk for two years and then was promoted to chief clerk in the ticket office.

Mr. Heard comes to Peterborough from Kitchener. He has one daughter, who will be attending St. Peter's High School. His hobbies are fishing and hunting, "especially fishing."

Jack Hamer Exhibiting At Toronto Art Show

Jack Hamer, well-known Peterborough artist, has had his work accepted by the jury for the Royal Canadian Academy's 72nd annual exhibition which is now hanging at the Toronto Art Gallery. The exhibtion will be open until January 6 and includes not only paintings in all media but architectural photographs sculpture, drawings, etchings, and designs. L. G. Carroll, KC, of Montreal has purchased Mr. Hamer's oil "Quiet Bay, Eeels Lake". A water-color was also hung.

Oscar Schlienger, Lakefield, has also had one of his paintings accepted.

Jury Urges Spruced Up Court Room

Painting, Papering Suggested; Should Improve Accoustics

Adopting a hint dropped Monday by Judge S. L. Smoke, the grand jury at the general sessions of the peace have come up with a recommendation that the county court room be renovated.

Work would include painting and papering, cleaning of the dust-laden flags over the judge's bench, and cleaning or replacing the drapes on the courtroom windows. The jury also thought that the large well in the ceiling, used as a skylight, should be covered over so the acoustics could be improved.

The jury felt that the skylight was unnecessary as the coutroom lights are on all the time anyway.

No Answer

Judge Smoke said the county council were working on some methods of improving the acoustics, but they have been unable to find a satisfactory answer to the problem.

In his address to the grand jury the judge said that the court room had not been decorated during his tenure—that is, for at least 17 years.

He told them that the Peterborough county institutions had recently been inspected and a repetition at the general sessions was unnecessary. So the grand jury confined themselves to recommendations on the court room.

They also agreed with Judge Smoke that parental control and good home life would go a long way toward wiping out juvenile delinquency.

Members

Members of the grand jury were Hugh Stewart, North Monaghan township, foreman; Herbert Routley, North Monaghan Ronald J. Knox, Antrim St. Alexander Weddell, Park St. James S. Dickson, Otonabee township; William Drummond, Otonabee; Thomas Gordon, Harvey township; Roy Longhurst, Aylmer St.; Michael Murray, Park St. N. Walter McNaughton, Douro township; Charles G. Norton, Parkhill Rd.; Elmer Pearse, Armour Rd.; and Kenneth G. Pakenham, Norwood village.

5 New Directors Elected To C of C Board

Five new members were elected to the Chamber of Commerce board of directors for 1952 at the annual board election Tuesday night held at the Empress Hotel.

Five members were returned for a second term and five for a third term.

The new members elected to the board are: H. A. Baptie, James B. Clark, George Cheatle, W. B. Gordon, S. O. Shields. Returned for a second year were: R. B. Arnold, Ken Dalrymple, Charles Huffman, F. G. McGavin, Ernest J. Young.

Bert Austin, Gordon Dobbin, James Dutton, Jr., John Madden and G. E. McKay were elected for a third term.

The 1952 directors will take office at the first of the new year and at that time will elect a president.

Man Found Guilty Of Theft Of Ingots In Second Trial

A jury took just 45 minutes Tuesday afternoon to find 26-year-old Jack A. Cockerill, 384 Holloway Dr., guilty of the theft of metal ingots from the DeLaval Co. last Dec. 30. Cockerill pleaded not guilty. He will be sentenced by Judge S. L. Smoke later in the general sessions.

It was the second trial for the stockily-built transport driver. Last June a jury was unable to reach a verdict so a retrial was necessary.

Cockerill was stopped three times shortly after midnight on Dec. 31 by police. Each time he had a partial truckload of the metal ingots, similar to ones that were stolen from the DeLaval Co.

150 Missing

George Macdonald, plant superintendent, said that when the company took stock three days later about 3,000 pounds, or about 150 ingots, were missing. The ingots, not much larger than a housebrick, were a compound of lead, zinc, tin and copper. They weighed 20-22 pounds apiece and were valued at 30 cents a pound.

Altogether 121 ingots were recovered by city police — some from Cockerill's truck and others scattered along the right of way of the railway line that runs west of the plant.

Constable Eldon McDonald, one of the city police who investigated found footprints in the snow leading from the storage shed adjoining the foundry of the plant to a seven-foot high wire fence surrounding the plant grounds.

The snow was trampled at the point where the ingots were thrown over the fence. Other footprints were on the opposite side of the wire fence as well as toboggan tracks leading northeasterly toward Brioux Ave.

Dumped, Loaded

Fred Burns, 69 Maple St., said he saw two men pull a toboggan down the street and leave a pile of ingots in the snow in front of his home. Fifteen minutes later a truck came down the street; two men loaded the truck and it was then driven away.

(Maple St. is a deadend street about a third of a mile northwest of the DeLaval Co.)

OPP Constable Jack McKendry was suspicious of Cockerill when he found him at 12:30 am parked in a truck on Lansdowne St., just west of the DeLaval plant. Cockerill said he had a shipment of bronze ingots going from Smiths Falls to Toronto. He ran into motor trouble and had to rent a truck here in Peterborough from John C. Donnelly, Hunter St.

The bills of lading, covering all the loads, went with the last truck Cockerill assured Constable McKendry.

A hit and run accident diverted Constable McKendry from further investigation and he reported it to city police. However he noticed that Cockerill was very nervous.

"It was a cool night but beads of perspiration were on his forehead."

November, 1951 Colder, Snowier

November, 1951, was colder, snowier, and everything but wetter than November, 1950.

Average temperature was 29.2 degrees above, down 7.5 degrees from the 36.7 average of November last year. The coldest day (November 27—3 above) was 11 degrees colder than the chilliest day of last year's November (November 22—14 above).

Even the warmest day of last month was colder than the warmest day of its corresponding month in 1950. On November 1, 1950, the temperature was a warm 75 above; on November 14, 1951, it was 57 above.

Snow for last month totalled 12½ inches, a quarter-inch more than November in 1950. Rain was a mere .84 inches, compared to 2.66 inches for 1950's November. Total precipitation was 2.09 inches for last month, 3.885 for November, 1950.

WINS WINGS

Pte. Frank Cox, 26, a veteran of three years in the Navy in the Second World War and eight months in Korea with the Princess Pats has just received his wings as a paratrooper. His mother, Mrs. F. H. Cox, 297 Boswell Ave., received word of the presentation last week.

Scott Has Lead 6,789 Votes In Final Count

Official count of the votes in the November 22 election was completed Tuesday, and resulted only in a few minor changes. It increased Hon. Harold R. Scott's plurality by 38 votes.

Following are the unofficial totals after the official count: Scott (Progressive Conservative) 14,431; Burke (Liberal) 7,642; Grant (CCF) 2,584. Previous totals as reported by The Examiner were: Scott, 14,393; Burke, 7,644; Grant, 2,608.

On District Returning Officer Douglas J. Lawrie's master sheet, there were only three changes made, and all were in the rural polls. No changes were made in the city polls.

Of these three changes in the rural polls, only one—in Poll 87, Warsaw town hall—was wrong in the Examiner's poll-by-poll results. The figures originally given were: Burke 61, Grant 25, Scott 145; correct figures are: Burke 61, Grant 29, Scott 146.

The other two changes were in polls 102 and 84—the Orange Hall, Nassau, and the Union Hall, Mather's Corners.

Work done by the enumerators was accurate as in the city there were only 53 who had to be sworn onto the voters' lists at the polls, and in the county, only 17.

Changes in the Examiner's printed results are as follows, with the previously printed totals bracketed:

Poll		Burke	Grant	Scott
87	(Dummer) Warsaw town hall	61 (61)	29 (25)	146(145)

38.9% Of City Voters Turned Out Election Day

City Clerk Outram estimates at 38.9 per cent the number of voters who marked their ballots in the municipal elections Monday.

Although the total vote for Utilities Commissioner was 7,211, Mr. Outram said today that his approximation of the total number of citizens who went to the polls was 7,372. His estimate of 38.9 per cent is based on a similarly arrived at figure of 18,940 persons who were eligible to vote. It is somewhat lower than the percentage last year, and much less than in some years when the vote rose into the brackets of 50 to 60 per cent.

It is representatively significant that not one of the elected members of the Board of Education for 1952 would have made the grade in the voting for 1951.

Behind Last Candidate

Mrs. Paige Rowell's total of 4,561 at the head of this week's polling, did not equal Frank Jobbitt's 5,202 a year ago when he was fourth candidate elected, and with only four to be elected. There were five vacancies to be filled by the electors this week.

The Board of Education vote last year was: Dr. Ralph Honey 6,146; W. B. Gordon 5,789; Mrs. K. Bell 5,604; Frank Jobbitt 5,202.

The recent vote for the Board was: Mrs. Rowell 4,561; S. R. Adamson 4,397; G. W. Craw 3,904; C. H. Huffman 3,764; A. Pitchford 3,174.

Mr. L. J. Sparrow, fifth man last year, with 4,368 votes, received almost as many as Mr. Adamson in second place this year.

The same disparity of ballot representation is noticed in the aldermanic totals. Ald. Herbert Young was re-elected with 5,393 in the 1950 voting as compared with Ald. J. A. Dewart's first place 5,357 at the polls this week.

The totals for council this week were: Dewart 5,357; Miller 5,230; Black 4,222; Anglesey 4,039; Longhurst 3,363.

And a year ago: Harold Rehill 6,603; J. E. Gillespie 5,673; A. B. Burrows 5,580; Dr. Herbert Young 5,393, Norman Graham 4,182.

There were 1,246 more votes for Mr. Rehill than for Mr. Dewart; and 1,585 more for Dr. Honey than for Mrs. Rowell.

Two Reasons

Acclamation for Ald. Hugh Waddell as mayor for 1952, and the absence of money bylaws are regarded as factors in the decline of interest and action in the polling Monday.

Elected candidates like to know that they represent public choice and decision, in other words, the franchise of their fellow citizens. The larger the percentage of voters, the more savor is there to the voting day totals.

That is the general reaction of candidates for municipal office, and especially of those seeking re-election, according to the consensus of experience through the years. In either case, their responsibility is not altered, but they do wish to see larger representation of the citizens in the ballot boxes.

No Regular Employees Laid Off Faryon Says

"We are actually employing more men and women today than we did a year ago," R. R. Faryon, president of the Quaker Oats Company, said today in discussing reports of recent layoffs in the Empire's largest cereal mill.

Mr. Faryon said no regular employees had been laid off but in any industry which employs a number of seasonable or floating employees at times during the year there cannot help but be periods when there are layoffs of this type of employee.

These layoffs are known as seasonable swings in the employment market.

NOTICE.

The City of Peterborough is the owner of Property lying on the West Side of Rogers Street and extending westerly to the C.N.R. tracks, and between Tivey and Hazlitt Streets, and has an opportunity to Sell this Property as a Site for a Light Industrial Plant, namely a Modern Food Plant costing a half a million dollars. The Plant would have a set-back from the street and be of excellent structural design.

The City Planning Board has received a request from the City Council to zone this particular Site for light industrial use to permit this building.

Any representations against this project, either written or verbal, should be made on or before FRIDAY, DECEMBER 7TH, to the Board through the Secretary, and will be considered at the next Meeting of the City Planning Board.

E. A. OUTRAM,
Secretary, City Planning Board,

Mine Detector Helps Find Trading Post

SASKATOON — (CP)— The rolling Saskatchewan Prairies have given up a secret they had kept for more than 100 years—the location of one of the most famous early trading posts in Western Canada.

They gave up the location of the original Fort Qu'Appelle to a device invented to save lives in wartime—a mine detector.

A survey crew of the Saskatchewan department of natural resources turned the mine detector to its new peacetime use. It was the first time in Saskatchewan, and perhaps the first in Canada, that the device had been used in archaeological work.

A handful of old square nails, part of a saw, a copper bucket handle, a horse bit, a broken knife—those were part of the evidence turned up by the mine detector.

The men with the mine detector did not actually locate the site of the old fort but they did prove that the area involved was the correct site.

Took 10 Years

The actual site was discovered by Thomas Petty, principal of the Indian Head Public School. After searching the Qu'Appelle Valley for 10 years, he located what he believed was the old fort site on the farm of Charles Tanner, four miles south and 1½ miles west of the present community of Qu'Appelle.

Pieces of clay chinking had been found on the location and Indian stone hammers and parts of old muskets had been picked up in the general area. But no excavation had been attempted and only one relic—a gold sovereign—had been picked up on the fort site until the mine detector was tried.

Now, since the mine detector has worked so effectively on the Fort Qu'Appelle site, plans are being made to use the device on other fort sites and battlegrounds in an effort to fill in the gaps in Saskatchewan's history.

Ancient Windows Village Probiem

MERTON, Norfolk, England—(CP)—Stained glass found in an oak chest in the loft of a farm building on Lord Walsingham's estate is setting a problem for the district.

The glass, composing three canopies—the shaped upper portions of ecclesiastical windows—and five other pieces, was found by workmen who came to demolish the building. The vicar of Dereham, the Rev. J. Noel Boston, says that the pitting and coloring of the glass proves it to be of medieval origin.

No. 1 mystery—no one can figure out where it belonged. It was first throught to have come from the parish church when Lord Walsingham's grandfather installed a memorial window. But the measurements are wrong and so far no church in the district has been found with windows of the right size.

Don't Like Publicity

OTTAWA, Dec. 5 (CP)—Ontario, Quebec and British Columbia delegates to the sixth Dominion-Provincial tourist conference in session here Tuesday questioned the kind of publicity the Canadian tourist industry has been getting. Hon. L. H. Eyres, British Columbia Trade Minister, called recent editorial criticisms of Canadian restaurant fare "unfair" and said Canada's restaurants are as good as those anywhere in the world.

Hush-Hush Meeting

PARIS, Dec. 5 — (Reuters) — American scientists on a "hush-hush" visit to Europe had a 2½-hour talk Tuesday with Gen. Eisenhower, Atlantic Pact commander. Officials at Allied headquarters said it was assumed they had discussed the latest atom bomb experiments in the United States. But they said they had no official knowledge of what was said.

Win Housing Vote

LONDON, Dec. 5 (Reuters)—Winston Churchill's government Tuesday night won House of Commons approval for its housing policy by a majority of 22 votes. The Commons by 296 votes to 274 rejected a full-scale Labor attack on the government's proposal to allow more houses to be built by private builders in public housing.

Dice-Game Robbery

HAMILTON, Dec. 5—(CP)—Reports of a $4,000 dice-game robbery circulated here Tuesday but police said they knew nothing about it. The report said six bandits armed with sub-machine guns and pistols Monday held up a dice game and escaped with $4,000. There were said to be 22 players in the game.

60,000 Acres Surveyed In Northern Saskatchewan

SASKATOON (CP)—Surveyors this year struggled through knee-deep mud, splashed through freezing muskeg and battled black flies and mosquitoes to push back Saskatchewan's northern agricultural frontier.

In 6½ months in the bush, they added more than 60,000 acres to Saskatchewan's surveyed agricultural land. It was the first operation of its scale in the province in more than 15 years.

Part of the 60,000 acres surveyed is located in an area running south from a point about seven miles south of the town of Hudson Bay. The land will be turned over to the provincial department of agriculture to be leased to prospective settlers.

Alex Stewart, in charge of the survey, said the main difficulties encountered where heavy rains which turned roads, bush trails and the bushland itself into an almost impassable quagmire.

The surveyors often were soaked to the waist working through swamps and crossing streams which ordinarily would have been nearly dry in the early fall.

Pistol In Car Man Fined $15

Charged with having possession of a semi-automatic pistol without a permit, Thomas Sawchuk, 476 Albert St., Oshawa, pleaded guilty in police court Tuesday.

He was fined $15 and $2.50 costs by Magistrate W. R. Philp.

Sawchuk was charged with the offence on November 11 when OPP Constable John Cawood found a 9 millimeter semi-automatic pistol in the glove compartment of Sawchuk's car.

Constable Cawood searched Sawchuk's car when he found it parked on Highway 7 and also found 31 rounds of ammunition for the gun.

Sawchuk admited at the time he did not have a permit for the gun and a later check with the registrar of firearms in Toronto revealed it was not registered.

It is illegal to have an unregistered revolver in a place other than the owner's residence or place of business. Sawchuk claimed he was not aware of the law.

Magistrate Philp told Sawchuk the maximum penalty for conviction on the charge is $500 or six months in prison or both fine and imprisonment.

Stops Movement

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 5—(AP)—A committee of the American Medical Association reported today it had stopped the movement toward socialized medicine in the United States after a three-year campaign in which it spent $4,500,000 to publicize its side of the issue. As a result, the committee reported, the organization will reduce its publicity fund this year.

To Discuss Station

OTTAWA, Dec. 5 (CP)—Transport Minister Chevrier said in the Commons Tuesday he will inquire into the question of setting up a weather forecasting station at Brockville or some nearby municipality. George Fulford (L, Leeds) had asked if the government would give consideration to this.

Steady, Canada!

Are we thinking that, at long last, there is an end to it all? Our soldiers know better.

Troe, the dust of defeat rises over the fallen pillars of Hitler's hideous tempia.

But our men have a vast mopping-up operation ahead of them. And, after that, they have still another capital to topple in the dust, still another aggressor to drag out of his hole.

Millions of tons of materials must continue to flow across both seas until Victory is final, complete!

We must continue to produce these materials.

And we must continue to gladly buy the Victory Bonds that will pay for them.

Time for rejoicing, yes. But let it be in our hearts only. It is also a time to remain steadfast.

There are still many tomorrows ahead of our boys across the seas.

Let us all be men who think of tomorrow by investing to the utmost in Victory Bonds today.

Discover Body Under Sink, Husband Held

TORONTO, Dec. 5 — (CP) — Joseph Nicinski, 52, was charged with murder Tuesday shortly after the battered body of his wife, Losja (Lottie), 47, was found under a sink in the couple's northwest Toronto home.

Joey, a 10-year-old son, found his mother when he returned from school at noon. His screams attracted a 15-year-old friend who phoned police.

Nicinski was picked up an hour later in a mid-town restaurant.

Mrs. Nicinski's body, the head crushed by blows believed to have been inflicted with a length of pipe wrapped in paper, was found in the kitchen. Her left arm was hooked over the sink trap. Police said she apparently crawled there trying to escape a rain of blows.

Neighbors said they had heard Mrs. Nicinski and a man arguing loudly during the morning.

They said that three nights ago Mrs. Nicinski ran next door crying for protection. She said an attempt would be made to murder her.

Neighbors calmed her and a few minutes later she went home.

Mrs. Josephine Kaczmarek, sister of the dead woman, said Mrs. Nicinski came to Canada from Poland in 1921. The couple had been married 26 years and had moved into their $12,500 home four months ago.

End Bad Cough Quickly, at One-Fourth The Cost

Thousands of housewives have found that, by mixing their own cough syrup, they get a dependable, effective medicine. They use a recipe at only one-fourth the usual cost of cough medicine, but which really breaks up distressing coughs in a hurry.

From any druggist get 2½ ounces of Pinex. Pour this into a 16 ounce bottle and fill up with granulated sugar syrup to make 16 ounces. The syrup is easily made with 2 cups sugar and 1 cup water, stirred until dissolved. No cooking needed. (Or use corn syrup or liquid honey, instead of sugar syrup.) It's no trouble at all, and makes a splendid medicine. Keeps perfectly, tastes fine.

Its quick action loosens phlegm, helps clear the air passages and soothes away irritation.

Pinex is a special compound of proven ingredients, in concentrated form, well known for its soothing effect on throat irritations. Money refunded if it does not please you in every way.

FOR EXTRA CONVENIENCE GET NEW, READY-TO-USE, PREPARED PINEX.

International Economic Problems Need New Approach Bank Says

HALIFAX, Dec. 5 — (CP) — New thinking on international economic problems was urged today by H. L. Enman, president of the Bank of Nova Scotia.

Addressing the bank's annual meeting, he indicated that this might involve reconsideration of present ideas of national sovereignty among the Commonwealth, the United States and Western Europe.

"The framework of thinking to which we have become accustomed in the post-war years is in many respects no longer applicable," Mr. Enman stated. "We need to re-examine the problems in the light of facts as they now exist.

"With the immediate job of reconstruction well advanced and notable recovery in world production, the emphasis is on defence. The central problem, at least from the standpoint of Europe, can perhaps be more accurately described as a raw-material shortage, than as a dollar shortage, though dollars are still a scarce currency . . .

"In my view, the primary consideration is the interdependence of the countries of the free world. Even the United States cannot go it alone."

Other Implications

Interdependence, in defence, said Mr. Enman, applies also to economic policies and arrangements. "Defence and economics cannot be kept in separate compartments.

"One of the most urgent tasks is working out an apportionment of the defence burden among North Atlantic Alliance Treaty countries. This is a delicate and complicated task, for it cannot be solved in terms of a simple formula and it must take into account such factors as the relative economic position, standard of living, and the most suitable and efficient form of contribution for each country concerned.

"Of equal urgency is the task of checking the disease of inflation. Though some countries may need special assistance to give time for them to get their affairs in hand, the major countries must take adequate steps to put their own houses in order."

The free world, Mr. Enman said, must not only co-ordinate its military defences, but it must achieve greater consistency in economic policies and freer trading among its members.

"It is to be hoped that present economic difficulties will be met by a real attack on the fundamental problem, which is one of excessive demand or inflation, and not postponed and ultimately aggravated by heavy reliance on restrictive controls.

"The fundamental identity of interest of the Commonwealth, the United States and Western Europe has never been more obvious than it is today.

"It may be that the present degree of national sovereignty is a very serious barrier to closer and healthier economic relationship. If that is so, it is high time for a reconsideration of our existing ideas about national sovereignty. For the free world and, above all, the Commonwealth and the United States, simply cannot afford to live in separate economic compartments."

Named In Suit

NEW YORK, Dec. 5—(AP)—Blonde Joyce Mathews Tuesday was formally named co-respondent in the Billy Rose separation suit. Her designation by Eleanor Rose Holm was not unexpected. Joyce's name has been linked with Rose ever since last July when she slashed her wrists in his apartment.

Can't Expect Film Actors To Be Normal

By BOB THOMAS.

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 5 (AP)—How immoral is Hollywood?

With almost daily revelations of immorality in United States public life, attention is again focussed on this great centre of human foibles and follies—Hollywood.

Recent headline happenings of Barbara Payton, Franchot Tone, Ava Gardner, Frank Sinatra, and others have brought another flood of protest.

But what are the facts? Hollywood claims that it is as normal as any other community, but that when its notables misbehave, they make news. The town's critics claim that it is a cesspool of sin.

Grain of Salt

Neither view is correct. Hollywood is neither as good as it claims or as bad as outsiders paint it.

The film industry often points proudly to a survey made in 1947. The habits of 1,235 persons were queried. The survey reported that 70.1 per cent had never been divorced, 61.3 attended church, etc.

But the replies were from all kinds of movie workers, not merely actors.

Industry leaders claim that the newspapers overplay the misdeeds of a few celebrities.

Not Normal People

I have always thought that the industry's defence of its moral structure overlooks the nature of the acting breed. Most actors are not normal individuals. They are emotional and inclined to erratic behavior. They also are attractive people, and their opportunities for romance are greater than those of normal folks.

As producer Jerry Wald points out: "The trend in recent years has been to publicize film stars as 'just like the girl or boy next door.' That's sheer nonsense.

"Stars should be vibrant, exciting individuals and should be expected to do exciting things. But when they are portrayed as normal folks, the public is shocked and disillusioned to learn that they can misbehave."

Ask Documents In Arrest Of Adrien Arcand

MONTREAL, Dec. 5 — (CP). —A demand for copies of all Orders-in-Council and any other documents pertaining to the arrest of Adrien Arcand, former newspaperman and leader of the now defunct National Unity Party and 42 other persons interned in Canada during the Second World War, today was forwarded to Ottawa by their counsel, Salluste Lavery.

Request for the documents was incorporated in a "motion for particulars" entered by Mr. Lavery. Arcand and the others are demanding a total of $3,327,282 from the Canadian government for alleged illegal internment.

Mr. Lavery said the documents were needed before the hearing in the case in which Arcand is suing for $74,250. The case opens here December 17.

The largest claim entered is that of Dr. Noel Decarie, Montreal dentist, for $588,400.

Died In Camp

Mrs. Maurice Scott, widow of Major Maurice Scott, is claiming $233,496. Major Scott, former army officer, is alleged to have trained members of Arcand's "brown shirt" group. He died in the internment camp.

He, Arcand and several other members of the group were ordered interned in 1941 when a preferred indictment from the Quebec Attorney-General interrupted preliminary hearing in their case.

A total of 42 claims were entered against the government after the war. Eighteen were on behalf of French-speaking Canadians and Germans. The remainder were on behalf of Italians.

The claims were re-entered in the Exchequer Court in Ottawa more than a year ago.

STEAMING RUINS are all that remains today in tiny St. Lazare, Que., to show what happens when fire strikes at a small country community in the middle of the night. A hotel and combined store and home and several outbuildings were recently destroyed before firefighters from Dorion, six miles away, could check the blaze. St. Lazare is 36 miles from Montreal off the highway to Ottawa.

Sees Abolition Price-Fixing Cutting Prices To Consumer

OTTAWA, Dec. 5 (CP)—Fred McGregor, former combines investigation commissioner, said Tuesday he believes that abolition of retail price-fixing will reduce prices to the consumer.

He told the parliamentary committee studying proposed government legislation to ban resale price maintenance that he is certain retailers will not maintain prices if they are not under any requirment to do so.

There was no comparison in Canada upon which to base such a conclusion, but in areas in the United States where price maintenance did not exist it was "perfectly clear" that prices were lower than those in areas where it did.

Earlier, the committee heard R. B. Taylor, vice-president of General Steel Wares, urge it to exercise the "utmost caution" in prohibiting price maintenance.

He suggested it would be introducing a new principle into the combines law—that an act is a crime even though it can't be proved to be detrimental to the general public. That was a "very serious thing."

As chairman of the legislation committee of the Canadian Manufacturers Association, Mr. Taylor presented a CMA brief suggesting the abolition of price maintenance may bring higher prices for Canadian consumers today.

Restricts Competition

Mr. McGregor, in his testimony, said his opposition to resale price maintenance was based entirely on the fact that it restricted competitoin. Without question, he felt, it was the retailers who wanted prices maintained.

He felt that the retailer should have a right to protect his business, but not to the extent provided under the system of price maintenance.

At the same time, he was opposed to "predatory" price cutting which had as its sole aim the driving of competitors out of business, though he could suggest immediately no legislation to guard against this practice.

George Hees (PC - Toronto Broadview) suggested it would be desirable if the legislation were accompanied by some provision making "loss leaders" illegal as a means of protecting small retailers.

Mr. McGregor said it should not be an offenee for a retailer, big or small, to attract people to his store by offering some of his goods at a loss.

It would be difficult to draft anti-loss leader legislation without injuring the public.

Union Insists 26 Men Rehired

WINDSOR, Dec. 5 (CP)—Union officials are making reinstatement of 26 discharged automobile plant employees a condition for ending a strike which has made 10,000 Ford of Canada workers idle.

The firing of the 26 men for inciting and participating in a wildcat walkout last Thursday touched off the strike Monday.

This anxious city today hoped a conciliation report released Tuesday might prove a basis for immediate settlement. The report recommends a general pay increase of eight cents an hour, retroactive to June 1, which would bring the basic rate to $1.40 an hour. In addition, it recommends a five-cent-an-hour cost-of-living allowance.

Jack Taylor, president of Local 200 of the United Automobile Workers (CIO), Tuesday told a meeting of 7,000 production workers that the rehiring of the 26 discharged men is the paramount issue.

For the first time since the 90-day Ford strike in 1943 the plant's foundry furnaces have been allowed to grow cold.

Admiral Will Visit Ottawa, Kingston

OTTAWA, Dec. 5 — (CP) — Vice-Admiral Sir William G. Andrews, commander-in-chief of Britain's America and West Indies station, arrived in Ottawa Tuesday night by air for a four-day visit.

He will meet Canadian naval and other defence authorities, the governor-general, Prime Minister St. Laurent and the United Kingdom high commissioner, Sir Alexander Clutterback.

Wednesday afternoon he will leave for Kingston, where he will address the National Defence College and then return to the capital. He will leave for New York by air Dec. 8.

Vice-Admiral Andrews took over the American and West Indies station last month. This is his first visit to Canada since he assumed command.

Doesn't Approve

TORONTO, Dec. 5 — (CP) — A Presbyterian minister Tuesday attacked proposals that former German General Kurt Meyer be released to serve in the North Atlantic Treaty forces in Europe. The Rev. Henry Matthews told a Toronto district presbytery meeting that an attitude of expediency existed that could release Meyer, now serving a life sentence for responsibility in the killing of 18 Canadian prisoners of war.

Seize Cigarettes

OTTAWA, Dec. 5 — (CP) — More than 8,000,000 smuggled United States cigarettes have been seized by federal authorities in Canada since last April 1, it was learned Tuesday. The seizures followed imposition of increased cigarette taxes last spring. Retween April 1 and Oct. 30, some 306 prosecutions have been launched, with 301 convictions for smuggling.

Women Fined

Two Lakefield women Mrs. Pearl Goodall, 41, and Miss Florence Orr, 21, entered written pleas of guilty in police court Tuesday on charges of having liquor in a place other than a residence.

They were each fined $10 and $2.50 costs on the charges.

Three generations agree — Five Roses original all purpose flour is best!

"Mother brought our whole family up on crisp, country-fresh home-bakings from FIVE ROSES flour and Grandma used it, too. So naturally I do all my baking with FIVE ROSES! My little ones — and my husband — can't wait to get into the cooky jar or taste pies made with FIVE ROSES — and when I bake a batch of bread, it seems to be eaten up in a minute! As soon as my little girl is old enough she'll begin baking with FIVE ROSES — making four generations!"

MRS. GORDON SHEPHARD, R.R. #1, Brigden, Ont.

"A woman has to be practical to run a home, and the first thing I taught my daughter was to use just one flour for all her home-baking . . . FIVE ROSES. For cakes, cookies, buns, pies and bread, we both find FIVE ROSES ALL PURPOSE FLOUR is economical, dependable and nutritious. I've used FIVE ROSES flour and the Five Roses Cook Book for years . . . and the quality is just as good as ever — first class!"

MRS. FRED HILL, Box 29, Charlton, Ont.

"When I was first married over twenty-five years ago, my Mother advised me if I always wanted to have success with my baking, then I should use nothing else but FIVE ROSES ALL PURPOSE FLOUR. I took her advice and have used nothing else since. My Mother has since died, but in her married life of forty-five years FIVE ROSES was the only flour she used!"

MRS. ROBERT PIKE, 187 Agricola Street, Halifax, N.S.

"My Mother has used FIVE ROSES ALL PURPOSE FLOUR ever since I can remember . . . used it for every home-baking need. In my own kitchen, too, I depend on FIVE ROSES' even texture and fine-milled quality for sure, nutritious results every time!"

MRS. ALPHONSE BOUCHARD, St. Charles Borromée, P.Q.

A woman has to be practical to run a home

Nearly every day we receive letters from families who have used FIVE ROSES FLOUR for generations. These letters give us much interesting information and suggestions . . . as well as many compliments on the fine quality and even texture of FIVE ROSES. Particularly in times of rising costs, more and more women are turning to home-baking their own pies, pastries, cookies and bread . . . and through the years the most practical flour has been FIVE ROSES, Canada's original all purpose flour. You'll find FIVE ROSES dependable and nutritious as well as economical, I'm sure. Why not try some, soon?

If you have any suggestions or comments, please drop me a line and join the long list of FIVE ROSES friends.

Yours for better home-baking,
Pauline Harvey.

Found Guilty On Two Charges Driver Pays $100

"Parking as you did, you were inviting an accident and the fact no one was killed is almost a miracle," said Magistrate W. R. Philp in police court Tuesday in convicting Everett Thompson of Norwood of driving while his ability was impaired by alcohol.

Thompson was fined $50 and $34.75 costs or one month on the charge which was reduced from a charge of having care and control of motor car while intoxicated after the evidence was heard.

He was also convicted of driving without lights and fined $3.50 and $2.50 costs or five days.

The sentences are to run concurrently if the fines are not paid.

A third charge against Thompson of having liquor in a place other than a residence was dismissed when the crown offered no evidence.

Pleaded Not Guilty

Thompson pleaded not guilty to all three charges which were laid by OPP Constable Bert Howden of Apsley following an accident involving two trucks and a car on the early morning of November 4.

The accident occurred three miles south of Apsley on Highway 28.

Fred Bruce, Westhill, testified he broke over a hill as he was travelling north on the highway and had to swing sharply to the left to avoid hitting a truck which he said was parked across the highway. There were no lights showing on the truck, Mr. Bruce said.

A suburban station wagon was travelling behind Bruce, and the driver, Earl Quinn of 53 Hurst Circle, Toronto, said he was unable to turn quickly enough to the right to avoid sliding into the rear of the truck. The impact shunted the truck into Bruce's car on the far side of the road.

Owner Warned

Thompson admitted having two pints of beer an hour before the accident. Both crown witnesses said it was evident Thompson had been drinking but neither would say he was drunk. Constable Howden said Thompson "had been drinking and had a tendency to be unsteady on his feet. The owner of the truck Thompson was driving had been warned some two weeks prior to the accident to get the lights in good condition," he said.

Representing the crown, Alexander Fleming said: "From the evidence produced, I don't think the accused could have been intoxicated." He asked that the charge be changed to driving while impaired by alcohol and said there was evidence enough to warrant a conviction.

Magistrate Philp agreed and found Thompson guilty. On consent of Thompson and Mr. Fleming the same evidence was entered on the charge of driving without lights.

Thompson denied knowing anything about a carton of empty beer bottles in the back of the truck. Mr. Fleming asked that the liquor charge be withdrawn.

Dingman Funeral

VANCOUVER, Dec. 5 (CP)—Funeral services for Harold Dingman, 36-year-old newspaper and magazine writer who was found dead in a downtown hotel here Sunday, will be held at 3 pm Friday. The services will be in Nunn and Thompson funeral home here.

Radiologist Dies Suddenly In Chicago

LONDON, Ont., Dec. 5 (CP)—Dr. Keitch C. Falkner, chief radiologist at St. Joseph's Hospital here and a radiology instructor at the University of Western Ontario Medical School, died suddenly Tuesday in Chicago. He was 39.

Dr. Falkner had been attending a convention of the American College of Radiology in Chicago since Saturday.

The doctor had his residence and office here since coming from St. Thomas in 1947.

Born in Vancouver, he graduated from Queen's University School of Medicine and served his internship at Kingston General Hospital and Toronto East General Hospital.

He practised for two years at Gore Bay, Manitoulin Island, before joining the Royal Canadian Army Medical Corps in 1939. He saw service in Italy and France.

Eaton Employees Turn Down Union

TORONTO, Dec. 5 — (CP) — Employees of the T. Eaton Co. Ltd., here have voted against having a union, it was announced Tuesday night.

Balloting was conducted Tuesday and today by the Ontario Labor Department. The 9,800 eligible employees among the 16,000 on the department store's Toronto staff were asked if they desired to be represented by Local 1000 of the Department Store Employees Union (CIO-CCL).

The vote was 3,967 for the union, 4,769 against.

The vote climaxed a three-year campaign by the union to win bargaining rights for the workers.

To Condense Code

OTATWA, Dec. 5—(CP)—The Canadian government plans to have Canada's Criminal Code condensed next year, Justice Minister Garson told the Commons Tuesday. He said the bulky code will be boiled down to between 700 and 800 sections from approimately 1,200. They would be consolidated into a single volume.

Meat Black Market

QUEBEC, Dec. 5 (CP)—Ald. Damase Blais said Tuesday retail sale of horse meat in Quebec has reached "black market" proportions. Horse meat unstamped as fit for human consumption is sold at the rate of 8,000 to 10,000 pounds a week, Mr. Blais told the city administrative committee.

25 Farms Flooded

VANCOUVER, Dec. 5—(CP)—Twenty-five farms near here were under water Tuesday night as a gale pushed high tides through protecting dikes. With most of their stored winter feed lost, farmers said they were preparing to slaughter their cattle. The flooded area is in Surrey municipality, some 15 miles south-east of here.

Vote To Strike

MONTREAL, Dec. 5—(CP)—Employees of the Montreal Locomotive Company, Ltd., Tuesday night voted unanimously to strike to enforce their wage demands. The 1,000 workers, members of the United Steelworkers of America (CCL-CIO) which was certified last August as bargaining agent, rejected an arbitration board report which was handed down last Wednesday.

Believes Canada May Be Spared Scourge Of War

OTTAWA, Dec. 5 (CP)—Prime Minister St. Laurent told the Canadian people Tuesday he is one of those who still dare to hope that this generation will be spared the scourge of another world war.

Recalling that he had made the same observation in 1948, he said he also still believes that if Canada and the other North Atlantic nations muster the necessary strength to defend the right they will not have to use it in another world war.

The combined strength of the North Atlantic alliance has been growing steadily "and we are certainly better off today than we were three years ago," he said in an address in the CBC free-time political broadcast, The Nation's Business.

But, in building up that strength there was a duty for everyone. It was not something to be left "to the other fellow."

Need Young Men

"We need a steady flow of young men for the highest service of all—whether it be on the battlefields of Korea, on the ramparts of freedom in Europe, or in our own northland.

"But we cannot all serve in the armed forces. Those of us who remain in civil life have a responsibility to lend all the support we can to the armed forces who are serving for our safety."

Canadians would have to provide and pay for their effort to prevent war by "doing without some of the things we would like to have." The government had never pretended that Canada could have a "painless" defence effort.

"We know many Canadians are having a hard time to make ends meet, and we are honestly doing our best to help.

"But we are not going to promise to remove burdens no government could take away, unless this country stopped doing its share to prevent another war."

The government not only was trying to distribute the cost of defence "as fairly as possible, but we are doing our best to get full value for the money that is being spent."

Unemployment Insurance Payments Up

OTTAWA, Dec. 5 — (CP) — Unemployment insurance benefit payments and the number of unemployed days for which compensatory payments were made both increased during October.

The Bureau of Statistics reported Tuesday that payments rose during the month to $3,901,854 from $3,570,904 in the corresponding month last year. The unemployed days for which compensatory payments were made increased 1,567,172 from 1,540,670.

Initial and renewal claims for unemployment insurance benefits totalled $2,902, compared with 62,243 in October 1950. Most marked increases occured in Quebec and Ontario, where the adoption of short-time working schedule or lay-offs continued in the textile and automobile industry.

Claims filed by provinces with figures for the corresponding month last year in brackets: Ontario 31,676 (19,753); Quebec 25,939 (19,779); British Columbia 11,031 (9,964); Manitoba 3,439 (2,327); Alberta 2,719 (2,187); Newfoundland 676 (376); Prince Edward Island 244 (226); Nova Scotia 3,481 (3,678); New Brunswick 2,666 (2,796), and Saskatchewan 1,031 (1,157).

Enjoy Exciting Targets Reds, Deer, Pheasants

By BILL BOSS.

WITH THE CANADIANS IN KOREA, Dec. 5— (CP). —Stories about "the one that got away" have nothing to do here with fish.

They relate exclusively to three types of prey: Chinese Communists, dog deer, and pheasant.

The abundance in Korea of deer and strikingly-plumed pheasant once realized, it may be accepted back home that it would represent a sheer waste of talent and skill to lavish Canadian fieldcraft and marksmanship exclusively on the enemy.

Here there are no civilians to interfere with the stalking of any kind of prey. There are no licence fees. The fields are heavy with unharvsted crops—rich feeding ground for wildlife and excellent cover for the hunter. And not very much game gets away—the deer freeze obligingly and the pheasant are either too busy eating to be bothered, or too heavy to fly away.

It's simply irresistible, and so while the Chinese get their full share of attention it nonetheless is far from exclusive.

Brigadier Leads Way

Leader in this—as in any other kind of hunting his troops do in Korea—is Brig. John H. Rockingham, whose weapons provide the occasional deer for his headquarters' men's mess and pheasant for his own.

One of the Brigadier's most satisfactory moments in Korea occurred when a magnificent golden-ringed cock-pheasant he had just shot was brought to his table to excite the admiration of three military visitors from Canada.

Lt.-Cols. Peter Bingham of the Royal Canadian Regiment, Edward McNaughton of the Royal Canadian Horse Artillery, and Louis-Fremont Trudeau of the Royal 22nd Regiment were speechless with envy.

Bagging such birds is daily routine, however, to the 2nd RCR's Maj. Kitch Wildfang of Orangeville and Brockville. With a shotgun borrowed from Maj. Colin McDougall of Ottawa, Wildfang daily roams the forward areas of the Imjin front.

He has trouble only with his private scruple against shooting birds not on the wing. "I almost have to beat them into the air," he says, "they've got so heavy." But a dozen go back every day to the rear headquarters to be stuffed, roasted and sent back up to the company position.

Recently Wildfang was sent to the rear headquarters to rest. But every morning he was back up at the front, roaming the ridgetops in full view of the Chinese, flushing his prey.

Less happy recently was McDougall, 30 from whose tent was feeding a big, fat bird, spectacularly feathered, a Manchurian ring-necked pheasant. And his shotgun was with Wildfang.

McDougall got permission to open fire in the camp area, fired four rounds from his revolver, and missed. "That bird," he said, "didn't even stop feeding."

Open With Carols

Christmas carol singing opened the meeting Tuesday evening of Mary Nichols Mission Circle of Murray St. Church. A brief glimpse of "Christmas in Other Lands" was given by former Hollander Mrs. J. P. Moes, who said in her country Santa Claus comes on December 6th, with darky assistants, and December 25th is a holy day. Mrs. S. Malsch described how Christmas is celebrated in the Scandinavian countries, and Miss M. Eastwood told how a Russian lady spent Christmas in Germany since the war and how it was celebrated in Russia before war came where now it must be celebrated in secret. It was decided to pack a box of clothing for distribution at an Indian mission near St. Thomas. Also to send a Christmas gift of money to the pastor at Walkerton. Miss Leitha Kidd gave a history of the Baptist Women's World Alliance which is holding a day of prayer this Friday, December 7th. Miss Margaret Eastwood, leader of the devotional exercises, told the theme for the prayer program, "Unto you a Saviour is born." Miss Garrett read the scripture and a lovely poem was read by Miss Eastwood. Prayers were offered by five members on behalf of all countries represented by the British World Alliance. The meeting closed with singing "Christ for the World We Sing."

Install New Executive

Mark St. WA meeting Tuesday evening at the church was opened by president Mrs. F. Samis with a poem, "Near the sunset gate." Yearly reports by the various executive members gave evidence of a very successful year past. The Rev. B. S. Morwood gave an inspiring talk and then installed the new officers. President is Mrs. F. Edworthy; first vice-president, Mrs. A. Roberts; second vice-president, Mrs. M. Pomeroy; recording secretary, Mrs. F. Jennings; treasurer, Miss M. Eason; press, Mrs. F. Timlin; flower committee, Mrs. G. Hopcroft and Mrs. W. Ferguson, parsonage committee, Mrs. C. Agnew, and Mrs. M. Clysdale; Local Council of Women representative, Mrs. F. Samis; social, Mrs. R. Pammett; pianist, Mrs. A. Townsend. Mrs. J. Finnie was in charge of devotions and read a suitable thought. Mrs. G. Eason led in prayer and scripture readings were given by Mrs. E. Van Allen and Mrs. S. Excell, Mrs. G. Payne, and Mrs. A. E. DeNure. Mrs. Edworthy read the commentary. Mrs. W. Hepburn favored with the solo "The Christ Story," and Mrs. W. Atchison read the story, "Roads to Bethlehem."

Guests Contribute Theme

Christmas meeting of the Women's Association of George St. Church was held Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. Chester Carson was the guest speaker and gave a lovely rendition of the Christmas story, "The Shepherd Who Did Not Go," with background music played by Mr. Charles Allen. Mrs. C. McKenzie was guest soloist for the occasion and she sang two numbers, "A Star Was His Cradle" and "Infant Holy, Infant Lowly." Mr. Allen accompanied. Mrs. A. J. Weames' group was in charge of the devotions. Mrs. Alex. Roseborough announced the hymns, Mrs. J. P. Bickell read the scripture and lesson thoughts and Mrs. G. Leonard led in prayer. Mrs. J. M. Beatty voiced the thank to the visiting artists. President Mrs. George Munro presided for a business period and reports of activities of the year were given. Also a detailed report on the recent bazaar and tea showing it was a gratifying success. After singing the WA theme song, benediction was pronounced.

Hold Candlelighting Service

Star Class meeting in the board room of George St. United Church Tuesday evening featured a candlelight service of the Christmas story. Mrs. Stewart Thompson commenced it with a reading from the Bible and lit the first candle "joy"; then was sung the hymn "Joy to the World." Mrs. Rae Kelsey gave a reading and lit the second candle for "love" and the hymn following was "Come let us sing of a wonderful love." Third candle was lit by Mrs. Harold Nicholls for "Christ, the light of the world, after a reading in keeping, and the following hymn was "As with gladness men of old." Mrs. Harold lit the candle for "peace," reading a selection on peace, and then all sang "It came upon a midnight clear." The fifth candle was for "hope" and the story and lighting was by Miss Jean Hammond, with the hymn "O come all ye faithful" following. Miss Gladys Walker concluded the ceremony with a reading. Two solos were sung by Miss Gladys Langton, "O Holy Night" and "No Room in the Inn." She was accompanied by Mrs. L. Milburn. A Christmas reading was given by Miss Gladys Walker and Scripture from Luke 2 was read by Mrs. Everett Roseborough with Mrs. Clifford Hurl leading in prayer. After an exchange of gifts carried out by Mrs. Frank Wood, refreshments were served by Mrs. Charles Barton's group.

Evening Program Enjoyed

An evening meeting of St. Andrew's WA was held Tuesday in the church parlor, Mrs. C. C. Pilon presiding, and Mrs. F. Walker conducting the devotional period. A musical program in keeping with the Christmas season was arranged by Mrs. Ford Turner. A piano solo by Mrs. W. L. McNeil was much enjoyed, Mrs. Fleming sang "Night of Nights" and the "Cradle Song" was sung by a trio of Mrs. H. Northrop, Mrs. Turner and Mrs. J. McColl. Mrs. J. E. R. Munro gave an address on "The Madonna in Art." Her subject was very ably presented and illustrated with copies of the famous paintings, to the pleasure of the members. Conveners of various committees presented reports and recommendations from a recent executive meeting were discussed. Financial report of the recent very successful bazaar and tea was presented by Mrs. V. Hamilton. During a happy social hour following the meeting refreshments were served by Mrs. Walker's group.

Choir Holds Christmas Party

A fine turkey dinner was enjoyed Tuesday evening by the choir members of George St. United Church and friends, numbering 100 in all, when they attended the annual Christmas party, held in the Empress Kawartha Room. The Christmas motif was carried out in decorations with a beautiful tree laden with parcels and tables centred with tall red tapers and poinsettia. The tables were further complemented with paper hats, noisemakers and Christmas corsages for the guests. Choir president Mr. A. B. Burrows extended welcome to the friends. Appreciation of the choir's contribution to the church services was expressed by the Rev. A. A. Mathews, Mr. W. J. Hamilton, honorary president, and Dr. R. A. Chenoweth, chairman of the music committee. Presentations were made to the organist and choir director Mr. Charles Allen and Mrs. Allen. Gifts were also given the soloist, Mrs. James Goldie, and to Miss Eva Succee in recognition of her long association with the choir. Following dinner there was a fun-filled evening of singing, games and folk dancing, under direction of Mr. Quirt McKinney. A special vote of thanks was given the social committee for arranging the party, Mrs. C. Carson, Mrs. S. Wildman, Mrs. C. C. McKenzie, Mrs. G. Marshall and Mrs. A. Hills.

Describes Trends In Wigs For Mannequins

MONTREAL (CP)—Westerners prefer blondes; Quebecers like them dark and everybody loves redheads. We're referring to mannequin wigs, that is.

This picture of Canadian preferences in mannequin wigs, important to shop and salon sellers, was given by Dorothy Clayton, who has been styling and manufacturing the wigs for some time. She began as a hairdresser in Moose Jaw, Sask., but decided to look for a more interesting profession and came to Montreal three years ago.

"Wig making," she says, "has several advantages over hairdressing. If my customer doesn't like her hairdo, she can't talk back."

Creative Profession

She considers it a creative profession. "Mannequins must look as nearly as possible like the women who are going to see them, so that a woman will have no difficulty in imagining herself in the mannequin's clothes."

She runs the whole gamut af hair styles, too, from a lot of top and bottom curls to 'chignons, wind-blown bobs and today's "in between."

Mrs. Clayton says her biggest thrill comes when she tries a new wave on a mannequin and discovers it is especially becoming. Some of her new hair styles have been copied by beauty salons.

St. John's Girls Hear Miss Lamb

Twenty-two members were present at the weekly meeting of the Girl's Auxiliary of St. John's Anglican Church Tuesday, held in the parish hall with president Josie Hendren presiding. Susan Simmers read the minutes of the last meeting and Phyllis Willshaw gave the treasurer's report. Carol Caldwell was elected corresponding secretary.

Donna Edwards and Shirley Todd were welcomed as new members of the group.

A short period of Mission Study was taken by Miss Margaret Stevenson.

Members enjoyed a visit from the Diocesan Youth Worker, Miss Florence Lamb of Toronto. She spoke of G. A. activities in Canada, how the G. A. supports three missionaries out of Pledge Money and told where the G. A. Dorcas work, handicraft and gifts are sent.

Miss Lamb told the girls the purpose of the G. A. is "To train ourselves to serve in His Service. We are instruments God needs to work with." She urged the members to keep before them the G. A. motto "Putting Service Before Self."

After thanking Miss Lamb for her visit the president closed with the benedicition.

Periods of study at the next meeting will be churchmanship, taken by the Curate Mr. Purser and Home Nursing taken by Miss Gwen Sorby.

OMEMEE

OMEMEE, Dec. 5 (ENS). — The Christmas spirit characterized the December meeting of Omemee Home and School Association. Ten dollars was voted for the "Save the Children Fund" and $15 to go toward the school children's Christmas treat. The Rev. C. Richmond urged that the $10 should go to needy children in the United Kingdom rather than on the continent, and a motion to that effect was carried. It was suggested that H. and S. members offer their services in the preparations for the businessmen's Christmas party for the children.

Mrs. Stephenson announced that there would be a parent education program in January, after which she hoped to be able to organize a study class on that subject. The Human Relationships program on CHEX was recommended for parents' listening. A Christmas message from the federation president was read by Mrs. Green.

Carol singing was conducted by Mrs. Stephenson, Miss L. Race accompanying. Other items were: a Christmas story by Mrs. Stephenson, a Christmas legend by Mr. Curtis, Christmas in Canadian History by Mrs. Rehill, and

Minister Extolls Salvation Army Services

Evtolling the two-fold service to Peterborough of the Salvation Army, the Rev. H. G. Douglas of Knox United Church spoke on behalf of the citizens Tuesday afternoon at the ceremony of opening the Home League Christmas bazaar and tea. Mr. Douglas referred to the pleasure derived from the fine Salvation Army Band and songsters assisting at civic functions and church meeting, and to the Army's work for the underprivileged, for which purpose it was originally founded.

Mrs. Douglas who had been invited to officially open the sale of goods also highly praised the Salvation Army for its work and urged the guests to make the bazaar a centre for their Christmas gift buying. She was introduced by Mrs. Douglas Sharpe, wife of the Captain in charge.

Mrs. Mendell Braund, president of the Home League, extended welcome and asked all to join in singing "What a friend we have in Jesus." Captain and Mrs. Sharpe then sang a lovely duet.

Weather conditions seem never to favor the League on its bazaar day and this year a heavy rain set in at noon and probably prevented many of the less adventurous from attending.

However, the scene within the Simcoe St. Hall defied the gloom without. Colored lights were over the centre and booths on either side were individually decorated in colorful Christmas motif. The goods offered were widely varied in kind and all suitable for Christmas giving.

Dressed as the spirit of Christmas, Mrs. H. Everitt as at the entrance to pin a Christmas corsage on each guest. Santa Claus was also present, hovering close to the toy booth and he had pencils, rulers and a game for each child. (Santa was represented by Mr. W. Parsons.)

The tea room, set off from the noise-filled bazaar room, was cozy and restful with soft Christmas recordings playing throughout the afternoon. A simulated fireplace highlighted the decorations and quartette tables were centred with poinsettias and other gay flowers.

Mrs. Mel Shadgett had charge of the tea room and Mrs. H. Halchrow attended the treasurer's table. Waitresses were Mrs. W. Boorman, Mrs. D. Robinson, Mrs. A. Smith, Mrs. G. Holnbeck, Mrs. Reg. Jones and Mrs. Neil. The plates and cups were filled by Mrs. L. Rowe, Mrs. A. Scott and Mrs. B. Bohn.

The bazaar room had been arranged under the direction of Mrs. Braund and Mrs. Wm. Lowell, treasurer, was assisting with change.

An attractive "wishing well" contained surprise parcels for the wishers and was in charge of Mrs. Murray Thomas with Mrs. Ralph Braund and Mrs. R. G. Routley assisting.

The novelty table was in charge of Mrs. A. J. Lashbrook and Mrs. Victor Smith. Handkerchiefs with crocheted edges and embroidered towels were sold by Mrs. A. Wilson and Mrs. N. Fletcher. "Sox" was the sign over the table of knitted footwear for sale by Mrs. E. Copperthwaite, Mrs. Wm. Jones and Mrs. W. Wilkinson. Mrs. G. Braund had a tableful of kitchen gadgets and was assisted with sales by Mrs. W. Butcher and Mrs. G. Allport.

"White elephants" proved they weren't really white elephants as they sold well. Mrs. Ken Payne and Mrs. H. Barton were in charge of the table. The grocery stall was well stocked with goods from fresh fruit to cake mixes and was in charge of Mrs. Alf Mills and Mrs. A. Cumming.

Beautifully colored statuettes made by the League members were sold by Mrs. S. Winterbottom and Mrs. A. Wilfong. The fancywork table was in charge of Mrs. P. Butler, Mrs. B. Hawkins and Mrs. W. Wilkinson Sr. Aprons were in another booth with Mrs. E. Pringle, Mrs. J. Hodgson and Mrs. Ron Wrightley in charge. Children's knitted wear was displayed and sold by Mrs. S. Howden and Mrs. Ron Pot[illegible] doll's clothes and toys were sold by Mrs. H. Parnell, Mrs. C. Moore and Mrs. T. Craig.

The candy table was the first place of call for the children, and adults too kept Mrs. Thos. Rose and Mrs. Hazel Wilson very busy. The table of home baking was crowded too with Mrs. N. Fisher and Mrs. A. McDonald looking after the customers.

A variety stall which included a quantity of men's mitts knitted by Mrs. J. T. Braund, and other small articles, was attended by Mrs. Robert Routley.

A MEMORIAL TO A GOOD CITIZEN

This week the Historic Sites and Monuments Board of Canada unveiled a plaque in honor of Sir John Carling at London, Ontario.

Sir John Carling was born in London Township on January 23, 1828 and died in 1911. During his life he did much to further the development of Canadian agriculture. One of his most important acts was to establish the first Dominion Experimental Farm . . . a fore-runner of the many which stretch across Canada today.

The plaque says of him:

"Industrialist and Promoter of Scientific Agriculture for Canada (1885-1892)"

We at Carling's take this opportunity to thank the people of Canada for this memorial to the son of the founder of our company.

Filler-Diller Casserole For Those Hungry Athletes

Easy Dinner For Hockey Players
Filler-Diller Casserole
Chef's Salad
Rye Bread
Ice Cream Sandwich
Coffee

Directions

The casserole was named by a bunch of hungry hockey players. Really now, they were full when it was gone. This dish serves several purposes though, besides filling up hungry stomachs. All of the ingredients of a main course are included, and their combined flavours, when baked together improve one another. It may be combined the night before it is needed and baked about 30 minutes before serving time. It even improves when reheated, if you are lucky enough to have any leftover. This is a recipe for your permanent files.

Filler-Diller Casserole

One one-half pound box spaghetti or macaroni or noodles, 3 tablespoons bacon fat, 1 to 1½ lbs. ground raw beef or hamburger (I have made this with one pound hamburg meat and it is fine), 4 medium sized onions chopped fine, 1 20-oz. tin tomatoes, 1 20-oz. tin red kidney beans, 1 teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon pepper. Cook the spaghetti or macaroni in plenty of salted water until tender, then drain. Brown the beef and onions in the fat for about 6 or 7 minutes then add the tomatoes to them and simmer 15 minutes. Combine the tomato mixture with the drained macaroni and the kidney beans (using juice from beans too). Add salt and pepper to taste, turn into buttered casserole. Sprinkle top with grated cheese and bake at 375 deg. Fahr. for about one-half hour or until it is bubbly and golden.

Chef's Salad

I have been asked to describe this classic salad. In our house it defies description. Anything raw and green is likely to go in if it is edible. This often includes raw spinach and celery tops and has been known to include nasturtium seeds and leaves. Pete claims he once broke up a nasturtium and put it in and I blythely chewed away on it without remarking, so next time he chopped up a daffodil. You don't have to believe that—but I'm afraid I do—knowing the guy.

The common ingredients include: torn lettuce (use lots of this), chives, watercress, parsley, endive. On extravagant occasions add crescents of avocado. Tomato and pimiento belong too. We sometimes crumble Roquefort Cheese over just before adding the French Dressing. Our French Dressing usually has a slice of garlic in it.

Ice Cream Sandwich

Bake a chocolate cake mix. When cold cut the cake in halves crosswise—2 layers. For 8 people buy 2 ice cream bricks. Use a slice of ice cream to put between 2 squares of cake for each serving. If you use a white cake, you can make this more nourishing and complicated by pouring over chocolate sauce.

DOROTHY DIX

Privacy Assured Readers

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: Do you print the names and addresses of those who write to you? I would like to present a problem, but would like you rassurance that my name will not appear in the paper.

JUDY T.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Under no circumstances does a reader's full name or address appear in these columns. Being fully aware of the embarrassment that might result from such disclosures, only pen names are used—when they are given—or the letters are presented with fictitious names or initials. Where names are given in the body of a letter, these also are changed before publication. So, in order to protect your anonymity and at the same time to be sure of identifying your problem, please, when writing, sign your letter with a pen name (not "Confused," "Puzzled," "Worried" or the like).

Dorothy Dix

Give Address

It would be appreciated, however, if you would give your full name and address with the letter. This will, under no circumstances, be published or given to anyone, but it will help considerably if I consider a personal reply expedient. Often I can furnish helpful information that would exceed the space available through your newspaper; such cases can be handled through personal correspondence if I have your name and address.

All mail coming to my desk is held in strict confidence, and you need have no fear that the contents of your letter will be divulged to anyone.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: Is it true that girls who wear glasses have few boys friends than girls who don't wear them? I am a girl with an average intelligence, good looks, nice personality, but am rather quiet. I wear glasses and sometimes put the blame on them. Could you possibly help my case and perhaps be helpful to other girls in the same plight?

SALLY J.

ANSWER: Wearing glasses will not seriously hurt your chances of acquiring boy friends, but your attitude about the spectacles might. If you are self-conscious about the glasses, and make it evident to those around you by talking about them more than is necessary, you have created a barrier against making friends. Glasses are no rarity today, and to wear them is nothing uncommon. In fact, many girls who are quick to adopt fads are wearing fancy frames with plain glass; they think it adds to their attractiveness.

Select a hair-do suitable to your glasses, pick your jewelry and make-up carefully; you should then have no handicap in acquiring boy friends. Just be sure you pick them yourself; don't let friends push you into dates you don't want.

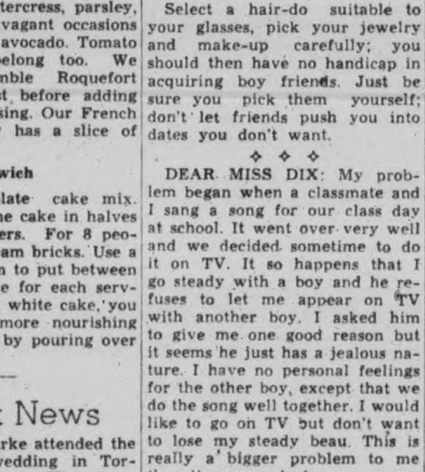
✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: My problem began when a classmate and I sang a song for our class day at school. It went over very well and we decided sometime to do it on TV. It so happens that I go steady with a boy and he refuses to let me appear on TV with another boy. I asked him to give me one good reason but it seems he just has a jealous nature. I have no personal feelings for the other boy, except that we do the song well together. I would like to go on TV but don't want to lose my steady beau. This is really a bigger problem to me than it appears to be.

JUANITA

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Could one of your parents, or a teacher, talk to your friend and make him realize how foolish his attitude is? He should be proud to have you appear on TV and certainly the fact that you sing well with another boy is no reason for such acute jealousy. If he absolutely persists in his ridiculous outlook, you have no choice but to give him up or the program.



At your tender age, I would recommend careful consideration of a boy friend who carries jealousy to such absurd lengths.

FUNNY BUSINESS -- By Hershberger

"The new maid insisted—so George rigged it up with his power-mower unit!"

What's Right?

Your child, when you have company, does something you regard as discourteous, but you realize that the situation was new to him and you have never told him just what to do under those particular circumstances.

WRONG: Correct him sharply.

RIGHT: When the guests are gone, explain that you have never told him before but that the right thing to do in the situation is such-and-such. Children should never be blamed for doing the wrong thing through ignorance.

NHL Players Said Mostly Staging Fights

DETROIT, Dec. 5 (CP)—A Detroit sportswriter says that most National Hockey League players "can't punch their way out of a jersey."

In a signed article in The Detroit Free Press, Marshall Dann wrote today that most fights at NHL games are "phony", staged for the edification of hockey fans.

He listed "certain characters who really are tough guys." They were Maurice (Rocket) Richard, Tom Johnson and Bernie Geoffrion of the Montreal Canadiens; Fern Flaman and Harry Watson of the Toronto Maple Leafs; Gordie Howe, Red Kelly, Ted Lindsay and Vic Stasiuk of the Detroit Red Wings, Lee Fogolin of the Chicago Black Hawks and Bill Ezinicki of Boston Bruins.

But most of the others, said Dann, "Save their menacing gestures until after the fights have broken up." For hockey players who wish to appear "warlike", he listed three rules:

1. Make threatening gestures, shove, push and jostle and act thoroughly tough until the linemen wander over to interfere.

2. Then, and only then, when the restrainers are nearby, drop your stick and start throwing punches. Chances are you won't hit anyone except an official and he can't swing back.

3. When play has been stopped and all the fans are watching, make your motto "hold me back." Tug and strain as though trying to break away from officials holding you. Carry on this way right up to the point where you might escape.

Found Guilty Pays Court $100

Charged with careless driving and driving without a chauffeur's or operator's licence, Paul McGee, 17, of 546 Downie St., pleaded not guilty in police court Tuesday afternoon.

He was found guilty on the evidence on both charges. Speaking for the crown, Alexander Fleming asked for the minimum on the careless driving count.

McGee was fined $10 and $2.50 costs on each of the charges.

OPP Constable Roy Feeley testified he investigated an accident on the River Road south of Lakefield about 3 o'clock the morning of November 1.

Overturned

A car which McGee said he had been driving was overturned on its right side, against a fence above the river bank a short distance from a bridge, Constable Feeley said.

Marks on the gravel road indicated the car had swung from one side of the road to the other twice before turning over. Constable Feeley said McGee told him the car had not steered properly after crossing the bridge because the front wheel appeared to be loose, he said.

McGee admitted not having a driver's licence but claimed he had passed a test the week before and was given to understand by the man who signed the certificate saying he had passed the driving tests successfully that it would be alright to obtain his licence the following Saturday.

"Both you and the gentleman concerned may have been under the impression you could get by on it but I can find nothing under the section of the Highway Traffic Act which would let you out," said Magistrate Philp in finding McGee guilty.

Evidence Weak Case Dismissed

Stating there was not sufficient evidence to warrant a conviction, Magistrate W. R. Philp dismissed a charge of careless driving against Charles Beckerson of 39 John St., east, Waterdown, in police court Tuesday afternoon.

Beckerson was involved in a collision with a car driven by Donald Cameron, RR 3, Indian River on Highway 7, the night of October 5.

Beckerson was travelling east at the time, and Cameron was driving west. The two cars collided as they were passing. The accident occurred about seven miles east of Peterborough.

The charge was laid by OPP Constable Wally Mohns who investigated the accident.

Becerkson was defended by Trevor Clarke.

Frozen Gravel Chunk Breaks Man's Toes

MARMORA, Dec. 5 —(ENS)— Harry Vansickle suffered a dislocated big toe and three fractured toes Monday while shovelling fill from a gravel pit. He was taken to Dr. H. G. Parkin's office where the toes were x-rayed and set.

With his work gang he was shovelling fill in the gravel pit located on the Cordova Road near George Wilkes' residence. A piece of frozen gravel broke away from the side of the pit where there was no overhang. It threw Mr. Vansickle forward, breaking the toes.

International Conferences Appear To Meet Discouraging Results

By ALAN HARVEY

LONDON, Dec. 5 (CP). — The statesmen say their formal farewells, the communiques deliver a cryptic message, the aircraft fly home—and the headlines proclaim the end of another round of international conferences. Where do we stand now?

The answer must be merely an impression. Ministers returning from the council of Europe at Strasbourg and from the North Atlantic sessions at Rome may reply hopefully or despairingly, depending on their temperaments and points of view. Canada's Brooke Claxton can call the progress of the European army amazingly fast, and France's Paul Reynaud can say it is hopelessly slow. Either may be right.

But the impression remains of exhausting difficulties, of stumbling blocks too massive to be moved. Progress toward a united Europe seems to have lost its first flush of urgency. The North Atlantic ministers appear forever on the verge of historic decisions, decisions stored away at the last moment on the next shelf. Meanwhile the peoples of the west, in the words of the Weekly Economist, are bewildered by "multiple initials, incessant conferences, overlapping plans and rival aspirations."

Not Bad On Surface

On the surface, things don't look so bad. Hasn't Gen. Eisenhower said we can hold the Russians, even now? Won't the United States be so powerful in a few years that the world balance of power will be completely changed? Possibly—if the difficulties can be overcome.

Two main obstacles are the Atlantic powers, despite their "three wise men," still haven't worked out a fair-shares plan for jointly financing western rearmament, and that the federation of Europe is still in the talking stage.

So the frustrating fact is that the West needs German soldiers, but France won't accept them except as part of a European army and the political opposition in France and Germany won't accept a European army; and Britain, which perhaps could sweep away these problems by a clear commitment to join herself with Europe, can't steel herself to do so.

Internal Problems

The Atlantic powers have their own internal problems. Britain has a financial crisis and France seems to be paralyzed, her armament plans sadly behind schedule. Her faith in herself is low. French commentator Albert Camus put it in a single sentence: "What is the use of being as well armed as your enemy," he said, "if you have behind you a member of your family ready to strangle you?"

The Atlantic partners are always open to suspicions of unequal effort. In this connection the Weekly Observer says that even Canada does not always escape criticism. The newspaper adds there is a general recognition that political problems in Quebec Province restrict the Dominion's freedom of action.

The same newspaper, continuing a series of editorials, lifts its head beyond mere European unity to the possibility of Atlantic federation, which it describes as the only sensible policy for the 20th century.

Man Found Guilty

Reported Dumping

Constable McDonald took up the investigation after Mr. Burns reported the dumping of the ingots on Maple St. While on his way he saw Cockerill's rented truck going south on Park St. He followed it to Brioux Ave. and there Cockerill stopped.

Cockerill repeated his story about taking a load of ingots from Smiths Falls to Toronto but he added that when his truck broke down part of the load was temporarily dumped on Maple St.

His rendezvous in Toronto, he said was the Snack Shack on Kingston Rd. There some men would direct him what to do with the load.

Constable McDonald noticed a quantity of the ingots in the truck along with a six-foot toboggan. The tail gate of the truck was missing.

Stopped Again

Cockerill was once again permitted to proceed as the constable was on his way to Mr. Burns' house. After hearing Mr. Burns' story Constable McDonald stopped Cockerill again and ordered him to drive to the police station.

When they got to the station Constable McDonald noticed the tail gate was back in place and the toboggan was gone.

Cockerill entered the witness box on his own behalf. He claimed he was an innocent dupe of two other men and didn't know he was involved in a theft until too late. He was afraid of his companions—one of whom was armed—and dared not tell the police his story when questioned.

Cockerill said he rented the truck to move some furniture from Peterborough to Kingston for an old army acquaintance whom he knew only as "Smitty." He was promised $40 and was to meet "Smitty" at Park and Romaine Sts.

Another man, identified as "Don" joined them.

When they got to Maple St. the other two got out, said Cockerill, and he noticed that "Smitty" was armed. The two acquaintances then began loading the ingots.

"Didn't you realize then you'd been duped?" asked defence counsel Gordon H. T. Farquharson.

"I did," said Cockerill.

Afraid of Reprisals

Cockerill said he was afraid of reprisals on his wife and children if he backed out at this stage.

"I knew I was in deep so I tried to bluff my way out. I didn't know what to do or how to get rid of the stuff."

The two men disappeared up the railway track and he didn't see them again, he said.

"Why didn't you ask the protection of the first officer you met?" asked Crown Attorney John Bradshaw, KC.

"I was afraid for my wife and children."

"Why didn't you ask for the protection of the whole police force?" continued Crown Attorney Bradshaw. "Where did you think you were, Russia?"

The jury took only 45 minutes to reach a verdict. It was delivered by their foreman Floyd Pullyblank at 5:15 pm.

Judge Agrees

Judge Smoke said the verdict was "in accordance with my thoughts on the matter." In his summing up he referred to Cockerill's evidence as "a rather far-fetched story."

Judge Smoke also complimented Defence Counsel Farquharson for the stout defence he had put up for Cockerill. His address to the jury lasted half an hour.

Members of the jury were Floyd Pullyblank, Romaine St., foreman; Thomas Webster, Dummer township; Murton Whaley, Murray St.; Orville Smith, Park St.; Frederick G. Parsons, McCannan Ave.; Joseph Primeau, Elcome Crescent; William Archibald, Margaret St.; Arthur Northcott, Robinson St.; Arthur Millard, North Monaghan township; John Mervin, Smith township; Gordon Warner, Asphodel township; and William H. Mitchell, George St.

Society Competent To Accept Offer

Colin McEachern, district field secretary of the Canadian Institute for the Blind, said today that his recent statement spiking a widespread rumor that seeing-eye dogs were available in return for some quantity of red cellophane cigarette package paper was meant as no reflection on the sincerity of the offer made to the Louis Braille Society on the society's authority to accept it.

He said that the Louis Braille Society is a distinct organization and was quite competent to receive such an offer. He said that checking by the head offic of the CNIB showed that there was no apparent foundation for the rumor which prompted the local offer and caused the Louis Braille Society in all good faith to accept it.

Since then the whole matter has been dropped.

Nobel Winner Barred From US Visit

NEW YORK, Dec. 5 — (AP)— The New York Times says today that Dr. Ernest B. Chain, Nobel prize-winning biochemist, has been barred twice from entering the United States.

One entry would have been on a science mission for the United Nations' World Health Organization, a story by Kathleen Teltsch at the UN headquarters here says.

State Department refusal of a visa last April to Dr. Chain, who helped develop penecillin, was disclosed at the UN Tuesday, the story asserts.

The disclosure came, it adds, "only after it became known that another and more recent entry application for the German-born scientist had also been turned down—this time to be a speaker at a fund-raising dinner last week at the Hotel Waldorf-Astoria on behalf of Israel's Weizmann Institute of Science."

"This second incident," the Times continues, "brought a strongly worded letter from Dr. Chain in Rome, where he is director of the international research centre for chemical microbiology.

"In it Dr. Chain deplored the State Department's action, which, he maintained, was not explained beyond the terse assertion that the visa had been rejected for 'security' reasons."

The Times says Dr. Chain fled Germany in 1933 as a refugee, went to Britain and became a British citizen in 1939.

Camera Club Views Vacation Activities

Fifteen members of the Peterborough Camera Club viewed member's colour slides on Tuesday evening and were satisfied with the showing.

Bob Williamson showed 40 slides of summer tripping in Ottawa, Quebec, Gaspe and the Gannet bird sanctuary on Bonaventure Island. He also had some good church interior shots but had the misfortune of dropping his camera and spoiling about 60 of his best exposures.

Flowers and a cat were subject of a series of 20 slides shown by Bill Harrison. Ray Tillerington showed a dozen from the vacation country of Eastern Ontario and Massachusets. Sid Bond projected a dozen slides taken in the Peterborough district.

The feature of next weeks meeting, Tuesday evening, will be print criticism by members of members' more recent work.

Mr. John Seale at present is not walking, but when he does, he'll be playing hob with shoes. At that time, his mother will do well to get new-formula 2 IN 1 Shoe Polish. Biltmores Subdue Barrie 6-4 As Dutchmen Beat Out Tigers 6-5

By The Canadian Press.

Those scrappy Guelph Biltmores just aren't to be outdone in the classy Ontario Hockey Association Junior A circuit. They came through with a hard-fought 6-4 win over ninth-place Barrie Flyers to regain first place in the 10-team standings Tuesday night.

For the past two weeks it has been touch and go between the Bilts and Toronto Marlboros for first place. The Marlies held sway during the opening weeks of the campaign, but the Guelph club has climbed into contention of late.

It was their league leading marksman, Ken Laufman, who gave them their winning edge on Tuesday night by breaking a 2-2 second-period deadlock with a pair of goals while the Flyers were shorthanded.

In other junior tussles, Galt Black Hawks moved into a third-place tie with Toronto St. Michael's when they handed the Irish an 8-3 lacing at Galt. A late-game rush which netted St. Catharines Teepees three goals wasn't enough as Kitchener Greenshirts beat them 4-3 at St. Catharines in the only other junior game scheduled.

OHA Senior A play saw Ed Stankiewicz, just back from a tryout with St. Louis Flyers of the American Hockey League, score three times to lead Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen to a 6-5 victory over Hamilton Tigers. The win moved the third-place Dutchmen to within four points of the runner-up Hamilton crew.

Deciding Factor

Don Oberholtzer's fourth goal of the night was the deciding factor in an overtime 9-7 Brantford Redmen victory over Owen Sound Mercurys in the other senior clash. Deadlocked 7-7 going into overtime, Oberholtzer made it 8-7 in the extra period and Johnny Holota scored an insurance marker.

Up north the cellar-dwelling North Bay Black Hawks tumbled to their eighth loss in 11 starts Tuesday night as they bowed 6-3 to Sudbury Miners in a Northern Ontario Hockey Association Senior A tussle.

At Guelph Ken Laufman rapped his two counters home to break a 2-2 second period tie when Barrie defenceman Dan O'Connor was resting in the penalty box on an interference offence. Other Guelph goal-getters were Harry Howell, Ron Murphy, Chuck Henderson and Lou Fontinato.

Chuck Wood, Dan O'Connor, Doug Mohns and Paul Emms tallied for the Flyers.

Galt Winner

Pete Conacher led the Galt Black Hawks to their 9-3 win over St. Mike's with three goals while Ken Wharram scored twice and Art White, Neil McDonald and Tom Fyles scored singletons.

Ted Toppazzini, Bill Dineen and Jim Logan were the marksmen for the Toronto college squad.

Frank Toyota and Herb Dares each scored twice in the 4-3 Kitchener Greenshirt win over St. Catharines Teepees. Gerald Foley, John Myles and Pierre Pilote tallied for the losers.

Ed Stankiewicz scored those important three goals for Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen in their 6-5 win over Hamilton Tigers. Doug Verity, Maurice Levesque and Scotty Mair tallied the others. Murray Dunnette, Murray Comfort, Ab Conick, Ron Kemp and Freddy Pankoski lit the red light for the Tigers.

Don Oberholtzer scored four times in the Brantford win over Owen Sound. Billy Taylor and Johnny Holota each tallied twice and Bob Wrightsell got the other.

Tommy Burlington notched two for the losers with singletons going to Mike Bukacheski, Bill Allum, Roy Leckie, Harry Kazarion and Al Furslund.

PANTHERS WIN TITLE — Hamilton Panthers defeated St. Boniface-Norwood Legionnaires 18-0 last Saturday at Hamilton to win the intermediate football championship of Canada. A crowd of 8,600—record for an intermediate game—watched this St. Boniface backfielder stopped in his tracks trying to run back a Panther kick.

Here and There In Sport

By The Canadian Press

Defenceman Gus Mortson of the Toronto Maple Leafs said on Tuesday at Toronto that Sunday night's kicking incident in the National Hockey League game at Detroit started when Freddie Glover of the Detroit Red Wings cross-checked him on the back of the neck.

"I dumped him on the ice and he slashed out at me with his skates," said Mortson. "It's a good thing I wore pads, because he connected. My first thought was to kick him back. I'll admit I did swing, but I honestly did not touch him."

Jack Adams, Red Wing manager, made a statement to the press and sent a telegram to Clarence Campbell of Montreal, NHL president. Conn Smythe, Leafs' general manager, said on Tuesday that Adams should have sent a wire to referee-in-chief Carl Voss instead.

Smythe added that, in any case, the matter of any further action still was up to Campbell.

If Joe DiMaggio quits—positively—New York Yankees will be in there pitching for Boston's Ted Williams. You could read between the lines Tuesday as Yank general manager George Weiss dodged questions at a press conference in Columbus, Ohio.

DiMaggio was to fly to Phoenix, Ariz., to meet with co-owner Del Webb today and is scheduled to meet with co-owner Dan Topping and Weiss in New York next week. Out of this series of meetings will come his final word.

In Albany, Calif., racing at Golden Gate fields today was called off when the jockeys refused to ride because of poor visibility caused by driving wind and rain. Bert Thompson, western representative of the Jockey's Guild, presided over a meeting at which a great majority of the some 30 jockeys on hand voted not to ride.

Dama Don, owned and driven by Dr. Charles J. Fowler of Detroit, splashed his way to a double victory at Toronto's Dufferin Park Tuesday during a heavy rainstorm in the fifth and featured race, a classified trot.

The secondary feature was won in a straight heat by Miss Doris Van, owned by G. Barron of Brantford and handled by Gordon Kitchen.

At Johannesburg, South Africa, veteran tournament golfer Bobby Locke and his estranged wife initiated a separation suit here on Tuesday. Locke's record of 50,000 miles chasing golf competitions around the world for 15 years might have brought him a room full of trophy silverware but it played havoc with the family circle, his wife said in court. She said the marriage in 1943 was happy at first but deteriorated because he spent so much time away from home.

At Auckland, NZ, a $150,000 deal for the purchase of Mainbrace, champion New Zealand race horse, has been called off. A test by a veterinary Tuesday disclosed the thoroughbred had a ripped muscle caused by racing on a heavy track. Jockey Johnny Longden had indicated he would purchase the horse for $150,000 for Max Bell, Canadian newspaper publisher.

At New Orleans, Fred Digby, general manager of the Sugar Bowl, said Tuesday tickets for the Jan. 1 football classic will be marked for members of the "Caucasion race" as they have been in past ygars. There are 800 reserved seats for Negroes.

Under Louisiana law mixing of whites and Negroes is prohibited at sports events.

At Columbus, O., it was announced that Syracuse of the International League today traded pitcher Buck Tanner to Toronto for catcher Vince Plumbo.

Hotel Commotion Costs Woman $20

COBOURG, Dec. 5—(ENS)—A local woman pleaded guilty to causing a disturbance in a public place and paid a fine of $20 and costs when she appeared before Magistrate R. B. Baxter in police court Tuesday. Constable E. Butler said that the accused got into an argument in a local hotel and when the police came dared them to arrest her. They took her up on it. The belligerents had been in the beverage room prior to hostilities.

Gregory Gibbons, RCAF, Trenton, was fined $50 and costs when he pleaded guilty to a charge of driving while his ability was impaired by alcohol. Police said he drove his car into the ditch and that it rolled over and then righted itself, after which he started away again and was only intercepted by police after a chase.

Wayne Howard of Cobourg was remanded out of custody for one week when he pleaded guilty to joyriding. He took the car from the garage where he worked, without the proprietor's permission.

Robert Underwood, English immigrant who was brought over from England to work in the CGE plant at Peterborough, was allowed out on a remand out of custody when he appeared for sentence on a charge of false pretences. Underwood borrowed $450 from Arthur Ash of Grafton on the excuse that he had to pay off an immigration bond. Ash borrowed the money from a finance company and gave it to the accused.

Evidence revealed that Underwood had borrowed a large sum of money from various sources including Ash and when he got the money from Ash he had misrepresented his reason for obtaining the loan and had no means of paying it back within the specified time. The court let him go so that he could earn money to pay back Ash, who is a working man.

Nikolai Karkoteo of Toronto, 30, was fined $10 and costs on a drunk charge. He was picked up after an argument with a waiter in a local beverage room.

Too Gay A Life

MARION, O., Dec. 5 —(AP)—This little squirrel literally killed itself having a good time. Mrs. Richard Temple Tuesday night found a squirrel had crawled down the chimney, chewed up four pairs of curtains and broke a floor lamp. The squirrel then chewed into a lamp cord and was electrocuted.

KLAMATH FALLS, Ore., Dec. 5 —(AP) —The official wind-velocity gauge here registered a 70-mile-an-hour blow Tuesday then went out of action. Inspection showed its bearings had burned out.

Roth Maintains Scoring Lead

TORONTO, Dec. 5 (CP). — Mickey Roth, Stratford Indians' sharp-shooting forward, this week maintained his hold on the Ontario Hockey Association Senior A scoring parade in games played to Dec. 3. Roth holds a three-point margin on runner-up Eddie Stankiewicz of Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen.

Roth had scored 20 goals and 18 assists in 19 league games for a total of 38 points for the first-place Indians while Stankiewicz has collected 18 goals and 17 assists for 35 points in 16 games.

Denny Flanagan holds down third place with 34 points for the Stratford club, while Tommy Burlington of Owen Sound Mercurys is fourth with 30 points.

Bruce Dale Stratford goalkeeper, leads the league netminders in the goals-against average. In 19 games he has allowed an average of 2.63 goals a game while Art Childs, Hamilton Tigers' veteran goalie, is next with 3.50 in 10 games. Harry Hurley of Kitchener is third with a 3.60 average for 15 games.

US Unemployment Up

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5 — (AP) —The number of jobless persons in the United States for the week ended Nov. 10 stood at 1,828,000—an increase of 212,000 over October the census bureau reported on Tuesday. Unemployment was still 412,000 under the figure for the comparable week last year. Total civilian employment was put at 61,336,000 as compared with 61,-271,00 a year earlier.

Granted Divorce

JERSEY CITY, N.J., Dec. 5 — (AP) —A woman whose husband led her to believe she was going to California and put her instead on a slow boat back to Italy won a divorce for desertion Tuesday. Mrs. Domenica Giordano testified that she couldn't locate her husband when she finally returned to the United States after the round-about trip.

Girl Robber At 13

SIOUX CITY, Ia., Dec. 5 —(AP) —A 13-year-old girl was has admitted robbing houses on her way to and from baby-sitting jobs, detective chief Harry J. Gibbons said Tuesday. He said the eight-grade pupil had obtained $60 in cash and various other items at several homes.

Vengeful Thug

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 5—(AP) —A thug demanded his victim's change purse Tuesday, got it, then cut the man's throat. Michael Kabalo, 55, was in critical condition from the knift wound. Physicians said a vein was severed. He told them the holdup man got $4.

Car, Grader Collide North Of Campbellford

CAMPBELLFORD, Dec. 5 — (ENS)—Extensive damage was caused to a car and road grader on Monday evening, when the two vehicles tangled on Highway 30 about three miles north of Campbellford.

Ralph Alley of Havelock, 29, was proceeding north and attempted to turn out to pass the road grader operated by Garfield Palmateer of Picton. Alley noticed the lights of an approaching truck and attempted to swing back to his own side of the road. His car struck the right side of the grader.

The front of the Alley car was badly damaged and a tire blown on the grader. There were no injuries. Provincial Constable George Rose of Campbellford investigated.

Newspaperman Ernie Burritt Dies In Toronto

TORONTO, Dec. 5 — (CP). — D. E. (Ernie) Burritt, 44, one of Canada's best-known and best-loved working newspapermen, died today. He was general news editor of the Canadian Press, national news agency.

The jovial, curly-haired editor who joined CP as a Toronto office boy in 1923, underwent a serious operation November 16. His unsuccessful three-week fight to recover was followed by his friends across Canada, in New York and London where he had worked in CP bureaux.

As fast with a good-natured quip as he was developing a news angle, he joked and joshed as he supervised day-to-day operations of the national news association from coast to coast. His carefree attitude belied the thorough planning of big-news coverage which made his reputation as a top-flight news executive.

He spent four years in London during the war, experiencing the worst of the London blitz. CP's London office was bombed out during the period, but carried on. He was chief of bureau there when the Canadians went to Dieppe in August, 1942. On this —one of the CP's most spectacular war-coverage jobs— his behind-the-scenes organization was letter-perfect.

Developed Reporters

His wartime spell at London was the highlight of his news career, but many of his colleagues say the outstanding period was his three years at Montreal Bureau just before the war. As a hard-going news editor, he developed almost a dozen reporters or editors who later formed the core of CP's team of war correspondents and parliamentary reporters.

Ernie Burritt, who was seldom called by his first name, Daniel, was born at Timagami, Ont., July 7, 1907. His family soon moved to Toronto but Ernie always emphasized his north-country origin. There was a sharp check-up for any young editor who let Timagami slip by in a news story with an "e" after the "i".

Not Outstanding

Veterans who knew him as an office boy say that at the start he showed no special aptitude for newspaper work—but his work was always neat, fast and enthusiastic. Five years after he started as office boy in the accounting department, he was given a tryout in 1928 as a junior editor. From then on, his rise in the service was steady.

From Toronto he was moved to Winnipeg in 1931, back to Toronto and on to Montreal and Halifax—each job carrying more responsibility. Between those assignments he handled relief assignments in other CP bureaux.

Soon after the war began, he was called to CP's head office in Toronto to direct the service to Ontario newspapers. Four months later he was assigned to London bureau staff and became bureau chief on the death at sea in 1941 of Sam Robertson, the only CP war correspondent killed by enemy action.

In 1944, his term of overseas service ended, Ernie moved to New York as CP bureau chief and he became general news editor in Toronto in 1945.

In 1948, he married Ruth Stewart of Riviere Du Loup, Que., sister of William Stewart, CP chief of bureau at Quebec. There are two small sons, Danny and Carroll.

His parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Burritt; three brothers, Oscar, Rolph and Byron; and two sisters, Mrs. G. E. Lee and Mrs. Nelson Rush, live in Toronto.

The funeral will be Friday at 2 pm from the Trull Funeral Home, Toronto, to Mount Pleasant Cemetery. The Rev. D. P. Roland will conduct the service.

R. Outingdyke Heads Campbellford Legion

CAMPBELLFORD, Dec. 5 — (ENS)—Campbellford Branch 103 of the Canadian Legion held their annual election meeting in the Legion hall on Monday evening.

A large number of veterans were on hand and showed a keen interest in the voting. There were three candidates for the presidency: Reginald Outingdyke, Morley Horseman and Ken Hazell.

The voting resulted in the following being named to the new posts for 1952: President, Reg. Outingdyke; 1st vice-president, Alex MacDonald (acclamation); 2nd vice-president, Percy Peeling; 3rd vice-president, Ken Hazell; secretary-treasurer, C. C. Massie; Sgt. at arms, William Dungar.

Chairmen of committees—Pensions, Morley Horseman; Poppy, Paul Coughlan; Sports, T. A. Smith; Bingo, Percy Peeling. Executive committee: T. A. Smith, Jack Storie, Jack Mino, Charles Shaw and Harry Fields.

Ordnance Depot Work Expected To Start Soon

COBOURG, Dec. 5 — (ENS) — There are signs of life in connection with Cobourg's 13 million dollar ordnance depot. For some weeks a contractor has been making up six-foot-diameter tile and in the current issue of a trade magazine the government has called for tenders for construction of a transformer station on the property.

Maurice Booth, manager of the local employment office, revealed yesterday that he had received the list of minimum wages paid for various trade classifications in construction work. Mayor Jack Burnet said that officials from the Department of National Defence were expected this week in connection with land transfers undertaken to increase the holdings.

Warn Broadcasts May Kill Minor Baseball

COLUMBUS, O., Dec. 5 (AP)— George Trautman today warned that minor-league baseball cannot long survive the "radio umbrella" of major-league broadcasts.

The president of the National Association of Minor Leagues told the opening session of the golden jubilee convention that "the solution is squarely in the hands of the individual club."

"It is the legal right (and moral obligation)," said Trautman, for each individual club to exercise a reasonable restraint over its broadcasting and telecasting policies.

Trautman said minor-league fans have become major-league conscious because of "nation-wide broadcasts that fill the air daily with highly-colored descriptions of major-league play."

Getting Smaller

Delegates were reminded that the NAML structure has shrunk from 59 leagues and 444 clubs in 1949 to 49 leagues and 356 clubs in 1951. Attendance declined from 43,700,000 to 27,500,000.

"Certainly it would be wiser for each major league to pursue a policy that would permit the minors to live," Trautman said.

Calling the 24-hour recall a tool that makes a "whistle stop" of a minor league town for the benefit of a higher club, Trautman asked for its abolition.

Do Not Handle

NEW RECIPE

1 pair scuffed shoes
1 shoe brush
1 can New-Formula 2 IN 1 Shoe Polish
1 buffer

With shoe brush, smooth on New-Formula 2 IN 1 Shoe Polish. Notice how the rich blend of waxes and dyes actually recolors scuffs and scratches, enriches leather color. Now, with a few rubs of the buffer, bring polish up to a brilliant gloss, that protects leather from scuffing, moisture. YIELD: 1 pair shoes that look like new! 2 tins for 35c.

It's the extra that Counts!

CONVICTED BY REDS—With 6,000 enraged spectators shouting judgment, a Red Chinese People's Court in the capital of Kwantung Province last Sunday sentenced two nuns to five years' imprisonment and expulsion from the country at the end of their terms. Two others were ordered expelled for life and the fifth was sentenced to simple expulsion, The five Sisters of the Roman Catholic Order of the Immaculate Conception, whose mother house is in Montreal, were convicted of the murder of children in the orphanage they operated in Canton and of extortion and illegal sale of children.

Army Steals Fashion Spotlight Canadians Setting Hat Styles

By DOUGLAS HOW

WITH THE CANADIANS IN GERMANY, Dec. 5 (CP)—Ladies, the army, of all people, is stealing your thunder in the hat line.

Indeed, now that this trend has received the official sanction of no less a military deity than Gen. Eisenhower himself, it is apt to report that never has such a surge of fashion made itself felt in the army's ranks.

As one sepctacular example, eight Canadians arrived at an officers' club in Hannover one night recently in eight different kinds or shades of headdress.

This sartorial offensive is undoubtedly a good idea. The army, long an anonymous parade of khaki, is going to offer far more color than either the navy or air force, a fact hardly calculated to maim recruiting.

The Eisenhower blessing came at the big Rotterdam ceremony in which he took the 27th Brigade into his Atlantic Pact force. There he looked down upon a sea of scarlet, the berets of the 1st Infantry Battalion, and he said in the most stimulating way that no other soldier had better earned the right to a headgear of his own choice than the Canadian infantryman.

Quite A Variety

This firmly entrenched the scarlet beret—the soldiers call it the cherry beret—in its position as the extreme element in this fashion movement. Its lesser fellows are the green berets of the Rifle Battalion, the Glengarries and Balmorals of the Highland Battalion and the navy blue berets coming in for the other arms such as engineers and signals.

In addition, the soldiers are looking forward to the day when they can abandon their khaki berets for work hours and don the new peaked, CWAC-like cap reported coming in.

But the officers are the spearhead of this dress development. They dress up at night now either in khaki serge or the tight-fitting navy blue No. 1 dress and they top this off with splendid variety in hats.

Take the eight officers arriving at the club. They boasted a maroon airborne beret, a scarlet beret, a Glengarry, a guardsman's hat, the somewhat similar No. 1 dress hat, navy blue and braided, a blue wedge cap, a Balmoral and one brave if obsolescent traditionalist in khaki.

Prairie Farmers Decide To Enter Margarine Trade

SASKATOON—(CP)—A group of Saskatchewan farmers have an about face on margarine. Instead of fighting it, they'll make the butter substitute. themselves.

"We have no prejudice against maragarine any more," said George Urwin, president of Saskatchewan Federated Co-Operatives.

C. T. Gooding, manager of the Saskatchewan Dairy Pool, added: "margarine has been giving the dairy industry a ride. We believe that rather than have margarine hurt us, we should have it help us."

Last year 10,000,000 pounds of margarine was brought into Saskatchewan from outside the province. The Saskatchewan farmers decided they might as well cut themselves in on the profits.

"We're going to take the ball away from the soap companies and other manufacturers of margarine and keep the savings for Saskatchewan," said Mr. Urwin, whose 300 retail co-operative stores have been selling between 6,000 and 7,000 pounds of imported margarine a week at about 43 cents a pound. Butter is selling here at 69 cents.

The Dairy Pool and the Federated Co-Operatives are controlled by some 120,000 Saskatchewan farmers. The two organizations have organized a subsidiary, Western Foods Ltd., to manufacture margarine. Equipment owned by the dairy pool will be used.

Use Dairy Products

An aim of the new enterprise will be to make maximum use of dairy products. Legislation may be necessary. Saskatchewan law now requires that at least 80 per cent of any butter substitute be vegetable oils. Western Foods Ltd. will be able to incorporate about 16-per-ent whole milk in its product, but Mr. Urwin and Mr. Gooding would like to see the proportions reversed.

Sponsors of the plan see another long-range advantage for Saskatchewan farmers, who long have been urged to lessen their reliance on grain growing. They will encourage farmers to grow sunflowers, whose seeds yield a high-grade vegetable oil.

Southern Manitoba has had considerable success in growing sunflowers for salad oils. In northern Saskatchewan, about 100 experimental sunflower plots were set out this year. Already there is a vegetable oil extraction plant in Saskatoon, which has been processing rape-seed oil for low-quality European margarine.

The two influential co-operatives do not speak for the entire Saskatchewan dairy industry, but their decision to get into the margarine business marks a big step from the previous stand. Only a year ago Mr. Gooding, voicing scepticism regarding a news story that some dairy farmers cashed their cream cheques in order to buy margarine, said:

"A dairy farmer would be a fool to cut his own throat, and dairy farmers are not fools."

Won't Hurt Dairying

Announcing the new plan, Mr. Urwin said: "before very long you will be able to buy co-operative produced margarine. For the life of me I cannot see that this is going to hurt the dairy industry in any way because, as I say, the Dairy Pool came in with us on the proposition."

Federated Co-Operatives will distribute the margarine through its 300 stores. The Dairy Pool will take care of selling it to independent retail outlets.

Butter production in Canada, now at the lowest level in 20 years, has dropped by about 40,000,000 pounds a year since the manufacture of margarine was declared legal by the judicial committee of the Privy Council nearly three years ago.

Besides competition from margarine, dairy men blame the decline in butter production on the difficulty of obtaining labor for dairy farms and the relatively high returns to farmers for other products such as beef cattle, grain, hogs and poultry.

Saskatchewan Dairy Pool won't go out of the butter business. It expects to continue processing into butter all the cream its farm members have to offer. But it will keep its facilities going full tilt with margarine an added product.

Instalment Plan Urged For Fines

MONTREAL (CP)—Thousands of Canadians are being sent to prison for the modern version of imprisonment for debt. That is the opinion of Alex Edmison, vice-principal of Queen's University and president of the National Prisoners' Aid Association of the United States.

In a recent address here he said: "this is supposed to be a democratic country, but daily in courts throughout Canada, people are going to jail because they haven't enough money to pay fines. It is about time the law was changed so that people will be permitted to pay fines on the instalment plan."

Mr. Edmison said Canadians must give a better break to the 86,000 men, women and children who are released from Canadian penal institutions each year, given $10 and sent on their way.

He said the reformative approach, rather than the merely punitive, must be used in all institutions so that those released don't go back again.

Mr. Edmison said another point needing immediate attention was the present-day system of "no money, no lawyer." He was glad that Ontario this year adopted a legal aid scheme.

US Families Say Tripoli Life Just Like Home

By CARTER DAVIDSON.

TRIPOLI (AP).—Home life in Tripoli is just like suburban life in the United States with dirt, Arabs and language difficulties added—according to some Americans who are living it.

Some 380 of the 400 American families who are in Tripoli because of the military air transport service base at nearby Wheelus Field, are almost unanimous in living their way of life.

"It's really not much different from life at home," says Mrs. Marvin M. Stanley, wife of Maj. Stanley, Wheelus Field's public information officer.

The Stanleys, formerly of Lexington, Miss., have an eight-year-old son and a six-year-old daughter, both enrolled in a "dependents' school" on the field. They live in a small villa they rented in this ancient Arab town of Tripoli, about seven miles from the field.

Wives of the officers have formed a "Wives Club" that meets weekly and sponsors such projects as old clothes drives for Arab orphanages, bingo parties and rummage sales.

"Bridge, canasta and taking care of the household and the children take up the rest of the time," said one wife.

Many Working

Many of the wives have jobs here, working either in the Wheelus Field post exchange and commissary, or with a civilian construction firm now improving the field's runways and building new warehouses.

The dependents' school runs all the way from kindergarten to high school and has an enrolment of 170. The faculty includes four women teachers engaged in the US, two wives of Wheelus Field officers, a lieutenant and a sergeant.

Valuable Experience

One of them is Miss Frieda Lipe, 27-year-old native of Pineville, Mo., and formerly a teacher in Columbus, Mo., schools.

She explains she took the job to get overseas teaching experience to train for a position with the United Nations Educational Scientific and Cultural Organization. In off duty hours, Miss Lipe is studying art in Tripoli under Prof. Malverna, formerly of Rome.

The pay, she said "just about averages out the same as in the United States, plus the advantage of free travel." The salary is lower than in the US, but the low cost of living makes up the difference.

Dependent families living in Tripoli do nearly all of their shopping at the field commissary, but buy vegetables, eggs and some meat on the local market.

Nice Prices

Eggs in Tripoli are 25 cents a dozen, tomatoes eight cents a pound, beefstake 40 to 50 cents a pound. Top grade English woollens are expertly tailored into men's suits for up to $50, on the Corso Vittorio Emmanuele, Tripoli's main street.

Most of the American wives have at least one Arab servant, usually a "safragi" or cleaning boy. Most of them prefer to do their own cooking.

One drawback: because it would offend the Moslem religion, Tripoli wives are sternly admonished by their husbands "never wear slacks or shorts on the streets."

BREAK THE LAXATIVE HABIT THIS PROVEN WAY

If you take laxatives regularly, here is how you can stop! This proven plan helps you establish your natural powers of regularity, controlled tests prove.

Stop taking whatever you now take. Instead, every night for one week take two Carter's Little Liver Pills. Second week—one each night. Third week—one every other night. Then nothing! Every day drink eight glasses of water; set a definite time for regularity. This plan was proven in scientifically controlled tests.

How can a laxative break the laxative habit? Because Carter's unblock the lower digestive tract and from then on let it make use of its own natural powers. Further, Carter's contain no habit forming drugs. Break the laxative habit with Carter's . . . be regular naturally.

Thousands Battle In Tehran Reds Suffer Bloody Defeat

Army Crest Tattoo Identifies Slain Holdup Man

TORONTO, Dec. 6. (CP)—A regimental crest tattooed on a left thumb has led to the identification of a gunman slain Tuesday night during a drugstore holdup as Thomas Danek, 34, of Windsor. As soon as the dead bandit's identity was established Wednesday night, police started to check his acquaintances for clues that might lead to the capture of his accomplice, who fled after a gun battle with Constable Richard Deadman in the drugstore.

Squads of detectives combed hotels and roominghouses in an effort to find the place where the two bandits stayed before the holdup. Police expressed belief the second man still was hiding somewhere in the city and would probably elect to shoot it out if cornered.

Publication of a newspaper photograph of the tatoo on Danek's thumb led to its recognition as the crest of the Essex Scottish regiment of Windsor. A former soldier with a similar marking on his own thumb told police he and Danek had the tatooing done before the Dieppe raid in August, 1942.

Captured By Germans

Danek was one of the members of the Essex Scottish captured by the Germans at Dieppe. He escaped from a prison camp in Germany and made his way into Russia. He was repatriated in March, 1945.

Two other ex-soldiers confirmed the identification. Then a west-end resident said Danek had boarded at his home for the last four months and had called himself "Thomas Kendall."

In Windsor, police revealed further details about the dark-haired, hazel-eyed Danek. They said he served as a youthful volunteer in the Spanish civil war. He bore a scar from a war wound on his left arm. He was involved in a boarding-house shooting scrape in Hamilton a year or two ago.

"Bad Chap"

A Windsor man who served with him in the Essex Scottish described him as "a bad chap with a good service record and an avowed communist."

Meanwhile, Constable Deadman was reported in "fairly good" condition in hospital. Examination of five slugs removed from his body Wednesday showed that both Danek and his tall, good-looking companion had fired and hit the officer. Two slugs hit Constable Deadman's left thigh, shattering the bone so badly that doctors say he may be permanently crippled.

3 More Pilots Suspended Fear TCA Strike

WINNIPEG, Dec. 6 —(CP)— Three more Trans-Canada Air Lines pilots have been suspended in the dispute over carrying passengers in flight compartments of aircraft, A. R. Eddy, executive vice-president of the Canadian Air Lines Pilots' Association, said Wednesday. The association hinted "drastic action" might be taken.

The pilots' organization recently issued a "safety" directive asking pilots not to permit unauthorized passengers in flight compartments, and the suspensions allegedly followed observance of the directive.

Saturday, the CALPA sent the dispute to R. Dodds, civil aviation controller with the department of transport in Ottawa. He wired the association the matter was "under discussion."

Charles R. Robinson, president of the association, sent another wire to Mr. Dodds, Wednesday, it read:

8 Suspended

"Since writing you re carrying of passengers in flight compartments, eight pilots have been suspended for adhering to CALPA safety directive and number mounting. Your ruling is urgently required to obviate further reprisals by company and drastic action by association."

Asked if by "drastic action" he meant a strike of pilots, Mr. Eddy said:

"It's pretty obvious what is meant. We must protect our members."

Promise Information

In Ottawa spokesmen for two government departments promised in the Commons to provide information on a dispute between Trans-Canada Air Lines and its pilots.

G. K. Fraser (PC—Peterborough West) questioned the government on the dispute, which

Will Review Interest On Gov't Annuities

OTTAWA, Dec. 6 (CP).—Labor Minister Gregg said today that the interest rate paid on government annuities will be reviewed as soon as amendments to the Annuities Act are passed by parliament.

He made the statement while the Industrial Relations Committee of the Commons continued study of the proposed amendments. They would increase the maximum amount of annuity to $2,400 from $1,200 a year. A cash surrender privilege would be introduced in Canadian government annuity contracts for the first time.

A. F. Macdonald (L-Edmonton East), chairman of the committee, read into the record a letter from the Trades and Labor Congress in support of the proposed changes.

The new legislation would authorize the government to base the interest rate as nearly as practicable on the average rate of return yielded by long-term government bonds.

Planes Silence Communist Guns

SEOUL, Korea, Dec. 6 (AP)—Allied airmen made 107 attacks on front-line Communists field guns today in an all-out campaign to make Korea's twilight war even quieter.

The abrupt change in United Nations air support tactics came as United Nations jets tangled with the Reds the 11th successive day— a record for continued air war. One Red jet was reported shot down, one possibly destroyed and another damaged. The air force said no Allied planes were hit.

Pilots who hit Red artillery said they destroyed 35 guns on the western front.

This would be the equivalent of more than a whole Red artillery regiment's guns. Red guns have harassed UN infantry since the twilight war began Nov. 28.

Thursday morning Allied fighter-bombers hit Red guns with the works—rockets, jellied gasoline fire bombs, half-ton high explosive bombs, and 500-pound fragmentation bombs which explode in the air.

Few Peace Gains Made Pearson Says

Russian Attitude In UN Assembly Hobbles Efforts

PARIS, Dec. 6. (CP)—L. B. Pearson said today that the current United Nations assembly can not be expected to make much of a contribution to peace in view of Russia's negative reaction to the west's conciliatory and constructive proposals.

In an interview with The Canadian Press before taking off for London, Canada's External Affairs Minister said, however, it is still too early to decide how much constructive work the Assembly will be able to do.

Pearson will leave London for Canada Dec. 11 after talks with North Atlantic Treaty deputies and probably Foreign Minister Anthony Eden of Britain. He said he will report to the House of Commons on the NATO and UN meetings.

Arab States Hindrance

Besides the negative Soviet reaction, Pearson cited as a hindrance to the Assembly's work the attitude of the Arab states. He said they have raised issues "which are considered by some UN members as dictated by purely national considerations."

Pearson said that up to the present the Assembly had been characterized more by controversy than constructiveness. This was inevitable in today's circumstances, when the Assembly was being used for propaganda purposes and waging the cold war.

"However, if out of these controversies some constructive solutions can later be found, then this Assembly will have done something worthwhile," he said.

He said the conciliatory attitude of western leaders is all to the good, because it would be deplorable if the west descended to the level of abuse and verbal attacks adopted by some Communist delegations.

Pearson listed among constructive western proposals that on reduction of arms, the proposed electoral commission for Germany, and collective measures against aggression.

"One can't be too optimistic that the current Assembly will make much of a contribution to peace or security," he said, "because Russian reaction to constructive western proposals has been consistently negative."

Carriers Able Launch A-Bombs

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Dec. 6 (AP) —Admiral William Fechteler said today that atomic bombs now are small enough and light enough for carriers to launch a multi-bomb attack from any place on the world's oceans at targets up to 600 miles away.

At the same time, the chief of United States naval operations suggested the conversion of ships, currently not in use, to various types of guided missile-launching ships.

Fechteler discussed the present and future roles of the navy in atomic age warfare in an address prepared for a meeting of the Navy League here.

He said "Our new and modernized carriers are capable of delivering the atomic bomb.

"The usefulness of carriers in delivering the atomic bomb increases as the bomb becomes smaller and lighter. This means that the navy has the capability of delivering an atomic bomb, or many atomic bombs, from anywhere on the earth's surface that is covered by water to a target within the radius of action of carrier-based planes—a distance of some 600 miles."

Bombers Make Historic Flight

FORT WORTH, Tex., Dec. 6— (AP)—Six B-36 bombers of the United States strategic air command—the kind that could carry an atomic bomb 10,000 miles—returned today from an historic training flight to Africa.

They landed at one of the brand-new American air bases there. It is one of several super-secret air fields being built around the world for global defence.

Maj. L. A. Proulx, intelligence officer of Southbridge, Mass., said it was the first time flights other than local ones had landed at the Sidi Slimane, French Morocco, field.

Russians Block Assembly Deadlock Delays Election

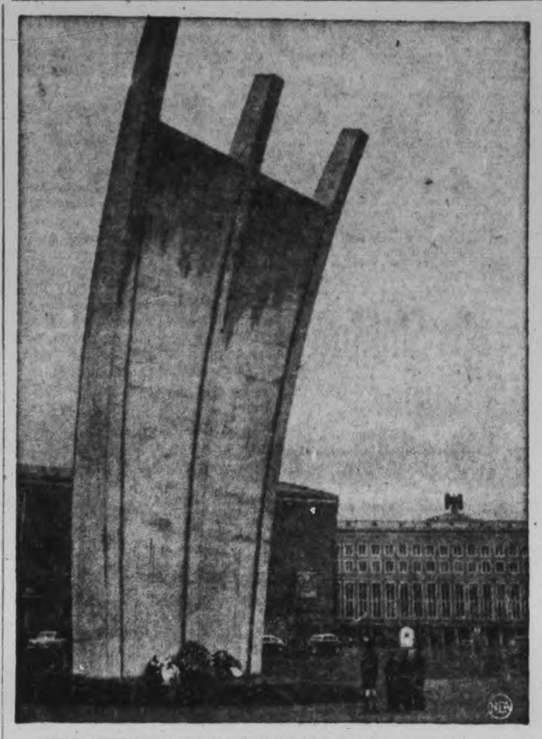
PARIS, Dec. 6 (AP)—Hopelessly deadlocked between White Russia and American-backed Greece, the United Nations' General Assembly today temporarily postponed the election of an 11th member of the Security Council.

Earlier, Chile and Pakistan were elected easily to fill two of the three vavancies.

After eight inconclusive ballots failed to give either the Russian or American candidates the required two-thirds majority for the third seat, the Assembly decided to wait before continuing its voting.

The United States, in weeks of political manoeuvres, has sought to line up the delegates in favor of Greece, a North Atlantic Treaty partner.

Russia has vehemently insisted that—according to a 1946 "Gentlemen's agreement" — the seat should go to one of the Soviet bloc Slavic states.



It was under similar regional agreements that Pakistan today succeeded India and Chile replaced Ecuador. A Soviet-satellite had always held the now-disputed seat until 1949, when Cominform - outcast Yugoslavia captured it with US backing.

The result of the first ballot was Chile 57 votes, Pakistan 55, Greece 30 and White Russia 26.

Forty votes, two-thirds of the 60-member body, are required for election.

A second ballot gave Greece 30 votes to 29 for White Russia, which actually is part of the Soviet Union but sits as an independent country as a result of the wartime Yalta agreements.

A third secret ballot gave White Russia 30, Greece 29.

Boats Pick Up Survivors After New Volcanic Action

MANILA, Nov. 6. (AP)—Raging Hibok Hibok volcano spewed out a new rain of fiery ashes tonight in its fourth major blast in three days. Additional casualties were feared. Official reports from the terror-stricken little south Philippines island of Camiguin said naval patrol boats moved close inshore to pick up survivors at Mambajao on the northern coast.

The latest eruption from the mile-high inferno was reported to have occurred at 4 pm (3 am EST).

Some 200 persons, mainly Chinese storekeepers and their families and Philippine army troops, had remained in Mambajao.

Dispatches from the Philippines News Service and Manila Times correspondents on the 13-mile-long island said the latest eruption apparently came from a new vent on the northern slope. The new vent was opened Tuesday night.

The news service report indicated there were deaths and injuries among those who had remained in Mambajao. It said naval patrol boats ran into shallow water and trained their searchlights on the shore.

Ferried To Boats

Small bancas (outrigger canoes) ferried survivors and their household goods to the patrol vessels.

At least 29 houses in Mambajao caught fire and were destroyed.

So far 209 bodies have been recovered. Official estimates say 500 more probably are buried in a six-square-mile area covered by lava and volcanic ash.

Searchers who approached the buried villages said they saw scores of bodies burned crisp in the hot blanket of ashes. The victims had been struck down by the volcano's deadly rain as they fled.

Ten thousand persons crowded into the little seaside town of Mahinog, waiting for the governor to decide whether they could be evacuated to nearby Mindanao island.

Refugees included almost the entire 7,000 population of Mambajao, largest town on little Camiguin island.

UK Exports Elephants To Help Jungle Folk

SOUTHAMPTON, Eng., Dec. 6 (Reuters)—Britain, a coal-mining country which now imports coal, today began exporting elephants to the jungle.

This latest topsy-turvy development has come about through a world shortage of the beasts.

A timber company in Borneo—where they used to roam in herds —has had to pay about $40,000 for five circus elephants from Britain to haul fallen trees.

The five originally came from Ceylon.

The circus - trained animals walked sedately past the slings erected to lift them on board the passenger liner Soudan. At a snap of their trainer's fingers they lumbered slowly up the creaking gangway unaided.

Stepinac Plans To Keep Title

KRASIC, Yugoslavia, Dec. 6— (AP)—Archbiship Alojzije Stepinac today grimly asserted his right to the title of archbishop. He said his release from prison changed his situation "only slightly."

The Roman Catholic primate of Yugoslavia revealed that conditions of his release by Premier Marshall Tito's government included a ban on his performing the duties of an archbishop and confined him to this tiny Croatian village where he was born.

But in an interview, Monsignor Stepinac firmly declared today:

"I am the legitimate archbishop and I am not a former archbishop. If the Pope wants it, I am ready to quite my archbishopric, but I will never give it up to government pressure."

(In Rome, Vatican circles took quick exception to the conditions of the prelate's release and declared "no civil authority" could oust him from his place as spiritual head of Yugoslav Roman Catholicism.)

The Archbishop said he had not asked for the conditional release from Lepoglava prison granted him Wednesday.

Monsignor Stepinac said today major issues between the church and Tito's Communist government are "not yet settled."

"There must be an agreement based on honesty and the essential conditions demanded by the Roman Catholic church," he said.

Allies Accept Inspection Plan

MUNSAN, Korea, Dec. 6 (AP) —The Allies today agreed to go along with a Communist demand that only specified points be subject to inspection during a Korean armistice.

The concession was part of a new UN eight-point plan for solving the bitter dispute over policing an armistice.

While Allied truce negotiators abandoned their demand for unrestricted behind-the-lines inspections, they insisted that the checks be made by joint Allied-Red teams.

The Reds reacted immediately —and unfavorably—to the Allied proposal, said a United Nations spokesman, Lt.-Col. Howard Levie.

The Communists want all inspections made by representatives of neutral countries. The UN command has not formally rejected this idea.

Turn Hoses, Tear Gas Against Mob

3 Killed, 200 Injured In Street Fighting, Communists Routed

TEHRAN, Iran, Dec. 6. (AP) —At least three persons were killed and more than 200 injured today in a five-hour battle between 5,000 Communists and 2,000 police and troops backed by angry mobs of Nationalists.

It was the bloodiest violence in Tehran since June, when riots resulted in more than 20 dead.

Police and troops gained control of the situation early this afternoon after using tear gas, fire hoses, rifle butts and clubs. At least two rioters were wounded by police gunfire.

Many of the injured were reported in serious condition.

An estimated 5,000 pro-Communist students started the heaviest rioting when they marched on the Majlis (parliament) shortly after dawn, in defiance of a government ban on demonstrations.

Bloody Conflict

Nationalists who support Premier Mohammed Mossadegh spilled into the streets and engaged in bloody conflict wherever they met the Reds.

The police and Nationalists together smashed and routed the Reds, who shouted "Death to Mossadegh" and fought with clubs, stones and fists.

What started as a Communist show of force against Mossadegh's government turned into a bloody Red defeat.

Yelling mobs of Nationalists smashed and burned Communist peace headquarters, raided pro-Communist newspapers and a theatre, and dumped bushels of propaganda books and leaflets into the streets.

Veteran observers believed the Nationalists were taking advantage of the riotous situation to wipe out known centres of the outlawed Communist Tudeh party.

Police Don't Fool

Police swung clubs and rifle butts in every direction. Once they quit firing into the air and levelled a volley at a mob of Red attackers.

Tons of water sprayed on the rioters from a score of fire trucks. Police jeeps and ambulances raced through the crowded streets.

More than 120 rioters were arrested.

Neil Colville Resigns Job

NEW YORK, Dec. 6 — (CP)— Neil Colville resigned today as coach of New York Rangers, a last-place team in the National Hockey League.

Colville announced his resignation at a luncheon for New York sports writers. He said the reasons are the poor showing the Rangers have made so far this season, plus reasons of his own health.

Manager Frank Boucher said that Bill Cook, former right-winger of the famous Cook-Boucher-Cook line, will take over the coaching duties.

MP's To Discuss Hypnotism As Girl Can't Keep Awake

LONDON, Dec. 6—(Reuters)— The House of Commons is going to discuss hypnosis because a young Scottish girl cannot keep awake.

Somerville Hastings, Labor member and a doctor, has given notice that he will raise after the Christmas recess the demonstration of "hypnotic phenomena for purposes of public entertainment" and urge that it be declared illegal. No details of the measures he proposes have been published.

The Scottish girl in a trance is Mary Proctor, 14, of Airdrie, Lanarkshire. Four weeks ago she attended a stage display of hypnosis by a man with staring eyes and a lullaby voice, John Barrington.

She responded to his invitation to mount the stage and be serenaded to sleep. He sang "Dreamer's Holiday" and she and two companions slipped into dreamland.

They awakened and went home —and then found themselves repeatedly falling off to sleep.

Barrington was summoned by the anxious parents.

He cured two of the girls but Mary resisted his will. Eventually she was taken to hospital.

She is still there tonight—still lapsing into trances, sometimes lasting three hours, with the tune and words of "Dreamer's Holiday" beating in her mind.

Barrington said he had hypnotized thousands of people without harm.

"What the girl really needs, I think, is a psychological kick in the pants," he told Reuters.

War Danger Less Than In 1948 Churchill Declares

LONDON, Dec. 6. (AP)—Prime Minister Churchill told the House of Commons today there is less danger of a third world war now than there was at the time of the "Berlin airlift crisis in 1948." In a speech that opened a debate on the defence policies of the new Conservative Government, Churchill credited the United States, Britain and other nations of the free western world with creating "deterrents against aggression" that have lessened the danger of world conflict.

He said it was his government's feeling that, as the deterrents have increased, "the danger (of war) has become more unlikely."

Churchill declared it is the "desire and intention" of the Conservative government to proceed as quickly as possible with the rearmament effort begun by the previous Labor regime.

LONDON — (AP). — Prime Minister Winston Churchill disclosed today his government has given up hope of fulfilling Britain's three-year, £4,700,000,000 arms program on schedule. Churchill declined to say how much Britain would fall short of meeting its rearmament targets, but said it would be unable to spend on time even the £1,250,000,000 budgeted for the armed services during the current year.

Churchill, who is also minister of defence, said British military men are worried over "the slow progress made in developing the Royal Air Force, especially in the suply of the latest machines." He added:

"We must not forget that the Soviet air force is formidable, not only in numbers but in quality."

Clash Sharply

Churchill and Clement Attlee, former Labor prime minister, clashed sharply over Churchill's assertion that the Labor government by a 1948 agreement had permitted the United States air force to set up bases here for using atom bombs against Russia "should the Soviet become aggressors."

Churchil" said the step taken by Attlee "places us in the front line should there be a third world war."

Attlee protested that it was "never suggested" that the US air bases here should be used for delivering atom bombs to Russia. But Churchill snapped back:

"That is the impression which, however mistakenly, they seem to have derived."

Attlee cautioned Churchill to "be careful on this," adding "we had conversations and the Americans have no illusions whatever

Decide To Fire UK Experts In Egypt's Army

CAIRO, Dec. 6 — (CP). — The government has decided to fire all British experts attached to the Egyptian armed forces and recall her military mission in Britain.

This latest move in the Anglo-Egyptian canal zone dispute was announced today by Abdel Fattah Hassan Pasha, Acting War Minister, as steel-helmeted police patrolled Cairo to enforce a state of emergency.

Demonstrations were banned throughout Egypt on Wednesday night after 30 anti-British demonstrators were wounded in a clash with police here. The canal zone was quiet.

The War Minister said all the Egyptian officers and men attending courses in Britain would be told to return to Egypt immediately.

(Figures announced in the British House of Commons Monday showed 51 Egyptian men training in Britain—18 navy officers and ratings, 11 army officers and 22 air force officers and men.

Battle Breaks Out

A British military spokesman said the latest gun battle broke out Wednesday night near Kantara, between Ismailia and Port Said, when Britons caught Egyptian civilians cutting a British communications cable.

In an ensuing exchange, some shots landed in an Egyptian army camp across the canal, the spokesman said. No casualties were reported.

The government's ban on demonstrations was ordered after 54 British and Egyptians died in canal zone clashes earlier this week and 19 Egyptians were injured Wednesday when police scattered demonstrating students.

Soldier Faces Murder Charge

OTTAWA, Dec. 6 (CP)—John Murray Steeves, of Moncton, NB, a sapper with the 57th independent field squadron of the Royal Canadian Engineers in Korea, has been charged with the murder of a South Korean civilian, army headquarters announced today.

He also faces additional charges of attempted murder and wounding. He will be tried by a general court martial Dec. 15.

The charges follow an incident on the night of Sept. 17 last, in the village of Hwang Bang Ni, in Kyong Ki province, South Korea, when a South Korean farmer, Shin Yong dok, was shot and his son wounded.

The army announcement gave no details of the incident.

Brig. A. B. Connelly, commander of the Canadian military mission in Tokyo, has been named president of the court.

Gold Bearing Plants Yield $400 An Acre

TORONTO, Dec. 6 — (CP) — Geologist Hans Lundberg said Wednesday night that gold bearing plants yielding as much as $400 an acre—soon may be grown commercially.

He told of an area in Indiana with colloidal gold in the soil. When horsetail fern was planted it absorbed as much as nine ounces of gold in a ton of plant matter.

Mr. Lundberg spoke to the Faculty of Applied Science and Engineering of the University of Toronto.

Civic Workers Ask $13 Increase Weekly

TORONTO, Dec. 6 — (CP).— Some 5,600 employees in three branches of Toronto's civic service will demand a wage increase tentatively set at $13.12 a week when their contracts come up for renewal at the end of the year.

The combined demands, exclusive of other concessions, would cost the city approximately $75,000 a week.

The $13.32 figure has been set by leaders of the Toronto Fire-Fighters' Association, Local 79 of the Municipal Employees' Union, and Local 43 of the Toronto Civic Employees' Union.

Weekly pay in the Fire Department now ranges from $57 for a fireman to $78.60 for a district chief. Members of Local 79 of the Municipal Employees' Union, mainly indoor workers, earn from $30 for junior clerks to $85 for supervisory employees.

Vast New Expansion In US Of Atomic Plants Announced By Chairman

NEW YORK, Dec. 5. (AP)—Chairman Gordon Dean of the Atomic Energy Commission, said Wednesday night that tentative plans now are being developed for a vast new expansion of US atomic weapons. Dean said in a speech before the American Ordnance Association that the proposed expansion was spurred by the threat of the "Communist colossus" towering over the world's free countries and was made feasible, at least in part, by fresh discoveries of urnanium deposits in Canada and Colorado.

Dean said one of the major reasons "why a further expansion of the atomic energy program is now being considered" is that recent technological developments "have made possible the consideration of atomic weapons for tactical as well as strategic employment."

In tactical usage, atomic weapons would be employed for close support of ground troops—by such means at atomic artillery shells, "baby" A-bombs or atomic guided missiles.

Strategic usage would involve long-range attacks against enemy defence centres, with big, mass-destruction atom bombs as the weapon.

Expensive Projects

Dean noted that the first expansion, launched in 1949, centred on a $300,000,000 project at the Hanford, Wash., plutonium plant and a $220,000,000 project at the Oak Ridge, Tenn., uranium plant.

The second expansion, now in progress, is a huge new plant at Aiken, SC, which he said will cost more than $1,250,000,000, and a new $500,000,000 plant at Paducah, Ky.

"And now," he said, "the atomic energy commission and the Department of Defence are working on the development of plans for still another expansion of the atomic energy productive capacity of the United States.

"Functionally, if and when we expand, we will be increasing principally our capacity to produce fissionable materials, and thus our capacity to produce atomic weapons."

Those same fissionable materials, Dean said, will serve as power-producing sources for peacetime usage in the event of a change for the better in international diplomatic relations.

Discuss Strike At Ford Plant

WINDSOR, Dec. 6 (CP).—Representatives of Ford of Canada and of the United Automobile Workers (CIO) meet today to discuss the dismissal last Thursday of 26 automotive workers, a major issue in a strike that started Monday.

A membership meeting of the union's Local 200 asked the negotiating committee to try to arrange for the talks.

The 26 men were fired on charges that they helped inspire an unauthorized walkout in protest against delays in receiving a conciliation board report.

Since then, the report has been handed down. One of its recommendations is for a general pay increase of eight cents an hour, retroactive to June 1, plus a five-cent-an-hour cost-of-living allowance increase. The union has been asking for a 30-cent-an-hour "package" increase on the basic Ford rate of $1.32 an hour.

Meanwhile, approximately 12,000 Ford workers are idle.

Judge Predicts Lifetime Bans

BRAMPTON, Dec. 6—Ontario motorists may have their driving licences suspended for life for serious driving offences, warned Judge Archibald Cochrane Tuesday. The judge was addressing a county court jury trying a dangerous driving charge against Ronald Crossman, of Port Credit. Crossman was convicted and fined $500. His driving licence was suspended for two years.

"Suspended sentences are no deterrent to persons who break the highway laws," said the judge. "In England a motorist can have his licence suspended for life. If motor killings continue here we will have to adopt the same system."

Constable Mackenzie Wilson, of the provincial police, said Crossman was the driver of an auto which collided with another car on the Lake Shore Road June 30. Mrs. Anne Dearle, 72, a passenger in the auto, received fatal injuries.

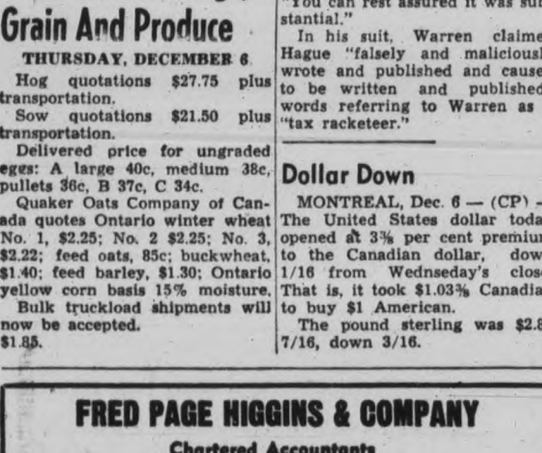
Settles Libel Suit With His Opponent

FREEHOLD, NJ, Dec. 6 (AP)—Frank Hague, deposed New Jersey Democratic boss, Wednesday night settled a $2,000,000 libel suit against him out of court. Hague settled with lawyer John Warren, a longtime political opponent, on the condition that the amount of the settlement would not be made public.

A reliable source said however, "You can rest assured it was substantial."

In his suit, Warren claimed Hague "falsely and maliciously wrote and published and caused to be written and published" words referring to Warren as a "tax racketeer."



Dollar Down

MONTREAL, Dec. 6 — (CP) — The United States dollar today opened at 3⅜ per cent premium to the Canadian dollar, down 1/16 from Wednseday's close. That is, it took $1.03⅜ Canadian to buy $1 American.

The pound sterling was $2.89 7/16, down 3/16.

Egg, Butter Support May Continue

Apple, Potato Losses Will Be Covered For All Provinces

OTTAWA, Dec. 6. (CP) — The Federal Government may continue its price support for eggs, butter and bacon in 1952. This possibility was suggested Wednesday by Agriculture Minister Gardiner at the windup of a two-day federal-provincial agricultural conference.

At the same time he said British Columbia and Nova Scotia no longer will get special consideration to cover losses on their apple and potato crops. Any federal assistance forthcoming in future for these crops would go to all provinces.

Mr. Gardiner discussed national agricultural policy in a two-hour speech.

Replying to a demand from the conference floor for price support on agricultural products, he said an announcement of government policy is to be made shortly. There had been no announcement saying that price support was not going to be granted.

No Strong Case

The minister said however he does not believe there has been a strong case made for increases on the government's floor prices for butter, bacon, eggs or cheese. Market prices were well above the price-support level.

W. R. Robertson, deputy minister of agriculture for British Columbia, suggested the price support for eggs be raised to 42 cents a dozen from the government's present floor price of 38 cents for grade "A" large eggs.

W. J. Parker of Winnipeg, vice-president of the 400,000-member Canadian federation of agriculture, said the floor should not be less than 38 cents but if it could be more "as much the better."

Mr. Gardiner said egg producers this year received an average price of 46.6 cents a dozen compared with 34 cents last year. Egg prices may be declining but if anything is to be emphasized it is the 12-cent-a-dozen increase the producer got, not the price drop, he said.

Mr. Gardiner told the conference the question of continuing the federal subsidy on the movement of feed grains from the prairies now is up for cabinet consideration. An announcement would be made "very shortly."

16 Nations Set Up Emigration Body

BRUSSELS, Dec. 6 (AP).—Sixteen nations Wednesday set up an inter-governmental committee to transport emigrants from European countries to nations overseas.

The committee is following up a one-year plan suggested by the United States to supervise the movement of 115,000 persons to various non-European countries desiring immigrants.

The US is contributing $10,000,000 for administrative and operational expenses while the other nations jointly will be asked to put up $24,000,000. These nations include Canada, Germany, Australia, Austria, Belgium, Bolivia, Brazil, Chile, France, Greece, Italy, Luxembourg, the Netherlands, Switzerland and Turkey.

The British delegate said that he hoped his country could join later but his government had reached no decision as yet.

Stock Prices Ease On Toronto Exchange

TORONTO, Dec. 6 — (CP) — Mid-session profit-taking today skimmed morning stock market gains. Early afternoon prices eased after a strong first-hour climb.

Textile and manufacturing companies weakened as retail stores slipped steadily.

Penny golds and lower-priced base metals drew most interest but Mid-Continent, in the Western Oil group, was a standout as more than 360,000 shares changed hands.

Consolidated Smelters and International Nickel added fractions while Ascot, New Calumet, Pend Oreille and Steep Rock strengthened. United Asbestos dipped about 45 cents in heavy trading.

Western Oils showed little trend. Anglo-Canadian, Consolidated Cordasun, New British Dominions and Selburn edged upward. Federated Petroleum and Jupiter dipped moderately.

Senior Golds eased. Juniors held gains and losses in balance while Prospects weakened and holding companies strengthened.

Paris Conference

LONDON, Dec. 6 (AP)—Prime Minister Churchill and Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden will go to Paris Dec. 17 for talks with their French opposite numbers, it was disclosed today. The discussions with Premier Rene Pleven and Foreign Secretary Robert Schumann were arranged at British request. Obvious purpose is to obtain French views on mutual problems which Churchill and Eden will discuss next month with President Truman in Washington.

Official forecasts issued by the Dominion public weather office in Toronto today:

Synopsis:

The weak weather system which brought light overnight rains to many Ontario centres will gradually move out of forecast regions during the day. The weather behind this storm will be generally cloudy and mild with the sun occasionally shining through the clouds in Southwestern Ontario.

A second storm area over Kansas this morning is headed for Ontario and will bring more rain to most regions during the night. Cold polar air will sweep across Northern Ontario on Friday in the wake of this storm but the mild weather is expected to hang out for another day in southern regions.

Regional forecasts valid until midnight Friday:

Lake Ontario, Niagara, Southern Georgian Bay, Haliburton regions; Toronto and Hamilton cities:

Cloudy and mild today and Friday with a few sunny periods Friday afternoon. Rain beginning after midnight tonight and ending Friday morning. Winds light today southeast 15 tonight shifting to southwest 20 Friday afternoon. Low tonight and high Friday at Trenton, St. Catharines, Toronto and Hamilton 40 and 45. Temperature at Muskoka and Killaloe falling to 40 by early Friday morning and holding steady during the day.

Summary for Friday: Mild. Rain ending by noon.

Recalls Sinking Of Steamer On Lake Superior

LONDON, Ont., Dec. 6 (CP)—Forty-five years ago today a young Londoner aboard the ill-fated Monarch watched the proud excursion steamer founder on the craggy rocks of Isle Royale on Lake Superior.

He was Frank Morningstar, retired Canadian National Railway employee, who retold the story on this aniversary with a macabre twist. He named "two bad omens" preceding the wreck which claimed one life—a blind man.

He said the steamer carried a scaffold in its cargo in the trip from Sarnia to the head of the lakes. The scaffold was unloaded at Port Arthur and was later used to hang a man convicted of slaying two Porth Arthur men.

The second omen was when a "dozen or more rats" deserted the doomed ship, scurrying down ropes to the dock.

Crashed Onto Rocks

Within four hours, the ship making its last run for the season, crashed onto the rocks of the island, noted among Great Lakes seamen as a treacherous obstacle.

A young baggageman aboard, Frank recalled that he was pinned against the pilot house by a life-raft when the ship broke in two. "The ship lurched again and I just had a chance to get clear," he said.

There was a crew of about 30 men, a woman and 10 passengers aboard the ship when she went on ahe rocks. All managed to crawl to the Rocky Isle along a rope but the blind man, Jimmy Jacques.

After three days and nights in bitterly cold weather, the survivors sighted the tug, Laura Grace, which took them back to Fort William.

A Sore Point

Churchill took up the matter of a European army—a sort point in relations between the US, France and Britain. The prime minister said Britons "must be agreed that there should be a European army and that Germany must take an honorable place in it." But he added:

"So far as Britain is concerned, we do not propose to merge into the European army. But we are already joined to it and we shall do our best to make a worthy contribution to the deterrents against aggression."

Premier Mossadegh's government had warned earlier that force would be used to back the ban against the demonstration today by Tehran university students, called by the Communist Tudeh party.

Fighting started today when Communist-led students tried to smash through a police blockade ringing the university. They were trying to join Communists inside the university grounds.

Engineer Demonstration

Red leaders were reported to have engineered the demonstration in hopes of forcing authorities into the unpopular position of again closing down Tehran University. The government did that several weeks ago but reopened the school after widespread popular clamor.

The violence mounted as the Reds, after their abortive try at the university, sought to assemble in the square before the Majlis building. Inside, excited deputies interrupted their session and ran to the windows to watch.

Some 1,000 helmeted troops threw a steel line around the Majlis.

Seaway Project Given Top Priority

OTTAWA, Dec. 6 (CP)—Legislation dealing with the St. Lawrence seaway project has top priority in these final days of parliamentary sittings, expected to end about Dec. 15.

With the Canadian government pushing for swift legislative action on the seaway, the Commons today will deal with that topic. Wednesday was devoted to the long-drawn out Throne-Speech debate.

First business today will be a bill ratifying a Federal-Ontario agreement for the province to develop power in the international rapids section of the river in conjunction with the navigation phase of the job to be carried out by the Federal government.

Works Minister Fournier, House leader, said Wednesday that on Friday the government will be ready to go ahead with another seaway bill, authorizing the creation of an "authority" to build and operate the navigation facilities of the seaway for Canada.

This measure has been before the House for a few weeks. The Federal-Ontario seaway power agreement was signed only Monday. Both are in line with the government's announced intention of going ahead alone with the project unless the US federal government joins in shortly.

Steer Off Motion

The Liberal majority in the House steered of a CCF non-confidence motion. This motion had expressed regret that the government had not arranged for an immediate payment of 75 per cent of the value of grain stored on farms because it could not be transported to elevators.

The members were excluded from voting on tha' question by a sub-amendment tacked on by A. J. Bater (L—The Battlefords), which eliminated most of the words of the CCF motion and substituted commendation of the government for its attention to western problems.

The Liberal motion carried by a vote of 148 to 41, with the Liberals winning over the combined opposition parties.

No Recollection

Old-timers on parliament hill said they had no recollection of such a move before—the government tacking on an amendment to the address in reply to the Speech from the Throne.

Stanley Knowles (CCF—Winnipeg North Centre), in querying the validity of the Liberal amendment in the House, said it has been generally accepted that any amendment to the address in reply constitutes a want-of-confidence motion, which calls for the resignation of the government.

The Commons still must vote on the CCF amendment as amended by the change proposed by Mr. Bater. This vote will come later in the debate and probably will be preceded by a vote on a new Progressive Conservative non-confidence motion.

John Diefenbaker (PC—Lake Centre) told the House before adjournment Wednesday night that he intends to propose a motion to this effect based on the "high taxation" policies of the administration. That motion likely will come some time next week.

Say Oshawa Salesman Had Slick Racket

TORONTO, Dec. 6 (CP)—Police today accused Sidney Birk, 27-year-old Oshawa salesman, of duping a number of Toronto women out of thousands of dollars by claiming he was a suspended race track jockey needing help and by proposals of marriage.

A professional model told police she gave $250 "to the little man." A private secretary admitted handing over $4,268 "to jockey Dickie Hughes."

One woman, who drove to police station in a limousine, said she had given Birk $1,000 but she did not care to prefer charges.

Police said other women who had been duped were not making charges.

Birk was charged with fraud.

Obituary

MRS. WM. J. O'BRIEN

Mrs. Winnifred O'Brien, 409 Aylmer St., widow of the late William J. O'Brien died in hospital Wednesday following a short illness.

The former Winnifred Finn, Mrs. O'Brien was born in Napanee, daughter of the late John Finn and Margaret Murphy and has lived in Peterborough for 30 years, coming here from Kingston.

She was a member of St. Peter's Cathedral, the Catholic Women's League and the Altar Society.

She leaves one son, Dr. J. M. O'Brien, Peterborough; two daughters, Mrs. Margaret O'Brien, Peterborough and Mrs. J. J. Southern, Toronto, and one sister, Mrs. Robert McKeon, Erinsville, Ont.

has resulted in the suspension of several pilots for refusal to carry passengers on the flight deck—the operating compartment.

Mr. Fraser asked "why passengers have been sold tickets in the operations compartment of TCA planes and also why pilots have been suspended for obeying the department of transport regulations and safety measures."

Transport Minister Chevrier and George McIlraith, parliamentary assistant to Trade Minister Howe—who is in charge of TCA—promised to provide information.

Earlier, transport department officials said there now are no government regulations concerning who may occupy the flight deck. The department was studying the question of making such regulations.

Lindsay Police Ask Schedule $2,400 To $3,200

LINDSAY, Dec. 6 — Lindsay police and firemen have asked for salary increases.

A letter was sent from the police association to the council asking for increases to coincide with rises in the cost of living.

The association suggested a salary schedule ranging from $2,400 as starting pay to $3,200 for sergeants. Three weeks holidays with pay for sergeants and constables on the force for ten years or more was asked.

Compensating time or money for extra duty in court or on statutory holidays was also requested.

The letter said that a survey showed Lindsay policemen were in many cases receiving salaries lower than the starting pay in other municipalities.

The town firemen recommended a schedule ranging from $2,250 for starting to $3,200 for captains. They also asked for three weeks vacation for men with 10 years' service.

Reeve Butler moved that the requests be looked after by the 1952 council. The motion was passed.

Ex-Marmora Woman Dies In Toronto

MARMORA, Dec. 6 (ENS). — Word was received here by relatives that Miss Stella McWilliams a native of Marmora, had died in Toronto on Tuesday evening. She was the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Gordon McWilliams who were proprietors of the Royal Hotel for a number of years. With her sister Florence, who died some years ago, Miss McWilliams kept a millinery store in Marmora.

Following the death of her mother, the household moved to Toronto. While resident in Marmora, they were members of St. Paul's Anglican Church.

She is survived by two sisters Mrs. L. Clark and Miss Edith McWilliams, Toronto, and two brothers, Arthur of Hastings, and George, Regina, Sask.

The funeral will be in Toronto.

Her cousin, Mrs. Arthur Eggleton and John S. Jones and his sisters, Mrs. May Donovan and Miss Jennie Jones left for Toronto on Wednesday to attend the funeral.

BOSTON, Dec. 6 (AP)—Eugene O'Neill, Nobel and Pulitzer prize-wining playwright, is in critical condition at Faulkner hospital. The 63-year-old dramatist has Parkinson's disease, described as a deterioration of the nerve centers.

$10,000 Blaze Destroys Machine Shop

COLDSPRINGS, Dec. 6—(ENS)—A $10,000 fire Wednesday night destroyed the machine shop, owned and operated by Paul Harris of Coldsprings. Other farm implements were saved.

Cause of the fire is not known, but it is believed to have broken out in the ceiling of the office. Defective electric wiring is a probability.

Included in the loss were a new seeder, manure spreader, milking machine, drill press, lawnmower sharpener, two lathes, electric drill, tools, repair equipment for farm implements and office records.

Two tractors, one new, a manure spreader and some smaller articles of farm machinery were salvaged.

$10,000 Loss

Mr. Harris estimates his loss at $10,000. He is partly covered by insurance.

Despite the presence of 200 volunteer firemen—neighboring farmers and villagers—the one-storey, wooden frame building burned to the ground in less than an hour. A pumper arrived from Baltimore, five miles away, but the flames had too good a hold on the building for it to be effective.

The blaze was discovered at 10 pm by Mrs. N. D. McIntosh and a visitor, Mrs. C. Timlin, both of Coldsprings. Mrs. McIntosh lives directly across the road from the machine shop.

Spot Flames

"We were sitting there talking," Mrs. Timlin said later, "and we heard a series of what seemed like small explosions. We looked out the window and saw smoke and flames coming from the machine shop. So we got busy on the phone and gave the alarm to the people in the district."

Had the wind been blowing in the opposite direction, Mrs. McIntosh's home would have been in danger of catching fire. Volunteers kept pouring water on the roof of a mill, a few feet north of the burning machine shop, and it was saved.

The shop was built in 1921 and was owned and operated by T. F. McBride. Mr. Harris bought it in 1945.

Cobourg Ferry To Scrap Heap

COBOURG, Dec. 6 —(ENS)— Holly Bolster of Cobourg has received a clipping from a magazine which shows the old car ferry, Ontario No. 2, on her way to the boneyard. No. 2 and her sister ship, Ont. No. 1, used to ply between Cobourg and Rochester.

The Ontario Car Ferry Co., being the CNR and the U.S. affiliation of the line, claimed they were losing money and the line was closed and the ships ordered scrapped. The picture would sadden anyone from Cobourg who has seen the beautiful big ferries coming and going during the summer, agleam with fresh white paint and with pennants flying. The clipping showed the ferry with all the top deck removed until it looked like an oil barge and just part of the bow intact, being towed by a tug. Destination—the scrap heap.

Only 53% Turn Out For Cobourg X-Rays

COBOURG, Dec. 6 —(ENS)— Food handlers in Cobourg did not respond as well as expected to the opportunity for chest X-rays last September it was revealed by the local tuberculosis association, in spite of the fact that almost 100% of this group had indicated that they would take the tests. Only 53% showed up.

The industrial group turned up to the extent of 85% but, it was pointed out there was the convenience of having the mobile X-ray unit call at the factories. In the case of the food handlers group, it was necessary for them to attend at the X-ray station.

Cobourg School Board To Meet Architects

COBOURG, Dec. 6 —(ENS) — Cobourg Public School Board, given the green light by the ratepayers on election to proceed with the buildings of a $280,000 new east end school, will meet with the architects Friday night. The architects will be asked to draw plans for the new school for approval by the board. After comparative prices for materials and equipment have been studied, the final plans will be drawn up. Work is expected to start by the early summer of next year and the building will be ready for use in the fall of 1953.

Get Ready For Women Jurors

Beginning January 1st, 1953, women in Ontario may serve on juries. We were reminded of this amendment to the Jury Act made by the Ontario Legislature at its last regular sitting this spring, by the report of the grand jury at the General Sessions of the Peace in Peterborough. In their report given to the Judge on Tuesday, the Grand Jury recommended that the Court House be renovated. They were especially concerned about the acoustics and the need for redecorating. However, some major changes will have to be made in all County Court Houses all across the Province very shortly. Since women are now eligible for jury service, provisions will have to be made for their convenience—separate wash rooms and the like. County Councils will have to budget for them, and get at the business within the next twelve months.

* * * *

The extension of jury service to women is part of the policy of the Ontario Government to give equal civil status to men and women, the most financially important aspect of this legislation being equal pay for equal work. But the obligation to be imposed on women to serve on juries, as men must serve, is a mere gesture. Men called to serve must do so, come hail or high water. Only a grave, major excuse can be accepted to relieve them of this sometimes unpleasant, usually inconvenient duty of citizenship. But the law for women is different. According to the recent amendment to the Jury Act, there are loop-holes for all sorts of women: members of religious orders, women who live in convents, every registered nurse, wives of court officials. There is this paramount release clause which destroys the effect of the Act: any woman summonsed for jury service "who does not desire to serve" may so state within three days of her receiving the summons, and she must therefore be automatically excused from jury service for the next twelve months.

* * *

This blanket reprieve from jury duty seems unfair. Are women to have the privileges of equal status with men but not the duties, unless they choose to accept them? What kind of equality of citizenship is it which forces men to become jurors and graciously says to the women: "If you don't like to serve on a jury, just let us know soon enough and your wishes will be respected"? We think that the law as now amended is camouflage, a touching piece of legislation flattering to the egalitarian susceptibilities of the populace, but without the reality which should go with it.

* * *

We suspect that it may be many years before Peterborough women consent to serve on a jury. Nevertheless, just in case one woman should so desire, the court house must be made ready to receive her, and by the beginning of January 1953. Jury lists will be prepared in this country next September from the voters' lists, and 'J' for jury service will be placed after many women's names. We suspect that the absence with leave from that service will be heavy, in all County Court Houses in the Province. Attorneys will still be able to say: "Gentlemen of the jury."

A Silver Jubilee

Last Saturday the Kingston Whig-Standard celebrated the twenty-fifth anniversary of its publication under that name; of course, both the Standard and the British Whig were old papers at the time of their amalgamation, the Whig in particular having begun daily publication in 1849; but it was on December 1, 1926, that the two papers became one.

The Kingston paper exemplifies, we think, the virtues of Canadian journalism. It is widely admitted, of course, that all journalism is iniquitous; that all reports of everything are inaccurate; that all newspapers are in the pay of all political parties, in the pay of the liquor interests, the tobacco interests, the boot-and-shoe interests and the Big Interests; that all editors are cravens and probably atheists; that they are against industry and against labour, that they do not know how to spell; and that virtually anybody who is not in the newspaper business could run a newspaper better than anybody who is. Nevertheless, in spite of these things, people continue to read newspapers in increasing quantities, and Canadians who have travelled widely think that Canadian newspapers compare favourably with the newspapers of other countries. Canadian newspapers are, by international standards, extremely conservative, extremely sober in their editorial opinions, as careful in matters of fact as the nature of newspaper work permits, and ready to put themselves at the service of whatever seems best for the public interest. All these virtues may be seen, every day, in the Kingston Whig-Standard.

We confess to an affection for the Whig. Every morning we go patiently through twenty-five newspapers, and we are always glad to see its good grey face, its pleasantly old-fashioned heading, and its excellent editorials. We like the way it handles the news; we like the way it pounds evil-doers on the head with the oaken cudgel of its disapproval; we like the ironic manner in which it treats of passing fads and fancies. We like the way in which its readers debate questions of public interest in its columns, and we wish that our own readers were not so pitiably gripped by the Victorian superstition that writing to the paper is a frightening indulgence, like drinking neat brandy. We are a devoted Whig reader, and hope to remain one at least until its fiftieth anniversary.

Index Levelling Off?

The cost of living index for October has risen four-fifths of a point above the September index to a new high of 191.2. What interests us most in this news is not that an all-time peak has again been reached—the confounded index has been doing that with only a couple of exceptions every month since the war ended. What is important is the amount of the increase. For the second month in a row the rise has been fractional: .8 this time; .09 the month before. It looks as if the index has reached a stable level. Confirmation of this view is given by the wholesale price index which has been steady or dropping for the last three months. This wholesale index is often an indication of the way retail prices are going to move a month or two later.

However, Canada's economy is not out of the peaks and on a firm plateau yet. Among the present crests are rumblings of demands for wage increases in both Canada and the United States (which send prices up), and there is the continuing thunder of the defence requirements which cut into civilian supplies and create shortages among plentiful consumer dollars. The competition of these dollars for whatever civilian goods are available is inflationary. Some reliefs are in sight, apart from the Index statistics. If the war in Korea is ended, that funnel for military supplies will be narrowed, and perhaps more material can go into civilian goods. Already some civilian products are in easier supply than the private dollars to buy them.

Using Too Much Gas, Mr. Mayor?

The Mayor of Toronto and the controllers each have an official car, which is very nice for them because Toronto is a big city to get around in and Toronto is a wealthy place which can rise to chauffeurs and official cars. On the whole, we are glad that Peterborough does not have Toronto's pretensions to size, wealth and prestige, for the bills are high. During the first nine months of this year Mayor McCallum's bill was $6,925; for the whole of 1950 is was $8,672. To maintain Controller Balfour's car cost Toronto $6,049 up to the end of October; last year the total cost of running his car was $7,117. The bills for the other controllers' cars were equally high.

Computing the running expenses of Mayor McCallum's car at a commercial traveller's level of, say, ten cents a mile, the Mayor of Toronto travelled 69,250 miles on official business in his official car during the first nine months of the year. That shows how big Toronto has become. Actually of course, when a chauffeur is thrown in with the car and the machine is not one of the little ones which does fifty miles on a gallon of gasoline, it cannot be run for ten cents a mile—as Toronto taxpayers can reason for themselves.

NOTES AND COMMENT

Indication of population trend: The Dominion census reports that the population of Sturgeon Point has increased between 1941 and 1951 from 13 to 16.

A woman in Georgia smuggled a dozen doughnuts to her husband in jail, which were later found to contain pistol bullets. We have met doughnuts of this type out of jail.

An English vicar says that he is pleased by the return to fashion of simple names for girls. "One was sick to death of the endless Shirleys" he said. Amen to that, brother!

Says the Vancouver Sun: "The vast majority of Vancouver people are decent, honest, law-abiding and industrious, and don't kill, steal nor lay illicit bets." No, but they all lie about their weather.

In a frank if startling statement the Windsor Star says: "Where the line between so-called art and obscenity is thin the so-called art should be junked." This will make the obscenity business a lot simpler.

STARTLING "CONFESSION"

One Under Every Bed

(C. J. W. IN THE OTTAWA CITIZEN)

NONE of us ever thought they'd uncover Herb Norman. We thought we had a perfect set-up there. With his quiet, scholarly manner, a big reputation as a Japanese expert, and a key position in External Affairs, Norman seemed to us as safe as a house; the last man they'd suspect.

But those investigators in Washington are smarter than we thought. Now that they've tracked down his connection with the Institute of Pacific Relations—which means, of course, exposed him as a Communist — it seems to me the only smart thing to do is tell all. Not only about myself. About the rest of us, too. I want to make a clean sweep of the whole business, then maybe I'll be able to sleep again.

✧ ✧ ✧

I DON'T know exactly when it was I began to get involved. Maybe it was 1917. I was living then in a little settlement up the coast from Vancouver. A lot of the residents were Finnish immigrants. I was an impressionable eight years old, the Russian Revolution had just happened, and some of the Finns seemed to think the millenium had come — at least in the Russian part of the world. They sang the "Red Flag" and the "International" and most of us kids learned the words, just as we learned the words of "There's a Long, Long Trail a-Winding", and "Way Down in M'souri". We didn't realize then what we were getting into, and come to think of it, I doubt if much of the rest of the world did at that time, either.

But I'm not trying to make excuses. As I said, I want to make a clean breast of things.

✧ ✧ ✧

I GUESS the next step on the road downhill was as a reporter in Winnipeg. It was in the depression years, and I covered a lot of Communist-led unemployed parades that as often as not ended up in stonethrowing and head-cracking bouts with the police. I could not help but admire the strong common sense of the Communist leaders. They had a knack of disappearing—getting out of harm's way—once they'd got a fight properly started. As a technique for ultimate world mastery this appeared to me eminently sane; more recently, and on a bigger scale, Korea seemed a good example of its effectiveness.

After these stirring exhibitions of militant tactics, there was, of course, nothing left for me to do but attend that hot-bed of Red teaching, the London School of Economics. There, where the notorious Harold Laski was holding forth in his brilliant and most subversive fashion, I met a surprising number of Canadians who were later to hold high posts in the government service at Ottawa. While we didn't organize formally into a "cell" we did get together on occasions. To an outsider our meetings would have appeared completely casual. Our favourite rendezvous was over tea in the cafeteria. Tea being a British institution, we no doubt thought the time and place would tend to divert attention from our gatherings.

FROM time to time our group would be visited by one or more Canadian students from another famous centre of learning that has since become suspect. (Remember the Oxford Union resolution of just before the last war when a big majority of the student members voted in favour of pacifism?). Like the Laski-trained LSE grads, any number of these Canadians who were at Oxford in the thirties—Rhodes Scholars among them—now hold key posts at Ottawa. Jim Coyne, deputy governor of the Bank of Canada, for example; Bob Beattie, executive assistant to the governors of the same institution; Lou Rasminsky, chairman alternate of the Foreign Exchange Control Board; Charlie (now Colonel) Stacey, Canada's official war historian; Jack Pickersgill, special assistant to Prime Minister St. Laurent.

My recollections of this time (I carefully refrained from keeping a diary) include watching a huge gathering of unemployed in London's Hyde Park, where banners with Communist slogans were displayed and a slight, black-moustached man by the name of Attlee spoke. And from time to time we Canadian students were invited to tea (we referred to it as that) at the home of an up-and-coming young man on the staff at Canada House named Pearson. (N.B. In our group this man was always referred to as "Mike"; his real name is Lester Bowles Pearson.)

I remember distinctly that we never went to Mike's home in a body, but always made our way there singly or in groups of two or three.

✧ ✧ ✧

I HAVE mentioned here only a few names of my associates of these years who today are in a position to be boring constantly from within. If Washington wants to investigate, it'll find many more; the whole public service of Canada is, in fact, honeycombed with them.

In these years I myself was commuting, unobstrusively, back and forth between London and various points in Canada—Ottawa, Winnipeg, Vancouver. A highlight, around 1936, was my meeting with Tim Buck. He hadn't been long out of Kingston Penitentiary then, and in Winnipeg I interviewed him just before a meeting at which he spoke. This was at night. Under the circumstances (though I see my error now) I actually shook hands with him, and to my undying shame I thought him a rather pleasant fellow. (There was an unpleasant rumour about in those days that Graham Towers, who was then as now governor of the Bank of Canada, once invited Tim Buck to dinner. I can't vouch for the truth of this, but it might be worth investigating.)

✧ ✧ ✧

FRED ROSE I never met, though I know a lot of MP's who did meet him. I'm willing to give names.

During these years, still unobtrusively, I was doing quite a bit of travel outside Canada. I was in Japan, China, Manchuria—as far north as Harbin, 50 miles from the Russian frontier. And I made one or more visits to most of the countries of Western Europe—circling the Iron[illegible] one might say. I didn't make it until 1937. When I say "it" I mean of course Russia. To divert suspicion, no doubt, the everwise Russians had refused me a visa to enter the U.S.S.R. in 1930. No one was likely to think of me, then, as an agent when they let me in seven years later. So far as I know, until this confession, nobody has. Smart boys, those Russians.

If the investigators want, I'll tell them all the secrets I found out about Russia in the 16 days I was in Leningrad, Moscow, Kiev, Kharkov and Odessa. But right now I want to reveal my connections with the Institute of Pacific Affairs.

✧ ✧ ✧

MY first contact with this organization, now being investigated at Washington, came through a body of which a limited number of persons in Canada are members—the Canadian Institute of International Affairs. It may come as a shock to some to know that the two—the IPR and the CIIA—are affiliated; also that applications for membership in the CIIA are closely scrutinized and that the press is not admitted to its meetings.

With my London School of Economics background I had no difficulty gaining admission to this carefully-guarded body. In fact the way in which I became embroiled was much the same as in the case of Herb Norman. Norman was asked to write and publish a book on Japanese affairs under IPR auspices. I was asked to write and publish a book on Canadian-Far Eastern affairs under CIIA auspices.

✧ ✧ ✧

IT was easy after that to make contact with the IPR. In 1938 I was a member of the Vancouver branch of the CIIA (members, it will be noted, refer to them as "branches", not "cells"). In that year a joint regional conference of the two groups was held at Seattle, and such was the growing confidence of the CIIA in me that I was included in the Vancouver delegation. Another delegate at that time, I think, was Prof. F. E. ("Fred") Soward, of the University of British Columbia, who, significantly, works from time to time for the Department of External Affairs. Of "Fred" more later. Two others who may have been there (our private records will show that they have been at many such IPR-CIIA conclaves) are Prof. H. F. ("Henry") Angus, who was one of the Rowell-Sirois Royal Commissioners; and N. A. M. ("Larry") MacKenzie, president of the University of British Columbia and one of the Massey Royal Commissioners. (Both these men, significantly, like "Fred", have worked from time to time with the Department of External Affairs.)

HERB NORMAN has confessed to attending at least three IPR conferences (two of them during the war years) as a representative of the Canadian government (Department of External Affairs). I want to confess to being in close contact, too, for many years now, with both CIIA and IPR members. I want to confess that during the war years I was recruited by the Department of External Affairs to work for the British Ministry of Information in India and South-East Asia. I want to confess that on the same pretext as William O. Douglas, Associate Justice of the U.S. Supreme Court—the pretext of mountain climbing—I visited the Tibetan frontier during the war. From there, via the Himalayan passes, it's no distance to Russia.

I want to confess that at two meetings of the Canadian Institute, one of them in Ottawa, our "guest" was the notorious Owen Lattimore, of IPR notoriety. I want to confess that other speakers at "branch" meetings here have been "Mike" Pearson (the same one whose home we students used to visit in London); Defence Minister Brooke ("Brooke") Claxton; General A. G. ("Andy") McNaughton; and a lot of other prominent people, including members of Parliament, all of whom I'm willing to name.

I WANT to confess finally that last year I went back again to India to attend, at Lucknow, the eleventh conference of the Institute of Pacific Relations—as a delegate, significantly, of the CIIA. Like myself, the other Canadian delegations travelled on passports issued by the Department of External Affairs, of which "Mike" Pearson is head. Just as in going to Mike's house in London years ago, we didn't travel to Lucknow in a body but made our way there individually, or in pairs. Before proceeding to Lucknow, our group met first (at night) at the New Delhi home of Canada's High Commissioner to India, W. F. Chipman, K.C.

Who were these other delegates? The same "Fred" Soward; Prof. Edgar McInnis (these professors need watching; Owen Lattimore is on the staff of Johns Hopkins University); Blair Fraser, of Maclean's Magazine ("Blair" has since been to Communist Yugoslavia); George V. Ferguson ("G.V.F.") editor of the Montreal Star, which must, obviously, be a radical news sheet; I. Norman Smith ("I.N.S."), associate editor of the equally radical Ottawa Journal; and a few others, including the Canadian government's representatives (again Department of External Affairs!) to Pakistan and India.

(Herb Norman was supposed to be one of Canada's delegates to Lucknow but didn't make it. He says he was too busy with Department affairs to get there. This statement had better be checked. Also significant, "G.V.F.'s" former Boss, Victor Sifton, publisher of the Winnipeg Free Press, is current president of the CIIA.)

There's my confession, my record, and if those investigators in Washington are as alert as they were in Herb Norman's case, a black record indeed it can be shown to be. But if they want anything more, I'll glady tell them everything I know.

And now to bed, where, as I said above, I expect to sleep soundly.

Minor Art

(Manchester Guardian)

The almost universal use of loud-speakers in London to address even desultory passers-by and housewives about their business gave some relief to the voices of candidates and their supporters in the recent election. But not so much as it might. Many electioneers still like to shout and the pleasure of it is increased by the microphone's mechanical authority. Crowds respect its electric boom, and it has become ill-mannered to heckle while the current is turned on.

It has also become almost useless. One persistent heckler in a park in Ealing was told by a speaker, clasping the chromium stem with all the emotion of a pent-up crooner, to "shut up or I'll drown you with this machine." The threat and the crowd's clear sympathy with it were sufficient. Heckling is one of the minor arts that might be mechanized out of existence.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

Dost thou know the balancings of the clouds, the wondrous works of him which is perfect in knowledge? . . . Hast thou with him spread out the sky, which is strong, and as a molten looking glass? . . . And now men see not the bright light which is in the clouds: but the wind passeth, and cleanseth them . . .

Touching the Almighty, we cannot find him out: he is excellent in power, and in judgement, and in plenty of justice: he will not afflict. (Job 37: 16, 18, 21, 23.)

✧ ✧ ✧

For the invisible things of him from the creation of the world are clearly seen, being understood by the things that are made, even his eternal power and Godhead. (Rom. 1: 20.)

My help cometh from the Lord, which made heaven and earth. . . .

Behold, he that keepeth Israel shall neither slumber nor sleep. (Ps. 121: 2, 4.)

Letter To The Editor

THOUGHTS ON CHRISTIANITY

Sir: Our Christianity is challenged, the glove is thrown, the gong sounded; the black, red or grey horses of our thoughts are called and this hippophagous generation must answer—willy nilly—communism or no communism.

The spirit of Christianity lives in a program that comes over the radio every morning week day 'Songs at Sunrise', 7:45. It should be better supported in many ways; we also have another good one at 8:45, morning devotions; and in your second-to-none paper of news and advertisements thought-provoking editorials, and every day a 'Bible Message'. How we react to all this denotes our 'spirit', or lack of it; and the place, status, house, palace, mansion or hut in the world earth or heaven to come—so do I think—but there is more.

In the Bible Message a few nights ago was the denouncement by Moses of necromancy. Now necromancy says my dictionary is the 'Pretended Art', of talking to the dead. What dead? Christ by Mark 9: 44, 46, 48, says that that 'worm' (witch, jinni, serpent etc.) dieth not; still roams around looking for bodies and minds to inhabit and finds them — by many signs.

But if necromancy is condemned (and so it should) oracleancy the opposing force should be encouraged—the state of our world today depicts its lack; yet the true and only 'church', is communion, intercourse with the 'Holy Ghost' or Ghosts (for all who die, rather live in Christ are one with Him yet many) John 14-26; and there I do think we could find our kindred spirit. Now there is a truth we have not yet fathomed, and a sin unforgivable Matthew 12-31; Mark 3, 29; Luke 12, 10; and John 5, 16—that is to blaspheme by denying that Holy Ghost or Ghosts—but it is not the irreligious who deny; perhaps it is the friction between the opposing spirits we fear? Therefore we prefer the life of flesh without spirit? And materialism.

In the Bible Message lately too was a lash at Jezebel; Jezebel still thrives on the souls of girls of sixteen and seventeen and boys fall prey too. Now Jezebel is a spirit male or female, sex is not the factor for life is life; the mind, I like to think is masculine (God or the Devil) the soul is feminine (love or hate) and the body is the Son (Sun) or Christ whom we have crucified—what think you? But as Christ brought back the spirit into the maid's body Luke 8-55, so will he eventually bring back all spirits from their graves (haunts)—even the grave of the unborn. For Christ is the bridegroom to come, the church (soul) the bride—and God the Master Breeder—and since those who are dead while they live (without spirit) and since the spirits of the Devil (worm or witch) will lose their power (jecundity) we need not worry over our population, that 'flaming sword', will keep the 'way of life'; meanwhile let's find the right spirit (ghost).

Stage 4 Raids On Red Homes

MONTREAL, Dec. 6—(CP)—City and provincial police Wednesday carried out four raids on private homes and seized books, pamphlets and reports described as "Communist literature." No arrest was made.

Police said the raids culminated 4½ years of undercover work by the 19-year-old son of Detective-Lieut. John Boyzcum, second in command of the Montreal anti-subversive squad.

The raid, police said, struck at the core of the young Communist organization in the city and with confidential reports seized, "we know who will be 'future leaders' of Communist elements here."

The raids, carried out under Quebec's Padlock Law, were at the homes of Miss Claire Benzby, 19, described as a leader of the National Federation of Labor Youth and the United Jewish People's Organization — both Communist organizations—Miss Ann Lash, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Peretez and Sidney Markham.

Boyzcum's son, Maurice, had become a member of the Young Communist organizations to do underground work for his father.

Last week, Benoit said, young Boyzcum realized his work was finished when he was paraded before Communist leaders and banned from attendance at meetings and any further activities amid the ranks of the organization.

Different from the days when they stood in the rain trying to read sodden music.

Leeds County Cheesemaker Grand Champion

BELLEVILLE, Dec. 6 —David Dean of Delta, in Leeds County and Thomas S. Aichen of Belton shared top honors in the British Empire Dairy show being held in Belleville this week in conjunction with the annual convention at the Central Ontario Cheese Makers' Association.

David Dean, the Delta cheese maker, won the grand championship prize of a silver tea set and tray, for exhibiting the highest scoring cheese of the show. His cheese in the August class of the open section scored 98.35 points.

Division Winner

Dean also won the John H. Echlin Trophy for the highest scoring cheese shown by a central or eastern Ontario maker. Mr. Dean was tops in the August and September classes, while Mr. Aichen was the winner in the June, July and October classes.

Dean won the Walker-Wallace silver challenge trophy for the high scoring September cheese.

Aichen took the prize for the best finished cheese, and also won the DeLaval silver challenge trophy for having the top scoring cheese in the square cheese class. His cheese scored 98.05.

Winners in the open classes were as follows: June—T. S. Aichen, Belton, 98.25; Russell Martin, Listowel, 98.20; David Dean, Delta, 98.00; Thos. Heath, Wilton, 97.95; Donald J. Thomas S. Aichen of Belton also won the stiltons class, his prize winning cheese having a score of 98.20. Second in the stilton class was Russell Martin, Listowel; 98.05, with other winners being Tye M. Posliff, R.R. 2 Palmerston, 98.05; Donald J. Pollock, Campbellford, 97.80; Murray Heath, Campbellford 97.75; Burton Wallace, Campbellford, 97.55; F. M. Day of Atwood, 97.45 and Lester Wyatt, R.R. 7, Belleville 96.55.

Murray Heath of Campbellford won the special prize for the cheese maker with the highest average score on cheese manufactured in the period May 1 to August 31 and who had cheese entered in the show in the square cheese classes. The prize is a free all expense trip for the cheese maker and his wife to Montreal.

The G. G. Publow trophy was won by Roy Brown of Harold. This is for the maker having the highest aggregate score on cheese graded in the period May 1 to October 31.

Central Triumphs

Central blanked Queen Elizabeth 5-0 on Tuesday in an intermediate Public School Hockey League fixture at the arena. Dinsdale scored two and aided on another, Armstrong counting a pair, and McInroy sinking a goal and aiding on another in a neat affair. Dinsdale and Armstrong stood out for the winners, with Dorgan and Gilders best for the other squad. Teams:

Central: Tetlock, Pollock, Dinsdale, Armstrong, McInroy, Menzies, Simpson, Lang, Findlay, Dunford, Barber, Hayman.

Queen Elizabeth: Perry, R. Dorgan, Gilders, Whitnell, Lymburner, R. Tighe, Haig, Hancock, Frise, Worton, McConkey, J. Tighe, J. Dorgan, Gardner, Hobson.

Referee: J. Barnard.

Can't Rearm Further

BRUSSELS, Belgium, Dec. 6—(AP)—Jean Van Houtte, Belgian minister of finance, told parliament Wednesday that Belgium cannot rearm further. He said the supplementary arms effort asked of Belgium "would be in opposition to the principles of the Atlantic Pact, which says rearmament should not endanger economic recovery." He said Belgium is spending 26 per cent of its budget on defence.

Guardsmen On Strike

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, Dec. 6 (Reuters)—Six hundred Swedish army guardsmen went on hunger strike Wednesday because their morning cup of chocolate was too thin. A spokesman said: "Our chocolate is thinner than tea. It is often served in dirty cups. There is a risk of infection."

If you haven't started shopping yet, you'd better get on your horse. Even Alley Oop has allowed himself to be nagged into getting a move on.

Defence Lawyer Protests Method Of Laying Charges

Charging his client was being "persecuted, not prosecuted," W. C. Grant demanded an explanation of two charges of Liquor Control Act violations against Eric Anderson, Lakefield, when the charges were read in police court.

Magistrate W. R. Philp reserved judgment on Mr. Grant's application for particulars on the charges until December 12, on the understanding that the hearing on the charges will be held January 8th.

Anderson is charged with bootlegging and soliciting or taking orders for purchase of liquor.

Mr. Grant agreed that two further charges of having possession of liquor not obtained on his own permit and having possession in a place other than his residence would be read against Anderson on December 12.

The first offence is alleged to have taken place between September 1 and October 4, and on October 2 the second charge was laid. Both charges were laid by OPP Constable A. A. Gaudry.

Pleads Not Guilty

When Alexander Fleming, representing the crown, asked for a remand on the charges, Mr. Grant entered a plea of not guilty for Anderson on the keeping for sale charge, then criticized the crown and Justice of the Peace James Fleming for the way in which the charges had been laid.

"Two charges were exhibited to the accused," said Mr. Grant, but I did not know whether they had been laid or not. I discussed the matter with the justice of the peace and the crown and then two different charges were laid. Today I am informed there are two more charges."

Mr. Grant said the prosecution knew he was representing Anderson, but "never a word do I hear about an adjournment until today."

When the second charge was read, a plea of not guilty was also entered, and another discussion of the manner in which the charge had been handled followed.

To Save Embarrassment

Court Clerk James Fleming interjected that the "summons had not been issued through the usual channels, at the request of the accused, to save him some embarrassment."

"I want to know when this charge-laying business is going to be through," replied Mr. Grant.

Magistrate Philp said he did not think the statute of limitations applied to the Liquor Control Act as it did to charges laid under the Criminal Code, and added: "There is nothing to prevent further charges being laid."

"Are there two other charges?" asked Magistrate Philp.

James Fleming replied that Mr. Anderson had asked that he not be served, and that Mr. Grant was aware of the sections.

Magistrate Philp suggested January 2 for the hearing on the charges, and Mr. Grant replied, "That's a little close to New Year's. I intend to commit an offence under the act personally New Year's Eve, and I expect several others in this room will be doing so also."

Magistrate Philp replied it was thoughtful of him to "give the officers a little warning," and set the date for January 8, which Mr. Grant said was agreeable.

Asked Clarification

However, Mr. Grant argued that the wording of the charges implied several offences, and asked that they be clarified.

Speaking for the crown, Alexander Fleming said the charges were covered under the sections indicated and the police will be able to produce the evidence," he said.

In reserving judgment on Mr. Grant's application for particulars regarding the wording of the charges and the sections they are laid under, Magistrate Philp said that he was entitled to request the information and that the legal arguments would be dealt with on December 12.

Eagles Down the Hawks In 10-4 Senior Fray To Tie For Top Of Group

Trimming Belleville Hawks 10-4 here last night, the local Eagles climbed into an OHA senior "B" group top-place tie with Belleville and Kingston, who were downing the Petes in the Limestone City. After trailing 3-2 in the first frame, Ned Vitarelli's squad began clicking and they had a narrow 5-4 margin to end the second. They roared through for five tallies without a return in the final chapter of a lightning fast, clean fray. But three penalties each were drawn.

Freddy Mortimer sparked the Eagles' attack with three goals and two assists in a nifty showing. Bob Parnall and Dooteh Vitarelli each hit the twine twice and aided on another. George Brabin had a goal and two assists, Reg Stewart one and two, Russ Slater three assists, Toodie Greenlaw a goal and an assist, Bert Hill a brace of assists, and Bill Crowley one assist. Ross Nicholls turned in a nifty effort in goal, and he had a solid defence working for him.

Led Losers

Jackie Wardhaugh led the losers at bat with two goals and an assist, Peter Jones scoring once and helping on a pair. Don Barrett got the other marker, as an assist apiece went to Vern Goyer and Red Doran. The Hawks flew fast all through and fought hard to the finish, but seemed to have shot their bolt after the first half. Laforte kicked out some hot threats, as he was peppered mercilessly through the second and third chukkers. An 11th Eagles' goal was called back for the crease.

Barrett tallied first on a nice play out of the corner, but Brabing got it back on long forward flips up from Slater and Parnell, finishing neatly. Stewart put Eagles up on a pass at defence from Fred Mortimer. Semark was gated for elbowing and Doug Mortimer followed for tripping. They were still off when Wardaugh tied the score on passes in close from Jones and Vern Goyer. The culprits returned, and Montgomery got the nod for tripping but was back when Wardaugh gave Hawks a 3-2 lead on fine standing combination inside with Doran and Jones.

Went Ahead

Fred Mortimer sewed it up to open the second heat on nifty passing from Greenlaw and Vitarelli and smart finishing. Slater and Day drew the ref's ire for high-sticking and were away when Jones, uncovered, slapped home the biscuit from Wardaugh. Later, Fred Mortimer checked and recovered at centre to go in fast on a sweet solo and backhand the disc home from a sharp angle. He then put Eagles in front on a fast goal inside with Stewart's pass. Doran drew the game's final penalty near the close of the period for tripping.

Eagles swarmed in fast from the faceoff in the third to rack up the count. Greenlaw cuffed home the first in a scramble from Fred Mortimer and Stewart. Then Parnall broke in twice to tally, Brabin and Slater fashioning the play in each case. Vitarelli added another near the crease with Hill's pass, and Vitarelli later on wound up the scoring on classy combination inside with Hill and Crowley. They got one more later but it was ruled no goal. Belleville made Nicholls hop on some hot ones again i nthe third, but Eagles had most of the play.

Teams:

Belleville—Goal, Leforte; defence, Bastedo and Semark; centre, V. Goyer; wings, McDonald and Moher; alts., Doran, Jones, Wardhaugh, Barrett, Desjardins, Day, L. Goyer and Graham.

Eagles — Goal, Nicholls; defence, Montgomery and Munroe; centre, Hill; wings, Crowley and Vitarelli; alts., F. Mortimer, Greenlaw, Stewart, Parnall, Brabin, Slater, D. Mortimer and Wootton.

Referee, J. Crombie; linesman, P. Nigh.

Summary.

First Period
Belleville—Barrett	2:24
Eagles—Brabin (Parnall, Slater)	4:22
Eagles—Stewart (F. Mortimer)	8:25
Belleville—Wardhaugh (Jones, V. Goyer)	13:34
Belleville—Wardhaugh (Doran, Jones)	18:10
Penalties — Semark, D. Mortimer, Montgomery.
Second Period
Eagles—F Mortimer (Greenlaw, Vitarelli)	3:07
Belleville—Jones (Wardhaugh)	9:10
Eagles—F. Mortimer	16:17
Eagles—F. Mortimer (Stewart)	18:25
Penalties—Slater, Day, Doran.
Third Period
Eagles—Greenlaw (F. Mortimer, Stewart)	3:32

Eagles—Parnall (Brabin, Slater)	6:13
Eagles—Vitarelli (Hill)	8:06
Eagles—Vitarelli (Hill, Crowley)	13:15
No penalties.

FRED SHINES—Figuring in on five goals here last night, Freddy Mortimer turned in a starry effort for Eagles as they beat Belleville 10-4. A solo thrust by him in the second period was the smartest goal of the evening.

First Misconduct In 20-Year Career

COBOURG, Dec. 6.—A fine record of over 20 years' hockey playing had its major mark against it Wednesday as the result of a misconduct penalty on Tuesday night in Lindsay against Bus Cane, playing captain of the Cobourg Comets.

The Comets lost 5-1, but Cane felt worse about that misconduct mark which came after a 20-year playing career that began in church hockey and carried right through OHA Junior and Intermediate A competition without more than a minor penalty being filed against it prior to Tuesday.

Cane, as captain of the Comets, spoke to referee Pete Nigh, Peterborough, about elbowing, which he alleged was going on. The arbiter didn't like the idea, and, so Cane says, replied:

"I'm not here to teach the rules, merely to referee."

Thereupon Cane was sent to the penalty box with his first misconduct penalty.

Veteran centreman, Cane has been long looked upon as the cleanest player in Cobourg, if not the league, and Nigh's quick action angered Cobourg club heads

"However, he's the referee and has the final say," Cane declared afterward.

Lund May Be Out For Rest Of Season

BOSTON, Dec. 6 (AP). — Pentti Lund, Boston Bruins' forward, may be lost for the remainder of the National Hockey League season with his eye injury.

He was accidentally struck by Clare Martin's stick during a game with Chicago Black Hawks here Nov. 13.

Lund, who was born in Finland, said the decision would be made by Dr. Thomas C. Cavanaugh, Boston eye specialist, Friday.

1,000 Football Fans At Testimonial Dinner

OTTAWA, Dec. 6 (CP).—More than 1,000 Ottawa football fans—who paid $2 a ticket—attended a testimonial dinner Wednesday night at which tribute was paid the capital's 1951 Grey Cup-winning Rough Riders.

Twenty-two of the Riders were on hand to receive rings bearing the capital's civic crest from Mayor Charlotte Whitton.

Trainer Sam Seguin, team manager George Powers, retiring president Eddie Emerson, president-elect James P. McCaffrey and secretary-treasurer Wes Brown were given cigarette lighters.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

"Dear Santa—Getting this away early so there'll be no slip this year. Just a short note on the inside of an unsealed card—that'll teach the post office to hike the price of card stamps to two cents. There's also our list of requests, whittled down this year to two dozen. Look, S.C., could you watch the sizes better this time? That union suit we got a year ago is as good as new, as we only wore it once. Everyone thought we had the bends, and they were right. Nothing fitted but our tie, and that neckwear would give anyone a fit. The hankies came in handy, though there was a typographical error in the initials. Ours are not W.S.T.

"Nor does our taste in shirts run to polka dots or checkers—we prefer the gravy colored ones for work days. And that's no ho-ho'ing matter. We don't mind giving you the odd plug from time to time, but feel entitled to a little consideration, too. Like the right brand of smokes, sox without lumps in the toes, and no portraits of our sainted Aunt Hilda, please. But don't think we're complaining, oldtimer; not at all. Just do what you can with the list and any postscripts will be welcome. Give our best to Mrs. Claus and dress warm for your trip down this way. Remember that charity begins at home, and our home is as good as any in which to start. Yours etc."

Hoops For The Lasses

But getting away from Christmas hinting, there are a couple of cage contests by the colleens tomorrow eve in the YW. At eight, CGE plays Black's, and that one is followed by Normals vs. Neill's. Two lively encounters expected. They wind up the first section of their schedule a week later with Normals vs. Nurses, and Lindsay vs. Neill's. With an exhibition slated for Dec. 21 betwixt Towne Togs of the LOBA and Nurses. A rest then till after New Year's. No tilt for the male Marines this weekend, though mayhap a game or two in the "Y" house loop. Hadn't heard at this writing. School basketball waits till after Jan. 1.

Next OHA senior "B" fixture is at 8.30 Friday p.m. in Civic Arena, and it's Kingston S.A.C. vs. the Petes. First home fray for the Petes in some time, and a large Friday night crowd should be on deck. Quite a scramble going on for the top of the heap in this interesting Central Ontario senior puck group. Kingston are always tough and they'll give the Ellis outfit a stiff scrap of it here. However, the Petes know every nook and cranny of the home rink, and usually come up with their best hockey before the home fans. Sounds like a real game. Eagles are off to play the Hawks tomorrow night in Bella Villa.

Those K's A-Coming

On the big sheet in Kingston, those Limestone City lads are tough onions. They won't drop too many more decisions there this season, we feel. Came through with a 6-3 win o'er Petes last gloaming. Gus Leonard scored a brace of markers for the visitors, and Junior West was in on a couple. Drake Jopling also drew an assist. Arn Dugan turned in a battling effort for Petes, and Ray Harding kicked a flock aside in their cage. Dave Casey made his first appearance of the season with them. Goalie Don Dougall was outstanding in the Kingston twine tepee, and his buddies worked well all through. Game was slow getting underway, but plenty exciting the last half. The Petes drew all but two of the penalties, and felt they'd received a rough time of it from the ref.

* * * * * *

Hawks and Eagles flew neck and neck for half the senior "B" game here last night, but Eagles pulled right away from them toward the end of the second period and were almost out of sight during the third. A 10-4 thumping by the Vitarelli pack pulled the Hawks back into a three-way tie for top spot, Kingston, Hawks and Eagles sharing the roost at the moment. Freddy Mortimer starred on the attack, with Reg Stewart, George Brabin, Toodie Greenlaw, Dootch Vitarelli, Bob Parnall, Russ Slater and Bert Hill all in on the bag prominently. This drive and a good defence, after the first period, and steady goaltending throughout by Ross Nicholls, fashioned the win. Eagles looked impressive in the fast, clean tilt before a so-so crowd.

Here and There In Sport

By The Canadian Press

Warren Stevens, director of Athletics at University of Toronto said today that the university has been approached for television broadcasting rights to football games held in Varsity Stadium, one of Canada's largest stadia.

"Naturally, we haven't been able to make any decisions," he said.

District Attorney Frank Hogan announced Wednesday at New York the arrest of Daniel Lamont, 44, Altoona, Pa., shoe manufacturer wanted here in the collegiate basketball bribe scandal.

He said Lamont was seized at his home in Altoona early Wednesday on a fugitive warrant and now is being held for extradition hearing.

Lamont's real name, the prosecutor said, is Donato Lamorte.

Hogan said Lamont was the "money man" who put up the cash for Jackie Goldsmith and Joseph Serota to bribe Hearvey (Connie) Schaff, former New York University star in connection with NYU-Cornell game last Jan. 1. NYU, a heavy favorite, lost by 69-56.

At Columbus, O., Frank Lane, Chicago White Sox general manager, Wednesday completed a deal that has been hanging fire since September when he bought third baseman Hector Rodriguez, 31-year-old Cuban Negro third baseman, from Brooklyn's Montreal farm of the International League. The White Sox shipped first baseman Glenn (Rocky) Nelson to Montreal, completing the deal. Nelson was with St. Louis Cardinals and Pittsburgh before coming to the Sox.

Jack Tighe, 38, who managed Toledo of the American Association last season, Wednesday at Columbus, O., was named manager of Buffalo Bisons of the International League. Detroit recently added Buffalo to its list of farm clubs and disposed of the Toledo franchise.

Flicka Volo, owned by John R. Reid of Ailsa Craig, Ont., and driven by Joe Hodgins, and Colonel Hedgewood, owned and handled by Herman Stepro of Carydon, Ind., divided the fifth and featured race at Toronto's Dufferin Park Wednesday when they each paced a heat victory.

The fourth event, the secondary feature, resulted in a split decision between Amos Pointr, owned by O. Boisvert of Shawinigan Falls, Que., and Duchess Brooks, owned by M. Dello of Niagara Falls. Each won a heat.

Kingston Takes Decision Over the Petes, 6-3 For First-Place Group Tie

KINGSTON, Dec. 6.—Six Kingston S and A club players split the goals last night at the Community Centre when the SACs defeated Peterborough Petes 6-3 in a rather slow game. Over 1,238 fans witnessed an exciting game at times; other times it was ragged and sloppy. The win puts the local club in first place but not alone.

In Peterborough, the Eagles hung a 10-4 defeat on the Belleville Hawks to make a three-way tie for first place in the OHA senior "B" race. The SACs have six points, same as Eagles and Hawks. The Petes are sitting alone in second place with four points. Before last night's games, Belleville was on top of the league with six points followed by the other three clubs.

As in their last home game, Kingston started slowly and had to rely upon the services of their goal-tender, in this case, Don Dougall. The Anderson-Dougall setup reminds fans of the Turk Broda-Al Rollins deal last year with Toronto Maple Leafs of the NHL. Dougall was outstanding last night especially in his shutout first period. He handled 12 shots in the opening frame and none got by him. All told, the Petes had 33 shots on goal with 11 in the second period, while Kingston tested Ray Harding in the Peterborough nets 30 times. Their best period was the second when they scored three goals on 12 shots.

Adds To Lead

Don Murray added to his leading total with a goal in the first period and an assist on Larmer's tally in the second period. Other Kingston scorers were Joe Catlin, Ron Tinkess, George McGregor and Gerry Wagar. For the Petes, Gus Leonard with two and Junior West were the sharpshooters.

Both clubs came up with sloppy hockey in the first period with the locals leading the way. For the first half of the period none of the Kingston passing plays went right with Petes fortunately catching the bug. The only goal of the period came from a faceoff at centre ice. The Petes won the toss, passed back to their defence which flipped the puck forward. Murray intercepted the pass, whipped around two defencemen and beat Harding on a hard high shot into the right hand corner.

Fred Garvey started the second stanza when he tripped Jerry Larmer. But with the man advantage the Sac's could only manage one shot on Peterborough net. With Garvey back on, West went in alone to beat Dougall on a fast shot to tie the game. With play going at full speed, the teams were changing on the run, which led to Kingston's second goal. Larmer jumped on the ice, took a pass in front of the Petes' goal and whipped the puck past Harding to give the Sac's a lead they never relinquished. Less than three minutes later, Joe Catlin flipped the puck past Harding who was sprawled on the ice, result of being slammed there by defenceman Ron Horton.

Both teams missed golden opportunities to score over the next seven minutes until Tinkess took a rebound to put Kingston three goals ahead.

George Clicks

George McGregor scored the first of two Kingston goals in the last period when on a play with Joey Catlin—although the official scorer doesn't admit it—he went in and picked up his own rebound to slap the puck past Harding at 3:54. Gerry Wagar took a pass from Jack White who was lying spread out on the ice, beat one defenceman, shifted Harding practically out of his pads and poked the puck home.

Gus Leonard scored the first of two quick Peterborough goals when he shoved the puck under Dougall's pads, while the Kingston netminder was falling to the ice. Bender, who with Stewart stood out for the Sac's, was given a tripping penalty at 6:21 and five seconds later on a beautiful passing play with West and Jopling, Leonard scored his second goal of the night. Leonard was waiting on the open side of the Kingston net when he got his pass from a faceoff in the Kingston end. Horton was given his second tripping penalty of the game at 13:41 and although the Petes pressed hard they couldn't dent Kingston defence. A little more than minute later, Tinkess and Wade became embroiled along the boards and Referee Holway whipped over and handed the pair a roughing penalty. Later Garvey drew a misconduct for arguing.

Teams:

Peterborough—Goal, Harding; defence, Jopling, E. Leonard, Horton, Dugan; forwards, Wade, Mortimer, Wyatt, G. Leonard, Casey, Mason, Garvey, Collins, West.

Kingston—Goal, Dougall defence, Stewart, Sweetman, Bender, Watt; forwards, Murray, Wagar, Aitken, Larmer, McGregor, Catlin, Tinkess, Ohlke, White.

Summary:

First Period
Kingston—Murray	14:50
Penalties—None
Second Period
Petes—West	6:11
Kingston—Larmer (Ohlke, Murray)	9:34
Kingston—Catlin	12:00
Kingston—Tinkess (White, Stewart)	19:31
Penalties—Garvey (tripping); Horton (holding).
Third Period
Kingston—McGregor	3:55
Kingston—Wagar (White)	5:44
Petes—G. Leonard	6:01
Petes—G. Leonard (West, Jopling)	6:26
Penalties—Bender (tripping), Horton (tripping), Tinkess (roughing), Wade (roughing), Garvey (slashing, 2 minutes, misconduct 10 minutes).

SCORED A PAIR — Gus Leonard, Petes' captain, scored two goals and turned in a fine all-around effort last night in a losing cause, as Kingston pulled out a 6-3 win at home in a fairly tight senior "A" fixture.

EPL Puckists Elect Dr. W. Ford Prexy

Dr. Wilson Ford of Keene was elected president of the East Peterborough Hockey League at the annual meeting held in Keene last night. Roy Wasson of Lakefield is vice-president, Murray Patterson of Warsaw secretary-treasurer, and Jack Chittick of Lakefield the recording secretary.

Sure entries are Warsaw—last year's winners—Keene, Lakefield and Hastings, with possible ones from Millbrook, Bailieboro and maybe one or two more. Closing date for entries is Dec. 15, and clubs should apply in writing to Dr. Ford. The entry fee is $10 a team. Referees and other matters were discussed, and the next reorganization meeting will be held in Warsaw on Dec. 19.

Hornets Shade Bears In 3-2 Home Victory

By The Canadian Press.

Pittsburgh Hornets continued their winning ways Wednesday night shading the Hershey Bears 3-2 on home ice.

The Hornets top both sections of the American Hockey League with 36 points—seven more than their closest rivals.

The Bears scored first when Jerry Brown tallied as the second period got under way. The Hornets then took over the lead with two quick goals by Ray Timgren and George Armstrong. Hershey tied the game on a goal by Frank Mario just before the end of the period.

Chuck Blair put the Hornets out in front by scoring early in the last period.

At Syracuse, Bill Gooden became the 11th player in AHL history to hit the 200-goal mark as Syracuse Warriors scored a 5-2 triumph over Indianapolis Capitols before a crowd of 1,500.

Jake Wade Hits 857

Jake Wade hit a high three of 857 this week in the Major Bowling league, as D. Pearson led in single effort of 1,350. Six points each went to Crowley, UEW, Mowry, Stud. Champs and Kingsmen over Wonder, Campbell, McLeod, Examiner and Revenoors. The others were 4-2 wins for Darling, Cherney, Selkirk, Lillian's, Bickell, Herb's and Clapper over Wood, B & E, Plazas, Sun Life, Kawartha, Odeon and Brewers.

Other good scores included: C. Signorotti (346) 833, A. Hunter (304) 825, G. Walton 783, A. Matturci (319) 774, W. Boon (316) 769, M. Hill (328) 758, R. Bennett Jr. 753, B. McCarrell 751, M. Doris 714, W. Martin 707, D. Abraham 706, P. Weir 705, D. Pearson 702, W. Stanbury 700 and singles to R. Benentt Sr. of 318 and F. Wood of 302.

Red Wings, Toronto Cool Off Battle To 2-2 Draw, Bruins Edge Rangers 3-2

By The Canadian Press

Detroit Red Wings and Toronto Maple Leafs can play it cleanly and still come up with some first-class hockey. That was demonstrated at Toronto Wednesday night when the Wings and Leafs, cooled out considerably since their Sunday heyrube at Detroit, showed 13,579 fans why they are running one-two in the National Hockey League. The game ended in a 2-2 stalemate and both missed enough chances to make it a much-higher scoring game.

The one point left the Wings two up on the Stanley Cup champions. Boston Bruins picked up a little ground with a 3-2 victory over the Rangers at New York to leave them just five points behind Toronto.

The big crowd at Toronto was prepared for a continuance of the rough stuff and they weren't disappointed when only nine penalties were called. It appeared at the start that tempers still were on edge after the fist-swinging at Detroit, but the players soon settled down to fast-pace hockey and the crowd went home happy.

Detroit, with a record of no losses in 11 road games, came from behind twice to earn the point. The hero of the piece was Toronto's Sid Smith who produced both Leaf goals. Glen Skov and Ted Lindsay netted for the Wings.

May Be Costly

The loss may be costly to Toronto. Winger Howie Meeker was removed to hospital with a torn knee cartilage after crashing into goalkeeper Terry Sawchuk in the first period.

The cellar-dwelling Rangers ran out of steam in the last period allowing Bruins to break a 2-2 deadlock and take the two points. Johnny Peirson's two-goal effort, his second at 13:02 of the final session, broke up the game. Hal Laycoe got the other Boston tally.

Probably the happiest guy of the game was the Rangers' Gaye Stewart. The veteran scored both Ranger goals, the first time he hit the scoring column this season.

Joe Jackson Dies Suddenly

GREENVILLE, SC, Dec. 6 (AP) "Shoeless Joe" Jackson, once one of baseball's greatest hitters, died Wednesday night still maintaining his innocence of any wrong-doing in the 1919 world series scandal.

Jackson, 63, was one of eight Chicago White Sox players accused of accepting bribes to throw the series to Cincinnati Reds. Jackson, Fred McMullin, Arnold Gandil, George Weaver, Charles Risberg, Fred McMullin, Eddie Cicotte and Claude Williams were barred for life from organized baseball by the late commissioner Kenesaw Mountain Landis.

Jackson, who played the outfield and hit .375 in the series won by the Reds, had been plagued by heart trouble in recent years.

Last night he went to bed at 9:30 and awakened shortly after complaining of chest pains. He died before help could be summoned.

After his banishment, Jackson returned here, citing his acquittal of conspiracy in a Chicago court as proof of his innocence.

A civil court later awarded him the unexpired portion of his salary from Chicago Americans.

Harry Matthews Scores Win In Poor Boxing Show

CLEVELAND, Dec. 6 (AP). — Harry Matthews had another victory for his impressive record today, but the crack Seattle lightheavyweight was a weary fighter.

The No. 1 contender for the lightheavyweight crown held by Joey Maxim ran into unexpected opposition Wednesday night in winning a unanimous 10-round decision over hard-hitting Danny Nardico of Tampa, Fla.

Although he got a thorough pasting for his efforts, Nardico shook up the west coast battler on a number of occasions with his dynamite-laden fists.

Jack Hurley, Matthew's manager, was the first to admit that his fighter didn't perform like he has in the past.

"He was very sloppy and couldn't put two punches together during the entire fight," said the studious ring veteran who changed Matthew's style and made him one of the hottest names in boxing.

Hurley said his fighter "took more punches than he usually takes in a year."

"Matthews had the flu a few months ago and I don't think he has fully recovered his strength," he added. "He was dead tired after the second round."

TWO FIRST PETERBORO SHOWINGS

OHA To Question Cobourg Players

COBOURG, Dec. 6.—Cobourg players Fred McMillan and Harvey Rowe were notified Wednesday to appear before an OHA meeting in Toronto on Friday.

Both are under protest by the Port Hope Redmen against whom they played last Friday. Although Port Hope won the game they took exception to Rowe and McMillan on alleged residence rule infractions.

Latest move in the protest-committee room fight between the town's hockey teams involves two of Cobourg's regular stars, Rowe being the number one goalie and McMillan an ace defenceman.

Both are slated for action in Friday night's renewal of the season's series here between Port Hope and Cobourg though the travelling time involved in the Toronto trip will make the players' participation in the game doubtful.

President S. Williams will attempt to make the round trip in time, providing the OHA doesn't uphold the protest and bar the two.

Marlies Grab 9-6 Overtime Win From Barrie; Back In 1st Place Tie

By The Canadian Press.

Toronto Marlboros kept up their battle for the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A league leadership Wednesday night when they pulled off a hard-fought 9-6 victory from the ninth-place Barrie Flyers to move back into a first-place deadlock with the idle Guelph Biltmores.

The Maple Leaf farm club led Barrie 2-1 at the end of the first period and 6-4 at the close of the middle session, but a late-game rally left the issue tied at 6-6 as the third period closed. Three overtime goals were all the Marlies needed to earn their win.

At Waterloo the Hurricanes chalked up their fourth straight junior win with an 11-2 route of the eighth-place Oshawa Generals. The Hurricanes' triumph puts them but two points out of fifth place in the ten-team loop.

Stratford Indians continued to hold their mastery over the Ontaria Hockey Association Senior A standings by delighting a packed home town arena with a decisive 13-2 win over Sarnia Sailors.

Eighth Victory

In drubbing the Sailors Wednesday night, Stratford notched their eighth straight victory and increased their league lead to seven points over second-place Hamilton Tigers who dropped a 3-2 decision to Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen. The Indians have yet to lose a game in Stratford this season.

Up north the Sudbury Wolves roared back from a 5-0 second-period deficit to earn a 5-5 tie with the first place Northern Ontario Hockey Association Senior A Sault Ste. Marie Greyhounds. The game was played right in Sault Ste. Marie.

Parker MacDonald and Danny Poland led Toronto Marlboros to their 9-6 overtime win at Barrie with two goals each. Earl Balfour, Cliff Bendo, John Lumley, Ron Ingram and Johnny Maxwell tallied singletons. Cliff Martan, Chuck Wood, Don McKenney, Ken Collins, Danny MacDonald and Connie Thibeault scored for the losers.

Sets Pace

Johnny Wood set the pace for the Waterloo Hurricanes' 11-2 spree with three goals. John Chirkoski, Paul Oliver and Johnny Connelly garnered a pair each and singletons went to Ron Murphy and Jerry Hudson. Billy Sturgeon and Pete Hudson tallied for Oshawa.

Stratford's big line of Jackie White, George Aitken and Ken Ducharme led the Indians to their decisive 13-2 victory over Sarnia, each of the members getting three goals. Mickey Bell added two and single tallies went to Larry Lemenchick and Bill Walsh. Harry O'Connor and Bill Walsh were the Sarnia marksmen.

Scotty Mair came up with two goals as Kitchener-Waterloo edged Hamilton 3-2 in a rhubarb-filled game at Kitchener. Bobby Schnurr scored the winners' other goal while Ab Conick and Bill Hammond were the Tigers' goal-getters.

A disputed goal in the last minute of the second period brought about a rhubarb which netted the Dutchies a misconduct and a match-misconduct penalty and fired them for their winning drive. Playing coach Bobby Bauer was given the 10-minute cool-off for arguing too hotly with referee Jack Shropshire while Harvey Jacklin got thrown out of the game for shoving the arbitor in a discussion of an ensuing penalty.

Slight Error

LONDON—(CP)—Accused in a court case here, the man in the dock was given his choice of lawyers and pointed to one with the remark "I'll have that one." The chosen lawyer replied: "I'm sorry, you can't have me. I'm prosecuting you."

Yankees Cut Radio Operations

COLUMBUS, O., Dec. 6 (AP) —The world champion New York Yankees Wednesday reduced their radio operations in reply to George Trautman's grim warning that the minor leagues can not long survive the "radio umbrella" of big league broadcasts.

Trautman, president of the National Association of Minor Leagues, called for "reasonable restraints" on big league broadcasts in his annual report to the minors' golden jubilee convention.

The Yankees will not licence any national network broadcasts —such as "game-of-the-day" — from Yankee Stadium. They will curtail their "Home of Champions" network that covered 18 cities in 1951, and will limit these broadcasts to day games. There will be no out-of-town television of Yank home games. They will continue to broadcast all games, home and away and televise all home games over a New York station.

Last season, the Yankees permitted network broadcasts to all points, carried day and night games on their own 18-city chain and let a New Haven, Conn., TV station carry some 30 games.

Believe Yankees Most Likely To Get Williams

By JOE REICHLER.

COLUMBUS, O., Dec. 6 (AP) —Owner Ellis Ryan of Cleveland Indians said today he wouldn't be surprised if Boston Red Sox traded Ted Williams to New York Yankees.

"I would say the Yankees have the best chance of getting Williams," he said. "That is, if Boston really wants to trade Ted. New York has more to offer, in the way of good young dispensable players, than any other club."

Ryan denied an oft-rumored story that Williams had been offered to the Indians for right-hander Bob Lemon and catcher Jim Hegan.

"Ted Williams' name has never come up for discussion in any of our talks with the Red Sox," he said. "I have no way of knowing whether the Red Sox have ever attempted to trade Williams to any club."

Previously, general manager George Weiss of the Yankees hinted that his club will be interested in making a deal for the Red Sox slugger if they are sure Joe DiMaggio is not returning next season.

"We might be interested in Boston's big fellow if we knew just what our big fellow is going to do," is the way he put it. "If Joe decides to play, then I don't think there would be room for the two of them."

DiMaggio is scheduled to meet the Yankee officials in New York this week. If a Williams-to-the Yankees transaction is made, the guess is that the Red Sox will ask for outfielder Hank Bauer, second baseman Gerry Coleman, pitcher Bob Morgan and a young catcher.

The Cardinals' persistent efforts to land Eddie Stanky as manager were expected to wind up successfully. The announcement may come within the next 48 hours.

President Fred Saigh of the Cards and manager Leo Durocher of the Giants huddled for two hours Wednesday, then lunched for another two hours together.

"I told Mr. Saigh that we still were determined to get Max Lanier (southpaw pitcher) and Chuck Diering for Stanky," Leo said. "We did not want the other fellows he offered. He said he'd think it over.

"I think the deal will be made," Leo added with a broad grin.

The "other fellows" are pitcher Red Munger and catcher Del Rice. The Giants were to throw in catcher Sal Yvars and infielder Jack Lohrke in the deal.

Savitt And Sedgman Battle To Finals

MELBOURNE, Australia, Dec. 6 (AP)—Dick Savitt and Frank Sedgman battled their way into the finals of the Victorian championships today as America and Australia broke even in a "preview" of the Davis Cup challenge round.

Savitt, pounding the ball hard, trounced the Aussies' No. 2 player, Ken McGregor, 6-3, 6-4, 6-4.

Vic Seixas put up a thrilling struggle against Sedgman, but finally went down by 5-7, 6-2, 11-9, 7-5 after two hours and 15 minutes of brilliant tennis.

A crowd estimated at 6,000 witnessed the two matches which might well be duplicated on first day of the challenge round at Sydney, December 26.

Mayors Ask Close Look At Country's Defence

MONTREAL, Dec. 6 (CP). — The mayors of Canada's major cities Wednesday asked for a good close look at the country's defence forces and equipment.

The national executive of the Canadian Federation of Mayors and Municipalities, in session here unanimously voted to ask the Department of National Defence to arrange a tour of defence installations.

In the tour, the mayors would be able to see demonstrations of the armed forces in action with their best and latest equipment.

The request came after the convention head George Mooney, executive director of the Association, and Mayor Gordon S. Kinley of Halifax, tell of such a demonstration in the United States.

Resale Price Hardships Denied By Group

OTTAWA, Dec. 6—(CP)—The Ontario Retail Hardware Association denied today that resale price maintenance operates against the public interest by causing high prices.

It contended in a brief placed before a parliamentary committee studying legislation to abolish the practice that retail price-fixing assures the consumer that there will be competition between price-maintained and non-price maintained items.

The association, representing more than 4,000 hardware merchants across Canada, said the practice does not reduce efficiency in retailing or establish a private law which excludes the courts.

Price maintenance, while affecting only a small percentage of the retail hardware business, constituted "an accepted economic and legal procedure whereby a valuable part of the business conducted by retail hardware merchants can be conducted on an orderly basis with a continuing profit at a reasonable level."

It reported that the practice applies to only 2,094 of the 26,580 items sold in the trade.

Shakes Confidence

"It has been the experience of this association," the brief said, "that price-cutting both of the deep cutting variety and of the moderate variety has a strong tendency to shake the confidence of the consumer in the general line of merchandise carried by the retail hardware merchants . . ."

The result of this was a "definite falling off" in demand for a broad range of items both price maintained and non-price maintained.

Members of the association felt that "loss leader" practices would be "disastrous" to retail merchants who had invested heavily in slow-moving items.

Dies In Hospital

TORONTO, Dec. 6 — (CP) — James Riley, 47, charged with the attempted murder of Emma Gillespie, died in hospital Wednesday. He had been under police guard since he was admitted 10 days ago, suffering from the effects of a self-administered poison. On that day Miss Gillespie, who lived in the house where Riley boarded, was found unconscious and beaten.

Toronto Head Office

HAMILTON, Dec. 6 (CP)—The Ontario Chamber of Commerce is going to establish its head office in Toronto. The resolution changing the office's location from Kitchener was adopted at the afternoon session of the Ontario Chamber of Commerce, holding its annual meeting here.

Fog Delays Race

MONTREAL, Dec. 6 (CP). — Fog blanketed the St. Lawrence River Wednesday, delaying the race for the last ship out of the harbor. The fog tied down the Panama-flag freighter Dorado, leaving it in first place for the title of last deep-sea vessel to clear the port. The Dorado das delayed several hours in docking and will not leave until Saturday.

To Change Lights

TORONTO, Dec. 6 — (CP) — Highway Department snowplows and trucks are being equipped with flashing blue lights front and rear to warn motorists of slow-moving vehicles. Flashing red lights will be limited to emergency vehicles such as ambulances. The change was made following requests from police chiefs.

Liberals Throw Family Party For Prime Minister And Wife

By GEORGE KITCHEN.

OTTAWA, Dec. 6 (CP)—The Liberals of Parliament Hill threw a family party Wednesday night to pay court to their chief and his lady—Rt. Hon. Louis St. Laurent and Mrs. St. Laurent.

Liberal Senators and Liberal Members of Parliament, many with their wives, gathered in the spacious parliamentary restaurant for a complimentary dinner to mark the 10th anniversary of Mr. St. Laurent's entry into the government.

It was a warm, happy family gathering dedicated to honoring the man who came on the Canadian political scene in wartime 1941 as a reluctant unknown, went on to win the Liberal leadership and the Prime Ministership in 1948 and then led his party in the 1949 general election to the greatest victory in Canada's political history.

Some speeches were made — not too many—and many nice things were said, and the party gave Mr. and Mrs. St. Laurent a painting of a Quebec winter scene done by Frederick Simpson Coburn of Upper Melbourne, Que., just 35 miles from the Prime Minister's birthplace of Compton, Que.

Not "Sacrifice"

To Mrs. St. Laurent, in addition went the traditional bouquet of red roses.

Party stalwarts spoke of the "sacrifices" Mr. St. Laurent had made in going into the government in 1941, but the 69-year-old Prime Minister told them he did not think the use of the word "sacrifice" was justified.

He felt it was "no sacrifice to belong to the kind of organization we have in this country."

The Canadian people were one big happy family and it was not hard to like the Canadian people because "we are a likeable people."

Hon. C. G. (Chubby) Power, dean of the Commons who contested the leadership with Mr. St. Laurent in the 1948 Liberal convention, served as chairman while Agriculture Minister Gardiner, the third candidate in that contest, offered the toast and made the presentation.

Gave Up Practice

Mr. Power told how Mr. St. Laurent entered the cabinet in December, 1941, as Justice Minister, succeeding a great Liberal stalwart from Quebec, the late Rt. Hon. Ernest Lapointe. Mr. St. Laurent had "sacrificed" his private interests, including incidentally, the largest law practice before the Bar of Quebec.

Mr. Gardiner said no one ever had been taken into the cabinet "who more rapidly grasped all the ideas necessary to giving the highest service to his country."

Some said Mr. St. Laurent did not have the experience necessary to lead a political party.

"But," said Mr. Gardiner, "I am quite sure we have a leader who can get elected just as long as he wants to stay with us—and the longer he stays with us the better."

Nameplate Suggested For New City Hall

Fred T. Tuggy suggests two finishing touches at the city hall. Set the name in bronze in the architrave of the portico, and continue the coping over the top of the walls of the main section of the building.

"We all know that it is the city hall, but how are visitors to know what it is, whether library, court house, city hall?" Mr. Tuggey recommended. "All that is needed are eight letters that will be conspicuous but dignified. There is no hurry about it, but I think the council should have it done some time.

"The public may notice the coping over the top of the wall in the central section of the building.

"But, it does not continue along the top of the wall parallel with George St. It seems to me that coping there, the same as over the central section, would be protection and insurance against the wether. Rain and melting snow might gradually leak through the joints between the stone of the wall in the top layer, but coping would provide a cover, and prevent any damage to the wall in years to come. Of course, I can speak only from seeing it from the sidewalk, but I think it should be considered some time."

New Sensation In US Inquiry

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6 (AP)—Charles Oliphant resigned as chief legal officer of the United States Internal Revenue service Wednesday deploring "vilification" and piling another sensation on the heap already collected by a Congressional investigating committee.

As Oliphant gave up his $14,800-a-year job, Frank Nathan, a self-described "promoter," went before the inquiry group to deny a charge that he tried to shake down a wealthy Chicago lawyer for $500,000 with promises to "fix" his tax troubles through influential friends in Washington officialdom.

Nathan shouted that the accusation was "a dirty, filthy lie."

The conflict in testimony brought an announcement from Representative Cecil King (Dem. Calif.), chairman of the committee, that a transcript of the testimony about the alleged shakedown would be sent to the Department of Justice for perjury action.

"It has been quite clear in the last 24 hours that one or more persons perjured themselves before this committe," King said.

Accused Had Heart Attack Not Drunk-Court

A charge of drunk driving against Thomas J. Cavanagh, 320 Maitland Ave., was dismissed after the evidence was heard in police court Wednesday.

Dr. John Epping, testified Cavanagh is suffering from a recurring heart ailment. He said that the symptoms could be mistaken for drunkenness, as anyone undergoing one of the periodic attacks might experience dizziness which could cause staggering.

Constables Arthur Beardsmore and Louis Rodreque arrested Cavanagh at a service station at George and Lansdowne streets the night of October 16. They both testified Cavanagh's speech was "thick", he "staggered" and smelled of alcohol.

He was taken to the police station, booked on a charge of drunk driving.

Taken To Hospital

About midnight, he was taken to hospital where he remained for three days, recovering from an attack of the heart ailment described by Dr. Epping.

Cavanagh admitted in court he had had two bottles of beer about three or four hours before he was arrested but denied having any other liquor or alcohol that day. He said he had not felt well all day and had not eaten anything.

Cavanagh said his memory was not clear on all the details the night he was arrested but he knew he couldn't have been drunk.

Dr. Epping in his testimony had said that loss of memory was another symptom of the heart ailment.

"Two pints of beer on an empty stomach can be dynamite," said assistant crown attorney Walter Howell in urging Magistrate Philp to accept the crown's evidence and discount the evidence of Dr. Epping which he said was "practically worthless," since Dr. Epping did not see Cavanagh until about three hours after he was arrested.

Cavanagh was defended by J. C. N. Currelly who claimed that the doctor's evidence was "of vital importance".

In dismissing the charge, Magistrate Philp said "It would appear to me symptoms of this disease are quite consistent with symptoms of intoxication and the accused should be given the benefit of the doubt. The officers had every reason to believe the man was intoxicated," Magistrate Philp added.

Ask Dry Canteens Be Run For Canadian Men In Korea

TORONTO, Dec. 6— (CP) — The Canadian Temperance Federation said Wednesday it has urged the government to open a dry canteen wherever there is a wet canteen serving armed forces in Korea.

The Federation asked the government to institute a temperance education program among overseas troops, as well as those in Canada.

The Federation reported that in spite of surface evidence suggesting its ideals were unpopular, there were growing opportunities to advance its work.

"Any report of temperance work in our day might be excused for striking a note of pessimism," its report to the council of the Canadian Temperance Federation said. "Basing our entire effort on its essential righteousness, we are satisfied in Ontario that definite progress is being made."

Relations of the Ontario Federation with various religious denominations were never better, the report continued. This was true at all levels.

Up To Churches

It said that the expressed judgment of the federation was that the next move in the temperance field had to come from the churches. To this end stimulation of education was being sought and organization within each congregation suggested to secure readiness for persistent education and action on the temperance front.

One of the most recent concerns of the Ontario group was the practice, which it said was growing, of serving liquor at public and private functions as well as in the home.

The report added that co-operation by hotelkeepers and the Liquor Control Board would probably enable the federation to share with them a project whereby every beverage room and cocktail bar in the province would join in a plea for sobriety at the Christmas season.

Foster Parents Win Right To Keep Child

TORONTO, Dec. 6 — (CP). — Mr. and Mrs. Palmer Gibeau of Pembroke Wednesday won a long court fight to adopt Julia Yvonne Lesieur, 5.

Thec hild's mother, Mrs. Adele Keuhl of Sudbury, relinquished all her rights to the little girl, although she had been successful in several court actions to regain her.

"We are satisfied that the home of Mr. and Mrs. Gibeau is a fit and proper place for the upbringing of our first child," said Mrs. Keuhl, the former Adele Lesieur of Quedeville, Renfrew County, in a letter read to the Ontario Appeal Court.

The letter permitted her lawyer to consent to an order setting aside an earlier order that prevented the Gibeau's from adopting Julia Yvonne.

Would Be Stranger

Mrs. Keuhl said that she and her husband felt that "after the lapse of so many years our child Yvonne is naturally a stranger to us and we would be strangers to her if we were to obtain her custody."

Religion was one of the factors complicating the long legal battle over the little girl. Mrs. Keuhl, a Roman Catholic, first decided to give up her child and allow her to be raised in a Protestant home. Later Mrs. Keuhl married the child's father and decided to bring her up herself.

The Gibeau's, Protestants, applied to adopt the child, but were refused because of Mrs. Keuhl's objection. The objection was withdrawn on Wednesday.

British Guiana Small Farmers Receiving Aid

By BURCHELL O. WILLS

GEORGETOWN, British Guiana,—(CP)—The British Guiana government is showing solicitude for the economic welfare of the peasant farmers—those who grow what are called "provisions" and fruits.

They are distinct from the comparatively small number who grow cane to supply sugar factories, and the large group who concentrate on rice production.

The government has established a new $140,000 processing factory which, at the same time, is aimed to prevent waste at the government produce purchasing depot.

That there has been wastage doesn't mean there were surpluses in the past over the needs of the community. The trouble arose because many persons cannot afford to buy. The trade union council, for instance, estimates there are about 75,000 unemployed here.

The wastage occurred at the government depot itself. Although established to assist farmers by buying all their produce at fixed prices, the depot lacked processing facilities.

Set An Example

Governor Sir Charles Woolley, opening the factory, said he hoped it would spur on private capital to attempt similar industrial development.

He said:

"In part it is a cassava flour mill capable of a flour or starch output of 1,000 tons per annum which will not only absorb the present output of bitter cassava root surplus to our domestic needs, but will also absorb a considerable increased production from areas where the crop can be readily grown, and where an expansion of agricultural production is needed.

The factory has a corn drying department and a stockfeed mixer.

"I am glad," said the governor, "to see that there is also a small trial canning plant in the factory from which canning of surplus fruits will be developed on a home basis, and which may pave the way later on for commercial production."

Urge Slowdown In Considering Retail Prices

OTTAWA, Dec. 6 — (CP) — Opposition members, supported by a lone government adherent, Wednesday urged the parliamentary committee on resale price maintenance to slow down consideration of government legislation to ban retail price-fixing.

They introduced four motions aimed at slowing the proceedings of the committee, which has decided to bring the hearing of witnesses to an end today and then consider recommendations on the proposed legislation.

All four motions were defeated.

E. D. Fulton (PC, Kamloops) George Hees (PC, Toronto Broadview), Ross Thatcher (CCF, Moose Jaw) and Roland Beaudry (L, Montreal St. James) were in the forefront of the fight to prolong committee study of the bill.

Later, the committee heard a brief from the Canadian Jewellers' Association which supported resale price maintenance as "a basic right of the individual manufacturer."

Too Much Rushing

Mr. Fulton said the committee might be doing a wide segment of the public "an injustice" by rushing matters.

He read into the record several telegrams from groups which wanted to appear before the committee, including one from Margaret Hyndman, KC, of Toronto, contending she had not been heard Tuesday when she sought unsuccessfuly to win a hearing for the Retail Merchants' Association of Canada.

David Croll (L, Toronto Spadina) suggested Miss Hyndman had been given ample opportunity to be heard and that her statement was without justification. The matter ended there.

Mr. Fulton then moved that the committee call as witnesses Mr. Justice J. H. MacQuarrie, chairman of the commission, J. R. Thomson of St. Catharines, vice-president of the Retail Merchants' Association, and M. S. Robinson, a representative of the T. Eaton Company.

He suggested there was "something peculiar" in the government's refusal to call Mr. Justice MacQuarrie. The committee should have the benefit of his views about the evidence on which his commission's recommendation was based.

Mr. Fulton's motion was defeated 19 to 8.

Angus MacInnis (CCF, Vancouver East) said it was "fantastic" to suggest Mr. Justice MacQuarrie be asked to justify his report. It was like asking a judge to justify his verdict in a trial.

Fear Powers Given Harbor Commission

TORONTO, Dec. 6—(CP)—The Ontario Automotive Transport Association Wednesday protested against powers which may be given the Toronto Harbor Commission to collect tolls from all traffic in the harbor area.

Earlier the annual convention heard Malcolm Robb, a Belleville lawyer, charge that the federal government is debauching Canadian currnecy by a settled policy of handing out cold cash without increasing production.

"We are on the same path as a business headed for bankruptcy," he said.

Toronto Harbor Commission powers may be increased in a bill now before a Senate committee to replace by a tax on oil pipelines the revenue previously derived from a toll on oil tankers coming into port.

Won't Increase Brigade

40 Students Guests At Toronto University

TORONTO, Dec. 6 — (CP) — Some 40 students of the University of Montreal arrive tonight as guests of the University of Toronto at the annual Carabin Weekend.

The visits, begun in 1948, emphasize cultural and social aspects of the two universities in an effort to promote lasting friendship and understanding between French and English-speaking Canadians.

A similar exchange plan is carried out annually by students of McGill and Laval Universities.

First Bottle Convinced Her Syntona Is Great Medicine

Relieved Backache, Pains in Limbs, Arms, Muscles. Now nerves are relaxed, FREE of Dizzy Spells, "Feel better than for months," says this woman.

For a long time I was feeling rundown and suffered from backache and rheumatic pains, but the first bottle of Syntona convinced me it is a great medicine," said Mrs. Lydia Morris, 421 Paling Avenue North, Hamilton, Ontario, in a recent report.

"I was not sleeping well at night, felt tired-out all the time and I would often get dizzy spells with dark spots floating before my eyes. I would get pains all through my legs, arms and muscles and that dull, aching pain across my back used to get my nerves on edge. I had a poor appetite and many days would have to force myself to do my work.

"After reading in the paper about Syntona I thought I would give it a trial and it has really worked wonders for me. Even from the first I could feel that it was helping me and now after taking it only a short while I actually feel like a new person. The aches and pains are practically all gone away, my nerves are relaxed. I sleep better, and have a better appetite. I am thankful to be rid of that awful backache and those dizzy feelings and that I am able to do my work without feeling tired all over as I did before."

Many people in this city and throughout the entire country tell of experiences like Mrs. Morris where Syntona has helped them even after many other things they tried had failed. This medicine made of the purest herbs and roots often accomplishes surprising results in relieving similar health troubles and helping people to feel better.

Syntona is sold and recommended in Peterborough at Elliott's Drug Store. (Advt).

Intoxication Can Be Difficult To Identify Police Are Told

CAMPBELLFORD, Dec. 6 (ENS).—Police in this district meeting in the Council chambers in Campbellford on Wednesday heard two lectures by local doctors and enjoyed a friendly get-together. The affair was arranged by Chief Constable George H. Hardy and Provincial Constable Donald W. Erskine of Campbellford.

Inspector William Stringer of Peterborough, Sgt. Stanley Palmateer and other members of the OPP of Peterborough were in attendance, as well as provincial police from Belleville, Brighton, Cobourg and Lindsay. Three RCMP officers from Cobourg also attended. Chiefs of police from Hastings, Havelock, Norwood and other nearby towns and villages were present.

Dr. C. A. Bright discussed problems faced by the police in dealing with individuals who may appear intoxicated, but may be suffering some disease or injury producing similar appearances. Dr. Bright described the drugs and diseases which may produce symptoms and cause a person to act as though he were under the influence of alcohol. He cited instances where this had been found to be the case. He said the smell of alcohol on a person's breath need not necessarily mean his actions, however abnormal, are caused by the effects of the alcohol.

Dr. Bright answered questions for the officers, who described cases and asked his advice. Inspector William Stringer thanked the speaker.

Dental Identification

Constable Erskine introduced Dr. Ross Richardson, Campbellford dentist, who told of the way in which dental records could be of help in identifying bodies. He told of the manner in which facial features reveal the type of teeth in the mouth, and likewise the manner in which a certain type or types of teeth determined one's facial features. The Noronic disaster, he said, was an example of this. After other means of identification had failed, a board of dental specialists was called in to help identify the bodies. From the teeth of a number of victims, the dentists, with the help of artists, were able to make sketches of the person as he would have appeared in life, and in a number of cases these sketches were remarkably accurate and served to identify a number of the bodies. In other cases records of dental work proved identification, but there were no records of a great many of the victims, and dentists resorted to the sketches.

Dr. R. Dure, coroner for Northumberland County, told of cases where conditions outlined earlier by Dr. Bright had been found to be correct, and said that he thought the medical profession could be of great help to the law enforcement agencies of the country. He also told the officers to remember that alcohol is definitely not a stimulant, but a depressive, and described how this was caused.

At the close of the evening, Cpl. Doug. Wilson of the Cobourg detachment of the OPP presented PC Donald W. Erskine and his new bride with an electric clock, a gift from the policemen present at the meeting and from officers throughout the district. Mr. and Mrs. Erskine thanked the officers for the gift, and accepted the congratulations of all those present.

Mrs. Erskine and Mrs. Geo. H. Hardy served coffee and sandwiches to the group at the close of the evening.

Wood, Oil Make Paris Dresses

By FORBES RHUDE,
Canadian Press Business Editor.

British Columbia forests and Alberta oil may, before long, be supplying materials for the smart creations of Paris dress designers.

This was indicated in Toronto Wednesday by Harold Blancke, (pronounced Blankey), President of Celanese Corporation of America, and of Columbia Cellulose Co., Ltd., Prince Rupert, BC, and Canadian Chemical Co., Ltd., Edmonton.

Columbia Cellulose now produces high alpha cellulose from wood-pulp for use, among other things, in making various syntahetic fibres or yarns. When Canadian Chemical comes into production, Prince Rupert cellulose will be combined with Edmonton petro-chemicals to make cellulose acetate, another raw material for synthetic fibres.

For the present at least, it does nto pay to ship finished yarns to France from either Canada or the United States, but Mr. Blancke believes it will be practicable to ship Canadian cellulose acetate.

May Build in France.

With this in mind the company hopes to build a plant in France, make the yarn there from the Canadian material, and persuade Paris dress makers to use the new fibres.

Mr. Blancke was host to a gathering of Toronto business and financial men, and he gave the Grench-export plan as an illustration of the manner in which markets are built. Paris, he commented, is a world style centre, and therefore a market for yarns but a product has to be made available before a demand for it can be created.

Despite the plans for France, Mr. Blancke said he believes Canadian raw materials should be processed further along the line to the finished product than at present.

He predicted that, based on his corporation's experience in the United States, the development of future products at Edmonton "should really be interesting."

Go To Source.

He said his company's extension to Canada was in line with it spolicy to go to the source of raw materials, and biuld up markets from there. He also gave another reason.

In the United States, he commented, an excess profits tax takes 82 cents out of every dollar the company makes above $3.25 a share. "So," he added, "there is not much incentive at present to expand in the United States.

Asked whether there was any possibility of Columbia Cellulose and Canadian Chemical being amalgamated, he said it might become desirable to do so—possibly in such an event as a public offering of their common stock in Canada.

He repeated previous statements that his companies do not wish to go into the finished textile business.

TO START cycle in back pressure -arm lift method of artificial respiration, operator places hands on victim's back so that thumbs just touch and heels of hands are just below line running between armpits.

SECOND: Operator rocks forward slowly, keeping his elbows straight, until his arms are approximately vertical, exerting steady pressure upon the victim's chest. Operator kneels on knee at the head of victim.

THIRD: Operator rocks backward, slowly sliding his hands to the victim's arms just above the elbows. Victim is placed prone with elbows bent and one hand on the other, cheek resting on hand and face turned.

FOURTH: Operator continues to rock backward, raising victim's arms until resistance and tension are felt at victim's shoulder. Then he drops the arms and completes a full cycle repeated 12 times a minute.

Back Pressure Technique Now Being Adapted Artificial Respiration Methods Streamlined

By WADE JONES

WASHINGTON —(NEA)—Millions of Americans and Canadians trained to give artificial respiration now can breathe a little easier themselves.

Their vital technique, used since 1927, is being streamlined on the basis of special research tests, and the new version will be put into effect as soon as possible by nine organizations and agencies specializing in first aid training. They include the Red Cross and the Armed Forces.

The move consists of a change over from the Schafer prone pressure system to the back pressure-arm lift method, an adaptation of the Nielsen system used for years in Denmark and Norway and other European countries.

The shift was partially the result of efforts by the Armed Forces to find a way to treat large numbers of nerve gas victims effectively in event of another world war.

Important Factor

Tests showed the back pressure-arm lift method produced a markedly greater exchange of air in the victim's lungs than the Schafer system. This is a highly important factor in reviving persons in deep asphyxia such as could be produced by nerve gas.

A basic difference in the two systems is that the back pressure-arm lift forces air into the lungs as well as expells it.

To accomplish this the person giving the treatment kneels at the victim's head. The victim is laid on his stomach with his arms folded under his head and his face resting on his crossed hands.

The first-aider's initial movement is to place his hands on the victim's back just below a line between the arm pits and press down by easing his weight forward onto the hands. This expells the air from the lungs. He then grasps the upper part of each of the victim's arms and pulls them toward him, then releases them. This sucks air into the lungs. The two movement operation is performed rhythmically 12 times a minute.

This method differs from the Schafer in that the first-aider kneels over the victim's legs in the latter system, and alternately swings his weight forward onto his hands placed on the lower part of the victim's back, and releases it. This method forces air from the lungs but does not actively provide for getting it back in.

Tests showed the back pressure-arm lift method produced more than twice the exchange of air in the victim's lungs provided by the prone pressure. In addition it was virtually as easy to teach.

The Red Cross began research into new methods of artificial respiration in 1947, and made grants for research in the two years following.

Two years ago the Army Chemical Center started research on "the growing question" of how best to treat a large number of people in event of warfare in which poison or nerve gas might be used. The Chemical Center arranged for research by four teams headed by outstanding physiologists throughout the country.

Researchers for the Red Cross, the Army and other interested agencies conducted a wide variety of tests, many under unusual conditions.

Included in the studies were animals, volunteers holding their breaths, persons who had just died, sick or injured patients who had stopped breathing, and volunteers who were given drugs which completely paralyzed their ability to breathe for a short period of time.

These experiments, described by the researchers as "extremely necessary" were carried out under "carefully controlled conditions," they said.

Used to restore breathing to persons whose respiration has stopped, artificial respiration has particular value in cases of drowning, suffocation, electric shock, and poisoning by illuminating gas or carbon monoxide.

Authorities in this field report that if resuscitation is begun "almost immediately" after breathing stops, "most victims" can be revived. If it is not started for six to nine minutes "relatively few" can be saved.

Cushy Ocean Trip Envy Of Old Veterans

By DOUG HOW

Hannover, Germany (CP) — Canadian soldiers moving to Europe are finding there is at least one place where there is too much to eat, and where the price of cigarettes and beer is low. It's aboard the ship bringing them here.

They are facing the hazards of these oceanic oases in the best Canadian tradition but sometimes it seems more than a man can bear: Six meals a day, tax-free beer at 15 cents a pint, servants to make your bed and serve your meals.

The transfer of 5,500 men of the 27th Infantry Brigade and their equipment across the Atlantic will cost probably $1,000,000 just for transportation. As far as the soldiers are concerned, it's worth every cent of it.

Of seven shiploads crossing at intervals, the Greek line's Canberra is taking three. She's providing a passage that would arouse the envy of the average veteran. There are no hammocks jammed in the holds, no queueing for food, no real crowding.

Have Sheets

The soldiers, 500 on the trip I made, sleep between white sheets. There usually are four soldiers to a cabin. They leave their beds to be made by stewards, buy a pint of Canadian or German beer or a package of Canadian or American cigarettes for 15 cents, and generally enjoy all the facilities of a tourist-class passage.

There are dormitory-type cabins down in the hold but they are not used.

But it's the eating which tops everything. Aboard the Canberra it is axiomatic that the human being should be fed six times a day —breakfast, 11 am snack, lunch, afternoon snack, dinner, evening snack.

Lunches and dinners are five courses. Steak, chops, beef are served twice a day. The food not only is endless, it is good. Small wonder that a good number of officers and soldiers are gathering copies of the menus to stimulate their memories in more frugal days ahead, or to prove their point when they write their womenfolk at home.

Meals are served by waiters in white jackets, on tables with white cloths, while a four-piece orchestra plays soft music in the wings.

They might have been a bit taken aback at first but towards the end of the voyage it was a common sight to see privates from Flin Flon or Stewiacke urbanely scanning a waiter's tray of hors d'ouvres, making their selections, then turning graciously to applaud something from Beethoven.

To the old term "officer and gentleman," the army is appending a new one—"soldier and gentleman."

In Service For Men Women Who Served

Comrades:

The regular monthly meeting and initiation of new members will be held on Monday, December 17 at 8:00 pm. This meeting will also be the annual Christmas turkey draw for members so come along and help make it the best this year. The members are also remineded of the social night held every Friday night on the centre floor of the Legion hall. Admission to this night is by membership card and for a small fee (25 cents per person) you will have a very enjoyable night.

Cribbage tournaments are held every Wednesday night and persons interested are asked to contact Mike Cahagan (chairman of recreation) or the secretary. The dart tournament is held every Thursday night and the shuffleboard each Tuesday. The captains of the teams in these games are requested to have their players ready at 8:00 pm sharp.

The welfare committee of the legion meets every Tuesday night and persons wishing to meet this committee are asked to contact the secretary, phone 6203.

The annual Christmas party for the children of paid-up members will be held on December 22 from 2:30 pm to 5:00 pm for ages from four to 10 years. Tickets may be obtained at the Legion office not later than December 17.

The lower floor of the Canadian Legion has attained a new look in the last few weeks. With the installation of the new refrigeration unit and caterer, a new paint job and the removal of the partition you can hardly realize that it is the same place. The painting is being done with the help of our members and the job is one to be envied.

Monday night, December 10, is the Red Patch clubs annual Ortona dinner. The night gets under way at 6:30 o'clock with a turkey dinner and that will be followed by a night of dancing and entertainment. The speaker will be Major the Rev. Goforth and he will show films on the places the 1st Division boys visited between 1939 and 1945. This should prove to be one of the best nights the Red Patch has had and any one wishing tickets is asked to contact any member of the Red Patch executive.

Well Comrades that about winds things up for this week. Don't forget the general meeting on December 17. Come on up and win yourself a turkey for Christmas.

Cinderella Bride Separated Says Money Meaningless

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 6 — (AP). — California's Cinderella isn't living up to the script at all.

Emerging from hiding to fly home to mamma, Martha Morris Di Vigier, 16, told reporters:

"The money doesn't mean anything to me. It doesn't make you happy. I was very happy before. I want my old life back."

The money is her demand, in a suit for separate maintenance, for $10,000 a month, $75,000 fees for her lawyer, and a share in community property of Roland De Vigier, 28, wealthy Swiss industrialist.

Martha's old life was that of a Torrance, Calif., high school coed.

As such, she met De Vigier over a malted milk. They were married within a month, on November 14.

Martha's suit added that she still is an unkissed bride — after both civil and church (Notre Dame Cathedral in Paris) ceremonies, and a lavish 15-day European honeymoon. Her suit charged mental cruelty.

She showed up at the airport in what society writers might call contrasting attire:

Her 4½-carat diamond engagement ring and diamond-studded wedding ring

And slacks, turtle neck sweater and leather jacket.

CSL Launches Large Freighter

PORT ARTHUR, Dec. 6 (CP)—The Sir James Dunn, largest freighter ever built in Canada, slid into ice-clotted Lake Superior Wednesday.

Hundreds of Port Arthur shipbuilding company workers cheered as the new queen of the Canada Steamship Lines' fleet tossed up a massive 250-foot wave that broke over nearby buildings.

Named after Sir James Dunn, a director of CSL, the ship was christened by Lady Dunn. The freighter will go into the bulk freight trade next spring.

The ship was built to transport the largest cargoes of ore and grain ever carried by any Canadian ship. Her grain capacity is 650,000 bushels and her ore cargo capacity 21,000 tons.

A shipbuilding boom in Port Arthur for two years at least was indicated in announcements by T. R. McLagan, of Montreal, president and general manager of CSL.

Mr. McLagan said the keel of a sister ship has been laid and that the Port Arthur yard had a contract with Algoma Shipping Company to build a 10,000-ton freighter next year.

Get Delayed Returns

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld., Dec. 6 — (CP). — Long-delayed returns from two districts in the Newfoundland general election were counted Wednesday, showing two more Liberal victories for a total of 23. Progressive Conservatives won four seats in the election on November 26, with today's returns, all districts were accounted for except Labrador, where the election was deferred until July.

Rabbi Would Like Meyer Set Free

TORONTO, Dec. 6 — (CP) — Rabbi Abraham L. Feinberg said Wednesday that Kurt Meyer, now serving a life sentence for his part in the killing of Canadian prisoners by German soldiers, perhaps should be freed on compassionate grounds but should be kept out of a European army.

He told the annual meeting of the Herzl Zion Society:

"I hope that the day will never dawn when Kurt Meyer snaps military commands to the sons and brothers and compatriots of the Canadian prisoners murdered only a few hundred feet from his headquarters."

Bear Meat Good, Racoon Too Butcher Says

RAMORE, — (CP) — Kelly Chamandy has opened an unusual butcher shop in this town 100 miles north of Sudbury.

He is probably the first man in Canada licensed to sell the meat of bear, beaver, muskrat and racoon.

Already known for his famed "Eskimo Land"—a unique collection of Northern Ontario relics—Chamandy predicts a booming meat business.

Since obtaining his license a month ago, he has sold the meat of two whole black bears but claims he "could have sold 10 of them if I had them."

The supply of bear meat now is exhausted and he doesn't expect more until next August. However, with the trapping season in full swing, he expects he'll have a good supply of beaver and muskrat meat on hand by the end of the month.

Racoons Few

Racoons, he said, are few and far between in the north but he believes he'll have some racoon meat for sale occasionally.

Requests of friends for bear meat gave Chamandy the idea of the butcher shop and set him about trying to get a licence.

With tongue in cheek he approached the wildlife division of the Department of Lands and Forests at Kirkland Lake in search of the licence.

And with tongue in cheek the division took Chamandy's request to the Ontario government in Toronto.

Opens Butcher Shop

Within a week's time the licence came, enabling him to open his butcher shop but stipulating that only the meat of beaver, bear, muskrat and racoon be sold.

The plight of the now lowly-paid trapper is part of the reason why Chamandy believes he secured his licence without delay.

"The trappers used to get $75 for each blanket beaver pelt and now they get only $25," he said.

Chamandy pays trappers 20 cents a pound for the meat and sells it at 35 cents a pound. He had already sent out a number of circulars advising trappers of the new meat market and mailed to settlements from North Bay to Moosonee on James Bay.

About 200 trappers will get circulars. Some of the circulars went to trappers Chamandy already knows, while others were mailed directly to settlements for the trappers' information.

Chamandy estimates that 75 per cent of those who buy from him since he obtained his licence had never tasted the meat before.

"But they all keep coming back for more. They like it so well I can't meet the demands."

AUSTRALIAN MINISTER—Australia's Minister of External Affairs, Rt. Hon. Richard G. Casey seen (left) with Rt. Hon. Francis M. Forde, Australian High Commissioner to Canada, has completed a round of talks with Canadian government officials in Ottawa about world and commonwealth relations. Leader of the Australian delegation to the United Nations meeting in Paris, he told Canadians in a radio address that if everyone worked as hard as Canadians did, the world would be a different place.

SWITCH IN SYRIA—Syria's pro-American leader Col. Adeeb Shishakli seized control of the nation only one day after an anti-western government had been formed. Map shows why Syria is of strategic importance to the Western allies in their attempt to contain communism in the Middle East.

Driver Jailed Had "Skinful"

Maurice Coe of Young's Point was convicted of drunk driving and sentenced to seven days in county jail by Magistrate W. R. Philp in police court today.

Constable Don MacKay who arrested Coe on Armour Rd., October 20 testified that Coe's speech was incoherent, his breath smelled strongly of alcohol and his whole body appeared "...ose" when he was helped into the police cruiser from a provincial police cruiser.

OPP constable Jack McKendry said he had to pull sharply to the side of the road to avoid colliding with a southbound truck as he was travelling north on Armour Rd. Constable McKendry said he stopped, turned the cruiser around and stopped behind the truck, driven by Coe which had stopped a short distance down the road.

On the way to the police station, constable Mackay commented, "Boy you've sure got a skinful tonight."

He said Coe replied "Boy I'm sure drunk," and repeated this several times.

Under cross examination by defence counsel Trevor Clarke, OPP constable McKendry stated that when he asked Coe where he was going, Coe replied, "I don't know, I'm too drunk."

On the witness stand, Coe admitted having four pints of beer in a local hotel shortly before he was picked up, but he insisted that was all he had had.

Radio Librarian Deluged With Songs From Amateur Composers

WINNIPEG (CP)—Everybody from farmers to maharajahs—if they write songs, Laurie Thompson is sure to hear about it.

An expert on music publishing and copyrights, Laurie is the librarian for the Winnipeg Symphony Orchestra and also for the prairie region of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation here.

Since he started the CBC library here in 1937 he has filed away 40,000 titles, but there's a new stack of music waiting in the mailbox every day, and he still gets surprises.

One such was an envelope postmarked Octacamund, S. India, which arrived at his desk containing 42 selections from the works of N. Portbandar, the Maharajah of Portbandar.

The Indian potentate said he was sending along his compositions in order to promote understanding and appreciation of Oriental music in the western world. Thompson played a few of the pieces and found them easy to listen to, but not particularly Oriental in style.

Now 45, Thompson is an expert pianist who has to be coaxed to perform, although he once played piano in top Canadian and Bermuda bands.

Gentle Answers

He deals gently with aspiring amateur song writers. One such was a farmer from Prince Albert, Sask.

"He had $200 and a song, so he came to see me," says Thompson. "I was to be his agent—get it published, played and appreciated."

But after studying the offering, Thompson advised the farmer-composer to return to his farm and treasure his masterpiece in the library of his home, instead of wasting it on an unresponsive public.

The song-writing business is big and complicated, says Laurie, and the amateur who manages to get a song on the hit parade is one in a million.

He also warns against operations of certain "song sharks" who make a good living from amateur composers.

Such grafters are easy to recognize, he says, because no legitimate song publisher asks for fees or advertises for new songs.

Disputes Title

REGINA (CP) — The Junior Chamber of Commerce here has protested that Toronto's title of "Queen City" is an infringement on Regina's long-standing title of "Quee... of the Plains."

Costs so little
SAVES YOU SO MUCH

You can do the same work on this ironer as you would do on a cabinet model. Yet it costs less than half the price.

ONLY $99.50

THE NEW Beatty SPACE SAVER IRONER

IRONS EVERYTHING

Yes, it irons men's shirts — and kiddies' dresses, too, and curtains and curtain ruffles. It will press and pleat perfectly.

Just one simple motion to run it — just press the lever down. It locks in position and both your hands are free to guide the clothes. It is equipped, of course, with switch, signal light and thermostat. Plug the cord into any wall socket — no special wiring is needed.

IT IRONS — PRESSES — STEAMS

Compare this ironer with others costing twice as much. The roll of the Space Saver is bigger and longer — saves crimping on flat wear. The ironing shoe is wider and longer, with a much greater ironing surface. The heat is really efficient—1050 watts — and thermostat controlled. But look at the difference in price!

PETERBOROUGH EXAMINER

VOL. CIII. No. 132 THURSDAY, DECEMBER 6, 1951

FOR TWENTY YEARS OF FAITHFUL SERVICE, Cpl. Leslie Throop of Ontario Provincial Police, Bowmanville detachment, was presented with a service medal by Commissioner W. H. Stringer at No. 8 Headquarters, Peterborough, on Wednesday afternoon.—(Examiner Staff Photo)

Omemee Farmer Loses Wallet Twice, Suffers Stroke, Wife Sick In 2 Months' Tough Luck

During the last two months, persistent bad luck has been sticking to an Omemee farmer like burrs to a sheep's tail.

Last Saturday, Leo Kearns, who has a large farm near Omemee, came into the city to do some weekend shopping. When he was ready to return home, he discovered his wallet was gone, containing a signed cheque for $79.71 and $61 in bills, along with some valuable papers.

Coming into town Wednesday to obtain a veterinary to examine his cattle which had suddenly become bloated, one of Mr. Kearn's tires blew out but he managed to bring his car to a stop without having an accident.

His wife is ill in bed with pneumonia.

These series of misfortunes have been building up ever since early in October, according to Mr. Kearns.

Lost Billfold

While looking for a colt in one of his pastures a couple of months ago, he lost his billfold containing $11, his driver's licence and several insurance papers. Then, shortly afterwards, he suffered a stroke and only recently was able to get about again.

After losing his wallet in Peterborough Saturday, Mr. Kearns ran an advertisement in the Examiner.

Wednesday he called at the police station and told Sergeant Gordon Puffer if anyone turned in his money, to give them $5 reward.

Increases In Milk Prices Point To 21c Quart Here

Twenty-two cent milk in Toronto and Ottawa may be recognized by the consumer in Peterborough, London and elsewhere throughout the southern section of the province as pointing to the price of 21c a quart. If confirmed by the Milk Control Board this means an increase of two cents a quart from 19c to 21c in the retail trade.

On that basis, the milk distributor will have to pay the milk producing farmer an increase of 47½ cents per hundred pounds to $4.60 per cwt.

The Milk Board in Toronto on Tuesday received applications and briefs from the London and Toronto markets for increases.

Decision of the Board was reserved and that is the only definite information at present. But, the elements of cost to the producer and to the distributor of milk are identical across the province.

What ever increase is allowed for London and Peterborough will probably apply elsewhere — in such markets as Kingston, Oshawa, Belleville, Kitchener, St. Catharines, Chatham and so on. In northern Ontario, Fort William, Kirkland Lake and in the rest of that area the retail price may be somewhere between 23 to 25 cents a quart.

Judge A. B. Currey presided as chairman of the Board Tuesday. Ken Betzner represented the producing farmers, A. B. Burrows submitted the case for the distributors, and Mayor Hiram McCallum of Toronto for the consumer, contended that the Toronto price should not be raised to 22 cents "until the producers have shown more evidence of need."

The Toronto retail price of 22c becomes effective on December 15.

Fewer Cows

At $4.12½ per hundred pounds of milk, farmers have been protesting that they cannot stay in business. They emphasize the fact of a decline in the number of milking cows in the province, the higher costs of labor, feeds, equipment and generally the cost of producing milk.

The attitude of farmers is indicated by the experience of two Otonabee farmers as related to the Examiner Wednesday.

One of them said: "It was an odd coincidence that one morning I remarked at breakfast that I was tired of getting up at 5 o'clock in the morning to milk cows when I could have an easier time raising beef and make some money into the bargain. Before noon, an American drove into the yard and asked me if I wahted to sell my Jerseys. To put it briefly, I sold them."

A prominent Holstein breeder said yesterday: "I don't care a hoot whether I sell any more milk not, the way things are. I have been gradually getting into other lines. One of them is poultry."

Potatoes Doubled

Potatoes have more than doubled in price at the local retail outlets, and generally throughout the province. A Western Ontario news item said the other day there was no price-fixing in the potato market, but producers were not pouring their supplies on to the market.

Consumers have sharply felt the increase in the price of potatoes, but they are not so vocal about it as they are about any intimations that the dairy farmer declares his need of a higher price for his hundred pounds of milk.

The milk distributor says he has made a maximum effort to keep down the cost of milk delivery to the consumer.

Store Robbed Police Thwart Second Breakin

Eight dollars in silver, four cartons of cigarettes and two cartons of tobacco were taken from a south-end grocery which was broken into sometime early Thursday morning.

The money was in American coins and was taken from the cash register.

Entry to the store, owned by Frank Goselin at the corner of Park and Romaine Streets was gained by smashing the glass in one of the north doors facing on Park St.

For the third time in eight days a rock was tossed through the front door of another grocery at the corner of George and Dublin streets owned by A. E. Doxsee.

Man Fled

It is believed the prompt arrival of a police cruiser prevented the thief from gaining entry, because a young man standing on the corner in front of the broken window took to his heels when he spotted the cruiser.

The cruiser was dispatched in answer to a phone call received at the station at 12:30.

Pursuing officers lost track of the man at Division St., after he had run west on Dublin St. and south along beside the Pentecostal Church.

Acting patrol sergeant Claire McGillen, detective sergeant Bud Clarke and constables William G. Scott, Eldon McDonald and D. J. Farthing arrived at the scene shortly after the attempted break-in was reported and further investigations are being carried on today.

The break-in at Goselin's grocery was reported when the owner arrived to open for business about 8 o'clock this morning.

Same Method

The same method was used to gain entry as at Doxsee's grocery. Glass in one of the front doors facing north on Park St., had been smashed. Then, the thief reached in and unsnapped the night latch.

Constable Andre Dalton who is investigating said it appeared that a shoulder had been applied to a second door just inside the front door on the right, leading to the store, as a small bolt fastening the door was sprung.

Until recently, the apartment above the store was occupied.

At press time, it was not known if the upstairs living quarters had been ransacked.

MAIN ST. TOPICS

SEAL SALES

Christmas seals sales have netted $2,553.55 for the Peterborough TB association to date.

ROADEO WINNER

Ontario straight truck champion for 1951 is B. H. Lehigh, 34, of Cobourg, who was awarded the title Wednesday night in Toronto. The title was given at the fifth annual National Truck Roadeo.

$50 FIRE DAMAGE

A cigarette butt tossed into a wastepaper basket caused a small fire Wednesday night at the home of J. Miner, 532 Weller St. The basket was in the bathroom of the house. Before the smouldering fire was discovered and put out some $50 smoke damage was done.

LECTURES

Executive members of District 6, Chapter C, of the Registered Nurses Association of Ontario made plans at a meeting Wednesday night for a series of lectures on the nursing aspects of atomic warfare as incorporated in the civil defence plans of Canada.

CAR DAMAGED IN COLLISION

Damage estimated at $80 resulted when one car collided with the rear of another at Wolfe St. and Monaghan Rd., Wednesday evening. Carl Signorotti, RR 3 Peterborough, said he was going north on Monaghan Rd., and was stopped at Wolfe St., when his car was struck in the rear and damaged by another car driven by Gerald Jackman of RR 2 Ida.

J. ALEX EDMISON, KC, will be guest speaker at the PCVS commencement exercises Friday night.

193 Pupils To Get Diplomas At Commencement

Graduate students of PCVS will receive diplomas recognizing the completion of four or five years of secondary education when the collegiate holds its annual commencement, Friday night.

This year 42 students will receive their houour graduation diploma for the completion of Grade 12.

Besides these one of the largest numbers of scholarships and prizes, donated by stores, companies, service clubs, fraternity groups and collegiate teachers will be presented to students from the three departments, academic, commercial and technical.

Guest speaker this year will be Alex Edmison, KC, BA, vice-principal of Queen's University, Kingston.

A number of years ago the practice of having a prominent graduate of PCVS speak to the graduating class was started. Although Mr. Edmison is not a graduate of PCVS, he is the son of collegiate graduates. He is also interested in education throughout this locality.

Head Students

Highlight of commencement for this year's Grade 13 class is the selection of the head boy and head girl. The announcement of the head girl, who receives the Mrs. R. F. Downey prize and the Local Council of Women scholarship, will be made by R. F. Downey while C. S. Browne, principal, will announce the head boy selection, who receives the H. R. H. Kenner Memorial prize and the Melville C. Robinson Memorial prize.

Last year Miss Mary Craw and Peter Turner, scholastic rivals throughout the 13 years of primary and secondary education were chosen head girl and boy.

The valedictory address will be given by Miss Donna Munro.

Price Of Eggs Still Skidding

Egg prices continued their slump Wednesday and today in Peterborough stores under pressure of a surplus on the home market due to a decrease in the export trade and the over-production of broilers.

One large coast-to-coast food market dropped all egg prices, from Grade A large to Grade A small, as much as five cents on Wednesday while a second chain store decreased prices across the board as much as six cents a dozen.

The first store quoted prices at 56 cents for Grade A large, 54 cents for Grade A medium and 52 cents for Grade A small. The other store's prices averaged three cents more a dozen.

Began Last Week

Early last week the prices paid to farmers began to decrease and during the week dropped five cents a dozen for Grade A large, from 52 cents to 47 cents. Medium and small eggs, both Grade A, were bought at 45 cents and 43 cents respectively.

On Tuesday a wholesale company in Peterborough offered farmers 40 cents a dozen. That price still stands. Prices on the retail market Monday dropped as much as 10 cents a dozen. The store prices were running about 61 and 62 cents a dozen Tuesday.

Three To Face Charges Of Animal Cruelty

GUELPH, Dec. 6 — (CP). — Three persons will face charges of cruelty to animals in Durham Court Friday, Humane Society Inspector Len Shaw said today.

Charged jointly in a case in which 10 dogs were found near starvation and two were dead in a Flesherton area farm a week ago are June Hamilton, her mother, Mrs. L. C. Hamilton, both of Toronto, and Luther Duckett of Flesherton.

Had OTA Whisky

WHITBY, Ont., Dec. 6 (CP) —The way it worked out, Lyle Jones was fined $110 because he didn't drink 15 bottles of whiskey.

He told the court he bought the whisky 25 years ago for his wedding. At that time, under the old Ontario Temperance Act, it was impossible to buy liquor legally in the province.

The act was repealed years ago, but the Jones whisky—still illegal because he hadn't bought it on a liquor permit—gathered dust until provincial police seized it at his motel.

Mrs. Jennie Delaire Says Brandished Razor "To Throw Scare Into Him"

On Trial For Slashing Husband's Throat, Woman Breaks Down In Witness Box Telling Story To Jury

Mrs. Jennie Delaire, 26, mother of two school-age boys, broke down in the witness box shortly before noon today as she told of the events surrounding the slashing of her husband's throat. She said she brandished the razor as her husband telephoned his girl friend "to throw a scare into him." Then she had a mental blackout. Her husband, 28-year-old Sylvester Delaire, staggered away from the phone holding his hand to his throat. Blood was oozing through his fingers from a seven-inch razor slash across the throat.

Not Serious

Though half an inch deep the cut was not serious. Next day, after 20 stitches had closed the wound, Mr. Delaire was released from hospital. The Delaires live at 467 Elm St.

The sequel to the family argument, that nearly ended in tragedy, came Wednesday. Mrs. Delaire, a petite, brown-haired woman, was charged at the general sessions with wounding with intent to do grievous bodily harm.

She pleaded not guilty and her defence was undertaken by John W. Corkery.

Sylvester Delaire was not present at the trial. His wife said she had not seen or heard from him in more than two months.

The slashing occurred in the home of a neighbor, Mrs. William Condon, who lives across the road from the Delaires at 472 Elm St.

Mr. Delaire came to the front door and asked Mrs. Condon if he could use her phone which was in the dining room. Mrs. Condon gave him permission and went on about her work in the kitchen.

Shortly afterwards Mrs. Delaire came around to the kitchen door, asked if she could come in, and then went through into the dining room where her husband was phoning.

Didn't Retaliate

Mrs. Condon testified that Mrs. Delaire stood behind her husband while he was talking on the phone and then she began to pummel him with her fists. He didn't retaliate.

"You better stop, Jennie," said Mrs. Condon and she did so.

Then Mrs. Delaire turned to her husband and asked: "Are you coming home with me, Syl?" He did not answer. And she began to hit him again.

Mrs. Condon said Mrs. Delaire then returned to her own home, walking out the front door. Mr. Delaire once again started phoning.

"A couple of minutes later I heard somebody coming in the front door," continued Mrs. Condon. "I assumed it was Jennie."

Holding Throat

After another short lapse of time Mr. Delaire came to the kitchen door where Mrs. Condon was working. She noticed he was holding his throat and blood was coming out from between his fingers.

Mrs. Delaire asked her to phone a doctor. But first Mrs. Condon gave the wounded man a wash cloth to put on the cut and she took her child into the back yard.

Fire Flattens Dummer Home, Family Away

NORWOOD, Dec. 6 (ENS). — Fire completely destroyed the home and contents of a Dummer Township family while they were at a doctor's office in Norwood Tuesday night.

Walter Rusaw, his wife and family of two, who live on the 9th Line of Dummer Township, left after supper to go to a doctor's office in Norwood Tuesday. When they returned their two-storey log house was burned to the ground.

The cause of the fire is unknown.

Household contents destroyed in the fire included a new stove and washing machine. There was very small insurance coverage.

Since the fire, the family have been living with Mrs. Rusaw's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Salter, who also live on the 9th Line.

Plans are being made to start rebuilding a new home immediately.

Mr. and Mrs. Rusaw were born and grew up in this district. They have one son Alvin 14, and a daughter Gloria 5.

Cpl. L. Throop Awarded Medal, 20 Years On OPP

Provincial Police Corporal Leslie Throop of Bowmanville Detachment was presented with a 20-year Good Conduct Medal by Commissioner W. H. Stringer at No. 8 Headquarters on Wednesday at a simple ceremony.

The recipient joined the force in 1931 and was posted to Ottawa and seven years later to Morrisburg.

In 1946 he was stationed at Van Kleek Hill and two years later, raised to the rank of corporal, was sent to Arnprior. In 1950 Corp. Throop was in London and now is in charge of the detachment in Bowmanville.

Commissioner Stringer reviewed the history of the medal to the small audience and Peterborough's Police Chief John Thompson said a few words of congratulation to Cpl. Throop.

Cobourg is the home town of Cpl. Throop and his father Ernest Throop, and brother Paul are living there now.

NZ People 'Live' On Grass High Commissioner Relates

"The livelihood of the people of New Zealand depends on grass," the Honorable T. C. A. Hislop, high commissioner for New Zealand in Canada, said in an address to the Peterborough branch of the United Nations Association at the Public Library on Wednesday night.

The importance of grass in the country's economy was explained when the high commissioner remarked that New Zealand's greatest export was dairy products and wool. The Second World War did result in an impetus to industrialization, but dairy farming and sheep ranching still remained the major factors in the country's economy.

Two Million Whites

Turning to the political and social characteristics of his country, Mr. Hislop pointed out that New Zealand had a population of two million whites and one hundred thousand Maoris.

The Maoris came to the country from the Hawaii Islands about 700 years before the English and Scotch. Since that time they have achieved equal rights with the white population. Members of this race have also proved themselves equally capable in scientific and cultural fields.

New Zealand has only one house in its national government —the legislative assembly. Until one year ago there was also a legislative council with members appointed for seven year terms by the assembly, but it was abolished. The high commissioner explained that at present a committee is working on a project to again have a bicameral legislature in the country.

Social Changes

The speaker also outlined the recent changes in social legislature brought forward in the country. Like Canada, New Zealand has unemployment insurance and old age pension projects, but they have also gone one step farther in their socialization program to include socialized medicine.

However the doctors of the country have not become civil servants. To protect their professional rights and also preserve the idea of private practice, the patients choose their own doctors. The doctors send their bills directly to the patients, who in turn send them to the government.

Seven and one half per cent of the income of New Zealand goes into social service.

During his address, the high commissioner explained how much the people of his country appreciated the wonderful treatment Canadians gave to the 8,000 New Zealand men who trained here under the British Air Training program.

Following Mr. Hislop's address a question and answer period took place.

The speaker was introduced by Blake Bell and thanked by Leo Copp.

Building Sprint Slows In Nov.

Peterborough slumped in November in its building permit pace, but the cumulative total for the year is still $278,144 in excess of the 1950 figure.

At one time it appeared likely that the city's building total for 1951 would pass the $5,000,000 mark for the first time, but only December is left to make up the required million dollars.

November's building permits amounted to $186,870 as compared with $394,535 a year ago. Total for the year to December 1 was $4,186,532, as against $3,908,388 for the corresponding eleven months of 1950.

Details

The details for last month were: 10 garages $3,915; twelve houses $121,500; 19 miscellaneous permits $61,455. Total of 41 permits $186,870.

And, for November last year: seven garages $3,100; 39 dwellings $313,950; and 45 miscellaneous permits $77,485; total $394,535.

Major item in the miscellaneous list of permits last month was $30,000, the estimate of a permit to Principal Investments for a store addition at 345 to 347 George St., on the west side of the block north of Charlotte St.

Loaded Cement Truck Bangs 2 Cars Together

A truck loaded with six tons of cement crashed into the rear of the second of two cars stopped at the CNR tracks on Otonabee St., Wednesday, pushing both cars across the tracks.

There was no train coming at the time, but Mrs. Vera Allen, RR 1, Norwood, travelling towards Peterborough stopped, to make sure it was safe to cross the railway tracks.

A car immediately behind Mrs. Allen driven by Edward R. Simpson, of RR 2 Norwood, also came to a stop.

Just at this moment, the heavy truck loaded with cement ploughed into the rear of Simpson's car, shunting it ahead into the rear of Mrs. Allen's car.

Constable Andre Dalton investigated. Driver of the truck was Percy A. Abott of RR 4 Trenton.

Considerable damage was done to both the front and rear end of the Simpson car which was squeezed in the middle of the three vehicles. The Allen car was damaged in the rear where it was struck by Simpson's car.

The front bumper and grill of the truck were also damaged.

Mission Fleet Run By Church Helps Treat Sick Along Coast

VANCOUVER (CP) — Known isolated shores, the Anglican church's coast mission now has four vessels, including one hospital and a dental clinic, looking after the needs of 225 scattered fishing and logging villages.

The Marine Medical Mission was inspired by the Rev. Dr. John Antle, then rector of Trinity for nearly half a century along church here, who heard of the hardships of the loggers and homesteaders and set out in 1940 in a 14-foot dinghy with his 12-year-old son Victor to investigate.

He discovered that an upcoast sick person at that time either had to cure himself, row many miles to Vancouver or Victoria or else simply lie out in an open boat trying to attract the attention of a passing vessel.

Dr. Antle immediately founded the Coast Mission and the first hospital ship was launched in 1905. In 1930, just before he retired, he dedicated St. Mary's Hospital 50 miles north of here.

Tiny Fleet

The present tiny fleet is controlled by the Rev. Canon Alan Greene, superintendent of the mission, who himself is skipper of the steamer John Antle. The Rev. Rollo Boas is captain of the Rendezvous, and Ernest Christmas, a lay preacher, run the little Gwa-Yes.

The fourth ship is the 100-foot diesel-powered Columbia, which patrols 200 miles of BC coast north of Victoria where there are no doctors or nurses.

The Columbia has a captain, engineer and cook, and a doctor who looks after a two-bed hospital. She averages 1,500 calls a year, covering 15,000 miles. Only the most serious cases are taken to shore hospitals; everything else from tooth-pulling to pre-natal care is attended to aboard ship.

Religion has remained the theme of the fleet while its services extended to a scope previously undreamed of. Known to coast old-timers as "God's little fleet," they provide spiritual and physical care to 10,000 persons of all denominations.

At one time or another chaplains of these vessels have acted as postmen, stevedores, deckhands, cooks' movie operators (each boat carries movie apparatus), assistant lighthouse keepers, loggers, carpenters, plumbers, executors and—at the appropriate times—as Santa Claus himself.

Canon Greene says: "The Church of England has taken the sane, natural approach to people who have chosen to live on the highways of the sea. They can't go the church, so the church will come to them."

ISOTOPE DETECTOR—Using a "pinch of salt," made radioactive in Canada's atomic pile at Chalk River, scientists measured the damage to a huge extrusian press cylinder at the aluminum Company of Canada's Kingston plant during the weekend. An engineer demonstrates how the four-ounce aluminum capsule (arrow), which holds ¼ ounce of radio-active isotope of sodium flouride, is lowered by means of an electro-magnet and a 15-ton crane inside the 12-inch thick steel casting so that radiographs can be made and the etxent of damage measured. Troops In Korea Add Fine Chapter To Canada's Roll

OTTAWA, Dec. 6—(CP)—Canadian troops went into battle in 1951 for the first time since the Second World War, in defence of the principles on which the United Nations is founded.

The first Canadians to die in action while their country remained technically at peace died in Korea late last winter. Others died under the U.N. banner through the spring, in the savage Chinese offensive of late April, and through the long, dull summer and fall while the armistice talkers wrangled and an uneasy mixture of lethargy and violence held sway in the hills.

As the year drew to a close, the number killed exceeded 100. by world war standards, the cost was not great numerically, but its toll struck home in cities, towns and hamlets across the country.

The dead and wounded came from the 25th brigade, the sepcial force formation raised in mid-1950 for U.N. service and united for battle in Korea last May after one battalion—the 2nd battalion of the Princess Patrica's Canadian Light Infantry—had fought alone for several months.

Navy, Air Force Shares

The navy's destroyer flotilla served off the Korea coasts through the year without battle casualties, its three warships alternately escorting aircraft carriers and ranging the shores for bombardments of enemy troops and installations.

It took five destroyers to keep three serving off Korea. The five, relieving one another on a fairly regular schedule, were Cayuga, Athabaskan, Sioux, Nootka and Huron.

The air force's 426 ransport squadron moved its base from McChord Field, Wash., back to June but kept flying the trans-Pacific airlift as it has since July, 1950, without a major accident or loss of life despite thousands of hazardous flying hours.

There were at various times during the year indications that U.N. countries might be asked for greater contributions, but Canada's share appeared to have levelled off with this three-edged commitment, involving possibly 8,500 men in the theatre of operations plus thousands of others at home preparing to relieve those already there.

The big news of the year centred around the 25th brigade. The big news in the brigade was made by the Princess Patricias.

Citation For Patricias

When the Chinese launched their April offensive, the Patricias "stood like rocks" and won an American presidential citation, a coveted unit award, for being one of the units whose courage turned potential defeat into victory.

They had by them been in the line two months as part of a Commonwealth brigade. They had been in Korea since December, 1950. Two days after they went into action, on Feb. 19, it was announced in Ottawa that the remainder of the brigade would leave its training base at Fort Lewis, Wash., to join them.

Brig. John Rockingham's 25th came together in Korea and went into action as a formation in late May. In May, too it was announced that the brigade would become part of the 1st Commonwealth Division, but it was several months before this union of British, Canadian, Australian, New Zealand and Indian troops actually materialized.

The Patricias, since they were the first Canadians into Korea, were picked as the first unit to leave there under a rotation plan announced in August on the basis that no soldier should serve in that theatre more than one year if possible and, above all, no more than one winter.

Replacements Move

As hundreds of the 2nd Battalion Patricias started moving homeward late in the year, men of the 1st Battalion reached Korea from Canada to take their places. Decision to use paratroops of the 23rd Airborne Brigade in Canada to replace the men in Korea was announced along with the rotation plan.

The only battalion affected by the rotation plan this winter, however, is the Patricias. The others will start coming home in the spring—from the 2nd Battalion of the Royal Canadian Regiment and the 2nd Battalion of the famed Van Doos, the Royal 22nd Regiment which in November for five days bore the brunt of Chinese Communist assaults on a vital ridgetop position 40 miles north of Seoul.

The Canadian Brigade in Korea added new honors to Canada's great battle records, and from all indications more than lived up to Canada's proud military traditions. In the words of Maj.-Gen. A. J. H. Cassels, C of the 1st Commonwealth Division, the Canadians have been "magnificent."

HISTORIC HABIT

Snuff boxes of gold and silver with precious stones were widely used when the taking of snuff was fashionable in olden times.

Havelock WI Names Christmas Committee

HAVELOCK, Dec. 6—(ENS)—The December meeting of the Havelock Women's Institute was held at the home of Mrs. William Rice on Monday afternoon. The roll call was answered with a donation to the Christmas cheer boxes, which were arranged on a table around a lighted Christmas tree.

The following members were appointed as the Christmas Cheer committee: Mrs. H. Pollock, Mrs. W. Rice, Mrs. B. Jewell, Mrs. A. Buckland.

The secretary was authorized to obtain a film on cancer to be shown at the February or March meeting.

Christmas greetings were read from the district president, Mrs. N. E. Shearer of Buckhorn. Details in connection with the Tweedsmuir competitions were read by the secretary.

Owing to the illness of Mrs. R. Melville, the program convener, Mrs. W. Rice officiated for this period when a report of the convention held last month in Toronto was given by the delegate, Mrs. Herbert Hoard. Community singing of Christmas carols was enjoyed with Mrs. G. Kennedy at the piano. Miss Jo-Ann Kennedy entertained with a solo, "There is Happiness in Helping Others". Hostesses for the tea hour were Mesdames H. Pollock, A. Holland, W. Rice and S. Southward.

OmemeeMission Band Holds Christmas Party

OMEMEE, Dec. 6 — (ENS) — At the December meeting of the Wide-Awake Mission Band of Trinity United Church, Ruth Morrison presided and 33 members and visitors were present. The children were led in prayer by Mrs. H. F. Veals of Hamilton.

Verna Zufelt read the minutes and called the roll. The business the chief item of which was election of officers, was conducted by the superintendent, Mrs. S. D. Vaughan. Officers elected for 1952 are: president, Homer Brooks; first vice-president, Grant Sibley, second vice-president, Nancy Robinson, secretary, Edna Gladding, assistant secretary, Eva Morrison, pianist, Jeanette Rich.

Verna Zufelt and Ruth Morrison sang a duet and Marilyn McQuade gave a reading.

The main feature of the program was the Christmas story, presented with the aid of a tableau which depicted the shepherds, the wise men and the manger scene. In the presentation the superintendent was assisted by Misses Grace Sibley and Phyllis Nelson. After the superintendent's introduction, including an outline of the religious background of the Jewish people, and the story of the role played by the shepherds and the wise men, Phyllis read the story of the advent as recorded by Luke and Matthew, pausing for carol responses sung by the boys and girls. Grace led the singing and Mrs. Veals provided the accompaniment. Following the account of the presentation of gifts by the wise men, the band presented their gifts.

DOCTOR ON TRIAL—Dr. Donald F. Gibson (centre), of Danbury, Conn., who was on trial in Bridgeport charged with manslaughter in the death of 74-year-old Elizabeth Ayres, who left him $100,000 in her will, was freed today. Gibson was accused of hastening her death by administering dangerous drugs without "providing for the safeguard which should accompany them." He is conferring here with his lawyers, David Goldstein (left) and Bernard Peck.

Wounded Soldier Held By Reds Three Days Found Alive In Front Of Canadian Lines

SOMEWHERE IN KOREA, Dec. 6—A wounded British soldier held prisoner of war for three days by Chinese Communists was found alive and well in front of Canadian lines here.

The "Tommy" believed to be Pte. Peter Smith of Kent, England, was a member of the King's Own Shropshire Light Infantry Regiment which has been under constant attacks from the enemy.

First inkling that something unusual was occurring in front of their lines came when members of the 1st Bn, PPCLI, spotted movement during the early morning. However, they did not open fire or ask for flares over the area, they just sat tight.

At first light the men were confronted by a huge sign erected about two hundred yards in front of their wire which read, "Take your own buddy back." Then they heard a voice calling faintly "Hello Canada" several times.

Believing at first it was a trick to draw the Canucks' fire, Sgt. Ted Shaw, 29-year-old platoon commander from Calgary, Alta., was preparing to call mortar fire on the area when the voice came louder. Sgt. Shaw and Cpl. Jim Remmer, 21, of Leicester, England, decided to investigate.

"We didn't see the man at all," said Sgt. Shaw, "but the accent was unmistakable."

Still taking no chances, Shaw covered Remmer who walked within fifty yards of the sign without mishap. Finally satisfied, the two NCOs moved closer and found the "Tommy" lying on the ground, partially concealed by bushes.

"Gee, I'm glad to see you guys," said the relieved Britisher.

He was wearing his own issue winter sweater and a pair of Chinese trousers. His own pants had been cut off by Communist medics when they treated his injured legs. Nearby was a pile of propaganda literature including several letters addressed to the 1st Commonwealth Division and signed simply "Chinese People's Volunteer Army."

"Smith said he was taken prisoner three days ago, said Remmer. "He was being brought out with four other Shropshires by a Chinese NCO when one of our shells dropped almost on the group, blowing a leg off the commie and wounding Smith in both ankles, hip and arm. He isn't sure what happened to the others."

The Patricias' regimental medical officer said the Englishman had received excellent care from experienced doctors. Morphine to deaden the pain of the wounds had been injected and the bandages were clean.

During his three days with the Communists, Smith was given several "political lectures".

When the Canucks found the wounded ex-prisoner, Chinese 1,000 yards away fired their automatic weapons signifying they were watching.

"They left a mesage with the Englishman," said Shaw, "that if we crossed in front of the sign they would open up on us. As the stretcher bearers carried Smith away the enemy fired another burst."

One of the stretcher bearers was Pte. John Ross, 27, of Emerson, Manitoba.

Smith was very emphatic about the good treatment he received while in enemy hands. They gave him candy and cigarettes several times. Later, when the Communists dropped him a number of times while carrying him into Canuck lines, the NCO in charge seemed to be admonishing his men to be more careful.

However, Sergant Shaw was not so sure the Chinese were so kind-hearted with all their prisoners.

Said he, "I think it's an obvious attempt to counter the charges of Communist atrocities against prisoners of war made by the Americans recently."

Helicopter Service

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6 (AP)—The Civil Aeronautics Board on Wednesday authorized a regular helicopter service for passengers, mail and express in the New York metropolitan area. The permit was issued to New York Airways Incorporated, organized for the specific purpose of operating the service, similar to helicopter operations now being carried on in Los Angeles and Chicago.

Dogs Proved Good Friends In Prison Break

VICTORIA, BC — (CP)—Ben Robert Maggs, newly-appointed SPGA inspector here, inherited a fondness for dogs and thinks nothing of getting up in the middle of the night to tend a sick dog or cat.

The 43-year-old former pilot in the Battle of Britain has had a lifetime experience with wild animals in zoos, and this served him well on one of his two escapes from German prison camps in the last war.

When he and three comrades escaped from one camp, Nazi guards set savage dogs on their trail. The men were treed in a forest. As the dogs bayed at his feet, Maggs spoke soothingly, inched down the tree and made friends.

The three dogs came all the way home with him, trotting beside the wheels as he and his companions pedalled stolen bicycles to Calais. Men and dogs scrambled aboard a "borrowed" motorboat. ("Always meant to return that boat, but never got around to it," says Maggs.)

They chugged two-thirds of the way across the channel and rowed home when the gas gave out.

Long Experience

Moving to the United States from his native England, he went to work in the San Diego zoo when 18. Later he went to Belle Island zoo in Detroit in charge of carnivorous animals, and from there to Hollywood as humane inspector charged with preventing cruelty to animals used in movies.

"Generally speaking, nowhere in the world do animals get better treatment than they do in Hollywood,," he says.

Five years ago he came to Victoria where he married.

He will never "put to sleep" any animal if it can be kept alive and happy.

"I represent the animals in this town," he says. "They can't speak for themselves, so I'm going around speaking for them."

Dangerous Find

MONTREAL (CP)—A live, two-inch mortar shell was found in the Chambly Street sewer and sent to the ordnance depot for disposal. Found by a city employee, the shell is believed a war souvenir discarded by its owner.

SOLDIER - SAILOR — Able Seaman Jack Duff, of Winnipeg, "jumped" ship so he could exchange bullets with Communist forces in Korea. In a letter home the 21-year-old sailor described how he shot two Chinese soldiers while he was fighting with Canadian patrol units. After being discovered, Duff was docked 30 days' pay and sentenced to 30 days' detention.

REACHES 99—Mrs. Lena Nickelson, observing her 99th birthday, stops work on a rug, long enough to accept a cake from three-year-old Sharon Oliver, a distant cousin. A native of Sweden, Mrs. Mickleson still sews and makes rugs without glasses. He recipe: "A simple, wholesome life." She settled in Minnesota with her parents, the year Lincoln was assassinated.

N. Zealand Young Men's Paradise

WELLINGTON, NZ (CP). — A New Zealand member of parliament, J. J. Maher, put young men on their mettle by claiming that under present conditions of wages and hours New Zealand is a "paradise" for single young men.

Maher said that a man about 23 or 24 years old, contemplating marriage, should be able to have £1,000 ($3,000) in the bank "without denying himself too much and still having a good time."

"We find young men dissipating their earnings instead of buying a home," he said, "and then going to the state for a home. It is a poor outlook and young men who do that are taking a good girl down."

One 23-year-old, earning $36 a week, declared it cost him an absolute minimum of $15 a week for living expenses. In addition he paid about $180 a year taxes, $150 for clothing and about the same for holidays. That left about $600 a year as the maximum he might save, and he said this was a good deal less when he was younger and not earning as much.

Not Impressed

Another man, 22, who neither drinks nor smokes, said he had saved carefully for three years and now had $900 in the bank. He said he would be lucky to have $1,500 by the time he was 24, let alone $3,000.

Another who had $1,500 saved at the age of 24 said he reached that amount only because he had lived most of his life with his parents in a small town. He said that since coming to the city to live he had not been able to save at all.

The debate in the newspapers following Maher's statement aroused wide interest, but the MP had few supporters. Many young men refused to be impressed by his argument.

Gas-Driven Bicycle Flies Like Bird

MEDICINE HAT, Alta., (CP)—A modern Daedalus has contrived a machine that flies like a bird.

Called an "ornithopter," it's an engine-powered bicycle with wings fore and aft which flap up and down in birdlike rhythm.

In tests last week the strange-looking contrivance, with one man aboard, cleared the ground by about five feet.

Its inventor, James E. Caldwell, says it uses gravity for most of its power. He studied the principles of bird flight for 10 years, then built the "ornithopter" in four months.

H. W. (Bill) Francis, operator of a Medicine Hat flying service, helped with the design.

Two sets of jointed wings reach out from each side some nine or ten feet. The metal wing frames have cloth aircraft covering, spaced a short distance apart at one point to simulate the spread of a bird's wing feathers.

Wings Flap

In operation, the wings flap as the bike moves. The bike engine rates only two horsepower, but on the strength of last week's tests Mr. Caldwell plans to rebuild the machine and use a 10-horsepower engine, with possibly a motorcycle replacing the bike.

Mr. Caldwell says the machine gets 100 miles of propulsion on one gallon of gasoline.

"The wings lifts the weight and the weight propels the wings," says the inventor. "This formula is the science of using air for a highway, and of using gravity for most of the power to travel on that highway.

"The introduction of this science, although I know it will be greeted with scepticism by most people, may prove to be of greater commercial value than atomic energy."

Mr. Caldwell, now living in Medicine Hat, is a native of Ontario. He says he worked in California on construction of Howard Hughes' huge flying boat, "Albatross".

Say Young Folk Lack Spirit Of Adventure

HULL, England—(CP)—A curious lack of the spirit of adventure among modern-day young business men and women has a committee of Hull executives worried.

The executives have about £30,000 in grants to spend on young students who want to go abroad to study foreign trade and languages.

The committee executes a trust fund endowed about 30 years ago by Sir Henry Samman, a former wealthy Hull shipowner. The hitch is that fewer than 200 students have appleid for the grant in these 30 years.

Last year, only four students went abroad under the scheme and Leslie Downes, chairman of the trust committee has appealed to the local chamber of commerce for more applicants.

"Sir Henry established the fund with the object of increasing trade relations with Russia," said Downes. "But when the iron curtain fell it became impossible to send anyone to Russia to study business or anything else."

New Process Announced For Making Steel

TORONTO, Dec. 6—(CP)—The Ontario Research Foundation Wednesday announced a new process for making steel, from which can be produced both ordinary and lightweight steels.

P. E. Cavanaugh, assistant director of the foundation's engineering and metallurgical branch, said at a press conference that the new method would not be competitive with 99 per cent of the present steel industry, but rather would supplement present processes.

He said the methods would be particularly valuable to areas having iron ore, but no steel plants—such as, in Quebec, the head of the Great Lakes in Ontario, and Alberta and British Columbia.

In effect, iron ore is ground and purified, placed in containers, and put through a heating process at 2,000 degrees. From ground iron ore to finished products, such as rods, tubes, and sheets, is accomplished in one pro-cess instead of going through the usual stages of ore, iron, steel, forging, bars.

Specialty Process

Mr. Cavanaugh said the process is more expensive than ordinary methods, and he described it as a "specialty process for small-scale production." For instance, industries making small quantities of steel, especially those removed from steel centres, could take care of their own production for a small investment.

The foundation's announcement said that its object is "to develop the process on a sound basis and get it into use as soon as possible in industry.

"Discussions with companies interested in obtaining licences to operate the process are under way.

"The work has been conducted under aegis of one of the advisory committees of the Ontario Research Council and has been supported by funds from the Ontario government."

Take Strike Vote

LONDON, Ont., Dec. 6 (CP)—London street railway employees will take a strike vote today over refusal of the company to arbitrate on the rehiring of an employee, L. Harry Myers, union president, announced Wednesday night at a meeting of the London and District Trades and Labor Council. Mr. Myers said that although the man who was released has since died, the union will still press for settlement of the dispute.

New Appointment

TORONTO, Dec. 6 — (CP). — Prof. Charles E. Hendry has been appointed director of the School of Social Work of the University of Toronto. He has been professor of social work here since 1946 when he returned to his native Canada after 20 years in the United States. He succeeds the late Dr. Harry Cassidy as the school's director.

Would Change Holiday

TORONTO, Dec. 6 — (CP). — The Board of Trade wants Boxing Day to be observed here on December 24 this year, instead of the traditional day after Christmas. Thus, business firms would be able to close Sunday, Monday and Tuesday of Christmas week and re-open December 26 for four successive days. The change would require amendment of a city by-law.

Pet Cemetery Row

DES MOINES, Ia., Dec. 6 — A suit involving the final resting place of dogs and cats buried with headmarkers in a pet cemetery here was filed Wednesday in District Court. K. D. Buchwald, owner of a toy poodle, Patsy, buried in "Pets' Rest" in 1944, has filed an action to prevent two Des Moines property owners from "molesting, desecrating or destroying" the pet cemetery.

Wins Asquittal

SWEETSBURG, Que., Dec. 6—(CP). — Lucien Deschenes, 18, was acquitted by a jury Wednesday on a charge of murdering Jean-Guy Beaudoin, 17, who disappeared April 15, 1950. Beaudoin's body was not found until six months after his disappearance from Missisquoi Bay. It was found in a shallow grave in an out-of-the-way place.

BREAK THE LAXATIVE HABIT THIS PROVEN WAY

If you take laxatives regularly, here is how you can stop! This proven plan helps you establish your natural powers of regularity, controlled tests prove.

Stop taking whatever you now take. Instead, every night for one week take two Carter's Little Liver Pills. Second week—one each night. Third week—one every other night. Then nothing! Eve day drink eight glasses of water; set a definite time for regularity. This plan was proven in scientifically controlled tests.

How can a laxative break the laxative habit? Because Carter's unblock the lower digestive tract and from then on let it make use of its own natural powers. Further, Carter's contain no habit forming drugs. Break the laxative habit with Carter's . . . be regular naturally.

When worry, overwork, overeating make you irregular temporarily—take Carter's temporarily. Never get the laxative habit.

Get mild, gentle Carter's Little Liver Pills at any drug store. Only 35c. You'll be grateful the rest of your life.

Canadian Soldiers Swim In Germany

By DOUGLAS HOW

HANNOVER, Dec. 6 — (CP) — Cold back home?

More than 100 Canadian soldiers went swimming Wednesday including two who had their last dip in the Arctic Ocean off their home town of Aklavik.

The two far-northerners are Pte. Fred Albert, 19, and Pte. Francis Francis, 20, both Indians They were advised to join the army by Canon C. R. Montgomery brother of Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery. Canon Montgomery now is the Anglican clergyman in charge of the Aklavik mission.

The two are members of the Loyal Edmonton Regiment, a company of which Wednesday was the first among Canadians of the 27th Brigade in Germany to go swimming in a big indoors pool here which is expected to get daily visits from the troops from now on.

"It's warmer than the Arctic," said Francis, who is half Eskimo

Accept Invitation

BONN, Germany, Dec. 6 (Reuters). — West Germany Wednesday night accepted a United Nations invitation from Paris to discuss all-German elections. Earlier a Communist spokesman in East Germany predicted Eastern officials would refuse. Both East and West Germany were invited to send representatives to the UN Special Political Committee to discuss the idea. The committee is considering a plan to see whether free elections are possible in both halves of Germany.

Approve Invitation

HALIFAX, Dec. 6 — (CP). — Dalhousie University students voted 495 to 166 today in favor of a proposal to invite 15 Russians to tour Canadian universities. The Russian students would make the tour under sponsorship of the National Federation of Canadian University Students, which rejected the plan when it was first proposed. Since then student groups at the Universities of Toronto, British Columbia, McGill, and St. Francis Xavier have approved the idea. The University of Saskatchewan Student Council voted against it.

Population of the entire American continent increased 112 per cent since 1950, compared with a 36 per cent increase for Europe.

Barbara Brent's BUYS AND WHYS
A WEEKLY INFORMATION SERVICE

MONTREAL, Dec. 6th — Isn't it fun to put on party-clothes for the parties that happen at this time of year? And speaking of clothes — I'd like to remind you that beautiful stockings are an important part of that well-dressed look! So remember to "stock up" on the most beautiful stockings of all . . . GOTHAM GOLD STRIPE! Canada's favourite stockings — "Fashion Five" . . .

1. Krimp Twist (for longer, prettier wearing)
2. Camouflage Heel (so neat and good-looking)
3. Hidden Sole (gives you double strength plus foot comfort)
4. Secret Toe (simply won't unravel)
5. Shadow Seam (the luxury look, priced to suit your pocketbook)

Ask for beautiful Gotham Gold Stripe stockings — at better stores everywhere!

First Stop On My Christmas Shopping Expedition? Why, "My Bank", of course! That's where I tick off some of those "difficult" names that used to give me so much trouble. Several of the family folks are going to get B of M Money Orders — now "gift-wrapped" in their own Christmassy envelopes. They'll look so gay on the Christmas tree . . . and they can easily be turned into the gift that's most wanted. I'm putting my nephew at college down for a cheque — one of those special B of M Christmas Cheques. And I'll be starting several small-fry off on the right foot in the New Year — with B of M Savings Accounts. The special passbook-cover and greeting-cards lend a cheery seasonal touch to this practical gift. Make "My Bank" your first stop when Christmas shopping — and you'll not only save time and trouble but give presents that will be as welcome as a white Christmas!

Count Me In As A Fan . . . a CORINNE JORDAN fan! Here is a fifteen-minute radio programme you really shouldn't miss! Just wait 'til you hear Corinne's fascinating talk about cooking and fashion — puppies and poetry — and lots of other things to intrigue us women. What more can you ask for — but music? Well, there's lots of that, too! Corinne playing heart-warming old melodies on her grand piano! Don't miss this delightful programme — brought to you by the makers of delicious, nutritious BEE HIVE GOLDEN CORN SYRUP. That's the syrup with a "thousand and one" uses. Breakfast is brighter — pancakes and cereals taste better — with Bee Hive. Cookies-'n'-Bee Hive are delicious for dinner-time dessert.

Enjoy the Corinne Jordan programme every Mon., Wed., and Fri., at 6.45 p.m., on Station CHEX.

Yours For The Asking! . . . something special for midwinter appetites are these brand new recipes by Heinz! Simply write to me — Barbara Brent, 1411 Crescent St., Montreal, P.Q. — for free "Oven-Baked Bean Recipes". Such a grand variety of heart-warming, taste-tantalizing dishes to be made with HEINZ OVEN-BAKED BEANS! (Economical, too, of course!). Serve Heinz Oven-Baked Beans with All-Bran Molasses Hot-Bread . . . m-mmm! — marvelous! Or vary them by adding Heinz 57 Sauce, Heinz Chili Sauce, Heinz Tomato Ketchup, cheese or bacon. Yes, for warm-you-up, cold-weather dishes I'd suggest you put Heinz Oven-Baked Beans on your shopping list now! You know they're good because they're Heinz!

Is Your Family getting the wonderful benefits of DENTOCILLIN, the original, proved penicillin tooth powder? I think you'll agree . . . it's time they were! For, in a 2-year test among school children, Dentocillin reduced decay 55%—5 times more than a leading university's ammoniated formula. This is important, too: Dentocillin is effective with just morning and evening brushing, because penicillin is the only anti-decay ingredient that gives between-meal protection against enamel-eating acids. No wonder thousands of dentists have been recommending Dentocillin for nearly two years. I can't urge you too strongly to start your whole family using it regularly. Pleasant-tasting, really cleans teeth. 75c for 3 months' supply.

It's A Good Idea to be prepared for Winter's first Big Snow. Take the snow-shovel out of storage—and make sure you have a bottle of SLOAN'S LINIMENT handy to rub on hubby's aching back after his shovelling! Yes, often unaccustomed exercise will bring out aches 'n' pains—but Sloan's will get rid of 'em—wink-quick! Don't rub . . . just pat it on! See the smile on his face as Sloan's soothing warmth gets right to the heart of the hurt! Yes, Sloan's does give the most wonderful relief from pain caused by sore muscles, sprains, rheumatism or neuralgia. And it's so reasonably priced . . . just 50c for the small-sized bottle—90c for the large—at your drugstore.

Soon Your Husband Will Be Bringing Home The Christmas Tree. There's something festive about even the spicy smell of a Yuletide Tree . . . and there's something festive, too, about Hasty Pudding, Golden Corn Muffins and hot, crusty corn bread for dinner. You'll find recipes for all three on the QUAKER CORN MEAL package. Try them! They're super-delicious made with Quaker Corn Meal — the corn meal made by experts. Try it in dozens of dishes. It's better than bread or cracker crumbs for breading oysters, fish or cutlets. Ask your grocer for it tomorrow. I know you'll agree once you've tried it — that Quaker Corn Meal is something every good cook should have in her kitchen.

Delighted? Yes, you'll be thrilled with the way JERGENS LOTION keeps your hands smooth and soo-o-o soft, no matter how hard they work for you! Even if, like me, you like to use those new detergents (so grand for cleaning — but not so good for hands) . . . Jergens-care will give you "lady-of-leisure" hands. Just smooth it on after every watery chore. Because Jergens is liquid, it quickly supplies the softening, smoothing moisture that dry, thirsty skin needs. So take my tip — keep a bottle of Jergens Lotion handy in both kitchen and bathroom. Just 15c, 37c, 65c and $1.15.

Do Yourself Proud some winter's evening with this really scrumptious Nesselrode Pie. It's made with JELL-O Vanilla Pudding, so you can be sure it's creamy and rich flavored. Simple to make too!

NESSELRODE PIE
1 pkge. Jell-O Vanilla Pudding
1½ cups milk
½ cup cream, whipped
1 tspn. chopped maraschino cherries
½ to ¼ tspn. rum flavoring
1 baked 8-inch pie shell
1 tbspn. shaved Baker's Unsweetened Chocolate

Prepare pudding by package directions, decreasing milk to 1½ cups. Cool, fold in ½ of the cream, reserving remainder for top of pie. Fold in cherries and rum flavoring. Turn into pie shell, spread with remaining cream, sprinkle with chocolate. Serves 6.

Dreaming Of Christmas Surprises for your holiday meals? Treat the whole family — especially the youngsters — to nourishing "CREAM OF WHEAT" just as you have been doing . . . but "dress it up" with jolly raisin faces. They'll be delighted! Just as you're delighted with how easy 5 Minute "Cream of Wheat" is to prepare. Takes just five minutes of boiling to cook to smoo-oth, delicious digestibility — even for Baby! Brimful of so many of the things that babies need to maintain normal growth and health. For 5 Minute "Cream of Wheat" provides Iron for good red blood, and Calcium and Phosphorus for diets deficient in these elements. Good for all the family — so make a cold-weather breakfast treat of 5 Minute "Cream of Wheat"!

King Of Your Christmas Dinner-Table . . . that's grand 'n' glorious Plum Pudding. And I know how to make it even grander and "gloriouser". Just add that most famous of all good mixers . . . ANGOSTURA Aromatic Bitters.

ANGOSTURA PLUM PUDDING

1 lb. raisins	2 tbsp. salt
1 lb. currants	1 lb. brown sugar
½ lb. cut citron peel	1 tsp. cinnamon
1 lb. suet	1 tsp. allspice
6 eggs	1 tsp. cloves
1 cup bread crumbs	2 wineglassfuls Angostura Aromatic Bitters
2 cups flour
2 cups milk

Prepare raisins, currants and citron. Then add the suet. Then the flour and bread crumbs, sugar, salt, spices, milk and eggs. Let this stand three days. Add Angostura aromatic bitters, mix well. Fill a one-pound tin half full of this mixture and steam for five hours.

Make your Christmas Cake Angostura-good, too — for Angostura aromatic bitters is what you put in — to make the flavour come out. Ask for Angostura at your favourite drug or grocery store.

Many Women Say They Hate Eating Alone So Much, they never have any "appetite" for lunch! If that includes you—here's what to do. First, get your lunch ready on a tray and carry it to some sunny, pleasant spot. Second — always include an "appetizer" like a couple of big, plump WAGSTAFFE Queen Olives or a tasty Wagstaffe Dill Pickle. It's not an extravagance! — for even a small bottle lasts for many days that way. You'll find the lunch boxes you put up for your family, too, are "really fun" when you include a few Wagstaffe Sweet Mixed Pickles as a surprise! And meat sandwiches are never "dry" made with Wagstaffe Wafer Pickles or Wagstaffe Mustard Pickles. Just remember — for the finest quality — ask for Wagstaffe!

Museum Exhibits Basis For Brood Teaching Scheme

By RAE CORELLI

TORONTO—(CP)—Six young women are promoting, under the wing of the University of Toronto and the Royal Ontario Museum, a broadening experiment in cultural education probably unique in Canada.

They are the nucleus of the museum's division of education. From the museum's galleries they gather relics of a bygone age with which to fashion something singularly 20th-century: an audio-visual program of instruction which has all Ontario for its classroom.

The program is under the supervision of brown-eyed Toronto-born Catharine I. Steel, who holds degrees in English, history and sociology from the University of Toronto and Columbia. She drew the assignment six years ago; since, with her assistants, but travelled thousands of miles, given hundreds of lectures enhanced by exhibits in the museum, the nation's largest.

The audio-visual program, financed partly by the Toronto Board of Education, partly by the university, can be broken down into two phases. Instruction is given at the museum to those children within travelling distance of Toronto. The balance is given far afield, as far distant as Fort Frances, 1,112 miles away.

Crisp, straighforward Catharine Steel hopes classroom teachers, in each case, will take up where the abbreviated museum-sponsored lectures end.

Toronto public school children are required to attend at least one museum tour a year but hundreds take more. They pick their own subject—archaeology, geology, etc.—and are divided into easily-handled groups for visual study.

Keen Students

Pupils in outlying districts don't obtain as comprehensive a training. The number of portable exhibits in the museum is, naturally, relatively small. However, these students generally show greater keenness. They are becoming familiar with everything from a burgonet (a steel helmet of the middle ages) to fahlband (an ore resembling a piece of ossified birthday cake.)

The six women do much of their travelling in winter when conditions are toughest. Explanatory literature regarding the current courses precedes them. Last year, they carried 10 cases of exhibits and coveed rural schools from Sault Ste. Marie to the head of the lakes. This year's itinerary is the Sudbury-Sault Ste. Marie region. A complete sweep of Ontario takes four years.

59,000 Children Benefit

In 1950, nearly 59,000 school children—representing 90 public schools in Toronto and many outside—were given varying periods of instruction. But Miss Steel and her five aides also lectured before high school students, normal school attendants unuiversity extension classes and a multitude of other groups. They manage to keep it all within an eight-hour day (travelling time, extra) but director Dr. V. V. Ben Meen of the museum says no one realizes the prodigious amount of work they tackle.

The program has been boosted in several quarters. In one instance, business and professional girls in Picton, paid for the chartered buses required to transport 200 Prince Edward County pupils to Toronto for one-day tours of the museum.

Says Miss Steel: "We never shut down."

Of Interest to Women

IN A FUTURE THAT BELONGS TO THE CHILDREN, the Western Hemisphere is sadly out-numbered, as the Newsmap above illustrates graphically. The Eurasian continent alone has almost seven children for every one in North and South America. The map, based on data contained in the booklet, Children and Youth at the Mid-century shows geographical distribution of children under 15 throughout the world.

WMS Holds Carol Service In Lakefield

LAKEFIELD, Dec. 6 (ENS)—The Woman's Missionary Society of the United Church held their Christmas Carol service on Tuesday afternoon in the Sunday school rooms with a splendid attendance present.

Mrs. J. McKerchar was in charge of the worship service during which a candlelighting service was used. The first candle, for goodwill and friendship for the Jews of Canada, the race into which Christ was born, was lit by Mrs. E. J. Millage. The second candle, for the Canadian Indians was lit by Mrs. H. J. Brown. This was followed with a solo, dear to the heart of Canadian Indians, "'Twas in the Moon of Winter-Time", by Mrs. Raymond Jackman.

The third candle, for French Canadians, was lit by Mrs. W. W. Yale, and was followed by the singing of a French carol. The lighting of a candle of friendship for those whose ancestors came from Europe to found new homes in Canada, and those from Africa and Asia, the Negros, the Japanese and the Chinese, was done by Mrs. W. W. Leonard. This was followed by the Polish carol, "Infant Holy", by Mrs. J. R. Hull.

The candle of goodwill for all newcomers to Canada from the war-devastated areas of Europe was lit by Mrs. G. E. Renwick, and the candle of Christian love by Mrs. P. H. Darling.

The presentation of a life membership to the Women's Missionary Society was made to Mrs. P. H. Darling by Mrs. C. S. Tanner. This life membership was given in memory of the late Mrs. J. A. Porter, who had been one of the Society's outstanding workers, and was made possible through the generosity of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Yale.

New Officers

During the business period, presided over by the president, Mrs. Darling, the following slate of officers was presented by Mrs. C. S. Tanner and received on motion of Mrs. Tanner and Mrs. George Hendren:

Past president—Mrs. C. S. Tanner; president—Mrs. P. H. Darling; 1st vice president—Mrs. H. J. Brown; 2nd vice president—Mrs. Earl Orr; 3rd vice president—Mrs. William Whetung; corresponding secretary—Mrs. W. W. Leonard; treasurer—Mrs. J. McKerchar; recording secretary—Mrs. E. Orr; literature secretary—Mrs. Leonard; associate helpers—Mrs. W. J. Charlton and Mrs. C. S. Tanner; christian stewardship—Mrs. W. W. Yale and Mrs. H. J. Sherin; community friendship—Mrs. Frank Darling and Mrs. D. H. Charlton; temperance and citizenship—Mrs. Elmer Milburn and Miss M. Milburn; supply secretary—Mrs. George Spence; missionary monthly—Mrs. E. J. Millage; pianist—Mrs. M. Kennedy.

It was decided to hold the "Love Gift" meeting on Friday, Dec. 14th at the home of Mrs. Yale.

New Stork Derby Will Start Monday

TORONTO, Dec. 6—(CP)—The third of a series of stork derbies set up by the will of former Mayor Thomas Foster starts Monday, the sixth anniversary of his death.

Babies born in Toronto in lawful wedlock during the 10 years starting Dec. 11, 1951, will make their mothers eligible to seek the cash prizes. The mother with the largest number of children born during that time will receive $1,250, the runner-up $800 and the third-place winner $450.

Mr. Foster also provided in his will for an annual school children's picnic. His numerous bequests included gifts to charwomen, newsboys, tuberculosis victims, underprivileged children and orphans.

Wool Jersey Makes Skirts Bell; Pastel Tricot Makes Pantalettes

When designers first began to glamorize the petticoat, to give it rustling fabrics, jeweled trim and brilliant color, it quickly became the belle of the ball. Canadian women found they could add a halter top and thus evolve a costume for dinner or even dancing.

This, in turn, gave the designers further ideas. It led them to experiment with fabrics and treatments never used before for the petticoat, in an effort to give women petticoats both beautiful and versatile.

Further, they decided, why not have some fun with lingerie and create an old-fashioned pantalette for wear under the petticoat?

They've done just that. First, designer Shirley Wolff did a sanforized wool jersey petticoat for Chevette (left) that combines beauty and winter warmth. In holiday colors, red or green, it has a deep hem stiffened the width of the skirt to make it bell out. Gleaming on the hem is a hand holding a bouquet of sequined flowers, just for fun.

Another in a series of petticoats by this designed can rustle under a short dinner dress or go out on its own as an evening skirt. It's glowing ruby red taffeta piped in black velvet and decorated with a whimsical sequin buterfly.

A pair of pantalettes (right) was created just as a fun fashion, for wear under a petticoat. They're full and ruffly, done in black or pastel nylon tricot. Ribbon bows cinch them in at the knees. They come with or without embroidered sentiment, to the wearer's liking. They are, in modern form, what grandmother called her drawers.

Drawers, indeed!

MoralsClause Rarely Used

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 6 (AP)—Any discussion of morality in Hollywood brings up the movie industry's morals clause. But amazingly little is known about it.

The history of the clause goes back to the turbulent 20s, when the industry was struck by a series of scandals that rocked its foundations.

Wallace Reid, portrayer of the All-American boy, died at the age of 31, a victim of the narcotic habit. Fatty Arbuckle, lovable comic of slapstick shorts, was tried three times for manslaughter in the death of a San Francisco girl. After two hung juries, he was acquitted. Director William Desmond Taylor was murdered in an unsolved mystery that involved two actresses, Mary Miles Minter and Mabel Normand.

Since the Arbuckle case, most film players have had the clause included in their contracts. It reads something like this:

Covers Plenty

"The artist agrees to conduct himself with due regard to public conventions and morals; and agrees that he will not do or commit any act that will tend to degrade him in society or bring him into public hatred, contempt, scorn or ridicule; or that will tend to shock, insult or offend the community or ridicule public morals or decency, or prejudice the producer of the entertainment industries."

But Not Used

That should cover any situation concerning immorality. But the joker is that the clause has never been invoked for immorality.

A veteran, top-flight Hollywood lawyer confirmed that the clause has never been used until the last three years, and then only for political reasons. It was used to fire workers accused of Communist activities.

"I may be cynical," he said, "but I believe that the producers have never felt the need to cancel a contract because of moral reasons. I think that when a star is involved in a scandal, particularly if it involves sex, the public is generally sympathetic and forgiving.

"But Communism is another matter. If a star gets a red label, he and his pictures are subject to organized and effective pressure. The producer could well consider him a bad risk and fire him under the morals clause."

The legality of the morals clause has never been tried. Some lawyers feel that it might be an infringement of individual freedom assured by the US constitution.

IT TAKES JUST ONE GRAY FLANNEL SUIT, with switch of accessories, to make a travel wardrobe. For dinner date (left), our girl wears suit skirt with scoop-neck, sleeveless jersey top, big muff, white gloves and glitter jewelry. In country (centre), she wears sweater set, gold jewelry and gay scarf. For sight-seeing (right), she has added jacket to cashmere pullover and donned a furry felt cloche.

DOROTHY DIX

Young Wife Deplores Lack Of Attention

DEAR MISS DIX: I am 21 years old and have been married almost two and a half year. I cannot seem to get used to the fact that my husband is not going to treat me the way he did when he was courting me. Our marriage would be a perfect one if we did not argue over this matter. He tells me that every man changes after he marries, but I don't think it is fair to give a girl such a big build-up, then marry her and take everything for granted. He is a good husband otherwise, considerate, doesn't drink or gamble, works hard. My only complaint is that he doesn't show his love for me as much as I think he should. Am I wrong in thinking he is unfair because he no longer shows me the same love and affection as he did when we were courting, or should I take it as part of married life and get used to it?

Dorothy Dix

ASNWER: Wouldn't life be horrible if you had to live on a steady diet of cream puffs and marshmallows? Well, a marriage made up of nothing more substantial than love and kisses twenty-four hours a day would get pretty monotonous, too.

Youngsters dream of eating nothing but sweets; a wife who dreams of nothing but the joys of courtship is putting herself in the same class. Marriage entails responsibilities—a fact overlooked by too many youthful brides. It is give and take—you expect only to take.

What Do You Contribute?

You have a fine husband who works hard to support you and give you a pleasant home. What are you doing to help him? Do you keep a nice home, cook attractive, nourishing meals? Are you learning any household art that will aid you in adding to your home? Or do you spend the day dreaming about the courtship days of two years ago and thinking up new reproaches with which to berate your poor husband when he comes home?

You are supposed to be grown up when you marry, and a grown-up woman—even one as young as 21—can think of lots of things to do besides romancing. Naturally you want your husband to love you, and he undoubtedly does. But you can't expect him to show it every minute of the day with flattery and petting. He is providing good support for you, and all he gets in return is nagging. Is that fair exchange? Your childhood is over, Mrs. L. Begin now to be a real helpmate and wife.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: Do you think it is right for a wife to write love letters for her sister to her boy friend? My wife has been doing this for a good while and although her sister can't write too well, I think if she loves her boy friend she should write her own letters. I am very jealous of my wife and I don't think she should write these letters for her sister. The boy friend is in the Marines.

BILL

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Of course your sister-in-law should be writing her own letters. I'm sure if her boy friend knew of the deception he would be as annoyed as you are. There really is no great harm in your wife's helping her sister out, however. The sister is simply resorting to any means to make a good impression on her Marine. Not an uncommon feminine failing, either, I might add. You are more upset over the matter than its importance warrants. I'm sure if both ladies knew how perturbed you are, sister would take over her own correspondence.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I have a wonderful wife and 15-months-old baby. Although my wife takes her to a baby doctor, she does not follow his directions, especially in the matter of feeding. The baby gets whatever we have, and not, in my opinion, enough vegetables. I come from another country where babies are fed regularly and given lots of fruit and vegetables. I'm afraid she will grow up nervous if she isn't properly fed now.

A. N.

ANSWER: Your wife is making a big mistake if she doesn't follow her doctor's directions on the feeding of her child. With baby vegetables so readily available, there's no excuse for a baby to lack any of them.

To satisfy yourself as to the doctor's directions, why not go with your wife the next time she takes the child to the doctor. You can then ask any questions you wish and after the visit will probably feel much better about the whole situation.

Wife Entitled To Share Estate

TORONTO, Dec. 6 — (CP) — A wife who returns to her husband after a separation and resumes normal married life is entitled to share in the husband's estate, a court has ruled here.

Mr. Justice F. H. Barlow, of the Ontario Supreme Court, Tuesday awarded Mrs. Robert Wiggins the net value of the estate of her late husband, a farmer in Mara township in the Oshawa area. Two of Mr. Wiggins' children by a former marriage had claimed that the widow relinquished her dower rights in the separation agreement and that the agreement still was in effect.

But Mr. Justice Barlow said evidence showed that the couple entered into the separation agreement Sept. 5, 1946, but resumed normal married life Dec. 12, 1946, and so continued until Mr. Wiggins died early in 1951.

MARY MOORE SAYS:

Making Candy To Fill Those Christmas Boxes

If I laid all the lettters requesting candy recipes end to end —well, they wouldn't "girdle the globe" but they might girdle a fat lady.

So you are going to make candy for Christmas? I am glad I started early with those candies a few weeks ago for it gave you time to write and let me know your special desires. I have to cut this preamble short today, much as I love to talk to you, for I must give all the space I can to recipes.

Candy - Makers: Buy a candy thermometer. You will save yourselves hard cash if you do.

Homemade Turkish Delight

Two cups corn syrup, 1 cup white sugar, ¼ teaspoon salt, 4 tablespoons good quality gelatine, ½ cup cold water, juice and grated rind 1 medium-sized lemon, red colouring. Soak the gelatine in the cold water 10 minutes mix together the corn syrup, sugar and salt and heat to 270 deg. Fahr. (hard ball), using candy thermometer. Remove from heat and add the soaked gelatine, lemon juice and grated rind and a few drops of red colouring to make mixture a delicate rose colour. Stir well, then pour into a pan 8x8 inches which has been very lightly buttered then rinsed with cold water .Let stand at least 8 hours. Cut into 1 inch squares and roll in a mixture of 2 tablespoons icing sugar and 1 teaspoon cornstarch.

Fondant

CAREFUL! This requires all of your skill.

Exchange Gifts

Mrs. R. J. Stabler, 208 Dalhousie St., was hostess Wednesday afternoon for the Christmas meeting of Group 6 of George St. Church WMS. President Mrs. F. Horton presided. After singing "Silent Night" Mrs. Horton offered prayer, followed by the Lord's prayer in unison and responsive reading of Psalm 38. The hymn "Joy to the world" concluded the opening ceremony. An encouraging financial report was presented by treasurer Mrs. M. A. Fitzgerald. Election of officers for 1952 then took place. Scripture was read by Mrs. Shaw and Christmas stories by Mrs. R. Parnell and Mrs. O. Williamson. Mrs. Stabler was assisted with refreshments by Miss J. Schaffer and Mrs. W. W. Sheppard, and during a pleasant social hour the members exchanged Christmas gifts.

Hold Christmas Meeting

Mark St. Baby Band Mothers held a Christmas meeting on Wednesday evening in the church parlor which was enhanced for the occasion with a prettily decorated tree. The Rev. B. S. Morwood talked on the Christmas spirit and good will and other items on the program were in keeping. Mrs. E. Downing read a story and Mrs. S. Craig a short poem. Mrs. M. Pomeroy and Mrs. W. Hepburn Sr. sang a duet "No room in the inn." President Mrs. H. Guppy opened the meeting with a thought for the month. Mrs. W. Lawson was in charge of the devotional and Mrs. W. Parnell read scripture. It was decided to hold the children's Christmas party December 19th at three o'clock in the church. Mrs. Lawson was assisted with refreshments by Mrs. Downing, Mrs. Craig, Mrs. Parnell, Mrs. K. Armstrong, Mrs. W. Sanderson, Mrs. H. Hamley, and Mrs. J. Southgate. A social period was much enjoyed.

Bring Sunshine Gifts

Helen Roger Evening Auxiliary of Knox United Church met Monday in the church parlours. The rooms were gay with Christmas decorations put up by Mrs. Stanley Whitfield. Each member brought in a small gift in Christmas wrappings which was placed on a table by the fireplace. These are to be made up into a sunshine basket for a friend who is ill. President Mrs. H. Murduff presided for the meeting and plans were made to assist at the December Baby Band meeting.

One of the honorary presidents, Mrs. E. Mesley, presided for the election of officers. Miss Mary Morton, convener of the nomination's committee gave the report and a new slate of officers for 1952 was elected with Mrs. Don Richardson as the new president. Miss Phyllis Kidd conducted a Christmas carol worship service. Mrs. J. T. Donaldson read the scripture story and Miss Kidd read a Christmas story "The Bells". Miss Kidd then led in two contests, the first "Gifts", based on the Bible, and the second "Christmas Consequences". Refreshments were served by Mrs. Ross and members of her committee.

Evening Guild Holds Tea At St. George's

A very successful Christmas tea and bazaar was held Wednesday afternoon at St. George's Anglican Church by the Evening Guild members. It was opened by the Rev. H. J. Scuse with prayer and Mrs. Scuce and the Guild president Mrs. W. Bannon were receiving.

Individual tea tables were Christmasy with evergreen boughs and lighted candles as centrepieces and around the room were small Christmas trees and bells. Christmas music was playing as a background through the tea hours.

The tea was convened by Mrs. R. Pearson with helpers and servers being Mrs. A. Siddall, Mrs. W. White, Mrs. D. Black, Mrs. W. Parks, Mrs. E. Atkinson, Mrs. W. Wright and Mrs. W. Hall.

Mrs. H. Siddall had charge of a fancy goods table and "white elephants." Mrs. C. Crouter and Mrs. M. Wright sold toys, candy and plants. Mrs. G. Jackett had a display of plasticware.

Associations Join Special Program

Christmas meetings of Bridgenorth WA and WMS were held jointly Tuesday evening in the United Church basement. A good number of members and friends enjoyed the special program.

In absence of WMS president Mrs. J. Johnston due to illness, vice president Mrs. A. K. Nichols presided for the first part of the meeting. Opening hymn "Angels From the Realm of Glory" was followed by prayer led by Mrs. Nichols. Scripture read by Mrs. L. M. Richardson was from Luke 2. A Chrisimas reading "God's Gift to Men" was by Mrs. E. Blewett.

Mrs. C. Hartman, WA president, then took the chair, commencing this part with a reading "Christmas is for Adults" followed by "The Cost of Christmas" read by Mrs. K. Blewett. A most interesting dialogue on the Advent—a Christmas story—was given by Mrs. J. Hardill, Mrs. J. Smith, Mrs. J. Pettersone and Mrs. Blewett. Mrs. C. Telford favored with the solo "Silent Night", accompanying herself. Mrs. Fred Ray read the poem "For Rich and Poor Alike" to complete the devotional part of the Christmas story.

The Rev. D. P. Morris, in a brief address, mentioned many different customs carried out around Christmas in different countries. After the closing hymn "O Come All Ye Faithful", he pronounced benediction.

Refreshments were served around tables gay in Christmas array, by Mrs. J. Smith and her committee.

The WA meeting in January will be held on the second Tuesday in the church basement.

LAC TEDDY BEVERLEY MAXWELL McEWEN and Mrs. McEwen, the former Norma June Stanbury, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. F. Stanbury, who were married at St. Paul's Manse by the Rev. C. G. Boyd. The groom is son of Mrs. W. A. McEwen and the late Mr. McEwen and was attended by his brother Mr. Reg. McEwen with Mrs. McEwen attending the bride. A reception was held at the bride's home, 237 Prince St. After their wedding trip to Toronto, Niagara Falls and United States, the couple will live in Trenton where the groom is stationed with the RCAF.—(Roy Studio Photo)

YOUNG'S POINT

YOUNG'S POINT, Dec. 6 — (ENS)—Mrs. N. Godfrey was named president of the Young's Point Home and School Association at the annual meeting Monday. Mrs. Godfrey was president for 1951.

The slate of officers was read to the meeting by G. Elliott, and Mrs. H. B. Jackson moved its adoption. Mrs. Godfrey presided for the meeting and reports were heard from Mrs. J. Paris, treasurer and Mrs. R. Brooks, secretary.

Other officers elected were: vice-president, Mrs. R. Brooks; recording secretary, Mrs. S. Mepham; corresponding secretary, Mrs. E. Johnston; treasurer, Mrs. J. Paris; executive, Mrs. Piercey, Mrs. Jones, Mrs. P. Godfrey, Miss M. Walsh, Miss Mary Spencer, Mr. P. Godfrey .

Conveners appointed were: program, Miss Spencer; social, Mrs. P. Godfrey; membership, Mrs. J. Jones; health, Miss Walsh.

Mrs. A. W. Nelson, chairman of the Peterborough Home and School, administered the oath of office, and congratulated the members on their work during the past year.

Mr. Elliott presented certificates to last year's Grade 8 class. Mrs. Nelson spoke to the graduates on the importance of honesty, and the need for them to set their eyes firmly on a goal and do their utmost to attain it.

Miss Evelyn Freeburn thanked the association for the graduation ceremony. Canon F. J. Fife spoke briefly to the graduates and Christmas carols were sung, with J. Jones at the piano.

HAVELOCK

HAVELOCK, Dec. 6—(ENS)—Lighted candles and a gaily decorated Christmas tree made a Yuletide setting for the December meeting of the Havelock Home and School Association held in the school.

Mrs. B. Johnson, senior vice president, was elected president for the balance of the term owing to the resignation of Mrs. H. A. McNeely and she presided for the meeting.

The Rev. R. G. Newman was guest speaker, taking as his subject "Christmas Carols and Their Origin". Mr. Newman was introduced by Mrs. F. McKay, the program convener. Among the many fascinating customs of the Christmas season, is the singing of carols, Mr. Newman said, and the word carol was derived from the word chorus and originally applied to songs written for the Christmas festival.

Mr. Newman mentioned an old carol "Joseph Was the Old Man", which had come down from the 15th century and is still sung as an old folk song in the Kentucky mountains. The American Negro also loved to sing Christmas songs and Mr. Newman especially mentioned one of their spirituals "Rise Up Shepherd and Foller" which is made up of solo parts followed by a chorus. The earliest printed collection of carols was issued in 1521 and nearly two centuries later a French collection of carols was published containing 34 Noels.

The Noel passed from French into the English language as a favorite refrain. Silent Night was written by a priest of the Church of St. Nicholas in the village of Oberndorf. Mr. Newman listed the English and American carols giving the background of each.

Each person who attended the meeting was asked to bring a Christmas poem and read it, the one judged the best to be awarded a prize. Mrs. W. Nobes, Sr. officiated as the judge and awarded the prize to Mrs. James Wilde with Mrs. Frank McKay making the presentation.

Poems were read by Mrs. R. G. Newman, Mrs. R. Backus, Mrs. G. Smith, Mrs. J. E. Corneil, Mrs. R. E. Collington, Mrs. B. Johnson, Mrs Grenville Rutherford, Jeffrey and David Collington, Helen Anderson, Gail Sanderson, Eva Ellis.

Mrs. J. E. Corneil, sang a solo, "Jesus is the Theme of My Song" playing the accompaniment on her autoharp. Mrs. J. Wilde, health convener, gave a paper on "Left-handed Children". This condition she said was found to be more common among girls and was hereditary.

Mrs. J. E. Corneil spoke briefly about the H. and S. publications. A sing-song of Christmas carols was led by Mrs. J. Beatty with Mrs. R. Backus at the piano, the children in attendance singing "Away In A Manger".

The attendance shield and prize of $1 went to the high school. Mrs. Gerald Whitney was appointed a member of the executive committe. The collection was taken up by Clifford Chase and David Newman.

An exchange of gifts with candy for the children followed the program. They were distributed by Santa Claus. Lunch was served.

RIFLE SCHOOL

Rifle Range Home and School Association met in the school on Monday evening. The chair was occupied by Mrs. W. Amos in absence of the president. Mrs. S. Wood was pianist. Devotional period was taken by Mrs. Wood, who read the Christmas story, and a duet, "Gloria in Excelis" was sung by Mary Wood and Beth Oliver.

Minutes and financial statement were read by Mrs. W. Muir, secretary-treasurer. The acting president announced a spring tea and bazaar and called for volunteers to form four or five work groups. Mrs. B. Neely, Mrs. L. Welch, Mrs. P. LaVictoire and Mrs. J. Quinn responded. Periodic paper drives were also mentioned, and all members were asked to co-operate by saving their papers and magazines until notified.

Guest speaker, Miss Rachel Young, spoke very appropriately on "Peace on Earth." Touching lightly on the United Nations and their efforts to achieve peace, Miss Young stated "that we can't have a world-wide organization striving for peace without individuals who are at peace with themselves." Parents who hold high ideals before their children, and who teach them a sense of responsibility, are doing much towards developing mature adults. On the other hand, parents who cling to their children, and refuse to recognize the fact that they are growing up, and should be accepting responsibility, are hampering their children in the process of reaching maturity. Speaking of teen-agers in particular, Miss Young remarked: "When a child is able to make sound judgments away from his parents, and when he has acquired a set of values by which he knows right from wrong, then he is well on his way to maturity." She urged the importance of living by this set of values seven days a week; in the home, in the school and in the church.

In conclusion the speaker said: "The child who is fortunate enough to be brought up by mature parents, in a certain degree of comfort, and who has acquired through early training a sense of responsibility, will become in time the type of individual who is interested in other people, and in truly democratic living, and it is this type of person who will do much towards achieving "peace on earth, goodwill toward men."

The speaker was thanked by Mrs. LaVictoire.

Christmas carols were sung, with Mrs. N. Andrew at the piano, followed by a social half hour, under the direction of Mrs. J. Quinn and Mrs. R. Brinson, assisted by Mrs. J. Ryan, Mrs. M. Welch and Mr. J. Quinn.

Missing Person Quickly Located

The board of directors of Peterborough Branch of the Red Cross Society met Tuesday evening in the Red Cross rooms. President Mrs. F. E. Hooper heard reports of November work by committee conveners.

Mrs. W. R. L. Blackwell reported two more gatche beds on order and acknowledged gifts of sick room supplies for the lean cupboard.

Mrs. Hooper reported enquiry sometimes comes from relatives in other countries regarding missing persons and one such enquiry came this week. The person was quickly placed here, although little information was given.

Mrs. Chas. Ray, reporting for the disaster service in absence of Mr. Max Comstock, convener, gave details of the disaster practice last week. She told of certain additions to the plan, including registration and further supplies. She said workers were found quick and efficient in carrying out duties. The nutrition committee, in charge of Miss Ethelwyn Dix, served refreshments to all the workers, using as assistants the church groups on call for October and November, Trinity, Christian Science, Mark St. and St. Luke's. Emergency ambulances used were panel trucks donated and driven by business men who fad fitted them as ambulances in a very satisfactory way, she said.

A nominating committee consisting of Miss Dix, Mrs. Ray, Mrs. W. A. Hinds and Miss Florence Gladman was appointed.

Mrs. Ray and Mr. G. H. Thompson indicated their intention to attend a meeting of the Ontario Division in Toronto this Friday.

Committee Set Up To Raise Money For Church School

Executive members of the Peterborough Presbytery Woman's Association and the Women's Missionary Society, with the Rev. F. Horton as chairman, met on Wednesday evening in George St. United Church to form a Presbyterial committee to organize locally the nationwide campaign for the building and furnishing of a new training school for women workers of the United Church.

A site has been made available by the board of regents of Victoria College, University of Toronto, on the campus. It will enable students to share more fully in the life of the University and it will give significance to the training school as one of the most important educational institutions of the United Church.

The campaign is to raise $600,000 and the Board of Finance of the church has approved March to May 1952 as the period of the campaign.

Appointed to the local committee are: Mrs. Carmen Bell, chairman; Mrs. E. Wand, secretary; Mrs. A. E. Metcalfe of Hastings, Mrs. W. B. Gordon, Mrs. E. Brown, and Mrs. F. R. Samis.

It was suggested that February meetings of local women's organizations would include a study of this campaign and that a special Sunday service be set aside during the spring to bring this more fully to attention of church members.

Chapter News

OTONABEE CHAPTER

A short meeting of Otonabee Chapter, IODE, was held Wednesday afternoon in the YWCA green room with regent Mrs. A. R. McWilliams presiding.

Mrs. F. D. Kerr, educational secretary, discussed the kind of books and pictures to be supplied to the adopted schools. Mrs. W A. Burrell and Mrs. C. Sherwood were named to look after Christmas cheer for the pupils at Whitney and Dummer schools.

A sewing meeting will be held Monday evening at the home of Mrs. F. Merrett.

MAJOR BENNETT CHAPTER

After bringing forth of the flag by Miss Louise Spriggs, standard bearer of Major Bennett Chapter, IODE Mrs. William Taylor, regent, declared the meeting open for transaction of business, Tuesday evening in the YWCA Green Room.

Mrs. H. K. Fallis, empire study and world affairs convener, brought up the fact that something has to be done about the word Dominion being deleted from the name of the country, which is in direct disagreement to the creed of the I.O.D.E.

"For the fulness of life and opportunity in this Dominion; and for the ties which bind us together within our Empire". Mrs. Fallis also told the origin of the word Dominion, and 53 members present then signed their names to a letter to be sent to Gordon K. Fraser M.P. asking for protest.

Mrs. B. E. Metcalf, educational secretary reported 20 members requested I.O.D.E. calendars to be placed by them in the classrooms of the various city schools. Christmas stockings for children of the chapter's adopted Indian School at Burleigh Falls are to be filled at Mrs. D. Murray's house. Gifts were to be chosen for the 19 children according to their age.

Mrs. F. Paterson, film convener read an interesting paper on "Information and Guide for Film Conveners". The purchase of a screen for use by the chapter was discussed.

Miss Jessie Johnson, post war service convener had sewing and knitting done in October and November on display at the meeting. Mrs. Reg Reid reported 10 boxes packed and sent overseas last month. Members brought food parcels to be used in next month's boxes.

Mrs. Ken Gibson, membership convener, displayed a chart which showed the relationship of the primary chapters to municipal and to provincial and national. Press and publicity convener Miss June Fraser, asked members for any clippings on I.O.D.E. work, the chapter scrap book to be entered into competition at Provincial in the new year.

Miss Jean Gillespie, read out the various committees drawn up for the coming year. The programme was accepted.

Mrs. S. Lockington introduced Mrs. H. A. Brumwell who was welcomed to the chapter. Mrs. Brumwell was unable to be enrolled in November when other new members were taken in.

Treasurer, Mrs. Wm. Nash, reported that the sum of $262. to be disbursed to the various funds of the order listed:

Peace Garden Fund; Endowment Fund; Lucy Morrison Memorial Fund; National Shipping Fund; Provincial Workroom Fund, Seamen's Amenities Fund; British and European Relief Fund; Empire Work in India Fund; Wilhelmina Gordon Fund; National Film Fund.

Mrs. Robert E. Gibbons led the members in the singing of Christmas carols, Mrs. J. Twigg playing the piano.

Extra special Christmas refreshments were served by Mrs. M. Delaney, Mrs. H. L. Hanley, Mrs. F. S. Atkinson, Mrs. R. G. Kemp, and Mrs. D. Ireland.

Hollywood Model Fitting Beauty To Job

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 6—(AP)—Mara Corday, a 20-year-old beauty who looks like a sultry Latin but isn't is this town's most photographed brunette, blonde and redhead.

That's because Mara will change the color of her hair—or her personality—as the job demands.

Bernard of Hollywood, one of the top glamor photographers here, calls this striking girl the most widely photographed — and most versatile—of all models.

Currently, she is prominently displayed as an aristocratic Spanish senorita on a beer billboard; a read-haired cowgirl on a calendar; a sultry Arabian dancing girl in "Son of Ali Babi," a movie she made with Tony Curtis and a blonde showgirl in still another movie, "Two Tickets to Broadway" with Tony Martin.

Many Pin-ups

And, Bernard adds, she may be seen in a variety of revealing pin-ups in quonset huts from Kelly Field to Korea.

She adopted a Latin name for professional reasons and collects rhumba records for a hobby but her ancestry is all Welsh. She is the daughter of a chauffeur and unmarried.

But don't write for her phone number. She goes steady with a husky ex-bartender who is in the throes of becoming a cafe owner.

Mary Moore Says:

boiling point and leave cover on long enough to melt grains of sugar [illegible]ides of pan. Remove cover. Insert candy thermometer and boil uncovered until temperature reaches exactly 238 deg. Fahr. Immediately remove from heat and pour onto marble slab or tile counter or large china platter, which has been buttered then moistened with cold water Do not scrape pan with spoon—just allow what syrup will pour out of pan readily to mix with what is first poured, but do not touch it. When syrup begins to "string" from pan add no more Let it stand for about 2 minutes or until you can hold your hand on it comfortably or dint it with finger tip and dint leaves some impression. Now using a spatula, begin to knead it, using a backward and forward stroke. This creaming determines the fineness of the grain of your finished fondant.

Cream until fondant is cold, then put in lightly buttered wide-mouthed jar, cover tightly and let stand 24 hours.

Fondant is now ready for flavourings, colourings, fruit and nut additions that make chocolate centres so interesting. For instance

Gloria Creams

To half of the above rule for Fondant add 4 drops coffee essence, ½ cup washed and dried white sultana raisins, ½ cup blanched almonds. Cream ripened fondant by working between warm palms. Add the raisins, flavouring and nuts by making a deep dint in centre and knead them into it evenly. Form into large "centres" 1 or 1½ inches long. Roll lightly in cornstarch and alloy to stand at room temperature for surface to harden.

Chocolate Dipping

The sure sign of the amateur is a greyish hue to the chocolate coating on her candies. Overheating causes it.

Put broken dipping chocolate (or semi-sweet bar chocolate) in bowl. Stand over warm and slightly steaming water. Do not hurry it. Do not let any water get into it. To begin dipping have bowl of chocolate standing in larger bowl containing warm water—not hot. Professional dippers use both their fingers and a dipping fork. Take your choice. Be sure to make little swirls on top. As soon as chocolate hardens a little heat it again. If you do not use up all you have softened it may be kept cold and reheated and used another time .

Chocolate Fudge

Three-quarters cup corn syrup, 3 cups sugar, 1 tablespoon cornstarch, 1½ cups milk, ¼ teaspoon salt, 6 tablespoons soft butter, 2-3 to ¾ cup good quality cocoa, 1 tablespoon genuine vanilla. Mix first 4 ingredients, then add milk. Bring to boiling point, insert candy thermometer and heat to 243 deg. Fahr., stirring after it reaches 235 deg. Fahr. to prevent scorching. Meanwhile mix the soft butter, cocoa and vanilla in a small bowl to a smooth paste. As soon as 243 deg. F. is reached, remove fudge from heat, add cocoa and butter paste and beat until the mark of your wooden spoon begins to leave tracks which do not disappear when you are resting. Pour into buttered pan about 11x8x1½ inches and press down fairly evenly with palm of hand. Mark into squares with back of knife. Cool. NOTE: Some readers want sponge candy. This is a rather long recipe but I will try to find room for it in the next week or so, so watch.

We are sure of only one thing ourselves. That is that used car prices are about as low now as they can get. This IS a GOOD time to buy a better car. Prices always go up in the Spring, and if production cut backs occur, its not hard to figure what will happen to used car prices.

Return Imming To Stand Trial

Hugh Imming, of Toronto, formerly of Peterborough, is being brought here from Toronto by Detective Sergeant John Stevenson today, to face a forgery charge at the current general sessions.

A true bill was brought in by the Grand Jury in June against Imming but Crown Atorney John A. Bradshaw asked that the trial be held over.

Earlier this week Imming's wife wired police here that her husband was too ill to stand trial.

Toronto police were contacted and asked to determine if Imming was sick and if he was not ill, to arrest him.

Thursday morning, a wire was received from Chief Constable John Chisholm of Toronto, that Imming was being held, and Detective Stevenson left for Toronto today to bring him here for trial.

You Can't Win

SANDERSFIELD, Mass., Dec. 6 (AP)—Edward Cutting and his brother William went hunting Wednesday, dressed in red caps and jackets so they wouldn't be mistaken for deer. Ten minutes after entering the woods Edward was stung by several buckshot pellets. A hunter stepped from the brush and explained: "I saw four legs and thought they belonged to a deer."

LADIES OF ST. PAUL'S CHURCH on Wednesday afternoon held a very large tea and sale of work for which they decorated the upstair parlor with the Christmas symbols around a beautiful manger scene. Pictured while the tea was in progress with this setting as background were the general convener Mrs. W. A. Burrell (left) with Mrs. J. Hornal, acting president of the Ladies' Aid, Mrs. C. G. Boyd and Mrs. G. Lockington who were receiving.—(Examiner Staff Photo)

Manger Scene Is Centre Of St. Paul's Tea Setting

The first Christmas scene and the modern symbols of the Christmas season together formed an outstanding tea room setting in St. Paul's Church parlours Wednesday afternoon where the Ladies Aid entertained more than 400 guests.

And though the tall Christmas trees were gay and bright with colored balls reflecting the lights, it was the beautiful cradle scene in the centre on which all eyes were focused. The creche was loaned for this occasion by Mrs. S. C. Elliott who herself constructed the manger and palm tree setting around figures standing in adoration of the Baby.

A long tea table in the centre of the room was very lovely with tall red tapers in silver candalabrae at the centre and bouquets of red carnations in silver baskets on either side, the Christmas color setting completed by the pale green linen cloth.

Wreaths of evergreen and festooning evergreen branches entwined with red ribbons led the way from the outer door to the upstair tea room where a crowd had already assembled at three o'clock. At this time the Rev. C. G. Boyd extended welcome and declared the tea and sale of work open.

Mrs. Boyd was at the door to receive the guests with Mrs. J. Hornal, acting president of the Ladies' Aid, and Mrs. G. Lockington.

Mrs. W. A. Burrell, general convener of this event, loked after the refreshments and chose conveners for the decorating. Mrs. R. McWilliams and Mrs. R. Buchanan did the Christmas trees and the evergreen work with Mrs. Elliott assisting in setting up the creche. The tea table was done by Mrs. W. J. Gordon.

Goods For Sale

Each of the groups within the Ladies' Aid had a booth which the ladies in charge decorated and set up with hand-made goods for sale.

At the first booth they were selling doll's clothes—some very fancy one for dolls of all sizes. It had been convened by Mrs. James King who was absent for the day and Mrs. Ralph Clark and Mrs. Stewart Lockington were in charge. Country members had a fine table at which they sold dressed fowl, jams, pickles, home baking, hand-made crib quilts, baby shawls, tea towels, etc. Mrs. N. McBride, Mrs. F. Board, Mrs. J. Smith and Mrs. A. Jones were in charge.

The gift table offered coaster sets, crocheted buffet sets, aprons, knit goods, etc., by Mrs. D. Miller Mrs. W. Gray and Mrs. J. R. Allan. Miscellaneous articles highlighted by an attractive weathervane decoration and including wall ornaments, tea towels, a quilt and small figurines were offered by Mrs. R. Richardson, Mrs. F. Haggart and Mrs. A. E. Parsons whose husband constructed the weather vane.

Very lovely Christmas wreaths and fancy decorations for the festive table and throughout the home were made up by group members and sold by Mrs. R. Pearse, Mrs. D. Dixon, Mrs. W. Cochrane, Mrs. W. Morrow and Mrs. W. Brown. Christmas "goodies" were offered for sale by Miss B. Ross, Mrs. J. Anderson, Mrs. W. Williams, Mrs. W. Beveridge, Mrs. H. Dunford, Miss S. Rutherford and Mrs. T. E. Barrie. The home baking table which operated a brisk business until supplies ran out was in charge of Mrs. F. J. A. Hall and Mrs. B. W. McLean.

Tea Room Assistants

Hostesses Mrs. W. J. Gordon, Mrs. G. Hill, Mrs. J. Dutton and Mrs. F. Rowan assisted the guests to find seats at the quartette tables in the tea room.

Tea pourers were Mrs. N. J. McCuaig, Mrs. C. Law, Mrs. Lee, Mrs. H. G. McKenzie, Mrs. Lockington, Mrs. W. Caldwell, Mrs. R. McWilliams, Mrs. R. Buchanan, Mrs. H. Shimer and Mrs. C. Gledhill.

Serving were Mrs. W. D. Clark, Mrs. G. Prophet, Mrs. J. H. Jamison, Mrs. P. Hawthorne, Mrs. Campbell, Mrs. Brockley, Miss Little, Mrs. L. Howson, Mrs. J. Rosenburgh, Mrs. G. Coleman Sr., Mrs. Meicklejohn, Mrs. F. Raines, Mrs. V. Read, Mrs. M. Morgan, Mrs. K. Campbell, Mrs. S. Lowe, Mrs. W. Steinkraus, Mrs. W. Morrison, Mrs. W. Smillie, Mrs. R. Magee, Mrs. F. Finnie, Mrs. T. Whittington, Mrs. King, Mrs. T. MacArthur, Mrs. C. Sherwood, Mrs. M. Faux, Mrs. A. Shearer, Mrs. H. Welford, Mrs. G. Sproule, Mrs. Cummings, Mrs. W. Jackson, Mrs. W. Howes and Mrs. N. D. Courtney.

Mrs. Clarence Mann, treasurer of the organization, was assisted in taking tickets by Miss Isabel Brealey.

Mrs. Jennie Delaire

"Whatever you used you'd better go back and get it," Mrs. Condon told Mrs. Delaire.

The witness added that she didn't see what Mrs. Delaire did then or what she picked up. At no time did she see a razor in the accused woman's hands.

Mrs. Delaire told of several disagreements with her husband on September 1.

With Two Men

In the morning she saw him walking along the railway tracks at Bethune and Brock Sts. He was with two other men and when she asked him what he was doing he replied that he would be home for noon but he wanted to finish a bottle of wine first.

Later in the day she found him at the home of her stepmother, Daisy Weaver, 490 Elm St. She bluffed him into heading for home, she said, when she pretended to phone the police.

By that time he was drunk. Her in-laws, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Delaire, who live in the same house, confirmed this.

Mrs. Gertrude Delaire said her brother-in-law was "quite drunk." He was "laying around, stumbling and he couldn't talk very well."

Couple Argued

At the same time she recalled that the couple were arguing about his "running around."

"She told him that she didn't want him going out again because he wouldn't be back till morning. The night before he said he slept at the Legion till 5 am, but she said he was lying."

Fred Delaire also said his brother was drunk. And he confirmed that they were quarreling repeatedly.

"He nearly drove her crazy, tearing around with other women and bragging about it. Yes, he'd brag about other women when she was there."

He added that he had once seen his brother drag Jennie Delaire along by the hair of her head.

In the witness box Mrs. Delaire said she followed her husband to the Condon home to persuade him not to go out for the night.

"She heard the name 'Daisy' mentioned in the telephone conversation and she went back across the road to get the razor.

Going To Scare Him

"But I didn't intend to use it," said Mrs. Delaire.

"What were you going to do with it?" asked Defence Counsel Corkery.

When she entered the Condon house the second time, carrying the razor, she heard her husband say: "We put it over on Jen. that time, didn't we Daisy?"

"Then I don't remember anything."

"Mrs. Condon said I punched him, but I don't remember that."

Mrs. Delaire told how she got a cold cloth to put on her husband's cut when the two of them got back to their home — the wounded man leaving a trail of blood across the road as he walked.

It was at this point in her evidence that she began to sob and several minutes elapsed before she could regain her composure. She accompanied her husband to St. Joseph's hospital.

Later that night she gave a statement to Detective Sgt. William A. (Bud) Clarke. Whether or not this statement should be admitted occupied most of Tuesday afternoon.

It was ruled admissable by Judge S. L. Smoke, presiding at the general sessions of the peace.

Detective's Notes

According to Detective Sgt. Clarke's notes she admitted slashing her husband with the razor in the Condon home. Afterwards she picked up the razor and brought it back to her home, leaving it on the table.

The argument had been over him having a date with another woman.

Mrs. Delaire said she didn't think she told Detective Sgt. Clarke she "slashed" her husband. At that time she was in a blackout and couldn't remember what she did..

In a 25-minute address to the jury Defence Counsel Corkery dwelt on the "intent" aspect of the case. He said the accused woman had not meant to slash her husband, only to bluff him into compliance as she had done once before that day.

Crown Attorney John Bradshaw, QC, asked: "What was her purpose in walking across the street to get the razor? She admitted she knew it was a dangerous weapon."

"Ahe we going to allow this flimsy, convenient lack of memory to thwart the administration of justice in this county?"

The summing up by Judge S. L. Smoke is scheduled for 2.30 pm. And the case should be in the hands of the jury before 4 pm.

Mrs. Cecil Watson

NORWOOD, Dec. 6 — (ENS). —The funeral of Mrs. Cecil Watson was held Tuesday at 2:30 pm from the McConnell-Warner Funeral Home, Norwood, with the Rev. J. Bingham of the Baptist Church officiating. Burial was in Norwood Cemetery.

Mrs. Watson died Saturday in the Civic Hospital, Peterborough, following a long illness.

Flower bearers were Maitland Kirk, Basil Tucker, Armar Weir, Rod Webb, Alfred Rogers, Percy Kempt.

Pallbearers were: Ralph Cuthbertson, Cecil Cuthbertson, Stanley McMillan, Clarence Taylor, Russell Thompson, Ernest McDonald.

Friends from a distance were: Mrs. E. W. Lennox, Toronto, Mr. Jean Rogers, RCAF, Weston, Mr. and Mrs. E. V. Elliott, Mrs. Annie Lennox, Mrs. James Cotter of Kingston, Mrs. William Watson and Alma of Orono, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Watson of Orono, Mrs. E. SIGN SEAWAY PACT—The Canadian government and Ontario have signed an agreement for the development of hydro-electric energy in the international section of the St. Lawrence river. Shown signing the historic document in Ottawa Monday are, left to right: (sitting) Ontario's Premier Frost; Prime Minister St. Laurent and Transport Minister Chevrier; (standing) R. H. Saunders, chairman of the Ontario Hydro-Electric Commission, and Hon. George Challies, Minister without Portfolio.

Canadian Delegates To United Nations Have Little Time For Fun

By NORMAN ALTSTEDTER

PARIS, Dec. 6 — (CP)—The work day of a Canadian delegate to the United Nations' Assembly leaves little time for fun—even in Paris.

If Maurice Bourget, civil engineer and Liberal member of parliament for Levis, had any misconceptions about a diplomat's way of life, they were corrected the hard way. He's been working a 12-hour day, representing Canada in two UN Assembly committees in emergencies.

Bourget said in an interview that he knew little about the UN before his appointment to the Canadian delegation to the sixth Assembly. But since opening day Nov. 6 he has dived into the intricacies of both the economic and budgetary committees, where he has spoken as Canada's representative.

He approves of the system of appointing MPs to Canadian delegations. He feels it gives them a better understanding of the problems of international relations.

There are four MPs and one senator now on the Canadian delegation. All political parties are expected to be represented on the delegation with scheduled switches in personnel coming after Christmas.

The MPs attempt to keep in touch also with what's happening in Canada and their constituencies in particular.

That's how Bourget starts his working day. At about 8:30 am he reads his correspondence, which includes a report from his secretary in Ottawa.

At 9:30 he attends the daily meeting of all members of the Canadian delegation, where the representative in each committee outlines to the others what happened in his particular committee the day before and what will be coming up.

That meeting usually lasts an hour. Then the delegates and advisers are driven to the Palais de Chaillot for the Assembly meetings.

Morning meetings of the UN last usually until about 1 pm. The committees don't open their afternoon meetings until about 3:15. But the luncheon hour usually involves conferences with other delegations over the dining table.

Following an afternoon meeting recently, Bourget went back to his hotel at about 6 pm and went to work on a radio talk he was preparing for the CBC. He took 1½ hours off for dinner and then back to work on the radio address, finally getting to bed at about 11:30 pm.

Tom Gard's Note Book

The Gards rely almost entirely on native material for Christmas decorations, other than lights and fancy tree ornaments.

Every year the whole family has a cone-hunting spree in the country. Occasionally we draw the ire of some "country cousin" but we usually try to secure them in well-wooded areas that are little frequented. We journey forth again when it comes time to gather evergreen boughs for our wreaths and other decorative purposes.

Christmas Table Centre

Nothing could be more typically Canadian than the Christmas table centre we used last year, with its pressed oak and maple leaves and collection of cones. Some of the cones can be dipped in bright red and bright green paint to add color to the arrangement. This year we plan to include evergreens to replace the leaves. In case you are interested in making the candle stick holders, a couple of designs are illustrated.

Cone Place Markers

To complete the slogan "let's make it an evergreen Christmas", place markers are made from cones. Gather cones from the Austrian pine, larch and Jack pine when they are dry. Leave them in a sunny window or on top of the furnace overnight. The warmth will open them. Three types of cone place markers that have been used are illustrated. The whole family has a share in making them. This adds to the interest and the anticipation for that day of days so quickly approaching. It is fun drawing on one's imagination to help make the cones look as realistic as possible. It is surprising how closely some do resemble different types of birds when they are carefully selected, placed and finished. All I hope is that you have as much fun in your house as we have in our preparing for Christmas.

UN Assembly Throws Out Move To Seat Red China

May Adjust Amount Of Foreign Aid Given To Britain

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7. (AP)—Senator Bourke B. Hickenlooper (Rep. Iowa) said today Winston Churchill's admission that Britain can't keep up with her arms-building schedule may force a re-evaluation by Congress of the United States foreign-aid program. He told a reporter he is not greatly surprised by Churchill's statement to the House of Commons that his government has given up hope of fulfilling its three-year £4,700,000,000 arms program on schedule.

Churchill said Britain will fall short of spending the £1,250,000,000 budgeted for this year because of a lag in defence production.

As a Senate foreign relations committee member, Hickenlooper said he had been impressed on a recent trip to Europe by the financial difficulties faced by the Conservative government in England.

"Churchill's statement calls for a re-evaluation by Congress as to where the prime interests of US defence in Europe lie," he said.

Give Britain More

"Perhaps it would be wise for us to reallocate more money to Britain in the effort there, but I for one do not believe that we can go on spending for foreign assistance as we have been without seriously impairing our own economy."

Hickenlooper said he would advocate that the current $7,483,000,000 appropriation for all forms of foreign aid be cut next year. He said, however, that perhaps some money out of the lower total might be spent better in Britainn than elswhere.

Senator German Welker (Rep. Idaho) said he was surprised at Churchill's admission.

"This isn't going to help the feeling of the American people when we are called upon to send more men, money and materials to help Britain," he said.

Complaining that Britain had failed to co-operate fully with the US in the Korean fighting, Welker said "it's high time they get their industry and will-to-win in gear."

Reds Torture Missionaries To Get Money

HONG KONG, Dec. 7 (Reuters) Roman Catholic officials said today that Chinese Communists are demanding money from foreign missionaries under threat of punishment. They quoted a message from one bishop who said he had been given a black eye while being "entertained" by extortionists.

He was Msgr. Adolph Paschang, Bishop of Kongmoon, China, who was said by the Maryknoll Missionary Society in New York this week to have been tortured by the Communists.

Today's statement said foreign missionaries are being threatened with physical punishment or forced residence in China unless they pay over large sums of money.

It said Missouri-born Bishop Paschang was beaten and threatened with further reprisals unless he paid the Communists 400,000 Hong Kong dollars ($7,000) within a week.

Bishop Tortured

In a "tersely-written" note to Roman Catholic authorities here Dec. 1, the Bishop said: "Yesterday I sent you a telegram asking for 40,000 Hong Kong dollars at once. I was 'entertained' as a landlord and if I don't pay up in seven days I shall be 'entertained' again.

"I have a nice shiner and bruises. I feel my age all over. Such is life."

The statement said last July the Communists confiscated Bishop Paschang's residence, cathedral and seminary for native students "in lieu of exorbitant taxes which could not be met."

The statement added that the Communists allowed the Bishop to make an "unprecedented" telephone call to Hong Kong as well as to send a telegram to ask for money.

Other cases of Communist demands for large sums up to 1,000,000 Hong Kong dollars ($175,000) from missionaries have been reported from Chungking and Kweiyung provinces.

Two Soldiers Die In Smash-up

FOREST, Ont., Dec. 7—(CP)—Two Canadian army men stationed at Camp Ipperwash were killed Thursday night in a car-truck smashup at the junction of Highways 7 and 21, nine miles south of here.

Their names were withheld pending notification of next of kin.

Three Western Ontario residents suffered injuries in the crash.

They are: Jerome Meneray, of Lions Head, driver of the car in which the two soldiers were riding; Ernest Bowern, 33, of London, driver of the truck; and his wife, Anne, 31.

Meneray is in Sarnia General Hospital with lacerations and a possible fractured arm. Bowern is in Sarnia hospital with lacerations and possible back injuries.

Mrs. Bowern was treated at the hospital for minor injuries and discharged. Her four-year-old daughter was also released from hospital.

Schacht Says US Policy Lacks Responsibility

JAKARTA, Indonesia, Dec. 7 (Reuters).—A charge that United States foreign policy lacks responsibility was made today by Hjalmar Schacht, Hitler's one-time finance minister, in a 15,000-word report on Indonesia's economic condition.

Schacht, who juggled the Nazis' finances before and during the Second World War, has been here for three months on the invitation of the Indonesian government, which took over from the Netherlands after the war.

He said that the Americans and Dutch, with support of the United Nations, are responsible for the present political turmoil in Indonesia.

He said that a "prominent" American—whom he did not name—had said after a four-day stay in Jakarta that Indonesia is ripe for Communism or distatorship and will not be able to govern itself for generations.

Building Crumbles 1 Dead, Four Injured

VALLEYFIELD, Que., Dec. 7 (CP).—One man was feared dead and three others were severely injured today when a fire-gutted building being demolished crumbled, burying the four under debris.

Names of the victims were not known.

Three workers on the ground floor were removed shortly after the second floor collapsed and taken to hospital. Search was continuing for the fourth.

MP Declares "NATO" Slangy, Undignified

OTTAWA, Dec. 7 — (CP) — George Murray (L, Cariboo) told the Commons External Relations Committee Thursday night he thinks the term "NATO" is slangy and undignified.

"People should say the whole title—the North Atlantic Treaty Organization — and not just NATO," he said. "I object to going along with the Americans on these short abbreviations which lower dignity and become common slang."

AMICABLE RELATIONS — Prime Minister Winston Churchill and West German Chancellor Dr. Conrad Adenauer (right) chat during the latter's visit to London recently. Dr. Adenauer, first German chancellor to visit the British capital in more than 20 years, seeks to restore amicable relations between Germany and Britain.

Adenauer Pledges Germany Will Be Reliable Partner

LONDON, Dec. 7. (AP)—Konrad Adenauer said today Germany will prove herself "a reliable and unflinching partner of the free nations" in the pursuit of peace. Addressing the Foreign Press Association in London, the west German chancellor said the German people have found the path to a democratic commonwealth and are determined to join their fate to that of the western democracies.

Adenauer said that perhaps too much attention has been paid to activities of German veterans' organizations and Neo-Fascist groups.

"The federal republic," he said, "is determined to bring the entire weight of the law to bear upon all those who act contrary to the constitution. The events which took place between 1930 and 1933 will not be repeated."

Received By King

Earlier Adenauer went to Buckingham Palace and was received by the King. He was the first German leader to go there since Foreign Minister Joachim Von Ribbentrop shocked Britain by giving King George V the Nazi salute in the mid-30s.

Adenhauer ends his five-day visit Saturday. He has had political talks with Prime Minister Churchill and Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden, believed to have been aimed at mapping Anglo-German relations once the planned "peace contract" is signed.

Scattered left-wing demonstrations have followed Adenauer's sight-seeing trail. But in the main the British press and people have given him little attention.

Currency Skids

HONG KONG, Dec. 7 (AP).—Traders reported today Red China's currency has gone into a new skid in the last two weeks. Legally 20,000 yuan are worth $1. Traders said it has fallen to 40,000 to $1 on the black market.

Ford And Union Standing Firm

WINDSOR, Dec. 7 (CP).—The Ford Motor Company of Canada and its production employees' union have dug in today following the failure of Thursday's meeting to crack a deadlock which has paralyzed that automobile centre.

Thursday, Local 200, the United Automobile Workers of America (CIO-CCL), purchased several tents. These were set up this morning as picket headquarters. Union runners brought coffee and sandwiches to pickets marching sober-faced before eight Ford gates.

The company has installed telephone lines in suites and rooms of two downtown Windsor hotels so that partial business can be conducted. Some at least of the company's 1,200 office workers—who were sent home Monday when approximately 9,000 production employees quit their jobs—have been informed they will be paid while the plant is shut down.

A long, hard strike was indicated after a 2½-hour meeting Thursday of Ford officials and representatives of the United Automobile Workers (CIO-CCL) broke up without any statement from either side or a date set for another conference.

The strike started over the dismissal of 26 men who, the company said, incited and took part in a wildcat walkout last Thursday. The union has demanded the reinstatement of the men but the company has stood firm on its insistence that the firings be submitted to arbitration.

The company has held to the stand that wildcat walkouts and any other unauthorized work stoppages must end once and for all. It says there have been 34 such stoppages since May, 1950.

The wildcat walkout Thursday was in protest over the delay in receiving a conciliation board report on a contract and wage dispute that has dragged on since last May. The report has since been handed down but it has been pushed into the background by the strike.

No evidence has been forthcoming that the company is ready to work out a compromise on the dismissals. Observers here feel that the company will fight the issue even if the plant should be tied up for some time.

Assign Staff To Help People Get Pensions

TORONTO, Dec. 7 — (CP) — Defence Minister W. A. Goodfellow today assigned the full field staff of the Ontario Department of Welfare to assist persons who cannot prove their age to qualify for the Dominion old age pension.

Making the announcement that the provincial staff would be at the disposal of those seeking pensions, Mr Goodfellow said that he was disturbed with the number of persons who were unable to satisfy the Dominion authorities because they lacked proof of age.

10 Missing On Plane In S. France

US Cargo Aircraft Only 16 Minutes From Destination

MARSEILLE, France, Dec. 7. (AP) — A United States Air Force cargo plane with 10 persons aboard disappeared on Thursday night after radoing in only 40 miles—16 minutes—from its destination here.

The plane, a twin-engined C-47, was believed down in the mountainous terrain along the French Riviera, east of here, or perhaps in the Mediterranean. It was coming in from the US air field at Tripoli.

A C-47 normally carries a crew of four, and the other six aboard were presumed to be passengers. The plane was attached to the US third air force base at Bentwaters Field, England.

The French army sent ground patrols fanning into the mountains while search planes, hampered by fog, took to the air.

Ships from the French and US navies steamed into the area to comb the Mediterranean waters. Italian naval and airplane rescue centres also were warned to stand by.

Due To Land Shortly

Air force authorities said the plane last reported by radio at 7:41 pm (1:41 pm EST) Thursday. It was due to land at Marignane field near here 16 minutes later.

Airport officials said the plane was only 40 miles away, flying at 3,000 feet, when it gave its last position.

Two other US Air Force transports have been downed in Europe in the last month.

A C-47 bound from Erding, Germany, to Belgrade was forced down in Hungary Nov. 19 by Soviet fighter planes. The plane and its four crew members still are held by the Hungarians.

A C-82 flying boxcar crashed and burned in the mountains of southern France Nov. 13. All 36 servicemen aboard were killed.

Navy Evacuating 12,000 Refugees

MANILA, Dec. 7. (AP)—Philippines naval patrol vessels today began evacuating 12,000 refugees from Camiguin island and the fury of Hibok Hibok's erupting volcano.

The known dead from Tuesday's eruption rose to 266. Officials estimate another 500 are buried under lava and ashes.

The volcano blew a continuous rain of hot ashes over the northern end of the island, sending more frightened residents fleeing to the southeastern coast.

The naval evacuation began at the overcrowded southeast coastal town of Mahinog. Refugees are being taken to nearby Mindanao island in the central Philippines.

Other villagers were taken off the northwest coast after the volcano's molten lava stream reached the coast. It bubbled into the water spouting explosive geysers.

Police Refuse Give Up Arms

ISMAILIA, Egypt, Dec. 7 — (Reuters) — Gen. Sir George Erskine, commander of British troops in the Suez Canal zone, said today Egyptian police in the area have refused to give up their arms.

He told a press conference negotiations are continuing in an attempt to reach some agreement which would prevent clashes like those last Monday and Tuesday which cost 11 British and about 20 Egyptian lives.

Erskine said British troops are driving a road to the Suez water filtration plant, now almost isolated from the remainder of the British garrison.

Other roads and bridges are being built to help the Britons avoid trouble spots in their daily operations.

Iraq Parliament Meetings Suspended For Month By King Till Oil Deal Settled

CAIRO, Dec. 7—(AP)—The Cairo press reported today that meetings of Iraqu's parliament have been suspended for a month by Royal decree.

Iraq's government recently negotiated a new oil-royalties agreement with the British-dominated Iraq Petroleum Company.

American firms own about a one-fourth interest in the company.

The British-owned Arab News Agency said today in a dispatch from Baghdad that parliament had been suspended "to facilitate the government's task in taking preliminary steps necessary to the approval of the new oil agreements."

The suspension, the agency continued, would allegedly facilitate work in connection with the government's budget.

The new oil agreement reportedly gives Iraq terms equal to the 50-50 profit split agreed upon last summer by the Arabian-American Oil Company and Saudi Arabia.

Some opposition elements, however, insist that Iraq should follow the footsteps of neighboring Iran and nationalize Iraq's oil.

Political opponents of Premier Nuri also demand abrogation of Iraq's treaty with Britain, which provides for British air bases in the country.

Holding Only Half 10,000 Missing Americans Reds Hint In Korean Talks

MUNSAN, Korea, Dec. 7. (AP)—Communists hinted at Panmunjom today that the Reds hold no more than half of the 10,000 Americans listed as missing in Korea. The report came from a Chinese correspondent outside the truce tent where Allied negotiators, in a move observers said is aimed at getting a truce quickly, agreed to discuss withdrawal of foreign troops before an armistice is signed. But they won't talk about it until the proper time.

Chu Chi-ping, a Communist Chinese correspondent, said he knows of no war in which more than half of the soldiers reported missing were prisoners of war.

"I do not see why the Korean war would be different from other wars in this respect," Chu said.

Allied correspondents did not construe his statements as confirming the recent report by Col. James H. Manley that the Reds have slaughtered approximately 5,500 US prisoners.

Have Dates Ready

The Communist reporter reiterated that the Red Command has compiled data on Allied prisoners and will be ready with it when negotiations take up the question of prisoner exchange.

Other Red correspondents said all Allied prisoners of war are in North Korean camps and none have been taken to China.

They said all big camps are near the Manchurian border and that all prisoners have been issued warm winter clothing.

Maj.-Gen. Henry I. Hodes, United Nations negotiator, told Communist delegates Friday the Allies will talk about withdrawing troops from Korea after negotiators see eye to eye on enforcing an armistice and exchanging prisoners of war.

Sudden Reversal

The sudden reversal of Allied policy came as sub-committeemen wrangled endlessly over policing a truce.

One of the key roadblocks was Allied insistence on rotating troops and replacing equipment and ammunition. The delegates agreement on inspection behind the lines and on Communist insistence on building airfields during an armistice.

Until Friday the UN Command had refused even to discuss plans for pulling troops out of Korea until an armistice is signed.

There was no immediate reaction from members of the Communist sub-committee trying to negotiate a settlement of agenda item three—supervision of the truce. The delegates meet again at 11 am Saturday (9 pm EST Friday).

Hodes emphasized that the UN could not agree to the withdrawal of troops during early stages of an armistice.

Kitchener Asks No Immigrants

KITCHENER, Dec. 7 (CP)—Mayor S. F. Leavine Thursday night said at a meeting of Kitchener family relief board that Immigration Minister Harris has been asked to stop the influx of immigrants to Kitchener.

Mayor Leavine said the request was made by the service committee of the Kitchener-Waterloo Council of Friendship, a group which assists immigrants.

The meeting was told that J. Ross Goodall, director of House of Friendship Mission, has become so concerned about the flow of immigrants to the city and the growing unemployment problem that he may go to Ottawa to consult the immigration department.

Last night the Toronto District Labor Council (AFL-TLC) urged the Trades and Labor Council of Canada to ask the federal government for more planning in its immigration policy. A resolution said a "wide open" immigration policy is flooding Canada with thousands of immigrants for whom there are no jobs.

Has Heart Attack

TEL AVIV, Dec. 7 (Reuters).—President Chaim Weizmann of Israel suffered a heart attack during the night but his condition today is "somewhat improved," an official medical bulletin announced. The 77-year-old president is ill with pneumonia.

Tries To Get Gov't Shelve Changes In Annuities Act

OTTAWA, Dec. 7 (CP)—Mrs. Ellen Fairclough (PC—Hamilton West) served notice today she will attempt to have the government shelve its proposed amendments to the annuities act until the 1950 session.

She gave the notice while the industrial relations committee continued study of the proposed amendments. They would increase the maximum amount of annuity to $2,400 from $1,200 a year and introduce a cash-surrender privilege into annuity contracts.

Mrs. Fairclough said she feels the committee has not heard all those who want to be heard.

Fred Macdonald (L—Edmonton East), chairman of the committee, said the committee has not refused anyone who asked to be heard.

P. E. Cote (L—Verdun-Lasalle), parliamentary assistant to Labor Minister Gregg, said the legislation was introduced in the Commons Nov. 8 and was given publicity then as well as when it advanced through various stages.

Mrs. Fairclough spoke after David Croll (L—Toronto Spadina) placed on the record a memorandum from the trust companies of Ontario and Quebec. They asked that annuities be sold only at "realistic" rates. The cash-surrender privilege should apply only in cases where the annuitant is permanently disabled, moves from Canada, or, in the case of a woman, gets married.

Mrs. Fairclough was defeated in a move to delete from the legislation a clause providing for the cash-surrender privilege

In an effort to reach a compromise, Mr. Cote suggested that an element of restriction be placed in the clause so that an annuitant could not withdraw more than a maximum amount—he suggested $500.

W. J. Carroll (L—Inverness-Richmond) and Clarie Gillis (CCF—Cape Breton South) said they were opposed to any such restriction.

J. F. Pouliot (L—Temiscouata) said it was a question of whether a man should be free to dispose of his own money, or whether, for his own security, he should be protected from cashing in his annuity. The amount of $500 could be too much or too little, depending on the case.

Soviet Has Bad Day, 2 Rejections

Hold Out Little Hope Disarmament Compromise Reached

PARIS, Dec. 7. (CP)—The United Nations' general assembly today slapped down a new Soviet-bloc attempt to seat Communist China and oust the Nationalists.

Meeting in plenary session, the 60-country group also:

1. Urged the Security Council, by vote of 54 to 5, to approve Italy's application for UN membership. It was considered unlikely the move would lead to Italy's admission. Russia has vetoed Italy three times in the Security Council and cast a negative vote today, forecasting a fourth veto. Italy now participates in the work of the UN trusteeship council, without a vote, in the administration of the territory of Somaliland, but not in other UN functions.

2. Decided to disband its special on-the-spot commission which has been keeping an eye on the explosive Balkan situation and give the job to a stand-by group which will sit at UN headquarters in New York.

3. Rejected (38 to 5 with 6 abstentions) a Soviet resolution calling for a halt to "American interference" in Greek affairs. The assembly accepted (48 to 5 with one abstention) the recommendations of a political committee report dealing with "threats to the political independence and territorial integrity of Greece."

Soviet Denunciation

The vote on the Chinese issue came on a Byelo (White) Russian resolution denouncing a report from the UN credentials committee declaring the Nationalists represent China legally. The Soviet move was defeated 39 to 7 with four abstentions.

Meanwhile the Big Four were preparing their final disarmament positions for outline at a secret meeting they have scheduled for late today.

There was little optimism that Foreign Minister Andrei Y. Vishinsky of Russia, United States Ambassador Philip C. Jessup, the British Minister of State, Selwyn Lloyd, and French Delegate Jules Moch would come to any agreement. The general expectation was that they would report next Monday that they have been unable to compromise rival disarmament plans.

The assembly already had voted Nov. 13 not to discuss the Chinese representation issue at this session. But acting-president Sir Gladwyn Jebb of Britain allowed

Plane Missing With 18 Aboard

HAMILTON, Bermuda, Dec. 7 (CP)—A United States Flying Fortress is overdue with 18 aboard on a hop from the Azores to the nearby Kindley field air force base, it was announced today.

The B-29 had been scheduled to arrive at 10 am AST and when it did not arrive two planes took off to search. Others were alerted and will join the hunt shortly.

The plane left the Azores at 11:25 pm AST Thursday night and had fuel for 15 hours. Air force officials said there had been no radio contact from here with the missing craft.

Boy 11 Wins $2,000 Betting On Horses

DETROIT, Dec. 7 (AP).—Duane Hunter, 11, who won more than $2,000 betting on horses, is to have his winnings converted to more stable assets — defence bonds.

Probate Judge William J. Cody ordered that disposition of the $2,805 Duane won at the Detroit race track with his father following hearing Thursday on a petition from the boy's mother, Mrs. Mona Belle Hunter, that she be named guardian of the money.

In the course of testimony, dark-haired Duane gave some sage advice on his system. He told the judge:

"On days you lose you don't bet much."

Japs Credit Midget Subs With Pearl Harbor Success

By JAMES BACON.

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 7 — (AP) —A captured Japanese book, distributed privately to high Japanese officials in 1942, credits five midget submarines with much of the Pearl Harbor destruction.

Most American accounts of the disaster list the subs' role as minor compared with that of the attacking air raiders.

Nine officers manned the five subs. They are revered as "herogods" in the book, much of which quotes Capt. Hideo Hiraide, chief of the navy press section of Imperial Japanese Headquarters. The book leaves two questions unanswered—how big the subs were and whether each carried more than one torpedo.

Also there is no explanation of why it was printed in English; since its circulation was limited and it apparently was never used for propaganda purposes.

The book is owned by Roland A. Martone of South Pasadena, Calif., who was among the first American troops to land in Japan in the late summer of 1945.

Martone seized the book and later learned its history.

Hiraide reconstructed the midget sub raid in these words:

"The enemy had naturally taken elaborate precautionary measures to guard Pearl Harbor .... An anti-submarine network was spread across the entrance of the harbor, while numberless mines were planted.

"The members of the special attack flotilla .... steered their craft past all these barriers with consummate skill and without mishap ....

"Some of the submarines came close to the big battleships and delivered telling surprise attacks, while others discharged their torpedoes at other capital ships, tearing large rents in their sides."

Hiraide relates how the subs submerged, then surfaced for a second moonlight attack. A detailed announcement by Imperial Headquarters is quoted:

"At 9:01 pm, Hawaii time, of December 7, just two minutes after the moon rose, a tremendous explosion occurred in Pearl Harbor .... The enemy anti-aircraft batteries went into action, apparently mistaking the raid of the special attack flotilla for that of the Japanese air force."

A final wireless message was received from one of the subs at 10.41 pm, which said "attacks successful."

Maritimes Worried Seaway Means Blow At Economy

OTTAWA, Dec. 7. (CP)—The Federal Government's St. Lawrence seaway legislation ran into cautio is Commons consideration Thursday, with Opposition Maritime members suggesting it be expanded as a means of developing other parts of the country. That proposal originally came from Clarie Gillis (CCF, Cape Breton South), who urged that the new Seaway Authority, which will construct and operate the waterway, be empowered to see that it doesn't harm other sections of the country.

The suggestion was picked up and enlarged by other CCF and Progressive Conservative members from the Maritimes and elsewhere. Few indicated outright opposition to the seaway, though many qualified their approval.

Other projects which it was suggested the new government agency might look into were the Passamaquoddy power development in New Brunswick, the harnessing of power in New Brunswick's Saint John river, the Chignecto canal to link the Gulf of St. Lawrence and the Bay of Fundy and Saskatchewan's big irrigation project.

Good For All Canada

Answering opposition arguments as the legislation was debated in resolution stage, Transport Minister Chevrier said long economic studies had indicated the seaway would be good for all parts of Canada. Nor would it harm the Maritimes coal industry or its steel industry.

Mr. Gillis said he is not unalterably opposed to the project, though he conceded that he was expressing "justifiable fear" as to it. The Maritimes had legitimate grievances against the possible effects of the seaway on their economy.

With its great possibilities, he hopes the new government agency would be empowered to look into the development of power possibilities elsewhere including the Passamaquoddy project in New Brunswick and the development of power on the Saint John river in that province.

Certain Conditions

George Nowlan (PC-Annapolis-Kings), National Progressive Conservative president, suggested the Maritimes would accept the seaway only as part of a general program for the development of resources in all parts of the country.

Julian Ferguson (PC-Simcoe North), endorsing the hydro phases of the project, said he also would approve the seaway if the government would undertake to go ahead with the development of projects for the Maritimes and other regions.

J. W. Noseworthy (CCF-York South) suggested some sort of super-agency should be set up with power over a wide range of projects because of the effect the seaway would have upon Canada's entire eastern transportation system.

John Dicky (L-Halifax), favoring the project, said protection would have to be arranged for industries such as coastal shipbuilding and expressed his confidence the government was aware of the need for decentralization of industry.

A. J. Brooks (PC-Royal) suggested subsidies would have to be paid the railways for traffic lost to the seaway. That cost, along with others, might make the seaway unprofitable.

Two Japanese Insist Attack Surprise

By DON HUTH.

TOKYO, Dec. 7 — (AP). — Two Japanese who 10 years ago faked peace in Washington while their navy churned toward Pearl Harbor still insist they knew nothing of the impending attack.

They are Kichisaburo Nomura, retired admiral whom the then Secretary of State Cordell Hull tongue-lashed on that December 7, and special envoy Saburo Kurushu.

Nomura was ambassador in Washington. Kurusu was sent at the last minute with Japan's reply for maintaining peace while his country's militarists kindled the flames of war.

Purged now and living quietly in Tokyo, both men expressed the hope that the people of the United States now understand the position into which they were thrust.

"We never knew the attack was coming," said the ailing 65-year-old Kurusu.

"The situation was very critical. War was a possibility. But we saw a chance of maintaining peace.

"We tried everything possible, but our efforts came too late."

Robust and jovial Nomura — who will celebrate his 74th birthday December 16—said:

Not Informed.

"They never told us the attack on Pearl Harbor was coming while our discussions were going on in Washington."

Kurusu lives modestly with his American wife in a small, unpretentious home, built on the site where his former home was burned out during the war.

Two strokes within the last four years partially paralyzed his left side. Kurusu said his time is spent in reading and listening to Japanese and English language news broadcasts.

Nomura lives on the outskirts of Tokyo. He keeps busy reading and writing articles for Japanese publications.

"No political articles, of course," Nomura adds, smiling. "As a purged official, I am one of the untouchables."

Peterborough Utilities Commission Gas Department

Elsewhere in this issue will be found an advertisement of special rates for the use of gas for hot water heating, and space or building heating for domestic and commercial consumers.

The Utilities Commission is taking this step in order to furnish an additional service to increase the use of gas.

In order to qualify for the special rate for water heating, the consumer must install a fully automatic gas water heater, and use this for all hot water consumed on the premises.

The same thing applies to the space heating rate. The consumer must install a gas heater or furnace, and use it for the principal source of heat in the building or office.

It is acknowledged that the use of gas for these purposes is not cheap, but the convenience and cleanliness of gas fuel will be attractive to a certain portion of the consumer.

It is intended to organize a campaign for the use of gas under these rates, and solicit the co-operation of all manufacturers and sellers of gas appliances. Plumbers who will install these appliances will also be included.

The new rates are now available, and the staff of the Utilities Commission will be glad to discuss them with prospective consumers.

Suspend Sentence For 3 Cage Stars

NEW YORK, Dec. 7 (AP) — Judge Saul S. Steft today gave suspended sentences to three former Bradley University basketball stars involved in a bribery scandal and assailed David Owen, Bradley president, whom he said gave "university sanction to their moral debasement."

The former players were Gene Melchiorre, George Chianakis and William Mann.

They had pleaded guilty Oct. 24 to a charge of conspiracy to fix a March 19, 1949 game with Bowling Green in Madison Square Garden. They faced a maximum sentence of three years in prison.

The three were among 31 former players from seven schools involved in point-fixing scandals. Of the others, five have been sentenced to jail and nine others have received suspended sentences.

Dollar Down

MONTREAL, Dec. 7 — (CP) — The American dollar today opened at 2 11/16 per cent premium to the Canadian dollar, down 15/32 from Thursday's close. That is, it took $1.02 11/16 Canadian to buy $1 American.

The pound sterling was $2.87½, down 1 5/16 from Thursday.

Will Not Sell Radio Licences Door-To-Door

OTTAWA, Dec. 7. (CP)—The Federal Transport Department plans to discontinue April 1 next the house-to-house sale of licences for radios.

G. C. W. Browne, controller of telecommunications in the Transport Department, said on Thursday that the practice will be discontinued because of the difficulty to obtain door-to-door canvassers to sell the $2.50 annual licences on a commission basis.

Mr. Browne made his statements in testimony before the radio committee of the Commons. The committee interrupted questioning of CBC officials to hear the evidence of Transport Department officials.

Starting with the next fiscal year, said Mr. Browne, people must go to post offices, radio dealers, banks or other establishment to purchase licences. One licence covers all radios in one house, but a separate licence is required for radios in motor cars.

Hire 50 Men

On discontinuing the house-to-house sale, the Transport Department will hire 50 men who will devote their full time to checking on licences and launching prosecutions against non-licence holders. Forty-two of the men will work in the field and eight will work at the central licence office in Ottawa, checking records.

Mr. Browne said that an estimated $100,000 a year will be saved in commissions when the door-to-door sales are discontinued. The amount will about cover the salaries of the additional employees to be hired by the department.

During the hearing, Donald Fleming (PC, Toronto-Eglinton) and George Murray (L, Cariboo) suggested that the annual fee should be abolished. The fee is collected by the Transport Department and turned over to the CBC. The department pays the collection costs.

Mr. Browne said that in previous years radio committees had urged that something be done to make the collection of radio licences more effective. The department had given the matter serious consideration.

Holdup Man Surrenders

TORONTO, Dec. 7 (CP)—Joseph Kelly, 31-year-old East York laborer, today surrendered as the second man sought in Tuesday's abortive drug store holdup in which one bandit was killed and a police constable wounded.

Kelly walked into a Toronto police station at noon today, accompanied by his solicitor who was Kelly's officer in the Second World War.

Kelly told police that he gave himself up after living two days "like a nightmare" following the shooting.

Police charged him with two armed holdups in Toronto and one in York township.

Kelly denied he was armed the night of the holdup, or that he had ever carried a gun.

Stock Prices Hold Firmly To Gains

TORONTO, Dec. 7 (CP)—Early afternoon stock market prices today held firmly to morning gains.

Utilities, agricultures, constructions, banks and textiles posted a wide list of fractional advances. Liquors dipped sharply.

Mid-Continent and Kelore were standouts with turnovers ranging to more than 450,000 shares.

Base metals strengthened steadily. Market leaders—Consolidated Smelters, International Nickel, Quemont and United Keno Hill—posted advances to about $2. Barvue, Chromium, Pend Orielle, New Calumet and Steep Rock climbed strongly.

Western oils pushed upward. Anglo-Canadian, Gridoil, Home Oil, Okalta, Royalite and Trans Empire showed gains to about 25 cents. National Petroleum and Vulcan eased.

Senior golds were mixed. Kerr Addison and Malartic strengthened while Dome weakened. Secondary issues made little headway.

Hear Arguments In Freight Rate Application

OTTAWA, Dec. 7 (CP).—M. A. MacPherson Saskatchewan freight rate counsel, said today it is "incongruous" for the Canadian Pacific Railway to ask the freight shipper to pay its "national defence" tax surcharge when its stock is at a 20-year high.

He was opposing, before the Board of Transport Commissioners, the railway's application for a 10-per-cent general increase in freight rates.

In cross-examination of S. J. W. Liddy, CPR assistant comptroller, the Saskatchewan counsel took exception to the fact that about one-third of the requested increase is meant to cover about $7,000,000 which the CPR would have to pay under the "defence surcharge" tax of the last federal budget.

He observed that CPR common stock today hit 37¾ compared with par 25, and highest figure since the late twenties.

Mr. Liddy said it was "the facts of life" that railway taxes are met by revenue from shippers.

Ask Special Treatment

The Board today also heard representations from the Alberta Dairymen's Association asking that dairy products be given special treatment in any increase that might be granted by the Board in this case.

A brief read by E. A. Johnstone of Red Deer suggested there should be no further increases on dairy products. If any general increase were granted, it should be modified to lessen the impact on these commodities.

Mr. Johnstone noted that the railways are proposing that some primary commodities such as livestock and apples be excepted from the full effect of rate increases.

These were in competition with dairy products, which should be treated the same way. So was margarine, whose chief ingredient entered the country under low water transport rates.

Mr. Justice J. D. Kearney indicated to the witness the Board would not have time to deal with all the applications for rate exceptions in this case, as it wants to bring in an early decision.

He suggested the dairymen take up their difficulties with the railways and then, if they did not get satisfaction, return to the board with a specific application for relief.

Mrs. Mansell Finney Bethany WA President

BETHANY, Dec. 7 (ENS). — The December meeting of the Women's Association of the United church was held at the home of Mrs. William Jordan and Mrs. Herb. Fallis with 20 members in attendance and Mrs. A. H. Monk presiding. The following officers for 1952 were elected: president, Mrs. Mansell Finney; first vice-president, Mrs. Clarence Page; second vice-president, Mrs. Harvey Fallis; secretary, Mrs. Walter Rowland; treasurer, Mrs. Wellington Fallis; pianists, Mrs. O. Thorndyke and Mrs. R. Carr; citizenship and temperance convener, Mrs. Clarence Rowan; representatives to parsonage board, Mrs. T. J. Jackson, Mrs. A. Monk and Mrs. W. Rowland.

A vote of thanks to the retiring president, Mrs. Monk, and the secretary, Mrs. R. Carr, was tendered by Mrs. M. Finney. The Rev. James Hampson expressed his thanks to the members of the association for their help in the work of the church during the past year. The treasurer, Mrs. W. Fallis, reported a bank balance of $56.78. Group funds turned in at the meeting totalled $145.75 and a collection received of $5.70 brought the total amount on hand to $208.23.

Mrs. H. Sanderson reported $18.97 having been spent in cards, fruit and flowers to the sick and bereaved.

The sum of $40 was voted to be given to the Missionary and Maintenance fund of the church.

The scripture lesson, the Christmas story from Matthew's gospel was read by Mrs. Mansell Finney. Mrs. Lloyd Kennedy gave the topic, "God's Gift to Man."

Christmas carols were sung throughout the meeting. Mrs. A. Monk gave a reading "Jesus Mission to Mankind." Mrs. Harvey Fallis and Mrs. Wellington Fallis sang "God's Gift to the World." Mrs. Hampson told a Christmas story, "The Legend of the Well of the Star at Bethlehem." The program was in charge of Mrs. T. Malcomson, leader of Group Five.

The meeting was closed with prayer by Mr. Hampson and a social hour followed during which the hostesses assisted by Mrs. T. E. Shea, Mrs. H. Fallis and Mrs. T. Malcomson served lunch.

Mrs. R. Carr expressed the thanks of the members to Mrs. Fallis and Mrs. Jordan for the use of their home.

MP's Bog Down On Loss-Leader Selling Plan

OTTAWA, Dec. 7 — (CP) — A resolution by David Croll (L, Toronto Spadina) to make loss-leader selling illegal bogged down in parliamentary committee study today when members failed to agree on a specific definition of what constituted predatory price-cutting.

The committee, studying the possibility of price wars as a side issue to the government's proposal to make resale price maintenance illegal, closed off discussions to the press and public after committee members had aired their views on loss leaders.

Mr. Croll said he was aware that his proposal had certain weaknesses but presented it in order that something better may be drafted.

Under his proposal, a merchant, with some exceptions, would not be able to sell any commodity at a price less than five per cent above cost.

Agree With Principle

Members agreed with the principle of the proposal—that something had to be done to prevent cut-throat competition in the event that the government does ban resale price maintenance.

But they were not in agreement that Mr. Croll's proposal would be either workable or enforceable.

Justice Minister Garson told the committee he believed any action proposed by the committee against loss leaders would be constitutional.

Youth Charged With Break-ins

ORILLIA, Dec. 7 (CP)—Arthur Holmes, 23, Demorestville, north of Belleville, Thursday was charged with a number of break-ins two years ago, at Moon's Point near here.

Holmes was recognized and charged with the 1949 break-ins when he was brought to provincial police offices here for questioning on a recent theft.

Australian Birthday

CANBERRA (Reuters)—Commonwealth officials are planning a real Australian birthday for Princess Elizabeth during her tour down under. She will be 26 on April 21 and a special present "something like kangaroo-skin-rugs, opossum rugs, or anything typically Australian" is planned.

Mrs. R. Matchett Heads WMS At Millbrook

MILLBROOK, Dec. 7. (ENS)—Mrs. Wesley Williamson was hostess for the Christmas meeting of St. Andrew's United Church WMS when the election of officers for 1952 took place on Wednesday.

There are two honorary presidents, Mrs. H. E. Smith and Mrs. John George and an honorary treasurer, Miss Mary Ellen Hetherington. The Rev. A. M. Butler installed the following officers: president, Mrs. Richard Matchett; 1st vice-president, Mrs. A. M. Butler, 2nd vice-president, Mrs. W. E. Ball; treasurer, Mrs. H. R. Edmunds, recording secretary, Mrs. Fred Smith; assistant recording secretary, Mrs. David Lunn; corresponding and press secretary, Miss Estella Hetherington; secretary of Christian stewardship, Mrs. David Lunn; community friendship and missionary monthly secretary, Mrs. John Ridge; literature secretary, Miss Estella Hetherington; supply secretary, Miss Augusta Thornton and Mrs. J. Ridge; mite-box secretary, Mrs. Alfred Coulter; Mission Band leaders, Mrs. Arnold Fallis and Mrs. Bert Gardiner; CGIT leaders, Mrs. A. M. Butler and Mrs. Wm. Buckham; Circle leaders, Mrs. M. E. Hobbs, president, and Miss Jean Burnham, 1st vice-president.

The WMS group leaders are, for A Group, Mrs. Irwin Hatherly; B Group, Mrs. John Ridge; C Group, Miss M. Finnemore and Mrs. Wilfred Fallis; E Group, yet to be chosen by group; F Group, Miss Mary Widdis.

The worship service was conducted by Mrs. R. Matchett, followed by a carol service. As carols were sung from various lands a candle was lighted while the words "I light the candle of goodwill and friendship" for that particular nationality were repeated. Those included were Jewish, Canadian Indian, French Canadian, those whose ancestors had come to Canada from Europe, Africa and Asia, those who themselves had come from war-devastated lands, the Dutch, Polish, Latvians and many others. Finally the candle of universal Christian love was lighted.

Mrs. Arnold Fallis gave the Mission Band report.

The treasurer, Mrs. H. R. Edmonds reported that the finances of all four missionary groups of the church were in an encouraging state, and that by the end of the year the allocation would be reached, it was expected.

Chinese Drive UN Troops From Outpost

Rain, Snow Curb US Air Victories, Rest of Front Quiet

SEOUL, Korea, Dec. 7. (AP) —Communist troops attacking through a chill early-morning rain today knocked Allied infantrymen out of one central-front outpost. Storm clouds meantime threatened to end the record-breaking 11-day series of United States jet victories over northwest Korea.

The Reds launched five small probing attacks shortly after midnight southwest of Kumsong on the centre of the 145-mile front. United Nations outposts beat back four of the stabs.

The Fifth Allied Unit withdrew from its advance position in the face of the attack.

Otherwise, the US Eighth Army's evening communique said the front was quiet.

Low-hanging rain and snow clouds which darkened MIG Alley, scene of daily US jet victories, broke loose when they hit the front.

Chill rains struck the west. The slopes of Allied-held Little Gibraltar and other shell-torn hills turned to slippery mud.

Snow On Some Areas

Snow blanketed the foxholes of UN infantrymen perched on the towering ridges dominating the eastern front.

Deep behind Allied lines, the South Korean army tightened its hold on the 6,000-front Chiri Mountains, but did not find the 1,500 guerrillas it had expected to trap.

South Korean generals said a new sweep of valleys and lesser peaks might turn up more fugitives.

The South Korean government said the clean-up drive, which began Sunday, had resulted in 403 guerrillas killed, 745 captured and 21 surrendered.

Fifth Air Force jet pilots Thursday ran up their longest sustained run of air battles with this record claim: 33 Communist planes destroyed, two probably destroyed and 32 damaged. This included the following claimed total of MIG-15s, the Russian-type fighter jet: 22 destroyed, two probably destroyed and 29 damaged. The Fifth Air Force reported six Allied planes were shot down.

McCallum Demands Board Get Authority

TORONTO, Dec. 7 (CP) — Mayor Hiram McCallum, consumer representative on the Ontario Milk Control Board, called today for revision of legislation which gives the board its authority.

He described it as a "milk control board with no control."

Mayor McCallum said the fixing of milk prices actually is in the hands of producers and distributors.

After Dec. 15, price of milk in Toronto will be increased one cent to 22 cents delivered to homes, 21 cents in stores.

Mayor McCallum said the price adjustment occurred because producers and distributors reached agreement on prices.

The board under its powers could only accept this agreement or send it back for further negotiation.

Dirty Work Reported In British Racing

By ALAN HARVEY.

LONDON, Dec. 7 — (CP) — Two money offers for information on horse doping showed plainly today that British racing has its unsavory side.

Months of gossip about alleged dirty work during the 1951 flat-racing season may come into the open following what one newspaper describes as the "greatest doping sensation in recent turf history."

This was the announcement on Thursday night by Lord Rosebery, perhaps the best-known man in British racing, that he has offered £1,000 for information leading to the arrest of persons who doped one of his horses. He did not name the horse.

The Daily Express, which earlier had promised to bare some secrets about racing scandals during the 1951 season, promptly matched Lord Rosberry's offer with a £1,000 reward for information leading to conviction of any offenders.

Lord Rosbery was third in the list of winning owners this year. Great horses which have raced under his colors include Blue Peter, winner of the 1939 Epson Derby, and Ocean Swell, winner in 1944.

In his letter offering the reward, Lord Rosebery noted a great deal had been written about the doping of racehorses.

"I was dissatisfied with the running of one of my horses this season and instructed a veterinary surgeon to examine it . . " said Lord Rosebery. "I now find the animal had received a dope causing it to be stopped."

Knowledgeable horsemen believe the horse in question is the brilliant two-year-old Bob Major, which started at the prohibitive odds of 1 to 8 in a race at Goodwood last July, but was beaten by Gay Time.

Before Lord Rosebery's announcement, racing correspondent Clive Graham of The Daily Express hinted that all was not well on the turf this season. Even the Times correspondent referred drily to the fact that the number of short-priced horses which were beaten in small fields was considerably greater last year than usual.

The Daily Graphic described Lord Rosebery's letter as unveiling the greatest sensation in recent turf history.

Cars Smash Head-on On Brow Of Hill

COBOURG, Dec. 7 — (ENS)— Melville Hariot of Plainville is in Cobourg hospital with possible fractured skull and badly cut face received in an accident Thursday night on the outskirts of the town when the car in which he was riding, driven by Charles Brisbin, Plainville, was in collision with one driven by Ross McKinley also of Plainville.

The head on collision occurred on the brow of the hill, McKinley who didn't go to the hospital received six broken ribs and broken nose. Brisbin recevied cuts on his lip. Constable C. Cunningham investigated.

Mrs. D. Greenwood Dies In Oshawa

The funeral was held in Oshawa on Thursday of Mrs. David Greenwood, a resident of Peterborough for many years. Mrs. Greenwood died on Tuesday in her 56th year.

Born in Yorkshire, England, Mrs. Greenwood came to Canada 31 years ago and up until 1945 she resided in Peterborough. Predeceased by her husband in 1942, she leaves a daughter, Mrs. Glen Flintoff (Marjorie) of Oshawa.

Burial was in Oshawa Union cemetery.

THE STEEL SKELETON of the new Kenner Collegiate is going up on Monaghan Rd. at Gillespie St. to accommodate some 550 students when it opens some time early in the fall of 1952. The two-storey building will contain 17 class rooms, science rooms, gymnasium, etc.—(Examiner Staff Photo).

Doctor Resigns Post On High School Board

MILLBROOK, Dec. 7 (ENS)— Dr. M. E. Hobbs, village councillor, has stepped down from the position of Millbrook council representative on the Durham county high school board.

In a letter to council, he explained he found it impossible to be in regular attendance. On motion by councillors Coulter and Larmer, a letter was ordered sent to Dr. Hobbs, expressing the appreciation of council for his work.

Major items in the $6,708.09 in acounts ordered paid were the 1951 county levy of $3,299.35, and payments of more than $500 each to Durham school board, Millbrook public school and for school debenture No. 2.

Council set aside Boxing Day as a holiday in the village.

Extra Mounties Balk Smuggling

OTTAWA, Dec. 7 —(CP)—The RCMP has increased patrols at border points in an effort to reduce smuggling of American cigarettes into Canada, Revenue Minister McCann said today.

He was replying to John Diefenbaker (PC, Lake Centre) who also asked if a reduction in the taxes on cigarettes is contemplated.

Dr. McCann said the taxes were a matter for the Finance Department.

Severe penalties were provided for smuggling, he said, and one would naturally expect them to serve as a deterrent to law breakers.

In a return tabled in the Commons, Dr. McCann said that 8,494,963 American cigarettes were seized between April 5 and Nov. 30. Prosecutions totalled 306 with 301 convictions.

Grain Growers To Receive Aid

OTTAWA, Dec. 7 — (CP) — Prime Minister St. Laurent indicated to the Commons today the government is going to help distressed Western grain growers but that the form of assistance has not been decided finally.

He said the government is awaiting the return from the West of Trade Minister Howe, expected tomorrow, and it should be possible in the next two or three days to reach a decision on whether legislation will be needed.

SASKATOON, Dec. 6—(CP)— Trade Minister Howe said today that federal government credits to Western farmers will be limited to advances to those who have farm-stored grain and financial assistance for those with unthreshed grain.

Plan To Build Jet Parts At St. Catharines

ST. CATHARINES, Dec. 7 (CP). —Thompson Products Ltd. of St. Catharines will build here a $4,000,000 plant for the manufacture of operating parts for jet aircraft engines.

The company has a contract with the United States Air Force and will deliver parts to American and Canadian firms; including parts for a British-designed jet engine which will be used by the US Air Force. Experiments have been conducted for some months in St. Catharines in conjunction with A. V. Roe (Canada) Ltd. of Malton.

The company's announcement, made by George A. Stauffer, president and general manager, states that joint co-operation of the Canadian and US Governments will provide it with high priorities essential to establish production at the earliest possible date.

Thompson Products now employs nearly 1,000 people and the new division will bring the total to more than 1,600. The company has bought 27 acres of former farmland in Grantham Township, directly opposite its present plant.

Thompson Products was established here in 1929 and its parent company is Thompson Products, Inc., of the United States. Present operations here include mechanical equipment for automotive and airplane manufacturing firms, and the mining industry.

Percy Weaver Denies Driving

LINDSAY, Dec. 7.—Evidence that he was not driving the car in which his brother was killed resulted in acquittal Thursday for Percy Weaver of Coboconk.

Weaver was charged with dangerous driving after the car he, his brother, and a third passenger, were riding in crashed into another auto on Highway 35 in a fog.

The Weaver auto caught fire and the three occupants were pinned behind the instrument panel.

Defence witnesses said Thursday that Weaver's brother Everett was pulled unconscious from behind the steering wheel of the wrecked car.

According to provincial police, Percy Weaver was charged after admitting he was driver of the car.

OBITUARIES

MRS. THOMAS McIVOR

A lifetime resident of Peterborough district, Mrs. Thomas McIvor died today after a long illness at the home of her son, Harold Wilson, 534 Sherbrooke St. Born in Pontypool she was in her 87th year.

Mrs. McIvor was the former Mary Jane Williamson, daughter of the late Jason Williamson and Mary Ann Syer. She was the widow of Thomas McIvor.

Surviving are two sons, Harold Wilson, Peterborough; Ross McIvor, Guelph; a brother, George Williamson, Los Angeles, Calif.

The body is resting at the Belleghem funeral home for service, conducted by the Rev. Henry Cotton, St. Andrew's United Church, on Monday at 3 pm. Burial will be in Little Lake cemetery.

MRS. EDWARD JAMIESON

OMEMEE, Dec. 7 — A well known Omemee business woman and active church worker, Mrs. Caroline Jane Jamieson, widow of Edward Jamieson, suffered a stroke and died suddenly at her home here Thursday afternoon. She was 59.

Mrs. Jamieson left her grocery store about 4 pm because she was not feeling well and within an hour had died.

Born in Fenelon Falls, Mrs. Jamieson was the daughter of the late William and Martha Magee. She came to Omemee with her parents at an early age and lived here all her life.

Her husband, the late Edward Jamieson died in 1943 and for the last several years, Mrs. Jamieson and her son Arthur have operated a grocery store in the village.

Mrs. Jamieson was well known throughout the community for her keen interest in welfare work, and was an active member of the Women's Guild of Christ Church Anglican congregation.

She is survived by one daughter, Lenore (Mrs. W. G. Prince of Toronto); one son Arthur at home and two grandchildren: Sheila Jane and Catherine Prince of Toronto.

The funeral will be from Christ Church at 3 pm Saturday. The Rev. C. Richmond, rector of Christ Church will officiate.

Interment will be in Emily Cemetery, Omemee.

Norwood WMS Holds Christmas Meeting

NORWOOD, Dec. 7 (ENS) — The WMS of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church held their December meeting at the home of Mrs. Sexsmith on Tuesday afternoon.

The meeting opened with Mrs. Sexsmith in the chair. The Christmas scripture lesson was taken by Mrs. William Robb. Mrs. Sexsmith read an item taken from the "Upper Room." A circle of prayer was given by Mrs. A. Waddell, Mrs. A. Innes, Mrs. H. Morgan. Mrs. William Golloher read a Christmas story.

The installation of officers for 1952 took place and the following were elected: President, Mrs. Sexsmith; vice-president, Mrs. Aitchison; corresponding and recording secretary, Mrs. W. Golloher; treasurer, Mrs. Rork; welcome and welfare, Mrs. Golloher; pianist and press secretary, Mrs. J. Rogers.

Grant Troops Special Leave

OTTAWA, Dec. 8 (CP)—As in previous years, members of the army, navy and air force will be granted special leave either at Christmas or New Year's, Defence Headquarters announced today.

Service personnel will be given their choice, within certain limits, of an extra two days' leave at Christmas or New Year's, but not both. As usual, married men will be given preference for leave at Christmas.

Since Christmas and New Year's Day fell on Tuesday this year, the extra two days leave will mean a four-and-a-half day break, sufficient to allow the majority of men serving away from home to join their families for one or the other of the two holiday seasons.

Personnel taking Christmas leave will get Monday, Dec. 24, and Wednesday, Dec. 26, as special leave. Those taking New Year's leave will get Monday, Dec. 31, and Wednesday, Jan. 2.

Those who have considerable distance to travel to spend the holiday at home may be permitted to take the necessary extra time and deduct it from their annual leave.

Prisoners Hold Art Exhibit

KINGSTON, Dec. 7. — An exhibit made up entirely of paintings by inmates of the Collins Bay and Kingston Penitentiary and of the women's prison here, opened at the Rotary Club luncheon Thursday. It was the first exhibition of its kind in Canada.

Of major interest was the subject matter of the works, rather than the execution, although some of the more than 100 painings would excite interest in any show.

Few of the artists have any training and most have done copies of pictures available to them.

Most stimulating are the originals—many of them expressing the emotions of the prisoner-artists, their feelings about the enclosing stone walls and iron bars.

The show, which has the approval of the Justice Department was first suggested by Deputy Commissioner Joseph McCully, Ottawa.

Peterborough People Pay $1,700,000

Every year about this time we bury our nose in a book of fat figures which the Department of National Revenue issues. The 1951 edition has just arrived. It gives the personal income and corporation taxation statistics for 1950 or 1949, depending on the branch of taxation. We have examined the statistics on Peterborough taxpayers with detachment. We cannot become emotionally aroused now over income tax we paid two years ago; nor indeed, can we quite believe the figures.

* * *

For instance, 12,140 Peterborough income taxpayers in 1949 solemnly declared that their average income was $2,550. That makes Peterborough people's average income the second lowest in Canada in any place of 5,000 or more taxpayers. Only Hull taxpayers are statistically shown to have had a lower income: $2,406. The declared average income in Lethbridge, by contrast, was $3,477; it stands at the very top of the list. However, only 5,480 Lethbridge people paid income tax in 1949; Peterborough had 12,140.

* * *

The relation between income declared for taxation purposes and real income is sometimes elastic. We refuse to believe that the average income in Peterborough (according to taxpayers on it) was the second lowest in Canada, among sizable towns and cities. It does not jibe with the statistics put out by an American Sales Management firm early this Fall. It said that the total net income of Peterborough families last year was $40,295,000; the average family income being $3,875. This figure was considerably higher than the average across Canada. Yet the Department of National Revenue computes from its figures that the total Peterborough income in 1949—was $30,900,000. It is a 1949 figure, of course, but the income did not increase by more than ten millions last year. What is worrying us is not the disparity between the total figures, but the difference in national grading. According to the Department of National Revenue's figures, Peterborough taxpayers have the second lowest income in Canada; according to the American firm's figures, Peterborough people's average incomes are among the highest in Canada.

* * *

The National Revenue figures are computed on declared income, and only on that of taxpayers. It is interesting that in 1948 there were more Peterborough income taxpayers than there were in 1949, although the city's population and average wages increased. A reason for this is that income tax laws were changed, releasing more people from the tax.

The average income tax paid by the Peterborough taxpayers in 1949 was $182. The average for Canada was $224. The average income tax which they paid in 1948 (13,790 of them with an average declared income of $2,387) was $199. In 1949 Peterborough people paid a total of $1,700,000 in income tax; in 1948 a total of $2,700,000. In 1949 they paid .34 of the total Canadian income taxes received at Ottawa; in 1948, Peterborough's share of the total income tax of the Dominion was .42 per cent.

* * *

According to the Department of National Revenue there were in Peterborough in the taxation year 1949 the following numbers of persons who had taxable incomes (that is, incomes after allowable deductions): 20 with taxable incomes under $1,000; 1,960 with taxable incomes between $1,000 and $1,500; 1,960 between $1,500 and $2,000; 2,460 between $2,000 and $2,500; 3,240 between $2,500 and $3,000; 1,890 between $3,000 and $3,500; 900 persons with taxable incomes between $3,500 and $4,000; 580 between $4,000 and $5,000; 340 Peterborough people with taxable incomes between $5,000 and $7,000; 190 between $7,000 and $9,000; 50 between $9,000 and $10,000; 110 between $10,000 and $15,000. There were only seventy people in Peterborough in 1949 who declared that they had taxable incomes over $15,000.

Street Hazards Of The Season

December brings with it wet pavements, greasy roads, fog and snow, and early evenings. Winter provides the worst driving surfaces and poorest visibility; December the worst driving hours. The combination results in many major and minor accidents, the accounts of which crowd our local news pages every day now. It will be a surprise indeed if at least a dozen accidents are not reported in Monday's paper after the weekend.

The poorest visibility of the entire day is between sunset and the full darkness of night; a crepuscular half-hour when natural light is insufficient but car headlights are not properly effective. This half-hour falls now around five o'clock when intersections are crowded with pedestrians and cars, when traffic on our streets and suburban roads is busy and hurried. And usually in these days the air is heavy with moisture—either fog, rain or snow—which further restricts visibility.

It is necessary during the winter, and especially in dull December, to be especially careful. This admonition applies to pedestrians as well as drivers. Drivers cannot see as far or stop as fast as they could in summer. The weather—rain beating on windshields, mist streaking them or frost congealing them—sometimes makes it impossible for the most alert driver travelling cautiously at ten miles an hour to see a pedestrian crossing in front of him, or a child playing at a curb.

Cars must come to a full stop at stop signs before entering or crossing a major street. Drivers should not try to beat the red light by crossing on the yellow Caution. People on foot should go with the light and not risk a leap through the red—even if a car does not seem to be in sight. And they should not cross a street in the middle of a block. Children should be warned not to play on the roadway, or even beside the curb. Much of the time now—particularly at five o'clock—drivers cannot see them until their cars are on top of the youngsters.

Having delivered ourself of these probably sound but probably as futile advices, we should like to refer back to the matter of drivers who do not stop at stop signs. There are hundreds of them every day, hurrying to or from work. The wonder is that the police see so few; probably they see them but are indulgent. These pesky drivers come north on George and zoom east around the corner at Sherbrooke against the red light. They do the same at the corner of Water and Hunter. They flip out of side streets into Charlotte (from Rubidge, Stewart or Aylmer, for instance), hardly slowing up as they pass the stop sign. This slip-slod habit of truck-drivers and office and factory people in their cars all over the city makes us wonder why the authorities bother to put up stop signs.

In this weather and month so full of natural traffic hazards, the police should not indulge the human hazards. Alert severity at the right corners at the right times would check a dangerous practice.

Union Organization Money

Labour unions do not operate on air, nor indeed do they even organize without great expense. But since a large percentage of the workers now pay union dues, taken out of their pay envelopes, the unions do have large sums at their disposal. Take, for instance, the effort to organize the employees of the Toronto store of the T. Eaton company. As announced in this newspaper on Wednesday, a long campaign to get Local 1000 of the Department Store Employees Union (C.I.O.-C.C.L.) certified as the bargaining agent for 9,800 eligible employees of the Toronto store failed when the vote was taken. It resulted in 3,967 ballots for the union, 4,769 against.

This was the climax of a campaign begun nearly four years ago. Into it were poured the energies and ingenuity and persuasive powers of union leaders—even big guns like President A. E. Mosher of the Canadian Congress of Labour personally took part in the final phases. And into it were poured large sums of union money. Practically every major C.C.L. union contributed to the Eaton drive. The United Steelworkers of America was one of the heaviest contributors. It is reported that the campaign cost affiliated unions, during more than three years, $200,000.

Perhaps the day is fast approaching when great unions with such monies at their disposal will replace tax-ridden industrialists and private individuals as the patrons of art, music and letters. In days gone by, when trades were crafts and their members unions were rich and patriarchal Guilds, the Guilds were splendid patrons. Even today the British Guilds continue, in a lesser scale, to subsidize culture and education, and to set up a good dinner to honour famous men and commemorate illustrious events.

Notes And Queries

By ALPHA

Questions are solicited for this column particularly those relating to local lore and tradition.

ALPHA: In the recent municipal election one was entitled to vote for: Aldermen—not less than four or more than five; Board of Education—from one to five. Why are the "rules of the game" not the same for both parties?

ANSWER: This question, in different forms, came in from four readers, and I can't say why the stipulations are not the same for the Council as for the Board. Perhaps the educational authorities feel that there is no danger in 'plumping' of not getting a good slate.

The requirement that electors must vote for at least four, and not more than five (the number to be elected) aldermanic candidates, dates from 1918. In that year, through a Private Bill in the Ontario Legislature, Peterborough abandoned the Ward system and instituted the two year term and the general vote. At the same time, the decree against 'plumping' was written in. Peterborough is one of the few Ontario cities and towns for which such a regulation has been made.

City Clerk Outram, who has wide contacts with councils across the province, believes that year after year Peterborough's aldermen are superior in character, ability and sense of responsibility to the general run of aldermen in other cities.

Although we might pride ourselves that the reason for this is that in general, Peterborough people are superior to people of other places; it is not demonstrable. There must be another reason for the superior councils. This may be the general vote. When a voter must mark his ballot for at least four aldermen, he cannot plump for one friend, and get his associates to do likewise, and let the rest of the candidates go hang. (The effect of 'plumping' is to give a voter four times the voting power for his favourite candidate that the voter has who marks his ballot for four.) A field of good candidates is encouraged when the top five all poll substantial votes, and there is no great snowball of votes for one very popular candidate and a mild flurry of flakes for all the rest—which would be possible if voters were allowed to plump.

The theoretical reason for stipulating a general vote is this: Each year half the council—five aldermen—are put into office. Electors are asked to choose a council, not one man. Thus aldermanic elections are different from Provincial ones, where there is but one seat, one representative. Aldermen act in concert—in council. Thus electors should vote for a slate, since their representative is to be not one man but five each year. If they were permitted to plump for one man, the others who got in would not be representative of the voters.

In 1918 when it was decided to do away with sectional representation (the ward system), legislation ensured that sectionalism would not come up in another form, where special groups could campaign for a plump vote for their own candidate.

GRATIFIED: Alpha is pleased to report that the response to his complaint last week about the fewness of questions has been satisfactory. The postman has been arriving almost every hour—well, once a day—with letters and questions; good questions and flattering references to this column. Thank you, gentle readers. I now have queries to fill today's and even next week's column; and renewed enthusiasm to carry on. But please continue with your questions; the pot soon runs dry.

DEAR ALPHA (1) My youngsters says John Cabow; I say John Cabot as spelt. I believe he was Italian. (2) My youngster is taught to spell it St. John, N.B., while I spell it out in full. Please correct me or some public school teachers.

ANSWER: Two strikes for the Old Man, Giovanni Caboto, a Genoese mariner, called John Cabot (sounded 'ot') in English, sailed several times on behalf of Bristol merchants and King Henry VII. 'Cabow' is not an Italian pronunciation; it would be French. (But why use French—he was not French and never sailed in the service of France.) If you are going to call him 'John', not Giovanni or Jean, you should also call him Cabot, rhyming approximately with 'habit' .....Saint John, N.B. is the official spelling, and the one used by the city's newspaper and careful citizens. St. John is an abbreviation sanctioned by limited commercial use—as sometimes Peterborough is wrongly spelt Peterboro....Like your children, I was taught Cabow at school. The teacher probably thought it sounded learnedly foreign. I was also instructed about Samuel D. Champlain.

DEAR ALPHA: I notice a 'V' symbol on the fire station. Does it represent victory in everything or is it the World War II symbol which has not been removed?

ANSWER: It was put there in the mid-war years by the firemen, echoing Mr. Churchill's V-for-Victory slogan. Your suggestion that it should be removed implies a disillusionment with the fruits of victory.... I doubt if it will be removed for quite a while, even though the victory has been bitter-sweet. You see, the firemen put it up in the days when they would turn their hand to many things like repairing children's toys to give to poor youngsters at Christmas and flooding rinks on vacant lots. But now the firemen are, by firefighters' regulations, too busy waiting for fires; one must not ask anything else of them,—even to taking down the 'sign they once felt free to design and put up. Actually, I'd like to see it stay there, a historical reminder of the war years and hopes.

✧ ✧ ✧

SIR: We rid our west windows of flies almost daily, yet even in winter another half dozen or so appear, and all full grown. Where do they come from?

ANSWER: My private belief is that they come out of the furnace, and that insecticide and swatter manufacturers have secret contracts with all furnace makers whereby fly eggs are put between the lining and outer edge of the fire box, so that their business will be year-round, instead of seasonal. The eggs are incubated by the furnace heat, very rapidly, and the flies grow to full size in a very few days, as plants will grow big in a hot house with forced feeding. Then they fly out the hot air registers, and seek the warmth and sun of your west windows .....To check my suspicions you might keep a close eye on the furnace repair man next time he calls; just see if he doesn't surreptitiously slip in a bag of fly eggs.

One way to kill the big buzzing winter flies and defeat the nefarious selling tactics of the fly-swat makers, is to trap the fly in the bowl of a tri-light. When he is in, take off the shade, put a book over the opening, and let the fly sizzle. Quiet entertainment for a winter evening. I was playing the game last night, and got three kills out of four; it took an hour to get the three trapped.

FOR THE RECORD: None of the Board of Education candidates this year would have got elected last year, according to the weight of the vote polled. The candidate who topped the polls last Monday, Mrs. Anne Rowell, secured fewer votes than any of the successful candidates a year ago. In that election, Mr. Jobbitt, last among the successful candidates, secured 5,202 votes; this year, Mrs. Rowell headed the polls with 4,561 votes. The story is much the same about the aldermanic candidates. Alderman Dewart this year headed the polls with 5,357 votes; last year he would have been at the bottom of the list of successful candidates, trailing Alderman Young who had 5,393 votes and came fourth. This is statistical proof of the lightness of the vote this year. Shockingly few citizens exercised their franchise.

"HE CATCHES ON FAST!"

Doing Less And Having More

(KINGSTON WHIG-STANDARD)

ADDRESSING the annual meeting of the Bank of Montreal, B. C. Gardner, its president, warned all Canadians against thinking they can have "more and more by doing less and less". As a generality, and in precisely that form, the statement is unquestionably correct. It is particularly accurate in reference to productivity per man or per unit, and the failure to recognize this is perhaps one of the greatest handicaps under which the program of half-war, half-peace, is labouring. The general tendency is still toward wage rate increases and shorter hours, regardless of productivity rates.

✧ ✧ ✧

It is possible, however, to have more business and give less service. This becomes possible in any occupation which enjoys a virtual monopoly, in a nation during a period of steadily increasing prosperity, when the establishments in the occupation agree among themselves to provide less service. That is about the position in which the chartered banks of Canada have placed themselves today. That banks have requested and have received permission, in the form of Federal legislation, to operate on a five-day-week basis.

We'd like a five-day week, to put it mildly. There are few things we'd like better. There are some eighteen thousand people, however, who would not like us to have a five-day week—our subscribers. And since our subscribers, the people we serve, may be served by others if we drop our service on the sixth day, we continue to provide the service they want and need, and for which they pay. The banks are in a different position. When they close, there are no competitors to take their places and interest rates on loans apply on holidays and Sundays as well as on work days.

✧ ✧ ✧

Much depends, of course, on the extent and manner in which the banks take advantage of the legislation allowing them a five-day week. In certain large communities, in which the five-day week is the commonly accepted business week, there could be little or no quarrel with banks for conforming with the community pattern. In a city like Kingston, with the general commercial community closing Wednesday afternoon and the industrial community closing all day Saturday or Saturday afternoon, there could be little valid complaint against a five-day week for banks—made so by the closing on these two afternoons or perhaps keeping open till 3 p.m. on Saturday and closing all day Monday or all day Wednesday. Another alternative, where a bank has more than one branch in a community, would be to keep one branch open on days when the other is closed. But will this be the pattern for the five-day week for banks in this country, now that the enabling legislation has been passed? We can only wait for that question to be answered.

✧ ✧ ✧

Banking is basically a service business. It should, therefore, give at least elementary consideration to the requirements of those to whom it sells its services. We seriously question whether it did so at the time it shortened its Saturday morning hours. We question whether it does so when it ignores—as it does—the need of many merchants for deposit and change facilities late Saturday afternoons. And most certainly banking would be withholding badly needed services from its customers if it established a five-day week of consecutive days, with a two-day holiday. This would be an inconvenience in most Canadian communities, a hardship in many, and it would inevitably provide many fat caches of money for burglars to try to tap at weekends.

✧ ✧ ✧

It is to be hoped that the chartered banks of Canada give the needs of each individual community serious consideration before they apply the five-day week—for which they have sought and obtained legal sanction.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

And it came to pass on the second sabbath after the first, that he went through the corn fields; and his disciples plucked the ears of corn, and did eat, rubbing them in their hands. And certain of the Pharisees said unto them, Why do ye that which is not lawful to do on the sabbath days? And Jesus answering them said, Have ye not read so much as this, what David did, when himself was an hungred, and they which were with him; how he went into the house of God, and did take and eat the shewbread, and gave also to them that were with him; which is not lawful to eat but for the priests alone?...

And it came to pass also on another sabbath, that he entered into the synagogue and taught: and there was a man whose right hand was withered. And the scribes and Pharisees watched him, whether he would heal on the sabbath day; that they might find an accusation against him. But he knew their thoughts and said to the man which had the withered hand, Rise up, and stand forth in the midst. And he arose and stood forth.

Then said Jesus unto them, I will ask you one thing; Is it lawful on the sabbath days to do good, or to do evil? to save life, or to destroy it? And looking round about upon them all, he said unto the man, Stretch forth thy hand. And he did so: and his hand was restored whole as the other. (Luke 6: 1-4, 6-10.)

✧ ✧ ✧

Think not that I am come to destroy the law, or the prophets: I am not come to destroy, but to fulfil. For verily I say unto you, till heaven and earth pass, one jot or one tittle shall in no wise pass from the law, till all be fulfilled. (Matt. 5: 17, 18.)

✧ ✧ ✧

Thou that makest thy boast of the law, through breaking the law dishonourest thou God? (Rom. 2: 23.)

The Gale Of Inflation

(Vancouver Province)

The difficulty of effectively combating inflation in Canada, of course, is that our economy and our money are tied to the economy and money of the United States and that country is embarked on a tremendous campaign of deficit spending, piling up the very stuff of which inflation is made....

So far, we have done hardly anything to relieve the pressure of the storm on us. Our sails — federal spending, provincial spending, municipal, corporate and private spending — are still all set and we have only shortened them a bit by means of higher taxes and credit restrictions. We are carrying a deck cargo that is dangerously loose and our hatches are open to the full wash of the seas.

Puppetry And Death

(Manchester Guardian)

In Hampstead, London, where (it is sometimes said) all things are possible, John Wright and his puppeteers on Sunday gave a potted version of "Maria Marten, or Murder in the Red Barn".

The production demanded a cast of eight, and as each marionette has up to 15 strings there was ample scope for dramatic entanglement from all points of view. The company managed to avoid all unscripted incidents, and wicked William Corder moved inexorably from seduction and infanticide to the gallows in Scene 13

There were many children in the audience. None of them was dismayed by the nicely theatrical horror of the proceedings: in fact, one little boy of 11 at the back compared some scenes critically with "Macbeth", which he thought was "much noisier".

Threaten March From Baltic Unless Poverty Eased Soon

By DIETRICH BEYERSDORFF

HAMBURG, Germany, Dec. 7—(AP) — Germany's "forgotten people" are threatening to march from the Baltic to the upper Rhine to escape poverty and misery.

They are east Germans—driven six years ago from territories annexed by Russia and Poland.

Numbering more than 1,000,000 they fled into the "poorhouse" state of Schleswig-Holstein, under British occupation.

Since 1945, they have jammed the villages of this passive agricultural region, too many for the few extra jobs available and too poor to try a new start elsewhere without government help.

More than 100,000 still live in crude wooden huts. Others are squeezed into the homes of native Schleswig-Holsteiners, whose patience with the problem is wearing thin.

On Public Dole

In some villages, more than 90 per cent of the refugees are still on the public dole.

Last year the federal government planned to resettle 300,000 in the 700-mile distant French zone, along the Rhine and its tributaries. The French zone received almost no refugees in the early post-war years, while the British and Americans zones took in more than 8,000,000.

Up to now, however, only 11,500 east Germans actually have been moved out of Schleswig-Holstein.

Bitterly disappointed, two refugees in the little town of Suederbrarup, half of whose 4,200 population are homeless migrants from the east, have begun organizing "Trek, Inc." Already several thousand refugees have joined.

The purpose of "Trek" is to lead a mass exodus to the less crowded French zone states.

In a letter to the Schleswig-Holstein government, signed members of "Trek" announced: "we are willing to go to southern Germany on our own responsibility . . . here we are condemned to permanent unemployment . . ."

Government officials warned that "thousands of refugees must not be shifted from one primitive shelter to another if there is no guarantee of jobs."

Leaders of "Trek" say their minds are made up, and if nobody finds a better solution, they will set out next spring. They predict thousands will follow.

Finds Fox Hole Digging Needs Speed

By BILL BOSS.

WITH THE CANADIANS IN KOREA, Dec. 7 — (CP). — On a bright, sunshiny noon—and just when Fisheries Minister Mayhew was in the area, too—the Chinese began lobbing hefty medium-calibre shells into a spot that can't be described except to say that in a conventionally-conducted war it isn't normally shelled.

The local barometer rose steadily. Shrapnel went clean through the tent of Capt. Tom Owens of Montreal, just above head level. A truck was thoroughly knocked out by a shellburst five feet in front of it, as was the jeep ambulance parked alongside. Officers who had not dug a hole since the Second World War discovered they hadn't lost the knack.

They also found that the prone position, extremely close to the ground, is adopted without thought, without (almost) moving a muscle, when sounds resembling "phw-tt cr-rrumph" close in on the area. One such was Capt. Hugh Hutton of Hamilton, who found himself trying with a reporter to force place for two under an upright piano.

Change Location

Capt. Walt Wheeler of Kingston and Lieut. Don Dingle of Calgary who, seeing space under the piano at such a premium, chorused "let's go to our tent—it's the safest place in camp."

Wheeler ran past the spot. It was dark.

Dingle, panting behind, ventured: "I guess we've passed it. But I thought it was here."

It was—once. Shreds were picked out by the flashlight, hanging in nearby trees. The ground nearby was adrift with feathers from Wheeler's sleeping bag. A shell had gone right through the tent and exploded squarely in its centre.

People looking for Wheeler that night found on the spot a sign saying: "Moved to new location."

"Local Digging"

When shrapnel landed on my jeep trailer local digging was begun.

The boundaries of a hole just barely larger than a camp cot were scratched out at the back of the tent. Two hours, two blistered hands and much sweat later the hole was two feet deep. Complete failure was registered in attempts to devise a one-man technique for filling sandbags and so the spoil was piled high on one side. Barrack boxes and kitboxes lined the others.

Excavations continued whenever local events spurred them on, and by the time houseboy Chong returned from a visit to relatives the depth was three feet. Responsibility was forthwith transferred.

He must have slaved. The following night saw the camp cot still three feet below ground, barrack boxes and gear piled high behind it.

But gone was the pile of spoil in front. Instead, neatly squared off, the hole was doubled. His cot was in its accumstomed spot, but clearly in emergency he was prepared to move it down into his conception of safety. And the sand bags . . . they were spread out as matting on the ground, as protective mats under the gear, decorative, neat but hardly protective.

"No good, Chong. Tomorrow fix. I show."

Two holes. Deep. Narrow. Piled around with sandbags.

What A Night

But meanwhile what a night. As the probing cru-rumphs crisscrossed farther and nearer, backward and forward, not only were the walls now missed, but golly a roof ought to be there, too—and sandbagged.

The situation on the digging front changed sharply next morning. Maj. Colin McDougall of Ottawa persuaded a crew of public relations drivers to reinforce and direct Chong's strong right arm. By nightfall two massive, five-foot-deep, cot-sized sandbagged fortresses lacked only cover for completion.

But they were draped, if you please, with left-over empty sacks lining the walls below ground level.

"No, Chong. Tomorrow find logs. Cover holes. Fill sacks. Put sacks on top."

Hastings To Build High School For $150,000

By-laws calling for the sale of $175,000 worth of school debentures were passed Tuesday afternoon by Hastings County Council.

One by-law is for $150,000 in debentures for an addition to Tweed High School; the other for $25,000 for "permanent improvements" to High Schools in the Centre Hastings district.

This financing measure is a parallel to those used by Peterborough and Victoria counties. All three counties are taking advantage of their higher credit ratings to finance schools for sections of the counties.

Previously, the village or township issued the bonds. In later years, counties have underwritten school debentures because they get higher interest rates.

Some Misgivings

Reeve Jack Kincaid of Madoc said he had some misgivings about the procedure. A municipality, he said, might take advantage of the act to such an extent that the county's credit rating might suffer.

Reeve T. C. Graham of Tweed remarked that the by-law was not at the request of his town, but of all the municipalities in the High School district.

Reeve Vincent Lynch of Marmora said that when Marmora High School was built, the village had issued the debentures. He said it did not seem fair that the municipality in which the school was constructed must issue the debentures.

Other members of the council remarked that in the case of both debentures, the Centre Hastings High School district will pay all carrying and other charges at no cost to the county.

The Council decided the county will assume as part of the county road system the two stretches of road that formerly were parts of Highway 37. These are in the Roslin and Chapmán5s Corners areas.

No action was taken on a recommendation from an outside county that a hail insurance scheme sponsored by county councils be set up.

24-Hour Recall Rule To Stay In Baseball Books

By JOE REICHLER.

COLUMBUS, O., Dec. 7 (AP).—Although the minor leagues voted overwhelmingly to wipe out baseball's 24-hour recall rule, the statute will remain in the books, an informal poll of the big league clubs indicated today.

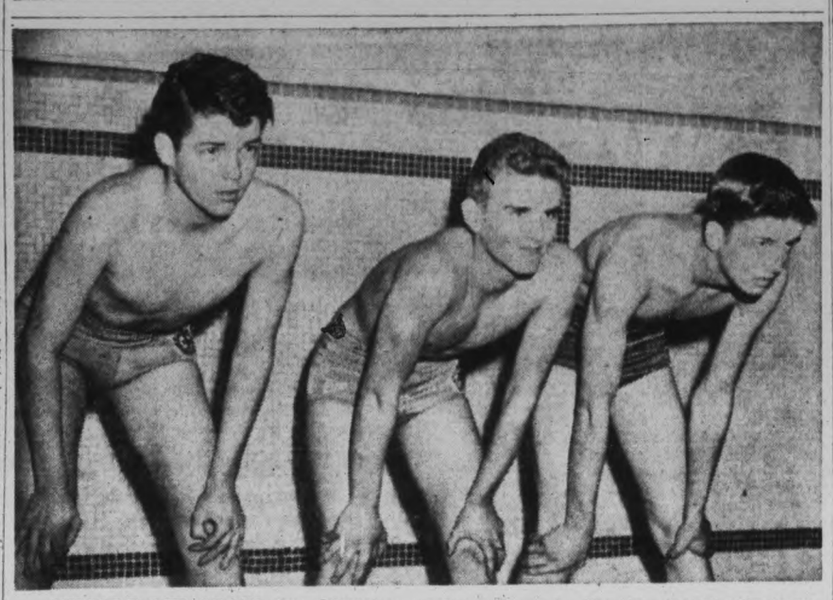
The rule, which president Frank Shaughnessy of the International League, described as "even a bigger threat to the structure of the minors than nationwide broadcasting and television of major league games," has long been a sore point with the little fellows. Their constant cry has been that the rule robs them of their stars and kills off the attendance.

The rule allows the majors to recall their optioned players by giving only one day's notice. In this way, the parent clubs can shuttle their players back and forth at will.

By a 41-7 count, the minor leagues voted to toss the rule out the window. This would mean that a player once sent down, must remain for the entire minor league season including playoffs. The majors, also must pass this agreement in order to kill the rule.

Not Likely

This, however, does not seem likely unless there is a change of heart between now and next Monday when the vote comes up.



A poll of a majority of the big league clubs showed that at least five clubs in the National — Brooklyn, New York, St. Louis, Philadelphia and Boston — and four clubs in the American—New York, Detroit, Boston and Philadelphia—will vote against the amendment. That leaves only three in the National and four in the American who are likely to back the minors, far short of the needed majority.

The minors, however, won an important point when they voted unanimously to set up a new "open" classification. This was interpreted as a tremendous victory for the Pacific Coast League which has been clamoring for higher status for years.

With the approval of the majors, which was expected, the coast leagues expect to apply "right away" for the "open rank," described by Leslie O'Connor, coast league advisor, as "the opening wedge to becoming a major in from five to 10 years."

The "open" class would permit the PCL to have first draft rights from lower classification league, raise its own draft fee from $10,000 to $15,000, enable its players to stay an extra year (four to five) and give its players the right of refusal to be drafted.

THEY'RE OFF AGAIN for swimming battles in far fields, the Peterborough Swimming Club contesting for honors with other clubs from Southern and Western Ontario this weekend in Hamilton. Thursday night the boys worked out under Coach Gord Minty at the "Y" pool and, from the smiles in the top photo, the time for the relay was good. Hearing the results from Coach Minty (right), are: (back row) Alec Baptie and Terry Northrop; (front row) Brian Bell and Wilton Tranter. Set for the medley relay and single events are (bottom photo, left to right), Scott Pearton, Jim Starr and Elwood Palmateer.—(Examiner Staff Photos)

High Single 297 Tops In Bowling

LAKEFIELD, Dec. 7—(ENS)—High scores in the High School Bowling League this weekend were Gordon Coyle 227, Bill Downs 224, Peter Heard 222, J. Barcroft 204.

Ladies' Evening League: Mae Millage 22 single, 517 triple; Hilly Miller 225 single, 576 triple; Molly Jessup 220 single, 525 triple; Bette Millage 193 single, 559 triple.

Afternoon Ladies' League: Alice Lockwood 223 single, 626 triple; Isobel Jeffrey 297 single, 611 triple; Mona Jackman 251 single, 601 triple; Hazel Hart 248 single, 586 triple; Leona Graham 247 single, 531 triple; Evelyn Samis 278 single, 526 triple.

Betty Castle Tops

Betty Castle came through this week in the YMCA senior girls' bowling circuit with high three of 788. Her total also included high single game of the night with a neat 326 mark. Some good scores were racked up by various teams and players in the weekly league competition.

Tigers gained the only whitewash victory of the evening with a 3-0 decision over Corvettes. Commandos edged out the leading Aces by a 2-1 count, Bombers won from Glengarry's by 2 to 1, and Hurricanes had a 2-1 verdict over Lucky Strikes.

Pick 2 Referees For Title Match

Whipper Billy Watson will defend his British Empire Title at the Brock next Tuesday against Lord Athol Layton. The pair were rematched after this week's sizzling no decision match.

Both wrestlers complained bitterly against the weak officiating of Referee Sam Gotter, and both demanded a new referee before they would agree to a rematch. The Athletic Commission lost no time in appointing not one, but two arbiters to handle this important match.

To assure a decision being reached the time limit has been removed. This week's bout went a full hour without a fall being scored.

Bobo Brazil, sensational Negro star, will take on his toughest opponent to date, rugged Hi Lee, in the semi final. Brazil can put himself in line for a main bout by beating Hi Lee.

The opener brings together Sonny Kurgis and Abe Zvonkin.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

Present standing in the OHA senior "B" race has Kingston, Belleville and Eagles tied with six points each. The Petes have four and can climb into a second-place tie here tonight with a win o'er Kingston. A large order, but we think they can take the Limestone City squad at Civic. Should be a sizzling struggle all the way before a big Friday night crowd. Jim Ellis will have his charges going out after an early lead, as they started a bit slow in Kingston the other eve and then couldn't quite overcome a Kingston lead in the last half. With Eagles at Belleville, there'll be some standing changes made about 11 bells tonight.

* * * * * *

Len Taylor writes in the Kitchener Record: "The cases of several suspended Kingston Nylons will be reviewed at the next OHA meeting, President Jack Roxburgh says. There is a possibility that a number of the players may be reinstated for some of them obviously were caught in the middle and unwilling to squeal on their mates. There is a great story that can't yet be written behind the investigation which came perilously close to court action, but for a chance discovery in a city not too far from Kingston. One lesson the OHA learned was in future to take recorded testimony with properly signed statements from witnesses. As it was, some clever legal action came close to involving the provincial body and its officers in what could have been a very costly court action."

* * * * * *

More Help For The K's?

Hm, according to the way the breezes bend, it's just a matter of a short time ere four or five of the ex-Nylons will be back in hockey harness for Kingston in this group. Maybe they're entitled to reinstatement, maybe not. However, the Hawks, Eagles and Petes will take a dim view of Kingston becoming much stronger. Up at the top of the pile now, they might make a runaway of the race by further bolstering. After all, the OHA granted them more imports than any other club to keep them operating, and they've the pick of the former Queen's team. Yeah, they're plenty strong in senior "B" right now.

* * * * * *

Hockey is certainly Canada's game, and a great many kids are being brought along in this sport throughout the country. The Ontario Minor Hockey Association—of which Al Watkins of this city is an official—put 330 teams into provincial playdowns last season, and there was a total of 850 teams affiliated, including the 12-team PMHA setup here. That meant that more than 12,750 players came under the OMHA in 1950-51, with nearly 6,000 in the playdowns. These facts came out of the annual OMHA meeting a week ago in Toronto. Local clubs, incidentally, have been making better showings each spring as Peterborough representatives in provincial competition.

Right-Wingers Get Goals

Jack Park of London comes up with some interesting hockey angles. For instance, he says: "There are plenty of good hockey players who are left-wingers, but a search through hockey's record books will show that the boys who slap at the rubber from the starboard side are more successful, even if they are in the minority." And he mentions some NHL greats of the present and past, like Maurice Richard, Gordie Howe, Ted Kennedy, Bill Mosienko, Chuck Conacher, Gord Drillon, Neil Colville, Bobby Bauer, Dit Clapper, adding of Dit: "The old Bruin was a real humdinger in his days as a right-winger. Back in 1930, he was right-winger on what was one of the greatest lines of all time, Weiland, Gainor and Clapper. Other great right-wingers then were Bill Cook, Lorne Carr, Hec Kilrea and Hooley Smith."

* * * * * *

Wondering about this right-hand angle, Park made a check several years ago and discovered that all the NHL goalies, except Durnan, were left-hand shots. Says he: "We know that goalies aren't usually referred to as shooting from either right or left. Their job is to stop shots. However, they do 'shoot' from one particular side. We made a similar check yesterday. The results are even more conclusive. Every netminder in the NHL today is a left-hand shot. You may ask what this has to do with right-wingers scoring the bulk of the goals. Our theory is that they have an edge, for when shots come from the right wing they naturally angle towards the right, or unprotected, side of the net."

"Y" Swimmers Entered In Annual Meet

Peterborough YMCA Swimming Club members will plunge into their second Ontario competition Saturday night in the annual Hamilton Aquatic Club's Christmas meet. All the events will be open.

Coach Gord Minty explained today that good results this year will be more difficult to attain than last because his best swimmers have advanced into older competition. But he expects fair results from the Hamilton meet.

An expected comer this year, Elwood Palmateer, will lead the Peterborough club in the 100-yard free-style for junior men. Coach Minty has entered Jim Starr, Wilton Tranter and Terry Northdrop in the same event.

Scott Pearton, a promising swimmer last season in the indoor pools, will contest for the 150-yard backstroke honors in the junior men's class.

Coach Hopeful

Coach Minty has high hopes for the future of the club relay team composed of Alec Baptie, Brian Bell, Tranter and Northrop. These boys will be swimming in Hamilton's 200-yard relay event.

In the younger age group, under 14 years, the YMCA club will bank on Ross Dobbin and Terry Reid in the 100 yards free style. In the under-12-years, Peter Wood will swim the 50 yards free style.

Last year the Peterborough club found the opposition tougher than two years ago. The boys returned with only two seconds, but agreeing that even that result was good against the high calibre of swimmers entered.

This years the entries will be much the same, clubs entering from Toronto, Hamilton, London, Stratford, Woodstock, Kitchener and perhaps from Buffalo and Detroit.

Gene Killen Leads

Gene Killen rolled high three of 649 and top single of 233 in the CYO Bowling League. Patricia Peel hit 637 and Bob Lagana 605. Jacks beat Queens 2945 to 2706. Kings won 2835 to 2315 from Spades, Clubs downed Diamonds 2327 to 2206, Hearts beat Aces 2548 to 2458.

The standing to date has Hearts out in front with 24 points, followed by Jacks with 18, Aces 16, Kings 14, Clubs 12, Spades and Queens with eight each, and Diamonds with two.

PMHA Features Close Tilts Before Goodly Puck Crowd

Keen competition marked five of the six Peterborough Minor Hockey Association fixtures staged last evening at Civic Arena. A crowd of more than 300 took in the lively tilts. Play was fast and generally close, kept well under control by the referees, though one juvenile joust was pretty rough in spots.

Marines edged Oddfellows 4-3 in the first juvenile joust with nifty hockey shown by both sides. It was a bit rough but kept in hand. Frizzelle scored two from Kearns for the winners. Pammett and McGillen getting the others, with Byrnes aiding on both. For the losers, Cullen, Craig and Miller tallied, the latter on a pass from Cullen. Oddfellows drew seven of the 10 penalties. Trojan juveniles tied Lakefield 1-1 in a hot go with several fights taking place as Lakefield drew eight of 13 penalties. Sidey of Trojans and Pue of Lakefield got the only goals.

A Big Score

Martin-Hewitt midgets continued to roll with an 11-0 daub of whitewash over Snowbirds. Gardiner picked up four goals, Floyd two and singles went to Cain, Smith, Brooks, Parry and Heffernan. An assist each was garnered by Stewart, Godfrey, Chambers, Floyd, Heffernan, Cain and Brooks. The winners got five penalties to three.

Trojans yanked out a 5-4 midget win from St. Peter's, McFadden getting the winner in the last minute of play. Whitnell counted three and Foote got the other. For St. Peter's, Ferren tallied twice, and Doris and McCarthy once each. Each team drew four penalties.

Otonabee Wolves eked out a 1-0 bantam win from St. Peter's with Patten scoring the only marker from Lonsberry. In the clean tilt, Wolves drew three of the four penalties. The other bantam fray saw Lions click for two quickies late in the tilt to defeat Trojans 3-1. Stewart, Murphy and Chesley got their goals.

Neil Colville Resigns Job As Coach For NY Rangers

By The Canadian Press

Neil Colville, the youngest coach in the National Hockey League at the time of his appointment in June last year, has resigned as mentor of the floundering New York Rangers.

His replacement by Bill Cook, one of the all-time great right wingers, was announced by General Manager Frank Boucher Thursday night. Cook, now coaching Saskatoon, a Rangers' farm club, will leave that city by plane Saturday morning and take over when the last-place New Yorkers encounter Toronto Maple Leafs Sunday.

Cook, 53-year-old former Ranger captain and a native of Brantford, scored 228 goals for New York between 1926 and 1936. He'll travel to Edmonton today to pilot his Saskatoon Quakers against Flyers in a Pacific Coast Hockey League game.

Colville's resignation ended a 14-year association with the Rangers. The 37-year-old Edmonton native played both on defence and forward lines from the time he left Philadelphia of the old Canadian-American League in 1936 until he succeeded Lynn Patrick in 1948 as coach of the American League New Haven Ramblers.

Colville told a press conference Thursday he was quitting because of the poor showing the Rangers have made this season and because of poor health.

Let Someone Else Try

Whether the hapless New Yorkers can do better under Cook is problematical. His Saskatoon club currently is in third place in the PCHL. Colville said he is convinced the Rangers are a better team than the records indicate but apparently he failed to bring out the best of their abilities. He would rather see someone coaching the club who could "bring it out betten than I can."

Rangers have won only six of their 23 games to date. They may have some success Sunday against the crippled Leafs. Right winger Howie Meeker is out for a month with a bad knee; Bill Juzda, defence bulwark, is entering hospital for removal of a cyst from his foot and both left winger Danny Lewicki and centre Rudy Migay are on the ailing list.

Chicago Black Hawks get a crack at Toronto first, on Saturday, while league-leading Detroit takes on Montreal Canadiens. In other Sunday games, Montreal travels to Detroit while Boston Bruins encounter Chicago.

Lindsay Rink Wins Trophy

HAMILTON, Dec. 7 (CP). — Percy Skitch and his Lindsay four won the seniors' trophy bonspiel which ended here Thursday night after three days of curling. The veteran Skitch registered his third victory in the early winter classic when he turned back F. G. Light of Galt by four strokes after coming from behind an early deficit.

In two other events, the Hudson Ross and C. M. Doolittle contests, Hamilton quartets took down the major prizes.

In the Hudson Ross, 75-year-old William Doherty of Thistles outscored 77-year-old Charley Bulley of Toronto Granites by a single shot.

A. D. Somerville, also of Thistles, outscored Bert Kennedy of Royal Canadians, Toronto, 11-8 in the Doolittle.

Boucher Pleased To Obtain Cook

NEW YORK, Dec. 7 (AP). — "I'm bringing in the greatest right winger that ever played hockey—bar none."

That's what Frank Boucher, manager of the New York Rangers, said today about his new coach, Bill Cook.

Cook is expected to join the Rangers Sunday. He succeeds popular Neil Colville who resigned Thursday.

Boucher admitted that Cook was stepping into a rough job in taking over the Ranger helm. "This is a tough spot for Cook but Bill is used to tough spots," Boucher commented.

"He was part of a large family, not the oldest, but he was like a father to his brothers and sisters after his dad died at an early age.

"He's absolutely fearless and a great fighter who will fight anybody for his team."

Cook, his brother Bun, and Boucher formed one of the National Hockey League's greatest lines back in the 1920's. The trio scored over 500 goals during their careers with Bill Cook the trigger man with 228.

$10,000 Limit Set On Franchise

GALT, Dec. 7 (CP).—A maximum price of $10,000 has been placed on Ontario Hockey Association Junior A franchises in an agreement tentatively approved by representatives of eight junior teams.

Except for Barrie and Windsor, all 10 clubs were represented at a meeting Thursday which referred the agreement, drawn up at another meeting in Toronto last week, to George Dudley, Canadian Amateur Hockey Association registrar-general, for rephrasing in legal terms.

It will likely be considered at the next junior A council meeting and then will go to the association executive for ratification.

The $10,000 value is contingent on the purchaser operating affiliated interests such as farm teams. But a promoter also needs the approval of a majority of the other franchise-holders before he can put a team in the series.

Remember When—

By The Canadian Press.

Ottawa Senators set a Quebec Senior Hockey League mark of 12 consecutive games without defeat when they edged out a 3-2 win over Montreal Concordias, 11 years ago tonight. Ottawa's string was snapped the next time out, by the Verdun Red Devils.

Schroeder-Trobert Cup Team Leading

By GAYLE TALBOT.

MELBOURNE, Australia, Dec. 7 (AP).—America's new Davis Cup doubles combination of Ted Schroeder and Tony Trabert looked like money in the bank in thrashing the Australian pair of Adrian Quist and Geoff Brown, 7-5, 6-4, 6-3, in the final of the Vivtoria tennis championships today.

The result never was in question after Ted and his young navy helper rallied from being down 1-4, in the opening set to win going away.

The pair, which will face Sweden in the interzone final here next Thursday, swept through four victories in the tournament without losing a set—all against Australian opponents.

The only thing they didn't do was to hang it on the Aussies' big team of Frank Sedgman and Ken McGregor and they weren't given a chance to do that. Australia's cup selectors withdrew Frank and Ken from circulation.

Five PCVS Teams Entered In Lakeshore Cage Play

PCVS' Garnet and Grey colors will fly for five boys' teams in the Lake Ontario intercollegiate basketball season. And already this year, with football just over, the teams are beginning to take shape.

For the past month, Coach Jack Cullis who will coach the two junior teams, "A" and "B" this year, has been holding workouts in the Collegiate gym. Last year, his first at PCVS, he worked with the senior and junior "B" teams, finishing the season with the Ontario midget entry.

This year Coach Cullis started from scratch for his junior "A" squad, relying upon last year's "B" players, some of the better bantams, and newcomers to the sport.

Even then he has only four players from the "B" entry, Dan Griffin, Bob Boorman, Jack Corbett and Ken Armstrong. But these will be strengthened by former bantams Terry Roberts, Al Foote and Harry Carleton. Newcomers are: Bob Allan, Don Marshall, Glenn Fowler, John Eastwood and Bob Burgess.

More Bantams

For the junior "B" team Coach Cullis is developing other bantams from last year, these including Doug Ash, John Boorman, Paul Davis, Ray Gallagher, Jim Heffernan, Bob Keeting, Al Palmateer, Bill Speirs and Mel Stevens. This year's newcomers will be Scott Allin, Neil Courneya, Don Lang, Bob McKinney, Morris Parry and Vern Smyth.

Coach G. B. (Bev) Goulding has only eight players out with the senior "A" team this year, but all have had a good grounding in basketball fundamentals. They should be able to hold their own in the Bay of Quinte and Lake Ontario districts.

Back from last year's senior COSSA finalists are Don Ash, Bryon Young, Ted Cranfield and Terry Brown. From the junior "A" COSSA finalists he has the pick of the team, Murray Grafstein, Jim Hendry, Dave Langhorne and Lionel Hempstead. The senior "A" cagers have not the height of previous years, but have experience and speed.

Most of Coach Goulding's troubles rest with the bantam team which has had only four workouts, if they can be called workouts with more than 30 players trying for a first-team position. Most of these boys are Grade nine students making their first attempt in the Collegiate sports circle.

Another basketball coach will make his debut this year as mentor of the senior "B" team. Gordon Johnston, son of the former vocational department head, "Pop" Johnston, has been working out the promising senior players this week. Last year Mr. Johnston coached a team at Sault Ste. Marie.

Besides the Collegiate teams, contesting for the COSSA championships, the school will have an entry in the midget section of the Ontario Amateur Basketball Association and a probably entry in the juvenile ranks.

Canadian Paddlers Practise For Olympics

TORONTO, Dec. 7 (CP). — Canada's Olympic paddlers, the only team yet chosen in Canada for the 1952 Olympic games next summer at Helsinki, Finland, will spend this winter developing endurance, flexibility and recovery.

Most of the 12 paddlers will receive their instructions through the mail but five living in Toronto will be trained by Lloyd Percival, head coach of the Sport College, a research and instruction organization.

Their training program will include an energy diet, muscular development, instruction in relation, building up fatigue resistance and recovery.

Bert Oldershaw, 1948 Olympic paddler, said the program was expected to bring good results at Helsinki.

R. Nicholls Rolls 316

Ross Nicholls led in singles with 316 last night in the Playfair Mercantile Bowling League as Doug Chamberlain had best trio with 675. Other good threes were: M. O'Donnell 659, Tom Casey 654, F. Murray 640 and B. Eggleton 639. The J. J. Turner team had high pinnage of 2200 to take seven points, Austin's and Harrison's also getting seven.

Kesco leads the league with 70 points, followed by Knox 69, Austin's 68, Harrison's 67, Mustrants and Grant & Loucks 51 each, Pet. Express 48, CoOp and Can. Canoe 46 each, Cherney's 45, UCO 41, A & P 39, Turner's and Loblaw's 38 each, J. J. Turner 31, Combines 25, Dominion 21 and Ovaltine 14.

EARLY COLONY

Oldest of French possessions in India is Pondicherry, established by the French East Indian Company in 1674.

YES, YES, GO ON—We don't know what Casey Stengel, left, Yankee manager, and Hank Greenberg, owner of the Cleveland Indians, were talking about, but judging from Stengel's expression, it might mean a deal for a star player. The two were caught in this pose at the minor league's baseball meeting at Columbus, O., Dec. 3.

NO YOU DON'T—Looking like he was tasting something bitter, Boston Bruins' goalie Sugar Jim Henry stopped a goalward shot of the Red Wings' Vic Stasiuk at the Detroit Olympia. The result was bitter for both sides and the spectators, a 1-1 tie

Here and There In Sport

By The Canadian Press

Heavyweight champion Jersey Joe Walcott and Edward Fagan, former chairman of the New York Athletic Commission, Thursday at New York were voted the Boxing Writers Association's two top awards.

Jersey Joe, who won his title at the age of 37 in his fifth try for boxing's most precious crown, will be awarded the Edward J. Ineil memorial plaque for having done the most for boxing during the year.

Eagan, a one-time Olympic boxing champion who recently resigned his commission post after 6½ years' service, was chosen for the James J. Walker memorial award "for long and meritorious service" to boxing.

They will receive their trophies at the writer's annual dinner Jan. 17.

Winnipeg Blue Bombers broke about even financially during the 1951 campaign in the Western Interprovincial Football Union, the club's annual meeting was told Thursday night. J. Culver Riley, finance committee chairman, said total expenses were $250,080, compared with estimated receipts of $249,872, leaving a deficit of $208.

Mr. Riley explained that receipts from the western play-offs and the Grey Cup final, not yet received, were only "a rough estimate," and the final report "could vary about $2,000 either way."

Toronto Maple Leafs of the International Baseball League on Thursday sold pitcher Elmer Singleton to the San Francisco club of the Pacific Coast League and bought outfielder Neil Sheridan in return. Wednesday the Leafs sold pitcher Johnny Ostrowski for $10,000 and second-baseman Sam Kalenos in a deal with the Sacramento club of the Pacific Coast League. Ostrowski was purchased a year ago for $17,000.

At Miami, Fla., defending champion Sammy Snead and Tommy Bolt of Durham, NC, fired six-under-par 64s Thursday to snatch the first round lead in the $10,000 Miami open golf tournament. Grouped in third place with 66s were Doug Ford of Harrison, NY, Tony Penna of Cincinnati and Al Besselink of Mt. Clemens, Mich.

At Detroit, Canadian horses on Thursday night swept the first three places in the first Michigan International Horse Show from a field of 18 contestants. Starclift, a Canadian Olympic horse owned and ridden by Lt.-Col. Charles Baker of Toronto, won the international triple bar, beating Copper King, owned by E. H. Cudney, also of Toronto. Star Gayety, owned by Stuart Fleming of St. Catharines, was third.

Twelve-year-old Julie Andreae of Port Huron, Mich., won the English equitation competition.

Hockey fans can see a basketball game and basketball fans can see a hockey game, both on the same program Sunday night at Boston Garden. Boston Celtics will oppose New York Knickerbockers in a National Basketball Association game at 7 pm, EST, and Boston Olympics will play Atlantic City Seagulls in an Eastern Amateur Hockey League match commencing about 9 pm.

Dick Kazmaier, triple-threat star of Princeton, heads the Associated Press all-American college football team for 1951, repeating his 1950 honors. He leads a spectacular backfield other members of which are Larry Isbell of Baylor, Hugh McElhenny of Washington, and Hank Lauricella of Tennessee.

Tennessee and Michigan State, the No. 1 and No. 2 teams of the land, each won two places on the squad.

Convicted of Extortion

Amputee To Wed

SAN ANTONIO, Dec. 7—(AP)—Sgt. Werner Reininger, Marine quadruple amputee, said today he is going to get married. From Oak Knoll hospital at Oakland, Calif., the San Antonio sergeant sent word to friends here that his bride-to-be is Miss Jeanette Streeton, 21, of Hayward, Calif. He met her on a "sort of blind date."

Montreal Rink Wins

TORONTO, Dec. 7 (CP). —A rink skipped by H. V. Fellows of the Royal Montreal Club on Thursday scored an 8-6 upset over G. R. Meech of Toronto High Park Club, one of Toronto's better rinks, in the Granite Club's 75th anniversary bonspiel.

UK Bus Driver Weeps During Inquest

GILLINGHAM, Eng., Dec. 7—(Reuters) — Bus driver George Samson, 57, sat weeping in a hospital room here Thursday as the parents of 23 boys killed by his bus Tuesday night gave evidence at an inquiry into the deaths.

He twisted his cap in his hands nervously as the parents quietly gave evidence as to identification of their children's bodies.

Samson's bus plowed into a marching column of 52 Royal Marine cadets on a dark road in Chatham, near here. Twenty-three of the lads—all aged between 10 and 13—were killed. Nineteen were injured. Only 10 escaped unhurt.

Thursday's inquiry was held in a room at the Royal Naval Hospital here, where one by one the parents walked to the coroner's table and told him they had identified their sons' bodies.

There were few tears. Occasionally one of several nurses standing by gave a sip of water to a grief-stricken mother.

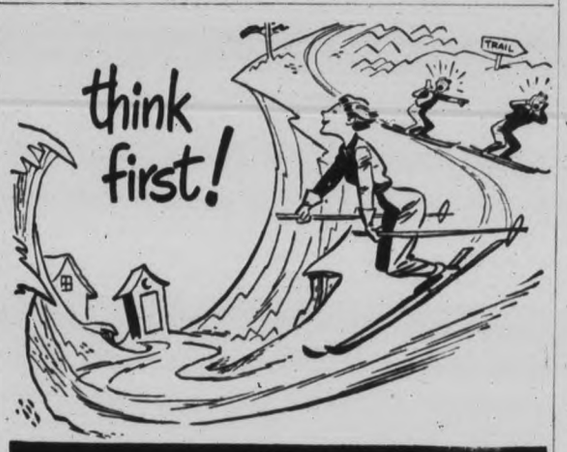
Several of the fathers wore army or naval uniform. At least two of the mothers were widows.

As the last body was identified a woman in the front row broke down and was helped from the room, weeping bitterly, by nursing orderlies.

In 37 minutes identification was complete and the coroner adjourned the inquest until Dec. 14. The parents silently made way for driver Samson as a policeman helped him from the court.

Stewardship YPU Theme At Roseneath

ROSENEATH, Dec. 7. (ENS)—"Stewardship and Training," was the theme of the YPU meeting held on Wednesday evening with the convener, Miss Phyllis O'Connell in charge of the worship service and presiding over the program period.



The meeting was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Adams with the president, Neil Adams, presiding over the business period and George Linton, secretary, reading the correspondence.

During the program period readings were given by Misses Adele Varcoe and Mary Skuce. The Rev. R. C. White conducted a Biblical quiz and Phillis O'Connell conducted a contest.

The meeting concluded with a sing-song of popular music with Miss Yvonne Adams at the piano.

Find Drug Cache

NEW YORK, Dec. 7—(AP)—Narcotics-squad detectives Thursday night seized $150,000 worth of heroin in one of the biggest hauls in recent years. They reported finding six pounds of heroin in an east-side Manhattan apartment.

Fenella WI Auction, Euchre Yield $86

ROSENEATH, Dec. 7 (ENS) — Eighty-six dollars was realized at an auction sale and euchre party sponsored by Fenella Women's Institute in Fenella community hall Thursday evening. Harry Hutchison was auctioneer and auctioned off the long list of articles donated by the members, including needlework, fruit, baking and vegetables. Potatoes sold at $4 a bag.

The president, Mrs. Frank George, presided and the early part of the evening was spent in playing progressive euchre. Prizes for high score were won by Mrs. James Curtis and Mr. Harry Hutchison.

Another important feature of the evening was the presentation of a life membership certificate to Mrs. Harry Hutchison in recognition of 25 years as a member of Fenella Women's Institute. An address was read by Mrs. George Harvie and the presentation made by Mrs. Thomas Adams, two of the older members of the Institute.

C. Riley In Front

C. Riley with 327 has high single to date in the men's Motor Bowling League. G. Caldwell having a 320 to his credit, and N. Gordon Jr. a mark of 301. C. Riley also leads in triples with 773, R. Balaam roling a 751 and G. Caldwell a 724.

Sunshine Dairy leads teams at present with 32 points, Bock Construction having 31, Irwin-Godson 28, Elliott & Browne 28, Lillico Motors 19, Steinkraus 14, Williamson Bros. 12 and Deeth & White 10.

Psychic Factors Said Cause Of Impotence

By RENNIE TAYLOR

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 7 (AP)—Most cases of sexual impotence in men are due to psychic factors rather than organic disease, a widely-known urologist claims.

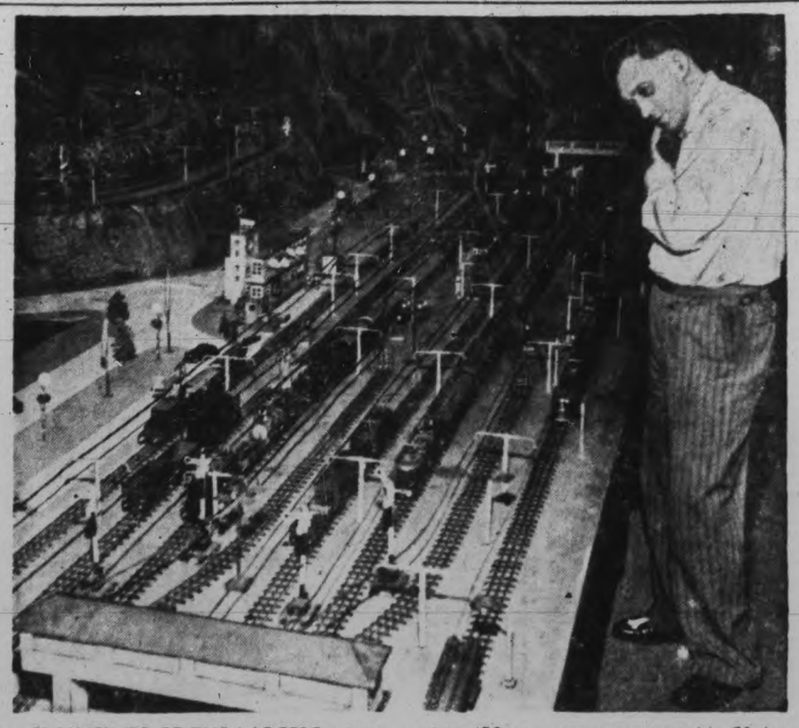
There are such things as exhaustion during advancing age which may make a man unable to carry on normal sex activity. A few diseases likewise may contribute to that condition, but chiefly mental factors are at fault, Dr. Elber Belt, of Los Angeles, told the American Medical Association yesterday.

There is no clear-cut phenomenon among men corresponding to the menopause or change of life in women, Dr. Belt said.

"In fact," he added, "one may state facetiously that in the male this state can be described as a change of wife rather than as a change of life."

Doctors can make matters even worse for men thus handicapped, Dr. Belt said, if they try to laugh off the problems of these patients.

Can Do Great Harm



"If a doctor nervously tries to laugh off the problem, almost irreparable harm may be done. Frequently such a patient goes from doctor to doctor, becoming more and more disappointed and discouragde. Thus, before he reaches an understanding doctor, a grave despondency has been added to the original psychoneurosis."

Doctors who are indifferent to or flippant about such matters probably themselves are victims of prepressed fears and emotional conflicts which they fail to understand, the specialist said.

The mental conflicts which cause impotence may not be sexual in origin. They may mirror the man's feelings of failure in business or social life, Dr. Belt said.

"The impotent male is never a happy man," Dr. Belt added. "He is a frightened man and often desperate, ready to seize upon any quick remedy that is suggested to him."

There are tests which can show clearly whether this handicap is due to physical or psychic factors, and treatment can be prescribed accordingly, Dr. Belt said.

CLAIMED TO BE THE LARGEST miniature electric train setup in the world, this model layout is now on view in Montreal. It belongs to Dr. Eugene Winter, a German inventor, and took 12 years to build. The trains, pulled by 18 locomotives and comprising 50 cars, operate on a table 70 feet long. There are 52 electric controls and 105 signals in addition to the many devices used for handling both passenger and freight cars after the manner of a full-scale railway system.

Feer Of Incidents Keeps Russians, British Far Apart

By DOUGLAS HOW

ON THE ALLIED-SOVIET FRONTIER NEAR HELMSTEDT, Germany, Dec. 7 (CP) — Russians are 40-odd miles from the 27th Brigdae at this frontier point, but the Canadians are not encouraged to come and see them.

Soldiers' sightseeing trips "to see the Russians" are, in fact, frowned upon because on a border where both sides try to avoid "incidents" this is no place for too many soldiers to be.

The world the Canadian understands comes to an end here in a pine forest called the Lappwold where men live and work almost side by side and are as depressingly far apart, as cut off as the two worlds they represent.

Here where the British and Russian zones of Germany come together their soldiers work a few yards apart in mutual fear of "incidents." There is no fraternization, no sharing of friendships, of evenings, hardly even any sharing of conversation between the two sides which operate checkpoints on the great two-lane autobahn or highway Hitler built between Berlin and the western boundaries of Germany.

Out Of Bounds

A hundred yards or so apart are the two small buildings which, together with West and East German checks, take up to six hours to clear individual vehicles in the two-way traffic, notably the giant trucks moving towards Berlin with food for the people in its isolated western sector.

(Berlin, incidentally, was the first place in Europe to be placed out of bounds to the 27th Brigade, at least until its dangers of "incidents" have been assessed.)

There are only a few buildings, flags, men in British, Russian, East and West German uniforms, a sign which says "you are now entering the Russian zone," lines of trucks and civilian vehicles waiting to get through and, on either side of the highway, the forest through which thousands of refugees from East Germany have fled in the last six years. Helmstedt is out of sight, a small, picturesque town backgrounded by hills.

Manoeuvres Banned

For some years, troop exercises have been banned within five miles of this frontier because of "incidents." The British find that the Russians are terrified of "incidents." The British themselves are warned to "avoid incidents."

The Russians guard their own frontier. The B... ...ave it mainly to West German police in green uniforms, backed by armored car patrols from time to time.

In the little concrete British checkpoint building these signs crystalize the atmosphere for people preparing to move on to Berline along 120 miles of highway they are not allowed to leave:

"Important notice—if directed to stop by East German police do so but show no documents. If not allowed to proceed return to checkpoint for instructions. Avoid incidents."

"Have you enough petrol for 120 miles . . . don't leave the autobahn . . . if you have a breakdown don't leave the spot."

The two sides have reduced their contacts almost entirely to business. In the words of one West German customs official, "there is business and goodbye and that is all."

House Honors PC Whip

OTTAWA, Dec. 7 —(CP)—The Commons Thursday paid tribute to A. C. Casselman, chief whip of the Progressive Conservative party, on the occasion of the 30th anniversary of his election to the Commons. Congratulations were also extended to two other members first elected to the Commons 30 years ago. They were Joseph Harris (PC—Danforth) and W. J. Ward (L—Dauphin).

Prime Minister St. Laurent said he wished to extend the warmest congratulations to the three veteran members. Mr. Casselman, as whip, had served in a manner that was helpful to the businness of the House.

George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, Angus MacInnis (CCF—Vancouver East) and John Blackmore (SC—Lethbridge) extended their best wishes.

Mr. Casselman, member for the Ontario constituency of Grenville - Dundas, expressed his thanks to his electors for their confidence in him and to members of the Commons for their tributes.

On his desk as he entered the chamber, was a large bouquet of red roses.

Manslaughter Acquittal

CHATHAM, Dec. 7 — (CP) — Robert V. G. Stevens, of Erieau Thursday was acquitted of a charge of manslaughter. Stephens was charged following an accident on No. 40 highway on the night of Oct. 14, when the car he had borrowed crashed into a motorcycle operated by Basil Walker of Wallaceburg. Walker's companion, Velma Anrey of Sombra, died of injuries received in the crash.

Jury Decides Gilson Innocent

ST. CATHARINES, Ont., Dec. 7 (CP)—Earl Gilson, of Niagara Falls, charged with being the third man of a trio which attempted to hold up a bank at St. David's Sept. 12, Thursday was found innocent by a county court jury which deliberated for 90 minutes.

Defence counsel Judy LaMarsh, whose automobile was stolen and used by the bandits, said police looking for a third robber were pleased to use Gilson as a scapegoat.

"When they found him, they said: "We'll make this man fit into the crime'," she said.

Gilson was picked up by a hydro security officer about 3½ hours after the bandits had abandoned their escape car. Two of the bandit trio were captured and were sentenced before Gilson's trial began.

Miss LaMarsh said that all evidence against Gilson was circumstantial. The Crown had introduced no evidence of descriptions of the three robbers although many people in St. David's village undoubtedly saw them.

HISTORIC CANAL

The Wabash-Erie canal, running 467 miles from the Ohio river to Lake Erie, was completed in 1851.

One-Cent Differential KeptOnMilk–Kennedy

TORONTO, Dec. 7 (CP)—Agriculture Minister Kennedy said Thursday that Toronto's new milk prices, effective Dec. 15, will include a one-cent differential between milk delivered to homes and purchased at stores.

Earlier a Toronto milk distributor forecast that milk in Toronto stores would sell at 21 cents a quart. A ruling Wednesday by the Ontario milk board set the Toronto ceiling price at 22 cents. That price will apply to home-delivered milk.

"You will find that when the new price becomes effective the differential will be maintained," Mr. Kennedy said in an interview.

Marmora News

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Fluke have moved to Maple Leaf cheese factory near Bonarlaw where the former has been engaged as maker for the next season.

Mr. Oscar Cole was admitted to Belleville General hospital on Wednesday.

Publicity Bad

ST. THOMAS, Ont., Dec. 7—(CP)—Too much publicity arising from Ontario Milk Control Board hearings is having a bad effect on the dairy industry, Aliff Weaver, president of the Ontario Whole Milk Producers Association, said Thursday. He told the St. Thomas Milk Producers Association that in centres where wide publicity attended price hearing, milk sales are affected.

Do Temperance Job

TORONTO, Dec. 7 — (CP) — William H. Cranston, editor and publisher of the semi-weekly Midland Free Press-Herald, said Thursday that Canadian daily and weekly newspapers are doing a far better job in temperance education that is done by some full-time temperance workers. He told the Canadian Temperance Federation Council that editorial pages and news columns speak out for temperance education.

Indian Asks Gold Returned

DEADWOOD, SD. Dec. 7 (AP) —A descendant of the Chippewa Indians has filed suit against the United States government, asking return to the Indians of the "millions of dollars of gold taken from the black hills since 1875."

Herbert Harris of Ottawa filed the suit in probate court "in behalf of the estate of the North Americans Indians of Canada and the United States." They are the lawful heirs to the gold by "birthright inheritance," Harris said.

Harris' mother was a Chippewa Indian. His father was Irish.

The 79-year-old Canadian seeks an accounting of all the gold taken from the black hills since 1875. He indicts the United States as a "claim jumper and an invader without a recorded transfer of title from the original title holders."

Harris said in the suit that the gold should be apportioned to each living surviving heir of the North American Indian. He asks that the apportionment be made by an administrator.

Located in the black hills is the Homestake Gold mine, leading gold-producing mine in the country. The firm is not named in the suit.

Overturn Law

ALBANY, NY, Dec. 7—(AP)—The New York State Court of Appeals decided Thursday that a child, who suffered injuries before birth as a result of alleged negligence of another person, could bring an action for damages after birth. The state's highest court, by a 5-to-2 vote thus overturned a rule of law that has been ironclad in the state for 30 years.

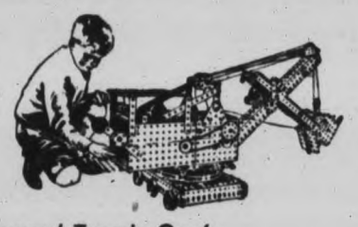
Dock Strike Ends

LONDON, Dec. 7—(Reuters)—London's big dock strike ended Thursday night when 4,000 bargemen lifted the overtime ban they had imposed six weeks ago to bolster pay claims. Seven thousand stevedores who joined the strike in sympathy also were told by their leaders to work normally today.

Young's Point News

Mr. and Mrs. P. Godfrey visited friends in Kinmount and Sudbury over the weekend.

Mrs. E. Freeburn has returned after an extended visit with her brother's family in Sudbury.



Mrs. C. Pelton has returned after spending two weeks with her father and mother in Guelph.

Mrs. W. Clark, a lifelong resident of Young's Point, is ill in St. Joseph's Hospital, Peterborough.

WAYWARD YOUNG SKUNK, who recently disrupted Montreal traffic, got a ride in a police paddy-wagon, and finally scented the SPAC office, has gone to his last resting place. The skunk, discovered only a half block away from police headquarters, was standing in the middle of a street gazing around with a somewhat confused look at the rush of autos, trucks and excited citizens who had spotted him. After running behind a sandbox for refuge a couple of brave people trapped him in cardboard boxes. Holding the box at arms length, one of the men proudly walked through the crowd to an awaiting police van. On arrival at SPCA headquarters the skunk lost no time in showing his dislike for the office. It wasn't much later that the SPCA showed their dislike for the skunk.

OTTAWA'S NEW BRIDGE—The new Mackenzie King bridge, first major project in Ottawa's beautification plan, will be opened to traffic shortly. This photo shows the temporary approach which links with Albert street. Casting a shadow across the approach is the Aylmer Building which is to be removed in the spring to make way for construction of a similar connecting link with the bridge at Slater street, across the Rideau canal. When completed it will serve as a route through the National capital and help relieve traffic on Confederation Square, often referred to as "Confusion Square."

Magazine Editor Harold Ross Dies In Hospital

BOSTON, Dec. 7 (AP)—Harold W. Ross, 60, the sharp-witted editor of the famed and witty New Yorker Magazine, died Thursday night in New England Baptist Hospital.

His death came after an operation for a lung ailment. Ross had been under periodic treatment since last April.

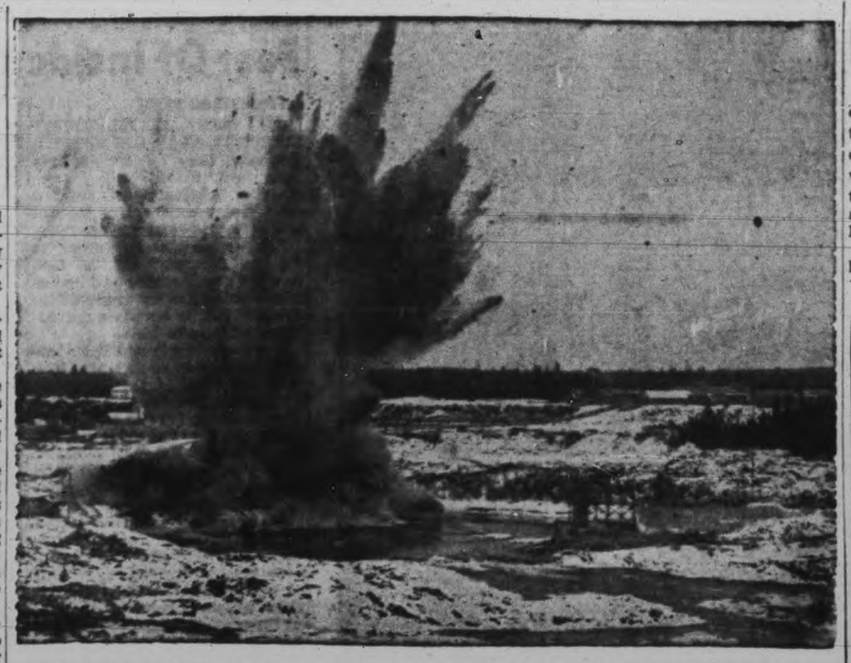
A onetime newspaperman, he founded The New Yorker 26 years ago and built it to a place of eminence for sophisticated satire and humor.

Most critics considered the magazine unique in its field, and gave most of the credit for its subtle wit and keen profiles on life and people to the guiding hand of its editor.

The magazine has a circulation of 325,000, two-thirds of it outside New York.

Ross had an explosive disposition, which was apt to flare into biting remarks, either verbally or on office memos.

Exacting Man



A raw-boned, bespectacled man, he wore rumpled suits, and with his unruly hair, somehow had a constant air of dishevelment.

In the first issue of the New Yorker in 1925, Ross stated the magazine's objective: "To be gay, humorous, satirical, but to be more than just a jester" and not "for the old lady in Dubuque."

It has 69 subscribers in Dubuque.

Ross was an unflagging perfectionist on fine points of grammar, punctuation and style, and always drove his staff to find the right word, the apt phrase, the exact image.

Between 1906 and 1917, Ross worked on several newspapers including the Salt Lake City Tribune, the New Orleans Item, the Atlanta Journal and the former San Francisco Call.

POWER PROJECT BLAST — Quebec's third largest river, the Manicouagan, literally was blasted from its bed Monday when 213,000 pounds of dynamite lifted 190,000 tons of rock and earth to open a tunnel diverting the river's course for 1,800 feet. Purpose of the blast was to make way for a dam that will serve the town of Baie Comeau on the north shore of the lower St. Lawrence river.

Liberals Plan To Hold Caucus

TORONTO, Dec. 7—(CP)—The eight Liberals elected in the Ontario election Nov. 22 will hold a caucus today when it probably will be decided whether any of the eight will yield his legislature seat to the defeated Ontario Liberal leader Walter Thompson.

Mr. Thomson, it was reported, has made it clear that he will not ask for a seat but is looking for a "volunteer."

Mr. Thomson was defeated in Ontario riding by T. D. Thomas, CCF candidate.

Farquhar Oliver, House leader in the last legislature, was one of the Liberals elected.

The Liberals now form the official opposition, having displaced the CCF.

Chinese Chatter As Boy Aids Van Doos In Korea

WITH THE BRITISH COMMONWEALTH DIVISION, Korea, Dec. 7 (Reuters)—When a Chinese family moved next door to him in Toronto while he was a boy, Jacques Morin didn't know the chatter he picked up would one day help a platoon of Canada's Royal 22nd Regiment (The Van Doos) out of a tough psot in Korea.

At the height of the recent ill-fated Communist assault on the flank of Hill 355 on Korea's western front, Jacques' platoon was in a forward position.

The radio picked up a constant stream of Chinese from Communists on the other side of a narrow no-man's-land. The young Canadian found he could understand what was being said, and that it concerned a gap between his platoon and the next.

His officer ordered six Van Doos into the gap with orders to give the impression it was firmly held. Loud talk and smoke bombs did the trick.

The next message from the Communist commander confirmed that he thought the gap had been firmly plugged and he would have to change his plans.

Later the same morning Jacques heard Communists reporting that the Van Doos were repairing their madly-shelled positions. A quick warning sent the Canadians under cover.

Invite Scottish Team Take Part In Debate

MONTREAL, Dec. 7 (CP)—The McGill University debating union Thursday announced that a Scottish debating team has been invited to compete with a team chosen from McGill, Toronto, Queen's and Western Universities.

The union said the team from Scotland will consist of three students from Aberdeen, Edinburgh and Glasgow. They will arrive here next January.

Murray Speigel and Peter Satterthwaite will represent McGill at Toronto Saturday in competition with teams from the other universities, the winner to debate against the Scottish team.

Given Deadline

VANCOUVER, Dec. 7—(CP)—The News-Herald says today in a front-page story that if British Columbia's 43-day brewery strike is not settled by noon Saturday the striking workers will be fired. Giving no source for its story, the newspaper says the ultimatum has been agreed on by the executives of the four breweries closed in Vancouver, Victoria and New Westminster.

Cattle Rustlers

MACLEOD, Alta., Dec. 7—(CP)—Ernest Maunsell-Wybrants, 34-year-old MacLeod beekeeper, Thursday pleaded guilty to rustling 26 head of purebred cattle. Magistrate K. G. Craig remanded him to Dec. 14 for sentence. Maunsell-Wybrants' 19-year-old companion, Mrs. Maureen Joan Horne, the mother of an 11-month-old child, pleaded guilty to two charges of stealing and also was remanded for sentence.

Atomic Artillery

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7—(AP)—Gen. J. Lawton Collins said Thursday night the United States has developed atomic artillery and he indicated that such weapons may be ready for combat use in the "not too distant" future. The US army's chief of staff said atomic weapons will not revolutionize ground warfare but they will "greatly enhance the power of defence" and be of greater value in defence than in attack.

New Mechanical Heart Developed At UWO

LONDON, Ont., Dec. 7—(CP)—A new type of mechanical heart which puts oxygen back into the blood and may prove valuable in heart illness and surgery, has been built at the University of Western Ontario Medical School.

The school said the artificial heart, which also performs some functions of the human lung, was developed in three years' work by Dr. Russell A. Waud, head of the department of pharamocology.

"If this machine were on hand at the time a heart stopped during an operation, said Dr. Waud, the surgeon would just have to cut down into a vein and an artery, attach the tubes and keep the body alive until the human heart resumed its action."

The doctor said the heart has not been given clinical tests, but laboratory experiments indicate it will have value in human technique.

In Two Units

Dr. Waud's equipment is in two units. The heart portion is mounted on a three-foot board. Two pumps, made grom glass syringes, are driven by an electric motor through a variable gear box. The pump pistons are connected to a cam which detemines the length and duration of the stroke.

One syringe draws blood from the body. This blood is dark red, showing lack of oxygen. In its reverse stroke it pumps this blood into the lung section of the machine. The other syringe draws the blood from the lung section. It now is bright red, showing that oxygen has been restored. The reverse stroke of this part of the pump forces the blood into the body.

Dr. Waud said other heart substitutes have not been successful in by-passing the heart and keeping the body alive for long periods. He said he believes his mechanical heart will do that.

Like Cocktail Shaker

Dr. Waud's artificial lung consists of a glass container, something like a large cocktail shaker with the top off. This is placed inside a similarly shaped metal container. Between the inner and outer vessels there is liquid, heated to maintain the blood at proper body temperature.

In the glass container a supply of blood is poured and oxygen is bubbled through it. In older equipment this bubbling action was considered sufficient to put oxygen back into the blood. Dr. Waud said he felt this was not enough.

Dr. Waud said he noticed that as oxygen bubbled through the blood, oxygen bubbles formed on the top of the container. In previous types of heart-lung machines, this foam was removed. He decided the millions of bubbles were just the thing he needed to provide the area equivalent to that in the human lung.

In his lung he lets blood from the body drip into the top of the glass container. It falls on the foam and, seeping down through the bubbles, absorbs oxygen.

Dr. Waud said he believes his heart could be used in heart operations or in cases where the human heart is greatly overloaded and thus weakened to a point where it might fail.

Hospital Therapy Yule Party Aids

ORILLIA (CP)—Christmas activity is useful therapy at the Ontario Hospital here.

It provides an extra spurt of interest in the continual staff effort to teach 2,400 mentally retarded children how to look after themselves and become useful members of society.

About two dozen of the youngsters have produced a playlet about Santa Claus and the circus. A number of girls have also taken part in the effort, sewing costumes for the performers.

The main presentation will be at the hospital's Christmas party.

The play is just one part of a continuing process under Dr. H. F. Frank, acting superintendent, to keep the hospital on an active treatment basis. The chief tools in the treatment are patience, gentle guidance and ingenuity.

Dr. Frank has been encouraged by the formation of half a dozen voluntary parents' organizations to help their children at home. He said that it takes a lot of courage for parents to admit that their boys or girls are mentally retarted, below average.

The hospital supplies lecturers for organizations in Toronto, London, Hamilton and Windsor. From there on the understanding and patience required, the individual attention, are supplied by the parents.

Basso Dies

NEW YORK, Dec. 7—(AP)—Leon Rothier, 76, a world-famous operatic basso for nearly half a century, died Thursday. His death was attributed to complications arising from a chronic heart ailment. Rothier was a leading basso for the Metropolitan Opera from 1910 to 1941.

Asks Vote Recount

KENORA, Dec. 7—(CP)—An application for recount of votes has been made by J. V. Fregeau, Progressive Conservative candidate for Kenora riding in the Nov. 22 Ontario election. Liberal-Labor candidate Albert Wren was elected with a majority of 125 votes over Mr. Fregeau.

Hope To Get Kin Out Of Red China

OTTAWA, Dec. 7 (CP).—Immigration Minister Harris said on Thursday the government is doing all it can to help Canadians of Chinese origin to bring their relatives out of Red China, and is prepared to expand facilities for them, if necessary.

He told Arthur Laing (L, Vancouver South) in the Commons that his department is endeavoring to expedite the processing of relatives through Hong Kong. The department's staff there has been increased.

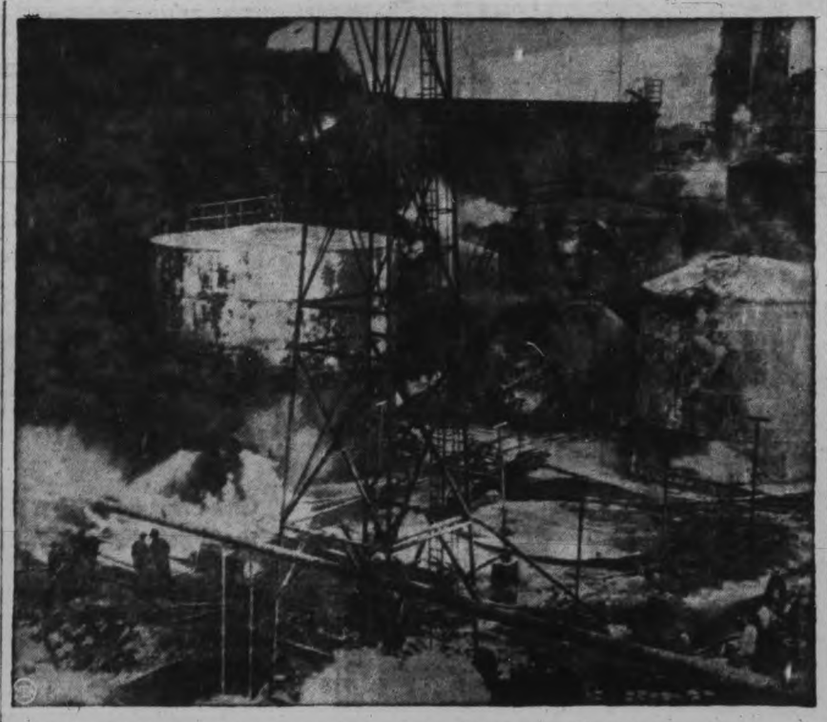
Mr. Laing asked what is being done "in the light of the blackmail being faced by Canadians of Chinese origin and the conditions of terror imposed on their families in China."

Mr. Harris reviewed the easing of restrictions on Chinese immigration in recent years and reported that it has climbed to 2,500 this year from seven in 1946.

Not Exempt From Tax

OTTAWA, Dec. 7 — (CP) — An External Affairs Department officialy said Thursday it is Canada's policy that Canadians should not be exempt from federal income-tax merely because they work for some international organization. J. P. Erickson-Brown made the statement to the Commons' External Relations Committee in explaining a government bill to provide privileges and immunities for officials and members of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. Canada will get similar privileges from other NATO countries.

Pioneers Honored



TORONTO, Dec. 7 — (CP) — Fifty-four men who pioneered Ontario's modern railway transport industry in the horse-and-buggy days Thursday night were presented with silver ash-trays by the Automotive Transport Association. One of the recipients was Phil Smith who drove a team of horses out of Oshawa in 1919. Tody he is president of a firm with 1,000 trucks on the road—the biggest company of its kind in the British Empire.

Farmer Acquitted

GUELPH, Dec. 7 — (CP) — George McMillan, Minto township farmer, was acquitted Thusday of dynamiting the garage and home of C. G. McPhail, of Clifford, Ont., last July. The charge was laid after police learned McMillan had been angry when his girl friend told him she preferred McPhail.

Not Much Improvement

TORONTO, Dec. 7 — (CP) — A grand jury Thursday reported that "deplorable conditions" found by a grand jury a year ago at Toronto's City Hall have been "only slightly improved." The cells, described last year as "a modern Black Hole of Calcutta," were dismissed in this year's jury report as "not as black." However, the jury criticized city officials for giving no apparent thought to improvement for court-house facilities.

BLAST HEARD 15 MILES—A gasoline storage tank field in Trenton, Mich., is gutted after an explosion and fire tore through five filled tanks. The blast shot flames and smoke hundreds of feet into the air and the sound was heard 15 miles away.. No one was hurt in the explosion.

Ontario Truckers Worried About Railways

TORONTO, Dec. 7 (CP)—Ontario truckers today replied to Donald Gordon, president of Canadian National Railways, who said last week that railways would inevitably operate trucks on Canadian highways.

J. O. Goodman, spokesman for the truckers, told the Canadian Automotive Transport Association that the directors would welcome competition on an equitable basis only if the railways could prove it was necessary.

"They (the railways) should not have an unlimited licence and should, unless they can prove public necessity, be barred from the field."

The CNR backed by the government, would be unfair competition and could put every trucking company in the country out of business, he said.

In elections for the Ontario section, C. J. Doerr of Waterloo was named president to succeed George M. Parke of Toronto.

John Magee, executive secretary of the CATA asked Ontario truckers to contribute $48,000 toward a fund to educate the public and government about the trucking industry. It would finance a campaign for more favorable legislation for the trucking industry.

100,000 Species Of Fungi and Moulds

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—Moulds or fungi spoil bread and give you penicillin. But have you heard of those that shoot like anti-aircraft guns?

One such fungus infects and kills houseflies. Then it does an amazing thing. It pushes thousands of stalks out through the fly's body. The tip of each stalk has a spherical spore, the seeds for more fungi.

Suddenly, this spore tip is shot into space. If it hits a fly, it germinates, grows into the fly's body, and kills it.

If the spore tip lands on grass, soil, or leaves, it germinates, sends up a shorter stalk, this time with a smaller spore. That one gets fired off, too. The fungus can repeat this several times, on the chance of hitting a fly, before its energy to grow again is gone.

Take another fungus, pilobolus the cap thrower. It grows in horse dung. Its stalks point to the light. On the tip of each stalk is a hemispherical, black cap.

Cap Shot Off

At maturity, this cap is suddenly shot off at an initial speed close to 30 miles an hour. It travels four to five feet, sometimes further, measured horizontally. The shooting usually occurs in the morning, when the stalks are inclined at a 45-degree angle, pointing at the sun. Artillerymen use about the same angle to get the greatest distance with their shells. Pilobolus' black cap is sticky, so it will stick to leaves, waiting to be munched by a horse and start the cycle over again.

Dr. Clyde M. Christensen tells of these fungi or tiny plants in a fascinating book, "The Moulds and Man," published by the University Minnesota press. He is a mycologist in the university's plant pathology department. His own research aided in discovery of better moulds to make penicillin, and in other problems.

Scavenger Species

Fungi and moulds—which are a class of fungi—are essential for life on earth, he writes. They are as important as green plants. For most of the 100,000 species of fungi are scavengers, turning plant and animal remains into rich soil.

And rocks as well. Lichens, a combination of fungi and algae, actually decay rocks into dirt.

You find fungi everywhere. They help man, but also cause many plant, animal and human diseases. The human ailments include allergies. Tons of spores of one fungus, alternaria, float at times in invisible clouds. They are a common cause of asthma.

"Air-born spores of fungi often determine not only what people will eat, but how much, and how good," Dr. Christensen says. Spores of stem rust of wheat have been caught in the air near the North Pole. Fungi are prolific. An average-sized smut gall of corn contains about 25,000,000 spores.

Curious Partnerships

Living things often have curious partnerships with fungi. Most forest trees depend upon fungi on their absorbing roots for much of their nourishment, the scientist writes. Many plants have no root hairs, and fungus partners do the drudgery of absorbing food and water from the soil. Some ants and other insects depend upon fungi for food or for protective houses.

Fungi and moulds often are pests, but "there's no general, all-purpose fungicide." One kind of fungi even likes creosote, used in wood to protect it from fungi. Paint is delightful food for others. Fungi and moulds attack cotton, leather, other fabrics, and "many a svelte figure is kept in shape by a mouldy girdle."

Roads Not Too Good

MONTREAL, Dec. 7—(CP)—Delegates at the closing session of the two-day executive meeting of the Canadian Federation of Mayors and Municipalities Thursday approved a report by the Canadian Roads Association which says Canadian roads are not as good as they should be. The mayors also approved a statement of the advisory board of the federation opposing the application of the Bell Telephone Company of Canada for a general increase in rates.

Find Angers And Fears Have Own Effects On Body's Strength

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE.

NEW YORK — (CP). — Getting mad, or getting scared, does powerful things to the human body.

Blood pressure kicks up. Pulse quickens, hands sweat, face muscles tense. Once it was thought the changes were exactly the same regardless of whether you were angry or afraid. Your adrenal glands released a shot of adrenalin, to get you ready to fight or run.

Now for the first time a psychologist tells of finding physical differences brought on by these two emotions. The differences are in the degree of some of the changes, Dr. Albert F. Ax of the University of Washington told the American Psychological Association.

In fear, your pulse rate rises more than in anger, he said. The hands sweat more. The amount of blood pumped by the heart increases more. So does the systolic blood pressure, the pressure when the heart is contracting.

In anger, he found, there is a greater drop in temperature of the hands and face than in fear. There is a greater rise in diastolic blood pressure, when the heart muscle relaxes between beats.

The differences may be due to the fact there are two kinds of adrenalin, Dr. Ax said. Injections of one kind brought reactions in people more like those when they felt fear. The other kind of adrenalin made them react more like they do when they are angry.

Machine Can't Lie

Dr. Ax used a polygraph, a machine akin to the lie detector, to measure the physical changes caused by fear and anger. Humans can be wired up to it to measure eight changes at one time—pulse rate, blood pressure, heart stroke volume, breathing, sweating of palms, temperature of fingertips and face, and tension of forehead muscles.

He wired up volunteers, men and women, to the machine. Then came some tricks.

To produce fear, the polygraph was rigged to give slight shocks. But Dr. Ax and his associates put on a stunt, acting panicky in pretense that something had gone wrong with the machine, indicating it might electrocute the volunteer. A big spark snapped, on a circuit not connected with the person's body. Most of them were afraid.

To produce anger, at another testing, Dr. Ax told the vounteer that he had had to rehire a technician who was incompetent, and nasty in temperament. This technician appeared, bumbling to cause delays, and blaming the volunteer for not co-operating. The volunteer got angry, and the polygraph again measured what happened to him.

The people were interviewed afterward to learn whether they had seen through the tricks. If they had, their measurements were not counted. This work was done when Dr. Ax was at Harvard University.

The effects of other emotions can be studied in the same way, he said, and the findings and method may be helpful in treating people who are emotionally sick. Such people often try to hide what they really feel, and the physical tests by the polygraph might show what they actually feel.

Sinatra, Bride Leave On Trip To England

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 7 (AP).—Frank Sinatra left for London on Thursday night with his bride of a month, actress Ava Gardner, expressing little concern over possible illegality of his Nevada divorce from Nancy Sinatra.

"That's a million miles behind us," was the crooner's observation when asked for comment.

A Las Vegas lawyer said today that Sinatra's divorce, and his subsequent marriage to Miss Gardner, may be invalid.

May Move Into BC

KELOWNA, BC, Dec. 7 (CP)—The Social Credit Party may move into British Columbia in the next provincial election. Political observers forecast this move Thursday when W. A. C. Bennett, rebel member of the legislature, announced here that he plans to join the Social Crediters. Mr. Bennett, elected as a Coalition member for South Okanagan in the 1949 general election, crossed the floor of the House last February, sitting as an independent member.

Character Actor Dies

LONDON, Dec. 7—(AP)—J. Edward Bromberg, 47, actor famed for his character roles, was fuond dead Thursday in his apartment here.

RUSK TO QUIT?—Washington reports say Dean Rusk, assistant Secretary of State for Far Eastern Affairs, above, is expected to resign soon to take a position in private enterprise. The State Department declined to comment on it, but Rusk's associates said they wouldn't be surprised if he left government service for the higher pay and greater calm of private life.

Hit In Face By Flying Chip Regains Sight

VEGREVILLE, Alta., Dec. 7 — (CP)—Archie F. Cowell was chopping wood Sept. 20 when a splinter struck his cheekbone just below his eye. The blow may have restored his sight.

"The first thing I saw was the leaves on the trees," Archie said Thursday. "I hadn't seen them for 15 years. Then I saw the flowers. They were such bright colors. I could see the features of my friends. They are all older. I hadn't seen myself in a mirror for 10 years."

He saw his grandchildren for the first time and now is able to spot airplanes flying over. But he still can't read.

Archie could see in only one eye when he came to Canada from England in 1913. An accident 10 years later ruptured a blood vessel in the other eye. A San Francisco specialist told him in 1948 that he eventually would lose his sight completely.

After his accident, Archie visited specialists in Edmonton. They told him it was one chance in a thousand that the blow had improved his sight.

Said Archie: "It's the nearest thing to a miracle. It's really wonderful."

IN A TRENCH in Korea a young man is crouching. He looks up and watches the explosion of the withering mortar fire that was meant to prevent him and his comrades capturing the trench. It is a picture of death going overhead and it was taken when the King's Shropshire Light Infantry of the 20,000-strong British Commonwealth Division drove strongly entrenched Communists form a 1,000-ft. high peak.

Tool Engineers Hear Address Metal Pressing

The Peterborough and District Tool Engineers held their first technical meeting last evening at the Empress Hotel with some 65 in attendance, including members from Belleville, Lindsay and Deloro.

Guest speaker was John W. Singbridge, project engineer and chief draughtsman, Aluminum Goods Limited, Toronto, who spoke on "Metal Presswork," covering both the theory and practical of this phase of working metals. He covered first a brief history of metal development and the primitive methods used for working it, backing up to our modern present day methods employed. His lecture was illustrated by slides and numerous samples of various types of processes such as carving, forming, extruding.

The guest speaker was introduced by Lou Hansler and thanked by Jack Graham.

During the evening chairman Bob Dyer introduced several new charter members as well as those that had been appointed as committee chairmen. He expressed his thanks to the members in the interest they had shown by the excellent attendance of the meeting.

Gladiolus Society Plans Activities

The Peterborough and District Gladiolus Society met in the department of agriculture rooms on Thursday evening. President Clarence Porter gave a brief outline of the plans for the winter activities. He also suggested that a drive to enlist 200 new members should be started the first of the year. An extensive winter program has been planned.

The secretary, Mrs. J. H. Leslie has arranged through the Canadian Gladiolus Society to have an outstanding speaker for the January meeting.

George Clarke and Harry Jackson, directors of the gladiolus test gardens, told the members about the great progress made during the past two years and that several new varieties will be on the market in the near future.

Clifford Brien and Mrs. A. Barnes of the film council have arranged special garden films for the society to be shown during the winter months.

Bud Lloyd, chairman of the junior committee reported on the junior activities and said that the junior memberships have doubled during the past two years. Each junior will received exhibition bulbs in the spring to encourage them to take a greater interest in growing flowers for exhibitions and flower shows.

Fred Storey and Richard Hocking of the entertainment committee will arrange bus trips to Toronto for hockey games this winter.

LOBA 1952 Officers Installed At Bonarlaw

Toboggan slides for pigeons

When we put an aluminum roof on our Kingston, Ont. plant, we knew it would have many advantages for the people inside; but, frankly, we did not consider the pigeon population outside. They landed on the shining surface . . . slid . . . liked the sensation . . . made it a pastime.

Providing toboggan slides for pigeons is no part of our programme. However, the aluminum roofs which now dot the countryside do illustrate the rapidly growing demand for aluminum. To match growing markets like this, we are building new plants and powerhouses in Quebec and British Columbia. Aluminum Company of Canada, Ltd. (Alcan).

GRISLY CUSTOM

The Jivaro Indians of ancient Peru had a custom of mummifying human heads, probably for religious purposes.

Mrs. N. Leach Elected Fenella WMS Head

ROSENEATH, Dec. 7. (ENS)—Mrs. N. C. Leach was re-elected president of the WMS of Fenella United Church at their annual election of officers on Tuesday.

The Rev. R. C. White conducted the election of officers, who are: president, Mrs. N. C. Leach; 1st vice-president, Mrs. Gordon Jewell; 2nd vice-president, Mrs. R. C. White; treasurer, Mrs. Frank Down; secretary, Mrs. Laurie Hope; community friendship, Mrs. Charles Barker; Missionary Monthly secretary, Mrs. Carl McNaught; associate helpers secretary, Mrs. Solomon Leach; supply secretary, Mrs. Charles Barker; temperance secretary, Mrs. C. D. Harper; Christian stewardship, Mrs. George Duncan; finance committee, Mrs. Frank Down, Mrs. N. C. Leach, Mrs. George Duncan; baby band secretary, Mrs. W. H. Sandercock; organist, Mrs. Frank Down; assistant organist, Mrs. Laurie Hope; good cheer committee, Mrs. Charles Barker and Mrs. Frank Down.

Following the election, the Rev. R. C. White conducted the installation service.

The meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Laurie Hope and Mrs. Charles Barker with Mrs. Frank Down in charge of a worship service in keeping with the Christmas story and the singing of Christmas carols and a candlelighting service. Assisting Mrs. Down with the latter service were Mrs. Solomon Leach for the Jews of Canada, Mrs. Marcus Lonsberry for the Canadian Indians, Mrs. Carl McNaught for the French Canadians, Mrs. James Waldie for our European ancestors, Mrs. Charles Childs for the people of devastated Europe, Mrs. Laurie Hope for Christian love.

An appropriate Christmas carol was sung following the lighting of each candle.

Mrs. N. C. Leach presided over the business period when the annual reports were presented.

A Christmas program was presented concluding with a Christmas quiz by Mrs. Gordon Jewell.

Wondering If Wrong Man Hanged

LONDON, Dec. 7 (Reuters)—Was the wrong man hanged at Strangeways jail on the morning of Feb. 27 four years ago? The question was asked in parliament today of Home Secretary Sir David Maxwell Fyfe.

Two Labor members, Sydney Silverman and Leslie Hale, raised the case of 40-year-old Olive Blanchin, a woman of loose character, for whose hammer murder Walter Graham Rowland, 38, was hanged in 1947. The woman's battered body was found amidst bomb ruins in Manchester.

But at the time of the trial David Ware, in jail for larceny, confessed to the prison governor that he had committed the crime of which Rowland stood accused.

No one believed him and, on being sentenced to death, Rowland made one of the longest post-trial protestations of innocence on record. "May God forgive you," he cried. "You have condemned an innocent man."

Last month, the same David Ware was found guilty, but insane, of an almost exactly similar murder-attempt on Mrs. Phyllis Fuidge, 41. The woman escaped with her life when the handle broke loose from a hammer with which Ware tried to rain blows on her head.

When Ware was found guilty of the attempt the whole case was rehashed in the press and Silverman gave notice of his intention to raise it in the Commons.

Answering him today Fyfe said it would not be fair for him to re-try the case by answering questions. But, he added, "if any member brings specific facts to my attention, I will inquire into them."

Couple Feted

ROSENEATH, Dec. 7 (ENS).—Mr. and Mrs. Warren Atkinson were pleasantly surprised at the conclusion of choir practice of the United church when they were presented with an electric table lamp in honor of their marriage, that took place earlier in the fall. Mr. and Mrs. Atkinson (nee Hilda Arthur) are members of Roseneath choir.

The choir practice was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred G. Lewis. Following the presentation lunch was served and social time enjoyed.

Peter Robinson

Funeral service for the late Peter Robinson, 60, of Young's Point, who died in a Toronto hospital on Tuesday following a prolonged illness, was held on Thursday at the Anderson Funeral Home, Lakefield. Canon F. J. Fife of St. Aiden's Anglican Church officiated and pallbearers were Edward Watson, Randal Nicholson, Harold and Fred Young, Frank Welch and Arthur Morris. Burial was at Hillside cemetery, Lakefield.

WINS DCM—Sgt. D. A. McCuish of Winnipeg and Toronto has been awarded the Distinguished Conduct Medal for "leadership and courage" while serving with the 2nd Battalion of the Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry in Korea. Sgt. McCuish, now on a month's rotation leave, is the second Manitoban to win the award in the Korean campaign.

New floor covering is going to be laid in the centre display hall on the second floor and also the secretary's office at the public library. This decision was made Thursday night at a meeting of the library board.

NEEDS SEWAGE PLANT

Port Hope is confronted with a municipal "must", building of a sewage plant costing around $300,000. Gore and Storrie, engineering consultants, will report definitely in the spring. Sewers and other installations will be extras.

RINGS TO 'RIDERS'

It should be of interest to Ald. Herbert Young, chairman of the reception committee, and other members of the council that Ottawa's gifts to the Rough Riders, Grey Cup winners, were rings embossed with the city's crest. Fourteen hundred fans attended the dinner at the Coliseum. Some of the team had to send regrets, among them Don Crowe. Tom O'Malley wired from Montreal that his plane was grounded.

T. M. G. JAMIESON

Mel. Jamieson Retires From CPR After 47 Years

After 47 years with the CPR helping people arrange trips around the world or as far as Cavan, T. G. M. (Mel) Jamieson has retired.

In his youth Mr. Jamieson was faced with a choice of professional baseball career or one as a passenger agent with the CPR. He chose the railroad.

For the past 13 years he has been passenger agent in Peterborough, where he was born and raised.

He was the son of the late Mathew Jamieson and Margaret F. Brown.

His career with the CPR began in 1905 when he started out as a telegraph messenger in Peterborough under telegraph operator Thomas Body.

"The office was in the same place as it is now," Mr. Jamieson remarked.

However, soon he made a step up to the position of telegraph operator.

Professional Ball

"It was this same year that I started playing professional ball in the United States", Mr. Jamieson explained. "I played that summer with the Flint, Michigan club. The next year I played with the Terre Haute, Indiana, team which was in the Three-Eye League (Illinois, Indiana and Iowa). In 1907 I was with Des Moines, Iowa, club in the Western League.

"I was still with the CPR during these years, but I was able to get three months leave of absence every summer to play ball."

The big chance came in 1908, when he went down to train with the Detroit Tigers in Flint. But at this time he was offered the position of chief clerk in the Windsor office and decided to give up his career in professional ball to take this offer.

Four years later he moved to Brantford as chief clerk and in 1912 became passenger agent in St. Thomas.

Returned In 1938

Brantford was the next move in 1931 and he was passenger agent there until 1938 when he came back to Peterborough.

At St. Thomas, Mr. Jamieson was secretary-treasurer of the city's Senior OBA team and also coached. In Brantford he coached the Alert Juniors' ball club which won three provincial and four Inter-County titles.

However, baseball wasn't alone in Mr. Jamieson's sports achievements. At one time he was shooting an average 75 (no handicap) in golf and also played rugby with St. John's choir team in Peterborough.

Reviewing the past 47 years in the railroad industry, Mr. Jamieson said that the greatest changes had come in equipment. Changes from wood to steel coaches; from lightweight locomotives to larger and heavier ones and from light to heavy rails.

"When I started with the CPR in 1904, a round trip to Toronto cost $3.85. Now the fare is $4.75. The morning train started out then at 7 am and arrived in Toronto at 10 am. Now it leaves at 8 am and arrives at 10 am."

Two Sons

Mr. Jamieson was married in 1912 to Gladys M. Roy, youngest daughter of the late R. M. Roy of Peterborough. They have two sons, Fred M., Oshawa, and Gordon M., at home.

He is a member of St. John's Anglican Church and is an honorary member of the Peterborough Rotary Club.

Ill health has limited Mr. Jamieson's outside activities for the past few years. During that time he has become an enthusiastic reader and is very fond of music—"I don't play any instrument, but I like very much to listen to it."

At present, Mr. Jamieson is fighting a winning battle with arthritis, at the Civic hospital, and hopes to be able to come home soon.

The Heat's On

A warning to Christmas shoppers: the heat's on. Not that they didn't already know it, but this December has been one of the warmest Decembers in quite a few years. Today, spring-like breezes and a temperature of 55 degrees made warmly-dressed shoppers swelter. In Toronto, a 55-degree temperature at noon made today the warmest December 7 there in 110 years. In this city, December has been on the average seven degrees warmer than last year's last month.

A NEW FACTORY TAKES FORM on Lansdowne Ave., that of the Lemery Distributors Limited. It was started about six weeks ago. It is situated on an acre of ground and is 60 by 100 feet of single storey cinder block construction. Fire Chief Smith To Recommend Two Substations

Fire Chief George Smith is going to put another substation in his annual report to the council, enlarged by recommendations and general review of his department.

"I'm thinking we might get a substation for the south end this year," Chief Smith said. "We were pretty close to it, I thought two years ago, and it has been mentioned often enough so that everybody knows about it."

The Monaghan Road-Hawley St. location has been tentatively approved by the council.

Two years ago Ald. T. D. Miller as chairman of the fire and light committee with Ald. Dewart and several others outlined plans for a small fire hall down Monaghan Road. It was nothing more than a unit of the fire department, but by the time it had stood up before one committee or another it had become so enlarged, embracing public library accommodation, that its cost had boomed from around $25,000 to $75,000.

And that top price virtually condemned the whole project as being far too much expenditure.

Competition

"We were up against a lot of opposition in building at that time," Chief Smith remarked today, "Civic Hospital and so on. All we could do was bide our time and hope for good fortune. City council has caught up on its big undertakings, and maybe they are ready to consider a small project like a fire substation.

"I feel that we also ought to remind the council that Ashburnham is built up to the canal, and that is another long run. Besides there is so much traffic in the city nowadays that it is a kind of obstacle in getting to a farther fire fast. Just for safety across the river, I think I'll mention it to the committee and also to the council along with the report for 1951."

Open Meeting To Discuss Fixing Of Retail Prices

Resale price fixing will be the topic of an open discussion meeting to be held Monday evening at Queen Mary School auditorium by the Peterborough Chamber of Commerce. This meeting is a part of a chain of events taking place all over the country on the government proposed law against resale price fixing by manufacturers.

"Resale price maintenance is the practice designed to insure that a particular article shall not be resold by retailers, wholesalers or other distributors at less than the price prescribed by the supplier that is in most cases, the manufacturer," said the McQuarrie Commission report on Retail Price Maintenance.

The Peterborough Chamber decided to invite all representatives of local industries and wholesale and retail firms to an open meeting following the announcement of a Canadian Chamber of Commerce national poll.

Special Committee

A special committee has been set up in Ottawa to study the question of resale price maintenance and has asked the Canadian Chamber to present its views. To do this, the Canadian Chamber has sent out ballots to be signed pro and con on this question to the 700 boards of trade and Chambers of Commerce across Canada.

The Peterborough Chamber decided that the best way to handle the situation here was to hold an open meeting of discussion. Following this meeting ballots will be sent to all member industries, wholesalers and retailers of the chamber to be marked yes or no on resale price maintenance.

Will Dictate Vote

The results of this vote will be tabulated and the majority vote will be placed on the chamber ballot and sent to the Canadian Chamber.

The Canadian Chamber will in turn tabulate the results of ballots received from boards and chambers from all over Canada and present the results to the Ottawa committee.

Monday night's meeting will be conducted under parliamentary rules to enable as many as time permits to express their opinions from the floor.

Microfilmed Examiner Available At Library

Microfilm file copies of the Examiner will be available to the public in the near future at the Peterborough Public Library.

The decision to purchase microfilm files of the newspaper was made Thursday night at a meeting of the library board of directors.

The initial purchase of films will coincide with the files already in the library at the Examiner office and includes 13 full years of files and the files up-to-date in 1951.

Following the initial purchase the library will purchase duplicate past and contemporary files as they come to the Examiner office.

Accused Sick Trial Delayed

Hugh Imming, 32, 253 Brunswick Ave., Toronto, was today remanded until Wednesday morning at the court of general sessions. A former resident of Peterborough, Imming is charged with forgery.

Imming's wife on Monday sent a telegram from his home in Toronto saying that he was sick and could not appear for his trial.

A bench warrant was issued and Toronto police were asked to take him into custody if he wasn't ill. Thursday the Toronto police wired that they were holding Imming, and he was brought to Peterborough.

His escorts reported that he looked ill and acted ill. Today he appeared before Judge S. L. Smoke and asked for a remand.

Crown Attorney John Bradshaw, KC, agreed and said it would be unfair to allow the trial to proceed with Imming in his present condition; particularly as the accused man is defending himself.

Stricken Child Dies

FORT WAYNE, Dec. 7—(AP)—Two-year-old Marison Larry, who spent 33 weeks in a coma after severe cases of mumps and measles attacked his brain, died Thursday. The infant's case gained country-wide publicity in September when the family's financial plight was told. The boy's father had had nine operations and the mother two. More than $2,500 in contributions flooded in.

Men, Take A Bow

Peterborough men deserve a warm pat on the back and a thank you, a young woman who recently moved here from Toronto said recently. She was talking mostly of the men who use the buses. They're polite she says. She was greatly surprised to find that here they stood back to let women crowd onto the bus ahead of them and let them take the vacant seats inside. The trouble is, said the new citizen, the women don't appreciate it. They seldom even bother to say thank you.

Veteran Clerk Retiring After 33 Years

BALTIMORE, Dec. 7.—Archie Bowman will pass out of the public eye at year's end when he retires as clerk of Hamilton township.

For 33 years, Mr. Bowman has been connected with the affairs of the township. In 1918 he was appointed township auditor, eight years later took a turn as member of the township council, and in 1934 took over as clerk, an office he has held since.

Mr. Bowman recalled the busier days of his youth, when there were 5,700 people living in Hamilton township; there are now half that number.

"Yes, there was a lot more life out in the country in those days," he said. "But a lot of people have moved on to the towns and cities."

Until 11 years ago, Archie Bowman was an active farmer, but since then has been taking life easy. His father, born and bred in Coldsprings, married a Scottish immigrant girl, and Archie was born in Hamilton township.

Married to the former Mrs. N. J. Curtis, he has five sons and one daughter. Three sons, Jackson, Fred and Edgar, are farming in the township; one is in St. John, NB, another in Peterborough. His daughter, Mrs. Ewart King, lives west of Gore's Landing.

There are 12 grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

After a lifetime of farming and township work, 80-year-old Archie Bowman says "The farmers are the happiest people on the face of the earth."

Fire Destroys Home

KINGSTON, Dec. 7 — (CP) — Fire today destroyed the farm home of Norman Cochrane, 10 miles northwest of Kingston. A barn also was destroyed in the blaze, believed caused by an overheated stove. Mr. and Mrs. Cochrane carried to safety their children, Brenda 7 and Douglas 2.

Jury Acquits Mrs. Delaire Of Wounding

Judge Disagrees With Verdict; Crown May Appeal

A verdict of "not guilty" was returned late Thursday afternoon in the trial of Mrs. Jennie Delaire, 26, 467 Elm St., charged with wounding her husband Sylvester with intent to do grievous bodily harm.

Last Sept. 1 her husband was rushed to St. Joseph's Hospital with a seven-inch razor slash across his throat. Mrs. Delaire is alleged to have slashed at her husband with the razor when she became jealous of him phoning a girl friend in the home of a neighbor.

Crown Attorney John Bradshaw, KC, announced today that he was recommending to the Attorney General that the Delaire case be appealed. His grounds are that the verdict brought in by the 12-man jury was a "perverse verdict (i.e. in the opinion of the Crown Attorney, the jury didn't follow the evidence at the trial). It is the first time since he became Crown Attorney that Mr. Bradshaw has recommended an appeal on these grounds.

It took a Peterborough county jury two hours to reach a verdict Thursday afternoon.

Previously, the jury had mistakenly found her guilty of a charge that wasn't on the indictment.

A surprised court heard Jury Foreman Joseph Primeau say: "We find the accused guilty of the minor offence of not taking proper care of a dangerous weapon while in her possession. And we recommend leniency."

(Confusion arose in the minds of the jurymen when they were called back from the jury room to hear a recharge on Section 247 of the Criminal Code. In the original charge Judge Smoke omitted to cite it, but he was reminded of the omission by Crown Attorney John Bradshaw after the jury had retired.

(Section 247 deals with the "duty of persons in charge of dangerous things"—in this case a razor which Mrs. Delaire possessed, and which she was under an obligation to see did not endanger human life. It is a supplementary section of the Code which has a bearing on all of the three counts:

Eight Hours Away From Front Line Battle

Peterson's Paradise a Place for Tired and Shaggy R.C.R.'s

By BILL BOSS,
Canadian Press Staff Writer.

WITH THE CANADIANS IN KOREA, Dec. 7 (CP).—The place is called "Peterson's Paradise."

It's close enough to the front to be shelled, yet it's far enough away to let a guy "get away from it all" for about eight hours.

Every day two platoons of the 2nd Battalion Royal Canadian Regiment leave their mud holes and go down to the rest centre operated by Maj. Jack Peterson of St. Thomas, Ont., second-in-command of the unit and a former company commander of the S. G. & D.'s in the Second World War.

It's the only one of its kind in the theatre. The tired, shaggy soldiers who reach the "Paradise" in the morning, leave it late in the afternoon, fresh, clean, with contented stomachs. Every man has such a "day off" once every week or 10 days.

Even on his days off an RCR is as regimental as a Guardsman. As the trucks bearing them enter the camp the bugle band under Cpl. B. G. Wood of Ingersoll, Ont., plays the riflemen into the area.

"Welcome to Peterson's Paradise," says the sign.

"Are you a Royal Canadian asks the second.

"Are your boots polished?" a third.

"Is your brass shining?" a fourth.

Then, as the trucks pull to a halt: "There is no excuse. This way to barber shop and shoe shine."

Breakfast Ready

But first stop is the shrapnel-cut mess tent, where Pte. Ross (Steamboat) Bonham of Toronto has steaming porridge and three poached eggs on buttered toast ready for everyone.

Breakfast is followed by bath parade—hot showers and clean underwear and socks—and then there is a pay parade.

The canteen, run by Lieut. David Orgill-Massey of Toronto, is famous in the Commonwealth division. It deals in anything from shoe polish to watches, cameras and radios.

Steamboat Bonham serves up terrific lunches of soup or fruit juice, roast dressed turkey, mashed potatoes, pan gravy, pie and coffee. There's always fruit on the tables. Supper is always steak and onions—grilled to order—apple pie and coffee.

There's a motion picture in the afternoon, or the men can catch up with their correspondence or read.

"We find the fellows like to sit around and rest," says Peterson. "If they want to take it easy, that's up to them. But if they want to play, the stuff is there—boxing gloves, bingo and what-not."

The centre is a masterpiece of improvisation.

Theatre Seats

The theatre is a thatch structure made of rice straw fastened to a framework of poles and wires. It seats 168 and can accommodate twice as many. It has a stage, with thatched-off dressing-rooms on either side. Seats are cartridge cases sprayed blue.

Peterson invested $150 from the canteen fund in chinaware. "They eat out of mess tins all the time up there. And I know one of the things a man enjoys once in a while is to sit at a table and have waiters look after him. So we bought bowls for soup and porridge, plates, cups and glasses. And the tables are served by four Korean boys."

At 4:30 in the afternoon the trucks line up and as the band plays the regimental march the men drive back to the front.

Pte. Rolland Raymond of Hawkesbury, Ont., is "chief engineer" of the theatre, where Pte. Bob Roman of Valleyfield, Que., is projectionist.

Chief clerk in the canteen is Cpl. William Brewer of Halifax and Gold River, NS, while Pte. James R. Miller of Montreal and Niagara Falls, Ont., drives the truck that keeps its shelves stocked.

Take Home Pay $50 To $8,726 In Dairy Group

"Take home pay" for 1950 ranged from $50 to $8,726 in the accounting records of a group of dairy farmers who supplied the information of their business to the economics branch of OAC.

That is part of the pith of the report summarizing the operations, costs, income, inventories and so on of the Ontario farmers who entered into this financial fact-finding, as told to the Examiner this week by Gerald I. Trant, assistant in the department of economics at OAC, on a visit to the county and to the office of Frank C. Paterson, agricultural representative.

Four or five co-operating farmers of Peterborough were among the 115 from 26 counties who voluntarily assist the department and the College in this survey now in its sixth year.

Observations on the financial and business data provided directly from the farms emphasize certain facts obtained from actual operations.

"High income farmers for the second year in succession are those who spent the most money on seed and fertilizer, and also on veterinary services.

Large and efficiently operated farm businesses have a more favorable ratio of expense to income than smaller, less efficient businesses. Current operating expenses should be held, if possible, to about 50 cents for every dollar taken in.

In 1950, the least profitable farms (in respect to use of labor and equipment on general dairy farms) averaged the highest total machinery investment and had the highest machine investment per crop acre. Their total machinery operating cost was highest, also their total labor and machinery cost. It cost them more to operate each acre for machines, labor, and for each day."

Secret Accounting

The project was instituted in 1946 by H. K. Leckie, formerly professor of agricultural economics at OAC. In that year there were 46 co-operating farmers in four counties. The co-operators had increasedd in 1950 to a total of 115 in 26 counties.

Their names and accounting records are known only to two men, A. C. Robertson, lecturer of the agricultural economics department of OAC and to Mr. Trant. Otherwise, this large group of farmers is listed merely as numbers.

They undertake to keep farm account books for the calendar year, Jan. 1 to Dec. 31, Mr. Trant said. The books are supplied by the College. At the end of the year their information is transferred to a summary sheet which becomes the basis for analysis of Ontario farm business in five groups: specialty dairy; general dairy; hogs, beef and poultry.

Members are supplied with the compiled information for the year. A blank column is left for the farmer to list his own operating facts for the purpose of comparison with the ascertained averages for 26 farms in the general dairy group last year, average for the three most profitable of those farms, and the average for the least profitable.

Like Car's Speedometer

"As an analogy," said Mr. Trant, "a man knows when he is driving his car at a fast rate, but it is the speedometer that tells him how fast or slow he is actually going. This accounting project provides a complete picture of a farm business. Like the speedometer, it tells him how he is getting along.

"It has brought to light a considerable number of instances of weaknesses in management and farm operations. It shows the co-operating farmer his position with parity in such details as labor, money and its use, livestock costs, crop yields and so on."

This is the kind of information the business farmers desire to have at hand. Fifteen of them in this county can become participators in this project if they are willing to keep the records of their business required in the accounting books.

"We request their confidence and frankness," Mr. Trant said. "They may have full trust in us that no one sees the information they supply, except Mr. Robertson and myself."

Three At $50 A Year

The summary of net earnings from farm business for 26 general dairy farms disclosed arresting disparity in "take home pay".

The average dairy farm operator in that group in 1950 had labor earnings of $3,486 compared with an average of $8,728 for the three high income farms, and an average of $50 for the three low income farms.

The average for the group of three least profitable farms showed: total cash receipts of $16,610; total farm expenses $15,125; leaving farm income at $1,485.

But, interest on farm capital was $2,080; leaving actual labor income at a minus sum $595 (in the red). Farm perquisites, however, amounted to $645 (products used on the farm and value of housing). Labor earnings for the year on those three least profitable farms are listed at $50.

Referring to the livestock program tabulation for 1950, the report for the year says: "High income farmers fed more units of livestock on an acre of crop land and fed less dollars to each unit. With excellent management each cow equivalent returned more money to the farmer for every $100 feed fed, resulting in a livestock unit production higher than that of the entire group average and the low income farmer's average."

The youth of seventeen countries was represented at the national 4-H Club Congress in Chicago last week which Keith McIntyre of Otonabee attended as one of the delegation of young men and women from Canada, most of them from Ontario.

"Behind the 1,400 delegates from the 4-H Clubs of nearly all the States in the U.S.A. were 2,000,000 boys and girls," Mr. McIntyre related to the Examiner. "There were young people from Great Britain, Norway, Germany, Holland, some of the South American countries, Canada and the United States.

"Our Ontario party of 25 arrived in Chicago Saturday evening. Frank Dench, agricultural representative of Renfrew, was leader, and Miss Ruth Shaver of the home economics branch, was chaperone. It was an experience never to be forgotten."

Mr. McIntyre said the program from Saturday night until the farewell party Thursday night was crowded with variety of events. Delegates had to be up early Monday. They attended church service Sunday night.

A sample day was Monday Nov. 26 . . . . . Delegates assembled at 6:30 a.m. in the exhibition hall of the Conrad Hilton Hotel; breakfast and entertainment 6:45 in the Hilton's ballroom, guests of Firestone Tire and Rubber Co.; floor show and so on. That ended around 9 o'clock.

General assembly, all delegates, 9:20 to 11:15 o'clock in the Hilton exhibition hall; speaker: Dr. Kenneth McFarland, Supt. of Schools, Topeka, Kansas.

11:45 to 2 p.m. luncheon and entertainment, guests of International Harvester Co.

Tours in the afternoon covered miles of the city including a visit to the Museum of Science and Industry.

6:15 to 10 p.m.: dinner and entertainment at the Hilton as guests of Thomas E. Wilson, chairman of Wilson & Co. and chairman of the National Committee on Boys and Girls Club work.

"I met young people from various parts of the United States and elsewhere," Mr. McIntyre said. "One of them was a young German teacher who could talk some English. He was amazed at all the evidence of the magnitude of American industry."

"Dr. McFarland, the Monday luncheon speaker, said the young people of the United States in their 4-H Clubs had all the facilities necessary to do a great and complete job in promoting their Clubs, and instilling rural youth with a pride in and respect for agriculture and its contributions to the world economy. He spoke of the opportunities for Club leadership, and of stimulating in the individual club members a sense of achievement, developing of civic and cultural interest, and to broaden their outlook by contact with young people of other countries."

"Dr. McFarland said that for every young person mentioned in newspapers as a delinquent there were hundreds and thousands throughout the land who were never heard of as good citizens. In his opinion youth was never stronger and better today, and never had a finer opportunity of accomplishment for the betterment of the world."

The theme of the conference was: "Working together for world understanding."

"Our Ontario group met in Toronto as strangers to one another, but coming home we felt we had known each other for a long time, and were just one big family. On Friday we were guests of International Harvester and Massey-Harris Co.

"It was really amazing the number of big companies who cooperate in promoting the 4-H Club Congress. I certainly appreciated being chosen for the trip which was directed by representatives of the Ontario Department of Agriculture."

Mr. McIntyre is president of Peterborough Junior Farmers and one of their club leaders.

GLIMPSES OF FORUMS

Huron county Forums found the series of broadcasts on co-operatives, which opened this season's schedule, generally satisfactory where co-operatives are locally active.

But, "where co-operatives are not active, this series all but killed the interest in farm forums, and was definitely detrimental to the progress made in such forums. At least five forums reported poor discussions on the topic for Nov. 5: "Are Co-Ops Democratic?" That quotation is from the Rural Co-Operator

Forum groups generally appreciate the difficulty of headquarters in sustaining a high and uniform level of interest in planning five series of closely related subjects for the winter period from the first of November to the end of March.

Grey County expects to have 100 forums under way as the season advances, and local opinion estimates that there should be 150 in that one county. Such is Grey ambition. Their medical co-op has more than 2,500 members with 6,244 persons eligible to receive benefits. Membership fees total nearly $30,000 a year.

Cultural Livinng

In the new series on community living, Clare Burt of Toronto finds agreement throughout the province that people have hobbies. Foxboro Forum of Hastings, adds the qualifying comment, 'providing the hobby doesn't interfere too much with making a living.'

"However most forums in their discussions on opportunities for cultural activities last week reminded us, rural people already have many outlets for artistic expression. Mount Nemo Forum of Halton mentioned most of the activities connected with our every day work have plenty of room for artistic development. In fact nearly every forum of the 550 that reported agreed with Mount Nemo of Halton.

The summary of this discussion would indicate that women are more conscious of beauty than men because 87% actually mentioned some form of needlecraft as one of the creative arts practiced in rural areas. On the other hand plenty of reports indicated family participation in home beautification.

As a result of the small group discussions last week nearly 150 forums are going to try to put on a play, organize a literary society or choral group. Some 75% of the groups feel that they have to have some outside help to develop interest and give instruction. Central Smith of Peterborough put it this way,—that someone from outside always has more influence on the people; consequently, they'd like some outside help to do this cultural development job."

FARMER AND SCIENTIST

The main difference between a farmer and an agricultural scientist is that the farmer is interested primarily in "how" to perform a certain operation; the scientist was interested in the "why" behind it.

That distinction was broadly mentioned by H. S. Fry of Winnipeg, president of the Agricultural Institute of Canada, at the meeting of its western Ontario branch at a London dinner.

Mr. Fry is a senior editor of The Country Guide, and former associate editor of The Farmer's Advocate.

He said agricultural graduates were the only group of university graduates not "professionalized". One of their main problems was the variety of occupations they followed after graduation. Several provinces have already initiated steps to "legalize" the profession. The procedure was to have legislation passed establishing acknowledged institutes of "agrologists". That is a 'coined word', he said. No existing term would do in the circumstances. Agriculturalist is too broad; agronomist has acquired a meaning all its own, relating primarily to field crop production and soil management.

For professional purposes, an agrologist is considered to be one who engages in agricultural research, teaches or advises farmers on scientific principles pertaining to agriculture.

Mr. Fry said the Agricultural Institute of Canada was not sponsoring any move toward professionalization, but was watching "the trend".

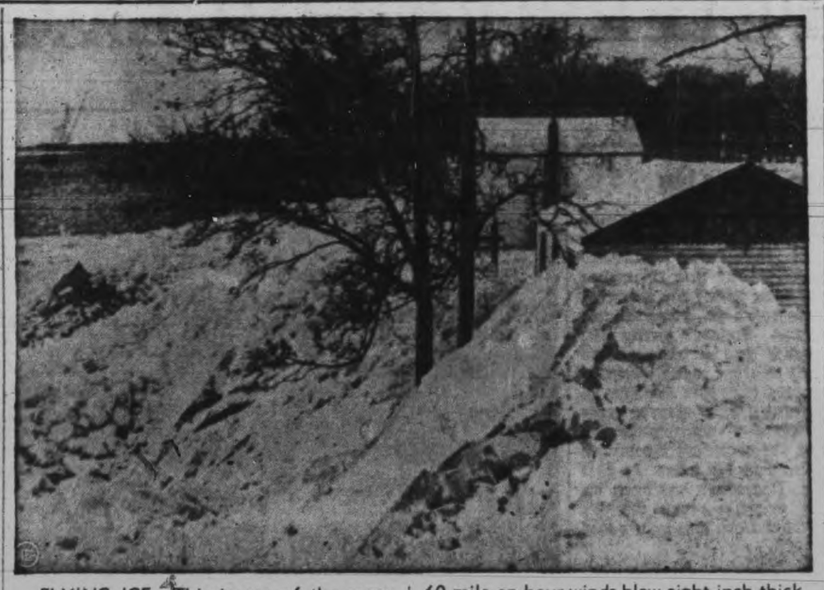
BRUCE MEDICAL SERVICES



Bruce County Co-operative Medical Services has a total membership of 4,800 persons, an increase of more than 1,000, reported by Lorne B. Evans of Paisley, manager and secretary-treasurer at the annual meeting recently held at Port Elgin.

More than $26,000, or 84 per cent of the earned income of the co-op, was paid out in medical claims during the year.

Paul Meehan, fieldman for the Co-operative Medical Services of Ontario, told the meeting that there were now more than 200,000 members in Ontario, plus their dependents.

Terms of the new surgical plan were explained by chairman W. G. Nicholson. He explained that as soon as a sufficient number of groups enroll, this plan will come into effect. It pays all surgical operation fees.

Co-operative Medical Services has been largely sponsored by the Federation of Agriculture, and in many parts of Ontario is a notable accomplishment of this organization of farmers.

FLYING ICE—This is one of the many mountains of ice and snow surrounding Lake Mille Lacs, near Malmo, Minn., after 60-mile-an-hour winds blew eight-inch-thick chunks of ice from the surface of the lake. Some buildings in the area were damaged by the flying ice.

Prices Of Farm Products Remain Prominent

Prices of farm products have been prominent in this week's news, together with factors affecting them.

Two local advances have been conceded in the price of milk, at Toronto and Ottawa, but eggs and poultry have been hit even harder than the setback to pork a month ago. Potatoes are firm from a crop decline, and honey is slightly weaker in price, largely as a result of a heavier crop this season. Apples have shown some slight recovery, but it will bring no comfort to producers to note the drop this week in the price of margarine.

Not the least interesting news was the report of a talk by Mayor Charlotte Whitton of Ottawa as guest speaker at a meeting of 300 members of the Carelton-Russell Holstein Club. She called for a three-day-a-week delivery of milk, and vehemently opposed suggestion of the Milk Drivers and Dairy Employees' Union that it be deferred until summer.

Mayor Whitton said the increase of three cents a quart to 22 cents that went into effect in Ottawa Sat. Dec. 1, has created "an appalling situation in certain areas of the city where there are large families." She suggested sale from milk depots. A block from the church where she spoke, a grocery store had a large sign in the window "milk, 20c a quart."

Her Worship apparently could suggest only a hazy hope that somehow "by work and study, we can find a common solution,—but no adjustment is possible if we all seek to do less for more, or to get more for less".

She also mentioned an economic fact the dairy trade has been struggling against that while the price of milk itself has been put under control, no control whatever was exercised over the essential factors contributing to the producers' costs.

The lure of "doing less for more", cited by Mayor Whitton, has attracted available labor from agriculture to the extent that at the Dominion-Provincial Farm Labor Conference in Ottawa this week, it was stated that the Canadian farmer was facing a year of "greater help-urgency".

William McGillivray of the B.C. Department of Agriculture, said farm organizations should be associated with government agencies to a greater degree to arrive at a better understanding of the labor problem. Dr. E. Hope, Federation of Agriculture economist, told the conference a major movement of immigrant farm labor was the sole hope for a sufficient supply of help for agriculture.

Maybe Mayor Whitton should have been called to the Dominion-Provincial conference.

Mayor Hiram McCallum touched a weak spot in rural economics when he demanded before the Ontario Milk Control Board Tuesday more definite proof of the cost of producing 100 lbs. of milk.

Establishing costs is mentioned by V. S. Milburn in the Rural Co-Operator, appealing to farmers to communicate their own cost accounting to agencies such as that which Mr. Milburn represents. Surely every farmer in the province has implicit trust in the secretary of the Ontario Federation of Agriculture.

The week's news reported a four-fifths of a point advance in the cost of living index, from which farmers have no escape, but in other columns of the provincial press price of some farm products had slumped. Ottawa said eggs were down from 75c to 59c in two days, and six cents a pound had been lopped from the price of honey.

Margarine was quoted at 37c in big figures on a retail grocery window in Peterborough. Some Ottawa district farmers were saying that unless there was recovery in the egg prices they would have to begin liquidating their flocks. Dressed poultry was quoted at 55 to 60c.

However, there was a brighter cast to the later news from the conference in Ottawa such as "a heavy demand for Canadian farm products and firm prices for wheat, beef, eggs, milk and other dairy products".

The higher price of potatoes reflects a big drop of 29 million bushels this year from the 67 million bushels of 1950, as estimated by R. L. Wheeler, director of the fruit and vegetable division of the federal department of agriculture.

It was Col. Kennedy who said the other day that the low cost of milk was responsible for the decrease of 37,000 cows in Ontario during the past year.

From all the headings and news columns and conferences, there was scant cheer for the agricultural producer. For the milk producer working the seven day week instead of the urban five, now available to bank staffs, there appeared to be some price concession in sight.

The main impression with the farmer following the price recessions that began with pork some weeks ago and have now reached out to eggs and poultry is simply that he is traditionally the first victim.

Readjustments may develop on the farm price front, but this has been a week of confusion and discouragement.

ON THE AIR DEC. 15

Mrs. Wm. Steinkrauss will be the speaker in the Federation broadcast Saturday, Dec. 15 at 12:15 pm. One of her activities is as president for the last two years of the Women's Council of Peterborough. In that respect she belongs to the Sorority of both urban and rural interests, although Mrs. Steinkrauss' main concern is right in her own Smith community. This is another broadcast of special interest to women.

Incidentally in her Forum report on adult educational outlets, Mrs. Steinkrauss comments that discussions in Lily Lake group have been "far more than required. Have every member take part. There should be no parasites in this organization. . . Lengthy discussions may injure the Forum and become monotonous. . . This Forum is only two miles from the city library, which is available. . . School libraries could be built up for community uses."

Lily Lake met at the home of Mrs. Clarence Ferguson with Arthur Hancock as discussion leader. The group goes to the George Middleton's home next Monday.

Encourage people to appreciate the benefits of reading was one of the suggestions from Beaver Forum, as reported by Alvin Northey. James McConkey was discussion leader at Mr. and Mrs. Graydon Northey's home. Mr. and Mrs. K. Sweeting will be hosts Monday, Dec. 10.

Also from Mr. Northey's observations: "Some members thought we should appoint the chairman to maintain order, while others thought the Forum was a get-together for a social evening."

PLOWING CORN STALKS

In plowing corn stalks, J. C. Steckley director of the Western Ontario Experimental Farm at Ridgetown, says special equipment is not necessary. The plow should have a high beam to prevent the stalks catching or plugging it, and skimmers are not essential. A disc coulter can be used.

Mr. Steckley advises plowing in the same direction as the corn picker was operated.

"If plowing is done in the fall, it may be a good idea to go over the field with a roller, and in the same direction as the picker. If these directions are followed, the width and depth of plowing are not important."

Nitrogen in some form should be applied in the plowing. It will promote disintegration of the stalks and also increase soil fertility. At the Experimental Farm, oats seeded on land where corn stalks had been plowed in with nitrogen the previous fall gave remarkable results. The increase in yields ran as high as 20 to 25 bus. an acre.

WIN AT CHEESE SHOW

Murray Heath of Campbellford was winner of a special class for central Ontario makers at the cheese show in Belleville this week. His score was 98.05.

The trophy for the central Ontario cheesemaker with the highest aggregate score on cheese graded from May to Nov. 15 went to Roy Brown of Harold. He also won the trophy for the highest aggregate score on cheese graded from May 1 to Oct. 31.

A challenge shield for the dairy instructor whose group is awarded most prize money went to George Pollard of Stirling. Highest scoring cheese was shown by David Dean of Delta at 98.35 points. His exhibit was August make in the open section. The grand championship was awarded to Mr. Dean.

Sharing in the top honors was Thomas S. Aicken of Belton who was winner in the June, July and October classes. He also had the best-finished cheese and the top-scoring specimen in the square cheese class.

Family Farm Requires Profit For Survival

Concern for the family farm runs through an article in the November issue of the Agricultural Institute Review by H. R. Hare of Ottawa, superintendent of farm development under the Soldier Settlement and Veterans' Land Act.

It is prompted by the inroads of "capital seeking investment opportunity, and learning that with good management agriculture offers profit potentialities with the sound security of real estate". Mr. Hare's article is entitled "A New Approach to Agricultural Extension", but the central idea which it stresses has been advocated in Peterborough county, and variously adopted.

Mr. Hare reports: "In discussing agriculture with an extension worker recently, he made this statement,—'During my work I have devoted my life largely to livestock improvement. As I review the achievements, I am convinced I would have made a greater contribution had I directed my attention to building up soils and providing more leadership in general farm business'.

While there are many satisfactions in farming that are not expressed in monetary terms, it is true that these satisfactions are intensified when accompanied by profits. It is sound, therefore, that profits should be put up as the main objective."

In his introduction, Mr. Hare recalls that for 2,000 years farming was conducted as a mode of living.

"Success depended on the ability to produce family requirements directly from the farm . . . . . Farmers now live on farm profits . . . farming has gone commercial, and business has entered into agriculture."

Family farming is believed conducive to the highest rural social development, providing "influences of moral stability in expanding democracy, and should be retained".

Says Mr. Hare: "It is the operators of these farms whom Canada needs to survive and prosper for the purpose of continuing to carry the torch in the future. An intrusion is being made on these people and their methods by commercialsim . . . Many find farming relatively irksome, and leave for a greener field. There is a need for a new approach in agricultural extension to point out to them the way to meet the new economic competition."

Extension work in Peterborough county has been emphasizing this essential of profitable management, and with considerable response, although Frank Paterson would like to see it much increased.

Meetings have heard the costs of doing business in the production of hogs, for example. The Dairy Herd Improvement Association is another branch. Only last week Gerald I. Trant of the farm economics branch of O.A.C. was in Peterborough trying to enlist ten to fifteen farmers to become "accounting co-operators" with the College. Management topics have included new grass practices, basic fertility of the soil, adoption of artficial insemination.

Appraisal, analysis, planning, profit, are words Mr. Hare emphasizes. One step in analysis is quoted in part:

"Check the revenue from each enterprise on the farm and from the whole farm to determine whether both are good. This entails standards of measurements to rate the achievements. These standards should be lighter than previous achievements and above the community average.

If, for example, calculations reveal an average return of $150 per cow— a figure equivalent to the community average — then the minimum standard should be set at $150, plus at least one-third, or $200 a cow. The reason then for the low returns must now be determined.

Is it due to a low price, errors in breeding, feeds for feeding, or general care, or all combined? Having determined the point or points of error, one may correct or improve the farm practices which have resulted in low returns. We have thus traced the error back to the farm practices; but the objective is profit."

In the final incentive to action, the decision rests with the owner of the family farm. Extension efforts cannot help the man who is not interested in its programs and example and recommendations.

Temperance Leaders Tour New Treatment Centres

TORONTO, Dec. 7.—Canadian temperance leaders were stimulated when they met here Thursday and they are confident that only good will come from the experience. Consumption of alcohol did not bring it about, but a tour of treatment centres for alcoholics and frank criticism of their own ideas and methods.

During the morning, they were given an insight into progress being made in rehabilitation as they toured the Ontario Alcoholism Research Foundation on Avenue Rd. The visit was part of a workshop program for the two-day Canadian Temperance Federation council meeting.

Later they went to Mimico Reformatory where they inspected the new department for alcoholics, had luncheon and an open discussion and question period with the staff on all branches of their work.

At the Foundation, David Archibald, its director, told them that social reform in alcoholism came not only through the efforts of the medical profession, but also and more particularly, from those of sociologists, temperance workers, and others interested in reform.

He said that only if persons submitted to a treatment voluntarily could advances be made in combatting alcoholism.

Rehabilitation Work

Emphasis was now being placed on the reclamation and rehabilitation of the worst cases of alcoholics, the director said, but he believed that out of this a program of education and prevention of alcoholism would eventually come.

In a survey of 50 cases of alcoholism, he said, the average age when the victim began to drink was 17, and one started when he was only nine years old.

At the Alexandra Palace on University Ave., where the Ontario Temperance Federation was host to the council, Federation General Secretary Albert Johnson cautioned that temperance workers should not regard themselves as being everlastingly in a fight.

"We have to learn ours in a slow underground progressive movement. We must go out and win people. We believe we can accomplish just about as much at Queen's Park by talking as suavely as the Premier himself talks instead of beating on his door and trying to talk him down."

The temperance officials on Thursday were shown the new trend in temperance posters and literature. On view were leaflets designed for school children with facts about the drinking problem by athletes and coaches. Blotters bore a short comment from hockey player Syl Apps: "Drinking has no place in the life of an athlete."

The delegates were informed that a sober driving message was being distributed by the OTF, Toronto and Ontario Hotel and Resort Association and other agencies working together for the first time. It is to be posted in all beverage rooms, brewers' warehouses and liquor stores.

Favor Strike Action

LONDON, Ont., Dec. 7 (CP)—Union employees of the London street Railway voted Thursday in favor of strike action over a company refusal to arbitrate on the rehiring of a discharged employee, union officials announced Thursday night. L. Harry Myers, president, Local 741, Amalgamated Association of Street Electric Railway and Motor Coach Employees, AFL, said the vote meant "the possibility of a strike at any time."

PICKETS SEARCH CAR—Pickets from striking workers at the Ford Company of Canada Windsor plant searched automobiles of office workers leaving the plant shortly after the strike began Monday. Pickets looked for documents which might help the company set up temporary offices outside, which the company did Tuesday.

Travels Miles To India Post

MONTREAL — (CP)—Joseph Reid, former Canadian Rhodes scholar, will have put thousands of miles behind him when he takes up his new appointment as head of the United Nations Educational ,Scientific and Cultural Organization team advising the national scientific documentation centre in India.

He flew from Paris to London, then on to Scotland, Iceland and Montreal. From here he goes by rail across Canada, flies to Yokohama, boards a steamer to Calcutta and finishes the journey to New Delhi by automobile.

The young scientist has had extensive training for his job, which will last for one to three years. The assignment is to advise India on the establishment of a scientific library. It will have a photographic copying installation to enable copies of scientific articles to be sent anywhere in India, as well as a translation service and a plant to print scientific journals.

Reid's early education was in Sydney, NS. He was an undergraduate of the University of Manitoba, and was named a Manitoba Rhodes scholar in 1935.

Since his studies at Oxford University he has been with UNESCO with headquarters in Paris, making his home at Versailles.

From Paris he took the long way around to his new assignment in order to visit Canada again and see his father, the Rev. Andrew D. Reid, at Victoria, BC.

Bailieboro WI Names Executive For 1952

BAILIEBORO, Dec. 7—(ENS)—The December meeting of Bensfort Woman's Association was held at the home of Mrs. Clifford Patton on Tuesday. Mrs. Charles Fisher read the scripture lesson and Mrs. Lorne Harris the lesson thoughts. It was decided to send Christmas boxes to the shut-ins.

The nominating committee presented the slate of officers for 1952: Honorary president, Mrs. Stuart Thompson; president, Mrs. Merton Thompson; first vice, Mrs. John Nurse; second vice, Mrs. Carl Dawson; treasurer, Mrs. Charles Barnard; secretary, Mrs. Stewart Bell; pianist, Mrs. Allen Dawson; group leaders: A, Mrs. H. Perirn; B, Mrs. R. Crews; C, Mrs. W. Moncrief.

The treasurer reported that $587.26 had been raised in 1951. After expenses a balance of $267.47 remains. After Christmas readings by Mrs. Packman, lunch was served by the hostess and group A.

Among those from Bailieboro who attended the funeral of the late Mrs. Sidney Wallace of Coldsprings in Cobourg on Wednesday were Mr. and Mrs. Dawson Rutherford, and Arthur, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Eagleson, Messrs. Jim Roddy and Bert Byres.

Other visitors to Cobourg on Tuesday evening were Mr. and Mrs. George Fletcher, Mr. and Mrs. Alex Watt.

Mrs. Clare Libbey has returned from Peterborough Civic hospital.

Word has been received from Sudbury that Mr. James Hall, a former resident here, is confined to Sudbury General hospital where he underwent an operation this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Karl Huggins were recent guests at a dinner party at home of Mrs. Chester Fisher of Millbrook.

Mrs. Sidney Wallace

COLDSPRINGS, Dec. 7 (ENS)—The funeral service of Maud Mary Jeffrey, wife of Sidney Wallace, was held on Wednesday, at 2.30 pm, from McFadyen's funeral home, Cobourg.

Mrs. Wallace died suddenly in Port H. e hospital early Monday morning. She was 69.

Surviving are her husband, one daughter (Mildred), Mrs. John Beedham, of Coldsprings. There are four grandchildren and four great-grandchildren.

Mrs. Wallace was of English birth, coming to this country when a child, and for the past 30 years had resided at Coldsprings. Mrs. Wallace was a member of St. Paul's Church, Coldsprings, and of the WMS and WI.

Pallbearers were T. F. McBride, Ray Eagleson, Aylmer Dawson, Mervin Greer, Ernest Wallace and Dawson Rutherford.

The service was conducted by the Rev. P. C. Brown. Burial was in the Congregational cemetery, Coldsprings.

Must Use Land Better To Feed World

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Business Editor

Massey-Harris Co., Ltd., has produced a motion picture entitled "Enough and for All"—the story of agricultural achievement and the production of food.

The film features scientific advances and farm mechanization, particularly those things which have resulted in North America's abundant production.

But its further theme is to illustrate what can be done in the impoverished places of the world if people can be taught to make better use of their land.

As James S. Duncan, president of Massey-Harris, said at the picture's showing in Toronto this week:

"In the world today, 400,000,000 people go to bed hungry every night; and 1,400,000,000 more are undernourished."

The film, in various languages, has already been shown in many parts of the world. It had its first Canadian showing recently in Quebec, in French. The Toronto presentation was the first in Canada in English. It was directed by John Martin, the company's public relations director.

Advice To Farmers

While Canadian farmers have accomplished much through scientific advance, they are being advised in a current publication that they can accomplish more.

The publication, entitled "An Eye to the Future," is the sixth in a series of booklets on agriculture issued by the Canadian Bank of Commerce.

It contains a brightly-illustrated article by H. R. Hare, superintendent of farm development for the Soldier Settlement and Veterans' Land Act Division of the Department of Veterans' Affairs. Here are some quotes:

"Science is, in many cases, still 10 years ahead of the farmer.

"The successful farmer must determine what he and his farm resources are best suited for. He must specialize in one main line and his sidelines must fit in well with the production of that main line.

"You can profit from a good-selling plan—but the biggest factor is low-cost production, and costs are more subject to control than are prices.

"How good should your crops be? The standard is the average crop yield per acre for your area. To be really good, your crops should exceed this average by at least one-third."

Mr. Hare also says that a farmer must be more skilled in some subjects and trades than probably any other type of business man.

Surprise Visits

LONDON, Dec. 7—(Reuters)—Officials of the National Federation of Jazz Organizations will make surprise visits to member-clubs holding dances as part of a drive against narcotics addiction. The Federation decided on this following a court case in which a man was charged with supplying marijuana cigaretes to a young girl who had visited a jazz club.

Rubber Shipments

SINGAPORE, Dec. 7 (Reuters)—Malaya shipped 94,988 long tons of rubber abroad during November—nearly 22,000 tons more than in October. The United States took 28,855 tons—15,000 tons more than in October—and the United Kingdom 29,075 tons—4,000 more than in October. Total rubber shipped from Malaya during the first 11 months this year was 1,055,688 tons.

Forcibly Deported

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7—(AP)—Leading European exiles said today more than 8,000,000 people have been forcibly deported from their homes in Middle Europe—most of them sent to slave labor camps—under Moscow's orders. The central and eastern European conference said in a documentary report that Moscow apparently hopes to annihilate whole nations by starvation, disease and exhaustion in Nazi-style death camps.

RICH RESOURCES

Noted for its gold and diamonds South Africa also produces more than 26,000,000 tons of coal annually.

TOUCH NOT A HAIR—Sgt. Ian Selkirk, returned from Korea, feared his wife would meet him with scissors at the Trail, BC, station and cut off his luxurious moustache. But he managed to enter his home and remain there a few hours before the trimming occurred and won a bet with buddies of $250 and 12 bottles of Scotch he could get inside his home with the lip brush intact.

"BEYOND ENDURANCE"—Charles Oliphant, chief counsel of the Bureau of Internal Revenue, leaves his Washington office after resigning. He strongly denied any wrongdoing, and said that "attacks, vilification, rumor and innuendo are beyond the point of human endurance."

Japanese Lived Finest Hour 10 Years Ago

By DON HUTH.

NARA, Japan, Dec. 7 (AP)—A Japanese farmer today said he lived his finest hour 10 years ago when he led the surprise air attack on Pearl Harbor.

He is Mitsuo Fuchida, former navy captain who commanded the fighters and torpedo bombers that roared down on the major United States Pacific naval base Dec. 7, 1941.

Within two hours, more than 3,000 Americans were killed or wounded, a great portion of the fleet was sunk or damaged and the US entered the Second World War.

Fuchida, now 49 and only recently taken off the purged lists—told in an interview of his momentous flight.

Felt Proud

Flying at the top of a 60-plane formation, I sneaked to the approach on Pearl Harbor with head lifted high. I was proud and felt convinced we were going to fight for the right cause of vindicating the rights of the Japanese race."

That was the Mutsuo Fuchida of 10 years ago. Now, living quietly with his wife and two children on a farm in Nara Prefecture on western Honshu Island, Fuchida has had time to reflect in the last six years of peace."

"I might call myself a pacifist," Fuchida said as he leaned on his hoe in a rice field. "But I must honestly say that I am not a pacifist to the nth degree as yet.

"If, for the defence of Japan, my service is needed again, I am ready to answer the call at any moment. . . ."

Picket Liquor Board

TRURO, NS, Dec. 7—(CP)—The Rev. Perry F. Rockwood and members of his Independent Peoples Church picketed the local branch of the Nova Scotia Liquor Commission Thursday. Carrying a sandwich board containing two Bible texts, Mr. Rockwood began an eight-hour shift that he said will continue every day until Christmas. Mr. Rockwood said that this was a public protest against the modern manner of keeping Christmas.

Disaster Brings Unity To Italian People But Unity Ends Before Flood Does

By JULIUS HUMI,
NEA Staff Correspondent

ROVIGO, Italy — (NEA) — National disaster brought unity to politically turbulent Italy—but the unity didn't last as long as the disaster.

For a short and busy week, all the country's political parties forgot their differences. For the first time in the postwar period, Communists, Fascists, Christian Democrats and Liberals got together for a common cause: the relief of 200,000 Italians caught in the Po River flood, which caused havoc on a scale unknown since World War II.

The disaster, which struck with sudden ferocity, left even the most ardent of politicians speechless at first.

From Italy's bigger cities, 10 million dollars in cash and tons of clothing were contributed in a week. The US promised another million, and Britain, France, Norway and Austria sent technical aid and medical supplies.

3,000 Firemen Assist

More than 3,000 firemen from all parts of the country — the equivalent of an entire Italian army division—collaborated with British and American troops from Trieste, rowing, pulling and carrying 100,000 flood refugees to safety. Italian, British and American planes dropped food and medical supplies; US helicopters spotted farmers and livestock trapped by the raging waters.

In the first burst of enthusiasm, even the Communist press praised the work done by Allied troops.

But, as one Italian newspaper said, "it was too good to be true." As the situation improved, political fervor got the upper hand again.

At first the Christian Democrats, who run most of the relief work, prohibited some of the motor boats run by local Communist sectors from continuing salvage work.

The Communists realiated with a vicious propaganda campaign, charging foul play by some government agencies in distributing aid. Shortly after that, police arrested some 30 local officials who, they charged, had diverted relief supplies and then redistributed them as coming from Communist sources.

Lost Patience

American and British officers lost patience when politics began to interfere. A British captain, for instance, who was running one of the two large assault boats bringing in refugees from Adria, had his official guides withdrawn for "political reasons." He had to lay up his boat for a whole day while authorities quarelled as to which party should furnish the guides.

Final blow to the short-lived national unity came when Comunists demanded in parliament that the 620 billion lire appropriation for rearmament be diverted to flood relief. With typical Communist forethought, they had picked a way to fight rearmament which would appeal to the man in the street.

Despite these squabbles, the disaster relief has been a success, even if the unity it brought about was not. More than half the estimated 40,000 cattle in the area were brought to safety on improvised rafts.

In the immense movement of people with whole towns and villages evacuated sometimes within a few hours, less than 100 lost their lives—half of them when a truck carrying evacuees slipped off the road.

But the damage to the Po Valley, Italy's agricultural heartland, will be a grave problem to the government for years to come. Now the valley's rich farmlands are a muddy delta of ruin and destruction, and it will be at least a year before they can be worked again.

Meantime, it will be an added burden, not only for Italy's struggling economy, but for the whole European community working toward reconstruction.

IT RAN ON A POLITICAL REEF — British assault boat, skippered by English captain (standing, rear) ferries a load of homeless Italians from flood-ravaged Adria. But the boat had to halt its mercy missions for a day while local Italian politicians argued as to which party should furnish guides for the skipper.

Graceful Lil Ready To Do Act For Jury

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif., Dec. 7 (AP)—Beauteous Lili St. Cyr takes the witness stand today in an effort to convince a jury that her buble bath routine is graceful artistry and not vulgarity as the prosecution contends.

Whether the leggy stripper will demonstrate her act remains to be seen. Miss St. Cyr says she is willing, even eager, to give the jurors a close-up.

She'l lhave to go some to top her boss, portly Herman Hover, who put on quite a show for the jurors yesterday. He is the proprietor of Ciro's, the Holywood Nitery raided by sheriff's deputies who called Lili's show lewd and indecent.

Hover demonstratèd a bump and grind, neither of which, he added, was perpetrated by Lili. He described a bump as a "pelvic propulsion, whereas a grind is a circular movement of the hips without moving any other part of the body."

His antics wowed the jury.

He insisted that Lili's gyrations en deshabille are ballet steps to the rhythms of semi-classical music.

"Lili," he testified, "is not like the ordinary person. Everything she does is to lights, music. She's a trained ballet dancer. She is graceful."

Booked On 2 Counts Following Collision

Arrested after a minor two-car collision on George St., Thursday night, Robert O'Brien, 43, 287 William St., Oshawa, was booked on charges of drunk driving and careless driving.

He was represented in police court today by W. J. Arthur Fair KC. The crown was not ready to proceed on the charges today. Mr. Fair said his client would reserve plea on both charges and agreed to an adjournment until December 13.

O'Brien was involved in an accident with a car driven by Horace W. Ballard, 812 Water St. in front of the Public Library at 9:05 Thursday night.

Damage estimated at $10 resulted to the Ballard car which was travelling north on George St., when the collision occurred.

Escapes From Jail

COBALT, Ont., Dec. 7 (CP). —A 21-year-old Timagami Indian woman squeezed out of jail last night while awaiting hearing on a drunk charge.

She broke a ventilator in the cell block and wormed through an 18 x 14-inch hole into an adjoining grocery store, opened the store door, and walked out.

Nations Make Appeal To South Africa

PARIS, Dec. 7 (Reuters) — Eight countries today called on South Africa to accept United Nations' supervision over the former German colony of Southwest Africa.

In a joint resolution tabled before the trusteeship committee, Cuba, Denmark, Ecuador, Egypt, Iraq, Philippines, Thailand and the United States "solemnly appealed" to the Union government to consider the territory as a UN trust.

After the First World War South Africa began administering the territory under a League of Nations' mandate. It sought recently to incorporate Southwest Africa into the Union but failed to obtain UN approval.

Use Blackmail In Search For Industries

QUEBEC, Dec.—Philippe Brais, Montreal lawyer and member of Quebec's Legislative Council, said today that until there is agreement between Quebec and Ontario on tax concessions municipalities may make to attract industries, the industries will continue to exercise "some kind of blackmail" to get the best possible bargain.

Mr. Brais said it was time the practice was stopped.

The question came up in the Legislative Council bills committee during study of the St. Hyacinthe bill, which seeks ratification of an arrangement with Garlord Products of Canada whereby its building is assessed at $75,000 for 10 years for taxation purposes. The company also has plants in Hamilton, Ont., and in Montreal.

A representative of St. Hyacinthe said he agreed in principle with Mr. Brais' statement, but in practice the agreements were sometimes good.

Some years ago, he went on, a company settled in St. Hyacinthe because of a taxation arrangement. It paid only $5,000 a year. Today, the same company pays the city $35,000 annually in taxes.

The committee adopted the arrangement and also the municipality's request for authority to borrow up to $300,000 at not more than 5 per cent interest for the purpose of constructing industrial buildings.

Imagination Too Good

MT. CLEMENS, Mich., Dec. 7—(AP)—An air force sergeant was under observation at the Selfridge air force base hospital today after telling a cloak-and-dagger story to cover up being AWL for 25 days. Master-sergeant Orval A. Stogsdill, 33, claimed he had been captured and tortured by foreign agents. Investigators said the story "didn't hold water."

Britain Biggest Wheat Buyer In November

LONDON, Dec. 7. (Reuters)—Sales reported under the international wheat agreement during the week ended Nov. 30 totalled 322,000 metric tons.

They include 120,000 tons by Canada, 194,000 by the United States and 8,000 by Australia.

Britain, by far the biggest buyer, took 4,000 tons from Australia, 87,000 from Canada and 88,000 from the United States.

Normally Canada is Britain's largest supplier. But likely Britain has also been taking substantial quantities from the United States.

Britain is evidently making up some of her arrears of buying, accrued during the long period of dispute over the carrying charge. She may be influenced by the prospect that Australia will have an inadequate export surplus while Argentina, formerly one of the largest wheat exporters, may be unable to spare any exports at all during the coming year.

Argentina's wheat crop has been a failure.

Canada's sales in the latest week included: Belgium 16,000, Holland 1,000, Peru 16,000 and Philippines 4,000 tons.

United States sales included Belgium 30,000, Brazil 12,000, Germany 15,000, Indonesia 9,000, Israel 3,000, Mexico 24,000, Holland 11,000 and Philippines 2,000 tons.

Apart from the 4,000 tons sold to Britain, Australia's only other sale was 4,000 tons to Indonesia.

Canadian Frigate Pays Washington Visit

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7—(CP) —The frigate Swansea Thursday became the first Canadian warship ever to visit the capital of the United States.

The frigate, commanded by Lt.-Cmdr. Joern Korning of Victoria and Ottawa, will stay here six days and then sail to Bermuda waters for training of recruits. The ship wil be away from its home base at Halifax for three weeks. The 1,800-ton frigate will arrive home Dec. 22.

Killed His First Wife Wounds His Second

BIRMINGHAM, England, Dec. 7 —Kenneth Thomas Bond, 33, who spent four years in prison for killing his first wife with an axe seven years ago, today was convicted of maliciously wounding his second.

The prosecution said he struck his second wife on the head with an iron fire curb guard after telling her he loved another woman. He was sentenced to another four years in jail.

Honor Omemee Folk Leaving For Reaboro

OMEMEE, Dec. 7 — (ENS) — Neighbors and friends of Mr. and and Mrs. W. C. Veals, RR 3 Omemee, gathered at their home Wednesday evening to honor the couple before they leave next week to retire in their new home at Reaboro.

Mr. Veals came to the community in 1917 and Mrs. Veals on her marriage in 1915. They were presented with a wall mirror and a bridge lamp. George Ingle was chairman and A. Pogues, Jr., read the adress, signed by Mr. Ingle and Mr. Pogue on behalf of the neighbors.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Veals exonly of the gift but also of the gesture which was so characteristic of their neighbors.

Other speakers who added their good wishes to those already expressed their appreciation not Lang, A. W. Pogue and W. D. Weir.

Progressive crokinole provided a large part of the evening's entertainment. Mrs. Ivan Downey was the lady gaining the most points, for which she won the prize donated by Mrs. Ingle. The men's prize, given by Mrs. A. Pogue, Jr., was won by Russell Skuce.

Discovered Spy Plot Aiding Slansky Flee

LONDON, Dec. 7. (Reuters) — President Klement Gottwald of Czechoslovakia says the west was ready with an espionage plot for the escape of Deputy Premier Rudolph Slansky just before he was arrested on spy charges.

Gottwald told Communist cabinet ministers party executives and regional leaders in Prague on Thursday that "there is irrefutable proof of this plan," according to a message received today from Ceteka, Czech news agency.

The president was reporting on "the treason of Slansky." He said the party would be reorganized, with a new commission formed to control its members.

Norwood Council Gives Rink $200 Grant

NORWOOD, Dec. 7—(ENS)—The Norwood council met Monday evening with Reeve Rork Ferguson in the chair and all councillors present.

A delegation from the rink committee were present and asked for a grant for necessary repairs to the rink before opening. A grant of $200 was given.

Alfred Tripp, of Hastings, was present, and reported 705 yards of new sidewalks as well as numerous repaired patch-up jobs had been completed. It was moved that the final payment of $2,250 be made.

Marmora Boys' Lodge Elects 1952 Officers

New Health Tests Show 1 In 4 Has Danger Signs Of Disease

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Reporter

NEW YORK (AP)—A new survey here disclosed that in a multi-test clinic conducted in Richmond, Va., one in every four persons found something wrong with their health. Most of them had not previously suspected anything was wrong.

The ratio of 25 per cent with danger signals, established in a screening of 40,000 persons over a period of seven months, may well apply to people in other areas.

The main findings were high blood pressure, anemia, overweight or underweight, eye troubles, too much sugar in the urine, tuberculosis and heart troubles, in that order.

The multi- test clinic checks people for two to 10 or more chronic illnesses at a time, in a 10 to 15 minute series of tests. The idea is new but is spreading rapidly. Multi-test clinics, giving a few or many tests, have been staged so far in cities and states from California to Massachusetts.

Doesn't Diagnose

This kind of clinic doesn't diagnose diseases. It gives blood tests, X-rays and other tests to spot people who may have something wrong. The results are referred to the person's own physician, who then can give the real verdict and any needed treatments. The purpose is to catch chronic diseases early, when they are most easily curable or controlled.

To learn how effective the multi-test clinic is, and to find facts to guide health officials elsewhere, the Richmond clinic was studied by the Health Information Foundation, an organization that gathers and distributes basic information about health.

To many of the 10,000, the report of possible trouble was really news. Being suspicious that something might be wrong apparently wasn't a main factor, or even a very strong influence, in making people visit the clinic.

The clinic experience apparently encouraged many people to see doctors. Some 11 per cent went to doctors they had never visited before. About two-thirds of the visitors later saw doctors or attended other clinics for health checkups. This, said the foundation, may mean the multi-test clinic helps make people more health conscious.

The location of the clinic is important, the survey finds. About half of the time, the clinic was located in downtown department stores, and a high percentage of visitors then were women shoppers. By trailer, the clinic visited factories, companies, colleges, and other institutions.

Doctors interviewed were divided about whether the clinic was effective medically. Some were concerned that a negative report on the clinic tests might lead people to think they didn't have any kind of ailments at all.

StudiosDoing Best To Make Stars Behave

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 7 (AP)—What is Hollywood doing about its misbehaving celebrities?

You often hear people declare, "Oh, the studios like to have their stars get in scandals; they think any publicity is good publicity."

I have found no evidence to support this belief. The men who run the studios are responsible citizens. They know that business built on scandal is shaky. None argues that Hollywood scandals have a good effect on the box office. But there are two schools of thought on the effect.

1. One segment of the industry is gravely worried about film scandals. The argument: The US is puritanical by tradition and censures offenders of public morals.

Those who argue this point add that the four top money-making movies—"Gone With The Wind," "Best Year of Our Lives," "Bells of St. Mary's," "Going My Way"—are all moral tales. They also cite the top box office stars—John Wayne, Bob Hope, Bing Crosby, Betty Grable, James Stewart, Abbott and Costello, Clifton Webb, Esther Williams, Spencer Tracy, Randolph Scott. None of them has been involved in a big scandal; they are respected and responsible citizens.

Doesn't Matter

2. Others argue that although a star is not helped by a scandal, he is not hurt, either. They claim that the American public is quick to forgive and forget the misdeeds of their favorites.

They point out that the careers of Errol Flynn, Robert Mitchum, Robert Walker and Ava Gardner did not appear to suffer because of their headlined doings.

Even if stars have escaped unscathed from scandals, this doesn't mean that Hollywood is doing nothing about preventing future headlines. It lacks the formal machinery, since the Producers' Association can only control film content, not individual morals.

But a great deal of pressure is applied on potential wrong-doers by studios, agents and friends. Many juicy stories do not happen, or at least don't get in the papers, because of quick action by responsible persons.

Minor personalities who become trouble-makers soon find themselves dropped from their contracts and unable to find jobs at any of the studios. They are passed up as bad risks.

Hollywood has discovered that its responsible stars may be duller, but they're a lot less trouble.

Rodin's "The Thinker" and Hamlin's Alley Oop have more than their pose in common. Neither have Christmas shopped. Be a doer, not a thinker.

Nervous Woman Needs Sympathy Doctor Believes

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 7 (AP)—The nervous woman of today is "a scared and lonely individual" who needs sympathy more than medical treatment, says a California diagnostician.

She is a product of the machine age and is frustrated and confused by its speed, competition and complexity, Dr. Earl O. G. Schmitt of San Jose, Calif., told the American Medical Association.

There are five kinds of nervous women, Dr. Schmitt said: those 65 or over; women in the menopause; the young matron; the recently-married woman whose husband may be in the service, and the "missed-by-marriage women."

A surprisingly large number of these women are "unhappy and worried about matters of sex," Dr. Schmitt said. This situation is made worse, he added, by the fact that many doctors neglect the subject or are incapable of giving useful advice about it.

The flood of current books and articles about sex are evidence of this wide uncertainty and confusion, he said. The much-discussed Kinsey Report, though it may be well-intentioned, likely would not help the confused woman, and might even have "a very damaging efect on the proper understanding of sex problems and on the dignity of sex in the lives of many otherwise sane-minded women."

One cause of frustration, Mr. Schmitt said, is due to inability to keep up with some other person in doing work. Sometimes this other person is the husband who has a great capacity for work. Outclassed, the woman becomes frustrated.

Work is good medicine, he said. "I have a firm conviction that more nervous women are created over the bridge table than over the wash tub."

DROP BAN ON FILM

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina, Dec. 7—(AP)—The presidential press office said Thursday night the government of Juan D. Peron has withdrawn its ban on Soviet motion pictures. The ban has been in effect since Aug. 30, 1950.

MARY MOORE SAYS:

Making Brownies And Herm For An Interested Reader

QUESTION: I had to write to you, I had to have those brownies and hermits. I was afraid to write but when you said to I thought I would. I have saved your recipes for years. My husband gets mad at me for as soon as the paper comes I always have to look for you and cut the recipes out. If I don't he and the kiddies get it. I have three little children and they sure like cookies. I'm not a very good cookie maker . . I get them dry and tough. Could you help me out? Your letters in the paper are swell. . You must have a nice family . . Have you a recipe for Hamburg and Macaroni Casserole with tomatoes . . have you any cabbage casserole dish with tomatoes . . You sure are doing good work to help us homemakers, Mary Moore, and I thank you, Mrs. Stanley D.

ANSWER: In the specialized work of writing a food column and answering readers' letters about food, it is letters like yours, Mrs. Stanley D. that make me reiterate my resolves to always be prompt and accurate with my answers. It would be easy to slip into the casual attitude of taking other folks' word for it that a recipe is good. But we do try everything and it pays big dividends in readers' confidence in me. Thank you for such a kind expression of appreciation.

Brownies

One-third cup margarine or shortening, 2 squares unsweetened chocolate (OR 6 tablespoons good quality cocoa plus 1 teaspoon butter), 1 cup white or brown sugar, 2 beaten eggs, ½ cup unsifted flour, ½ teaspoon each baking powder and salt, 1 cup chopped walnuts, 1 teaspoon vanilla. Melt chocolate and shortening together until just blended—do not over heat. (If cocoa is used warm it and the teaspoon butter and shortening until blended.) Beat eggs and stir sugar into them then combine them with the chocolate mixture. Sift flour and sift it again with the baking powder and salt. Sift these over the first mixture and blend in. Add chopped nuts and vanilla. Grease an 8 x 10 x 1½ inches pan, and spread mixture on it. Bake at 350 deg. Fahr. for 50 minutes, having pan in exact centre of oven. When slightly cool mark into squares or triangles or diamonds.

Hermits

One cup shortening (if half butter or margarine and half shortening are used cookies are improved), 1 cup each white and brown sugar, 2 eggs, 2 2-3 cups sifted flour, ½ teaspoon salt, 2 teaspoons baking powder, ½ teaspoon each soda, cloves and nutmeg, 1 to 1½ teaspoons cinnamon, 1-3 cup milk, 2-3 cup each raisins and chopped nuts. Cream shortening and sugar together until fluffy then beat in eggs. Sift the sifted flour with the salt, soda, baking powder and spices. Add sifted dry ingredients alternately to the first mixture with the milk, beating well between additions. Stir in nuts and raisins. Drop by teaspoons onto greased cookie sheet 2 inches apart. Bake at 350 deg. Fahr. 12 to 15 minutes.

Macaroni And Hamburger Casserole

One-quarter lb macaroni, 1½ quarts boiling salted water, 1 finely chopped onion, 1 chopped green pepper is optional, 1 to 1½ cups canned tomatoes, ½ to 1 cup grated old cheese, 4 tablespoons bacon fat, ½ to ¾ lb. hamburger, 2 tablespoons flour. Cook macaroni in salted water until tender and drain. Melt butter or bacon fat and saute the onion, green peper (if used) and hamburg in it until slightly browned, then add this to the drained macaroni and grated cheese. Season with salt and pepper to taste. Turn into buttered casserole and cover with buttered crusts and bake at 375 deg. Fahr. until bubling and golden.

Cabbage Casserole

Shred 1¼ lbs. cabbage as finely as posssible with long sharp knife. Place one-third of it in buttered casserole. Cover this with 1 or 2 slices tomatoes, a sprinkling of grated cheese (using ½ to 2-3 cup cheese in all) and some salt and pepper. Repeat 5 times. Cover with 2 cups of medium thick white sauce (4 tablespoons each butter and flour and 2 cups milk), sprinkle with a few crumbs and bake at 350 deg. Fahr. 40 minutes. (If desired the thick part from canned tomatoes may be used instead of fresh tomatoes.)

Alderville Club Makes Quilt For Christmas

ROSENEATH, Dec. 7 (ENS)—Making a quilt for a Christmas gift to a needy person in the community took up most of the afternoon at the December meeting of Alderville Homemakers. The meeting was held on Wednesday at the home of the president, Mrs. James Bigwin, Jr.

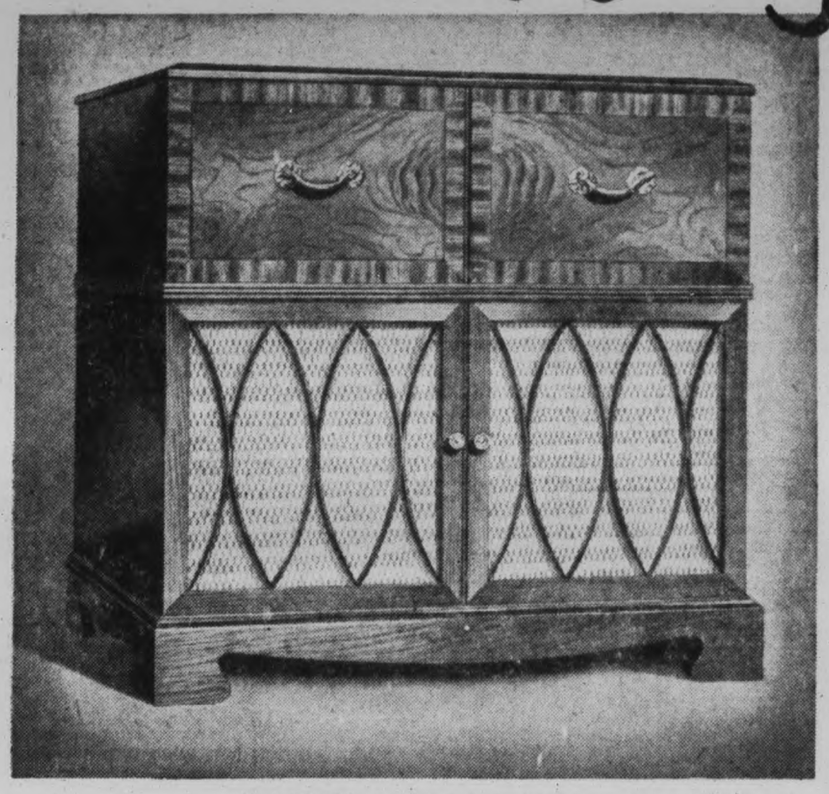
During the brief business period, a discussion arose regarding a branch district director. Mrs. Alfred Simpson was appointed to that office.

An invitation was received and accepted to attend the Christmas meeting of Roseneath Women's Institute as guests of that orgapization.

Material for sewing was distributed among the members to be made into garments.

BREAK THE LAXATIVE HABIT THIS PROVEN WAY

If you take laxatives regularly, here is how you can stop! This proven plan helps you establish your natural powers of regularity, controlled tests prove.



Stop taking whatever you now take. Instead, every night for one week take two Carter's Little Liver Pills. Second week—one each night. Third week—one every other night. Then nothing! Every day drink eight glasses of water; set a definite time for regularity. This plan was proven in scientifically controlled tests.

How can a laxative break the habit? Because Carter's unblock the lower digestive tract and from then on let it make use of its own natural powers. Further, Carter's contain no habit forming drugs. Break the laxative habit with Carter's . . . be regular naturally.

When worry, overwork, overeating make you irregular temporarily—take Carter's temporarily. Never get the laxative habit.

Get mild, gentle Carter's Little Liver Pills at any drug store. Only 35c. You'll be grateful the rest of your life.

DOROTHY DIX

Find Possessive Woman Not Good Wife For Man

DEAR MISS DIX: We live in a housing project where the homes are quite close together. There are a number of children and they get along very well. However, there is one little boy who rates our sympathy because his mother will not let him bring any toys outside his house. He has very nice things, too, such as a bicycle, wagon, etc., but his mother treats them like gold. As soon as the child gets off his bike on the few occasions when he gets it out, she whisks it into the house. He is never permitted to let another child touch his things. The other youngsters resent this. They keep chasing him home to get his own things, which of course he cannot do.

Dorothy Dix

How can we make this mother see that it is unfair to the other children to deprive her child of his playthings? Do you think it is right for her to be so selfish, consequently turning him into a grabber who wants the other children's toys? As you can well imagine, this woman is very unpopular and the only person who tolerates all this grabbing is the next door neighbor, who is just the opposite with her youngster's playthings.

THREE DISGUSTED MOTHERS

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: You three mothers present more of a problem than the neighbor of whom you complain! She is an isolated instance; you represent almost the rest of the neighborhood!

Your neighbor is a possessive woman rather than a selfish one—the words are not entirely synonymous. She places an inordinately high value on material things and must have everything she owns in perfect condition Her home is undoubtedly immaculate and she herself a fanatic housekeeper. She is not a comfortable person to live with, I assure you.

Mend Your Attitude

Since her child is driven outside his home for companionship and toys, don't you think you three ladies are being a bit selfish yourselves to deny them to him? Of course if you're going to stand on your "rights," ect., he is not entitled to use the playthings of his neighboring friends, but with a child, only very mean people, in my estimation, insists on "rights". You are here presented with a marvelous opportunity to teach your own offspring a wonderful lesson in sharing, in being considerate to one less fortunate in available toys than they. You're making a big mistake not to take advantage of it. Instead of resenting the child, encourage him to play with the other children. Since their toys are outside anyway, surely it can't hurt if he enjoys them also !

Mrs. Nextdoor Neighbor is the gal after my own heart. Wasting no time on weighing the merits of who is entitled to what, she opens her heart, her toy box and her front door to everyone. Follow her example, instead of trying to outdo others in possessiveness.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I am a girl of 19, earning $40 a week and paying board at home regularly. I have been working for the past two years. It seems my parents cannot get used to the idea that I am no longer a child. A curfew of ten to ten-thirty during the week has been enforced whether I am at a girl friend's house or out on a date. If I am out after that time, or if friends drop in, they are very rudely informed I am not permitted visitors at such an hour. My mother insists that as long as I live in this house I will obey them and abide by the rules of the house. Lately I have been thinking of moving as I do not think I can put up with their eccentricities much longer.

B. F.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Ten-thirty does not seem such an unreasonable hour for week-day dates. After all, no matter how healthy you are now, you do need a good night's sleep to face the next day's work. You say nothing about weekend curfews, so I assume they're reasonably later. If you have no worse complaints than this, I think you'd better stay at home, for a while longer anyway. Living by yourself wouldn't be much fun, and would entail many more problems that you are now facing.

Considering your age, and the fact that you are not financially dependent on your family, you should have some adult privileges, but neither now, nor at any time in your future life, will you be absolutely independent, so don't expect too much.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: My husband and I were married for fifteen years and have four lovely children. Three years ago he fell in love with another woman. I had to take the children and move out as he wanted the house. I lived with relatives and friends so I could work and support the children. I am 36 and my husband 45. Now I have met a man 37 who wants to marry me. However, since my husband found out about this man he will not give me my freedom; still he does not want me back and is still living with the woman who drove me from my home. What can I do to get my freedom?

LISA

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: In your state, adultery and non-support are both grounds for divorce. Since your husband is guilty on both counts, there is no reason why you can't get a divorce yourself. He doesn't have to agree to it. I advise you to seek legal aid in this matter—from a lawyer if you can afford one, from the Legal Aid Association if you can't.

Lingerie Shop Sales Girls Not Startled By Male Buyers

TORONTO, Dec. 7 (CP)—Sales girls in lingerie shops no longer look startled when a man enters the store.

They're used to them now because so many men have taken to buying frilly slips, nightgowns, peignoirs and panties for their wives or sweethearts for Christmas.

The men are often more popular with the sales girls than pernickety women buyers, says Mrs. R. G. Lowe, a buyer for one ladies' wear chain. The men will take almost anything suggested and hardly know the difference, she says.

Men are especially keen on housecoats as gifts. "We sell the greatest number of them in the week just before Christmas," said Mrs. Lowe, "because that's when men do their shopping."

Just Phone In

Some men don't even go near the store to order. They just phone in, tell us what they think would be nice, the size and how much they want to spend, and then all they have to do is pick it up.

Nylon tricot is one of the favorite materials for slips and nightgowns. White leads the popularity parade in slip colors.

One of the luxury items this year is a peignoir of sheer silk or nylon tricot in white, red or black with drop shoulders and balloon sleeves. To wear under it, one dealer is featuring bridal sets of white satin trimmed with tiny rhinestones.

Golden Mile Club Party Guests Of Soroptimists

Feasting is one of the joys of the Christmas season. It was indulged to the full Thursday evening by Soroptimists and their 38 special guests from the Golden Mile Club at a Christmas dinner party. Not only that—Santa Claus came with a sleighload of gifts for the guests.

Singing of favorite Christmas carols began an enjoyable program after dinner. Delightful piano selections were played by Mrs. Agnes Logan and the Swiss story of the "Christmas Rose" was told by Mrs. Mae Thompson. Two Christmas films were shown.

Joining in this party were Soroptimists from Timmins, Sudbury, London and Toronto who are in the city for a meeting of public health nurses.

President Miss Alice Curtis extended the season's greetings and wishes. The program was in charge of Mrs. Isabel Hughson. Appreciation was expressed by Mrs. E. Chatten, president of the Golden Mile Club.

The turkey dinner and trimmings were prepared and served by the ladies of Murray St. Mr. and Mrs. Club, in the church hall.

Turkey Supper And Program After WA Meeting

Christmas meeting of the Woman's Association of St. James' United Church brought a successful years work to a close in a pleasant manner. The regular meeting convened in the afternoon with the singing of Christmas carols with Mrs. G. Harris presiding.

Mrs. Harris offered prayer, followed by two minutes silent prayer in memory of Mrs. W. McConkey who died on Tuesday of this week. Timely devotional was conducted by Mrs. Robert English based on the 2nd Chapter of Matthew's Gospel. Mrs. E. Kitney sang a beautiful solo "The Birthday of the King" accompanied on the piano by Mrs. H. Doig.

Reports for the year in all departments showed a very successful year had been completed. Donations were granted to the Woman's Missionary Society and the Mission Band. The Christmas Cheer committee is to consist of Mrs. G. Harris and Mrs. B. Seabrooke.

Report of the nominating committee was received and accepted with all offices filled.

This meeting was followed by a turkey supper and an interesting program. Messages of good wishes were brought to the Woman's Association by the Rev. H. McCormack and the presidents of the organized classes.

A beautiful duet "The Prince of Peace" was given by Mrs. H. Turner and Mrs. E. Johnston, accompanied by Mrs. Doig. A one act play "The Perfect Husband" was presented by Mesdames Rutherford, MacMurchy, Monks, Towns, Jones and Maudsley.

Mrs. Alberta Saunders, who has been a faithful member for 41 years was fittingly remembered by a gift of a necklace. Tribute was also paid to Mrs. G. Harris by an address read by Mrs. Al. Saunders and a gift presented by Mrs. H. Turner.

The coming of Santa Claus and the distribution of gifts from a beautifully trimmed Christmas tree brought the evening to a close.

Dutch Trimmings And Pastry Enjoyed At Party

Christmas party of the Baby Band Mothers took place Wednesday evening in the ladies' parlor following the regular meeting. The parlor had been decorated for this occasion in the fashion that is customary in Holland and the decorators were Mrs. J. P. Moes and Mrs. Maryka VanWyk, who are both from that country.

Refreshments included a Dutch Christmas pastry that is something like shortbread but is called "bunko" and it was found extremely tasty. Christmas cake was also served with the tea, which was poured by Mrs. S. C. Carver, honorary president, and Mrs. W. B. Gordon, newly elected president.

The decorations featured two huge wooden "wreaths" suspended from the chandelier, with centres filled with silver baubles hung on red ribbon and tops filled in by a row of lighted candles. Tiny trees and evergreen branches trimmed with icicles and snow were around the room. The tea table was laid with a cutwork cloth and held rad tapers around a Christmas centrepiece.

Hostesses for the evening were Mrs. Moe, Mrs. Van Wyk, Mrs. Thompson, Mrs. K. Barltrop, Mrs. A. Parker, Mrs. A. L. Thompson, Mrs. B. G. Till, Mrs. R. E. Seabrooke, Mrs. R. D. Huffman, Mrs. Pierce, Mrs. R. Scrutton, Mrs. R. N. Armstrong and Mrs. Thompson.

Two new members welcomed at the meeting were Mrs. Sid Phillips and Mrs. Dean Cutmore, who were introduced by president Mrs. Eric Edmondson.

Mrs. A. E. Thompson's group had charge of the program preceding the party. The stories of three best-loved Christmas carols, Hark the Herald Angels Sing, Silent Night and O Come All Ye Faithful were read by Mrs. Thompson, each story followed by the singing of the carol. The film "The Little Angel" was shown by Mrs. K. McVety.

Scripture selection was read by Mrs. John Pierce and Mrs. D. B. Gordon offered prayer. Mrs. A. Parker sang a solo with accompaniment by Mrs. O. Jamieson.

Installation of the new executive was conducted by Mrs. A. Legon, and new president Mrs. Gordon then took the chair and made arrangements for the children's Christmas party on December 12.

St. James' YPU To Go Carolling

A period of handicrafts brought this week's evening meeting of St. James Y.P.U. under way with a few other members matching swats at the ping pong table. The evening worship service was under direction of Walter Dixon of the fellowship group, assisted by Muriel Hall, Marilyn McCulloch, Rus Robinson and Bob Tamblyn at the piano.

It was announced in the business session that members will go carolling Tuesday, December 18th, to shut-ins. There will be an executive meeting at the church Monday, December 10th.

The Rev. N. McCormick presided for the election of the 1952 executive. Members elected to office are as follows. Ron Davis, president; Eleanor Bird, vice-president; Rayma Brown, secretary; Ted Youngs, treasurer and Bob Pullyblank, publication convener. Officers for the conveners ships were Marion Davis, faith in evangelism; Bob Clark, stewardship and training; Betty Piercy, missions; Danny McClenaghan, recreation: Evelyn Atkinson, social; Muriel Hall, telephone and assistant Wilbert Cunningham; Marilyn McCulloch, sunshine; Arden Stevens, sing song; and Bob Tamblyn, pianist.

The group sang a few carols before lunch was served.

Mrs. H. Clegg To Be President Of Knox WMS

WMS of Knox Church met in the church parlors with 33 members present for December meeting. Mrs. E. Mesley presided for the opening and gave a few words of welcome. Mrs. H. Lewis was pianist. Miss S. Summers read letters of thanks from Mrs. F. Milburn and Mrs. Tom Johnston and reported 92 home and seven hospital calls. Mrs. Milburn reported $73. received from sale of papers. Mrs. J. Allen gave a financial statement.

Mrs. Gertley closed the meeting with a benediction.

Give Scholarship For Designers

LONDON, Dec. 7— (CP) — Young men and women with rosy dreams of becoming a Norman Hartnell or a Schiaparelli eagerly greet a new British scholarship.

In memory of Bianca Mosca, one of London's most brilliant designers who died last year, a trust fund for an open fashion scholarship, first of its kind, has been set up. An award of £400 will be given each year to the person whose sketches, photographs and written program for a year's travel study show most promise for a future career in fashion.

The award may be spent in travel in one or more countries and the trust committee will arrange for the winner to join a fashion house in London, Paris, Italy or New York.

First to be told of the new scholarship were the schools. So many applications have already been received that the committee extended the date of entry to Jan. 1. Age range for applicants is 17 to 25.

Home and School Association News

CONFEDERATION SCHOOL

Confederation Home and School Asociation this week had as guest speaker the Rev. Harvey J. Scuse of St. George's Church, who was introduced by Mrs. J. Branson.

Mr. Scuse gave a brief address, stressing the adage that the "family that prays and plays together stays together." He suggested as an aid to realizing this that each family as a unit build the manger scene for their own homes. In conclusion the speaker urged:

"In preparation for this highly commercialized season do not forget the origin of Christmas—the birth of our Lord."

Entertainment of a highly amusing nature was provided by pupils. Grade 1 children opened with a song of welcome. A dialogue, "Harry's Pockets," was cleverly done by Judy Stock and Don Kinneburg, and a Christmas motion song by other grade 5 pupils. Grade 2 did "The Christmas Pudding" and an oral problem titled "Jaw Breakers" was presented by Norma Branson.

An unusual pantomine, "A Day on the Farm," was done by grade 6. St. Luke's Christmas story was presented by grade 7. The grade 8 pupils led in the singing of Christmas carols with the audience.

President Mrs. L. Mank presided for a business meeting. She announced the next parent education meeting will take place December 11th at the home of Mrs. C. Porter, 268 King George St. A "fun night" is planned for January 25th. Attendance prize was won by Mrs. Barrett's class.

At conclusion of the evening refreshments were served by Mrs. M. Wright, social convener, and her committee.

Former Roseneath Schoolteacher Studying French In Paris

ROSENEATH, Dec. 7 (ENS)—Miss Clarice Atkinson, a former teacher at Roseneath School, is studying French in Paris prior to going to French West Africa as a missionary. In a letter received by friends here Miss Atkinson said she is attending the Alliance Francaise School, where only French is taught and which draws pupils from all parts of the world.

Miss Atkinson is boarding in a suburb of Paris, with a French Protestant family, and at first she found French customs and French food rather strange.

After sailing from New York on the Queen Elizabeth on September 27, docking in Southampton five days later, then spending a couple of days sightseeing in London, visiting Westminster Abbey, St. Paul's Cathedral, the Tower of London, the changing of the guard, the Wax Works, and other places of interest, Miss Atkinson arrived in Paris on October 6.

Following in the footsteps of her mother, the late Mrs. Warren Atkinson, who was a former missionary in Japan, Miss Atkinson will go to French West Africa at the conclusion of her course in language study in France. She is being sent by the Brent Baptist Church, Florida.

THE EXPERTS SAY:

Leek Coming Into Its Own, Tasty Dish

By KAY REX
Canadian Press Staff Writer

The leek, an onion-like herb largely ignored by Canadian housewives, has come into its own. Europeans who have brought their culinary skills to Canada are pointing up its value.

They have created a demand where hitherto none existed. With this demand has come an increase in price. Where once leeks sold for five cents a bunch, now they cost 15 cents and the demand is growing.

Leek soup, a favorite dish with the French, is one of the tastiest of luncheon treats.

Ingredients: three good-sized leeks; three-medium-sized potatoes.

Wash Thoroughly

Wash leeks thoroughly, making certain to get all the sand from the leaves. Cut off some of the top but leave on as much of the green as possible. This gives the soup its effective green color. Cut off root end and slice in half-inch pieces.

Peel and cut potatoes in small chunks. Boil with leeks in just enough water to cover the vegetables when they are pressed to bottom of pot.

When cooked, put leeks and potatoes through vegetable strainer. The thick soup resulting should be reheated, then served with plenty of salt and pepper and a chunk of butter. Crusty bread goes well with this dish.

Sentimental Note

Rose potpourri is for the girl who wants to keep her wedding roses or for any woman who enjoys an old-fashioned rose sachet.

Pluck petals from rose and spread to dry. Sprinkle well with table salt which draws out moisture and helps prevent mold. Turn the leaves each day for about three days.

When dry and crisp, drench the petals with red roses sachet. Keep them in a box with the lid on for at least 24 hours, until petals have taken up the sachet.

Make bags of four layers of rayon, net or tulle, cut in eight-inch squares. Cut another round size of a teacup, at least two-ply, and place on bottom of sachet square to keep powder from sifting through. Draw up the four corners of the square, tie tightly with ribbon, then round or fringe the corners for decoration.

For travelling, make flat pads by folding tulle. For use as hangers in closet, add loops of ribbon for hanging. If all-white petals have been used, add snips of bright red crepe paper to the leaves for color, as seen through the tulle.

Christmas Jingle

The National Council of Women says there is nothing like a pair of hand-knitted socks to please a man at Christmas.

However, better not become too ambitious if you are planning to begin knitting Christmas gifts now. For instance, you won't have time to make a knitted dress or skirt before Christmas.

If you are knitting a jacket or bonnet for a new baby, make it larger than his present size. He probably has plenty of things he soon will outgrow.

DR. ASENATH PETRIE (left), British reserach psychologist, sounds a warning against "tinkering" with the human brain while discussing the need for more research with Dr. John Zubek, who is working on brain function in the department of psychology, McGill, during a visit recently to the Donner Building for Medical Research in Montreal.

"Santa Corners" Children's Mecca In UK

By MURIEL NARRAWAY

LONDON, — (CP) — Toys for junior's Christmas stocking are more expensive, but London's department stores have elaborate Santa corners — and the gift sack still holds many interesting gadgets costing as little as 3s. and under.

Energetic youngsters gaily drag wearied parents around such places as a Santa Claus college, complete with classroom and life-like working models, in a store to the heart of London's business centre. A punch and Judy show performs at the entrance and gifts are delivered at a "lucky-dip" counter.

A Kensington store provides an "enchanted forest," and close-by another store has a Peter Pan railway that last year carried 70,000 children and their escorts through tunnels of red, bue and silver.

On busy Oxford street, a store with an elaborate outside display of fairy lights and Christmas trees has hordes of Walt Disney characters through which excited children run in search of Santa and his helper, Uncle Holly.

Enchanted Wood

In Kilburn, a London suburb, the shopper finds another enchanted wood, this time with real deer, monkeys and birds. In its centre is Santa's workshop where presents come shooting down the chimney.

And for the starry-eyed youngsters, Santa's sack holds everything from dolls costing £25 10s. to watches on long chains priced at 2s. and useful for teaching the time. As the hour hand turns a disc on the face changes to give different scenes for each hour.

Costing under £1 there are space ships with jet engines and jet-propelled cars, forts with soldiers, ranches and farms. A child might be equally happy with the electrically-operated freight train costing nearly £6 or the cute little booklet with a story of pit-a-pat, priced at 9d. Pic-a-pat is a sweet-faced kitten with rose-trimmed hat tied wih big net bow, pink jumper and posy of violets—and she's a kitten who can't do anything right.

Whatever the price, there are myriads of toys children will love —especially the clockwork models costing about 10s.

For the precocious child there are such topical games as "housing drive." This involves such phrases as "government subsidies," "licence to build," "labor units" and "power units."

BUSY FINNS

Despite 69 labor strikes Finland's production index in 1950 stood at 109, compared with 100 in 1948.

Of Interest to Women

What's Right?

You are at a large meeting and are bored by the guest speaker.

WRONG: Slump down in your chair and make no pretense of listening.

RIGHT: Out of courtesy to the person who is speaking, at least pretend to be attentive.

So Many Questions in the Public Mind!
We are sure of only one thing ourselves. That is that used car prices are about as low now as they can get. This IS a GOOD time to buy a better car. Prices always go up in the Spring, and if production cut backs occur, its not hard to figure what will happen to used car prices.

Carols Feature Christmas Party

CAMPBELLFORD, Dec. 7 — (ENS).—The Campbellford Home and School Association held their annual Christmas concert in the High School auditorium Wednesday evening. The auditorium was packed for the occasion, with many patrons standing in the halls. Santa Claus was on hand and arrived at 7:30 to greet the children.

T. B. Rout, local High School teacher from New Zealand, acted as master of ceremonies, and kept the program moving at a lively pace. Mrs. Lorne Watson and Mrs. Don Rutherford were pianists for the evening.

Carol singing was the highlight of the evening, with the audience taking part in singing many of the old favorites. A group of carol singers also kept the audience entertained.

Pupils from the Public School put on a patriotic flag drill and boys from the local High School gave a display of gymnastics and tumbling. Allan Jones pleased the audience with his solo, "O Holy Night."

Miss Betty Redner gave a reading on the origin of the Christmas tree. The first Christmas tree was a gift from Prince Albert to Queen Victoria on the Christmas after their marriage. In Germany the Christmas tree is used extensively. An old legend has it that the tree is supposed to blossom each Christmas Day in honor of the Christ Child, and rich and poor alike decorated their homes with the trees. The trees were decorated with all manner of ornaments, developing finally into the tinsel and colored lights and balls used in modern homes today.

Two solos and a tap dance routine were presented by Gaele Meyers. These were the Skaters' Waltz and Winter Wonderland. Both numbers were well received by the audience.

The group enjoyed a square dance, called by Ross Jewell and "fiddled" by Arthur Petherick.

A trio of carollers, consisting of Mrs. C. A. Bright, Mrs. Hector Macmilan, and Mrs. W. C. Tatham, presented a number of carols that delighted the audience. Jill Macmillan also gave a musical recitation, "The Night Before Christmas."

Mrs. H. S. Staples sang a solo, "Calm 'Neath the Sky."

To round off the evening a comedy skit was presented entitled "And the Lamp Went Out." The heroine of this was Betty Peake. Mrs. John McKibbin was her mother and Francis Frederick was the hero. Harry Bennett was the villain, while the affair was narrated by Vera Newman, with sound effects by Helen Robertson.

At the close of the evening, Mrs. Newman thanked Mrs. Macmillan and Mrs. Jemell for the program they, as conveners, had provided. She also thanked the firm of Garneau & Dunsmoor for loaning a sound system for the evening. The firm also supplied recordings.

It is hoped to continue classes in sewing, nursing and other work in the coming year. These were well received last year, and at the January meeting of the association, plans will again get under way for the new classes. A class in square dancing may also be added for the 1952 season.

Police Charge Man As Drunk Driver

Charged with drunk driving, Ben Hexam, 49, of 482 St. Germain St., Toronto, pleaded guilty in police court today.

When Assistant Crown Attorney Walter Howell said that the Crown was not ready to proceed, as the officer who laid the charge Constable William G. Scott, was not present at the time, a plea of not guilty was entered for Hexam.

A plea of not guilty was also entered on a second charge of careless driving. Both charges were adjourned until December 10, and Hexam was advised to obtain a lawyer.

Constable William C. Scott reported that Hexam was in a "drunken condition" when arrested Thursday evening, after he had run into the rear of a truck at George and Sherbrooke Sts.

Driving his truck north on George St., behind another northbound truck driven by Doug Elcombe of RR 3 Peterborough, Hexam is said to have swung out to pass Elcombe's truck and then pulled back into line, colliding with Elcombe's truck, to avoid a collision with southbound traffic.

Obituary

MRS. JOHN FOULIOTTE

After a lengthy illness, Mrs. John Pouliotte, Bellevue Ave., died in hospital here Thursday. She was in her 89th year.

Born in Chandos township, the late Mrs. Pouliotte was the former Annie Caldwell, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Caldwell of Chandos township.

She had lived in the city for 70 years. Her husband predeceased her in 1941.

A member of St. Andrew's United church, Mrs. Pouliotte is survived by one niece, Mrs. Edward McCaskie of Peterborough and a nephew, Hugh Caldwell of Frankford.

The funeral will be held Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the Comstock funeral home.

The Rev. H. A. Cotton, pastor of St. Andrew's United church will officiate.

Interment will be in Little Lake cemetery.

Jury Acquits

wounding with intent, wounding, and assault occasioning actual bodily harm.

(By mistake, the jurymen thought this section was a fourth count on which Mrs. Delaire could be tried, and so they at first brought in the incorrect verdict.)

Could Be Reduced

Judge Smoke explained that the charge was wounding with intent to do grievous bodily harm. However this could be reduced, if the jury saw fit, to one of two minor charges: wounding, or assault occasioning actual bodily harm.

In his summing up, before the jury retired, Judge Smoke said: "It seems to me that you can't do less than find the accused guilty of assault."

He added, however, that it was up to the jury to decide.

They apparently believed Mrs. Delaire's story that she had never intended to slash her husband with a straight razor. Though she admitted quarreling with him and of being jealous of his "girl friend," she brandished the straight razor as a bluff to get him home from a neighbor's home where he was phoning.

"I didn't intend to use it," she said, "I just wanted to throw a scare into him."

Back In 15 Minutes

After bringing in the wrong verdict at 4.55 pm, the jury retired for a further 15 minutes.

They returned at 5.17 p.m., finding Mrs. Delaire not guilty.

Judge Smoke disagreed.

"Gentlemen, I don't know how you could have reached any such conclusion on the evidence," he said. "But the verdict is on your shoulders, not on mine."

He then ordered Mrs. Delaire discharged.

As she stepped out of the prisoner's box the petite brown-haired woman smiled for the first time since her trial began Wednesday afternoon.

She shook hands with Defence Counsel John W. Corkery, thanked him for the manner in which he handled her case, and walked out of the court room— a free woman.

The slashing is alleged to have occurred in the dining room of Mrs. William Condon, who lives across the street from the Delaires, at 472 Elm Street. Mr. Delaire, described as "drunk," had gone over to the Condon home to make a phone call.

Mrs. Delaire followed him over. She stood there while he phoned and then began to pummel him with her fists, Mrs. Condon testified.

She stopped and tried to get her husband to come home, but he wouldn't. Once again she began to hit him. Then she left the Condon home to return to her own.

Got Razor.

Mrs. Delaire told the jury she went back home, took a straight razor from the china cabinet, and returned to the Condon home.

Her intent, she said, was not to use it but "throw a scare into him."

When she entered the house the the second time she heard her husband say to the party on the other end of the phone: "We put it over on Jen. that time, didn't we Daisy?"

It was then she had a mental blackout. She could remember nothing, she said, until she was trying to get a doctor.

Conflicting evidence was given by Detective Sgt. W. A. (Bud) Clarke. He said Mrs. Delaire admitted to him, while he questioned her that night, that she had slashed her husband.

Detective Sgt. Clarke also said that Sylvester Delaire told him in hospital that the whole incident was his fault.

"Delaire said that he had led her on," said Detective Clarke.

Mr. Delaire received a seven-inch slash across the throat, half an inch deep, that required 20 stitches to close. It was not a serious wound as it cut no important structures in the neck.

Dr. W. J. Calvert permitted Mr. Delaire to go home next day.

Mr. Delaire did not attend the trial. His wife said she has not seen him in more than two months.

Members of the jury were: Joseph Primeau, Elcome Cres., foreman; Lloyd Rowland, Centre St.; William H. Mitchell, George St.; Robert G. Aman, Gilmour St.; Frank Neary, Perry St.; David Ahern, Bolivar St.; Thomas Webster, Dummer Township; Frank Perry, Aylmer St.; Murton Whaley, Murray St.; Harold J. Sarginson, Cambridge St.; Clifford Robertson, Downer's Corners, and Thomas Sarginson, Lafayette St.

Send Eddolls Coach Quakers

NEW YORK, Dec. 7 — (CP)— Frank Eddolls, captain of the New York Rangers, will become temporary playing coach of Saskatoon Quakers of the Pacific Coast League, it was announced today.

Eddolls, 30-year old [illegible] man and native of Lachine, Que., will replace Bill Cook who has been appointed coach of the Rangers ass uccessor to Neil Colville.

Rangers officials emphasized that Eddolls' appointment is only temporary and that a hunt is on for a suitable permanent coach of the Quakers, New York farm team.

Eddolls plans to leave here by air Monday for Saskatoon and will take over the team Tuesday.

The Rangers have been carrying six defencemen and Eddolls has not appeared in the team's last two games, so no replacement will be required for him.

Eddolls, a 180-pound rushing style rearguard, played with the Oshawa Generals of the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A series before turning pro with Hershey Bears of the American Hockey League in 1941.

Ralph W. Carey Appeal Denied

Ralph W. Carey, 26-year-old Cobourg undertaker, must serve a 20-year sentence for raping a neighbor's wife, the Ontario Court of Appeal ruled Thursday.

Carey appealed against the sentence, not the conviction, but it was turned down by Justices Henderson, Laidlaw and Hogg. The sentence was imposed on April 5 by Chief Justice James C. McRuer.

Carey is alleged to have entered the home of his absent neighbor through a cellar window. He then attacked the woman who is the mother of a young child. He was wearing a mask and gloves and he carried a flashlight with which he repeatedly struck the woman.

Truck Wheels Crush County Road Worker

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., Dec. 7 (CP)—Angus Putman, 50, of Wainfleet township, was killed today when the wheel of a truck passed over his head and chest on the Chippawa Creek road.

Putman was a "spotter" for the Welland County Road Department and his job was to tell truck drivers where to deposit their loads of rock.

James Brook, Fort Erie, driver of the truck, told police that he had emptied his load and Putman said he would get to the other side and shout when he was there.

Brooks said he heard a shout and started to back up when he heard a scream. He stopped the truck and found Putman with a wheel on his chest and his head crushed.

Hit Parked Car Man Fined $50

A Toronto commercial traveller who sampled some alcoholic beverages Thursday evening can contemplate the cost of his evening's refreshment today.

John D. Fraser, 75 Boulton Drive, Toronto crashed into a parked car on Park St., owned by Norman McConkey, River Rd. Damage to the Fraser car was estimated at $300. The McConkey car received $175 damage.

Today in police court, Fraser pleaded guilty to driving while his ability was impaired by alcohol. He was fined $50 and $2.50 costs. Anyone convicted of this charge may also have their driver's licence suspended if there is property damage involved as in this case.

To a second charge of leaving the scene of an accident, Fraser pleaded not guilty. A witness told constable William G. Scott that the car drove away after the accident, but Fraser returned a short time later, when Constable Scott was investigating.

Assistant crown attorney Walter Howell said that the crown would offer no evidence on this charge and it was dismissed by Magistrate W. R. Philp.

When Magistrate Philp said the car would be impounded for three months, Fraser said it belonged to the company and was only registered in his name for insurance purposes. Mr. Howell consented to the car being released.

Prepare Bylaw Expropriate Memorial Site

Authority to expropriate a parcel of the Morrow Park property as site of the Memorial Community Centre is the purpose of a bylaw which the legal committee recommended to the council on Thursday afternoon.

The regular meeting of the council is announced for Monday, December 10 at 7:30 pm. This may be the final regular meeting of the year although circumstances may require Mayor Swanston to call an additional meeting before the end of the year.

Directors of the Peterborough Exhibition have agreed to meet a delegation from the Quinte District Seed Fair Monday morning in the office of the Ontario Department of Agriculture.

Purpose of this conference is to discuss a proposal from the Seed Fair directors to establish the Fair permanently in Peterborough at Morrow Park. Ultimate decision hinges on permission to obtain the use of the main exhibit building. It is understood that there is still some question as to whether the Seed Fair directors are unanimous about settling down in Peterborough, and thereby terminating the rotary feature of this Fair which has been held at different places throughout the Quinte district from year to year.

Union Asks Ford To Resume Talks, 10,000 Now Idle

WINDSOR, Dec. 8. (CP)—Union leaders today awaited a reply to their bid for a resumption of negotiations with the Ford Company of Canada in a dispute which has made 10,000 workers idle just before the Christmas season. The bid was made Friday night by George Burt, Canadian director of the United Auto Workers of America (CIO-CCL), who challenged Rhys Sale, Ford president, "to meet with myself and the committee of Local 200 in constant negotiations until this dispute is settled . . ."

He said in a statement that "Ford and Local 200 will both be better off when they sit down and work this out around the conference table."

Earlier Friday the company used the strongest terms it has ever employed in a labor dispute in flatly refusing to reinstate 26 men whose firing Monday touched off the strike.

The statement said that since "some employees have felt free to disregard the orders of their supervisors, to walk off the job whenever they choose on some petty excuse," the firings must stand.

The wildcat strike in which the 26 men were said to be ringleaders was over the delay in receiving a conciliation board report on a six-month dispute over a new agreement.

Mr. Burt said the wildcat strike was misguided but understandable.

"Wildcat strikes are as much a headache to the union as they are to management because they are a negation of the union leadership," he added. "But the big stick is not the answer."

Mr. Sale's statement indicated the company would not retreat from its position.

It said:

"Neither now nor in the future will our company again place itself at the mercy of lawless and irresponsible elements whose reckless activities rob our people of legitimate employment and pay cheques and threaten the very destruction of the business on which all of us depend for our livelihood."

Mr. Sale said if the company were to give in to the demand for the return to work of the 26, it would be right back where it was last week.

Mr. Burt said Mr. Sale might not know it, but many of the 34 work stoppages in the past 18 months which were blamed on the union were actually ordered by management.

Montreal Stores Stay Open, Defy City Bylaw

MONTREAL, Dec. 8 (CP) — It was business as usual for big department stores today—in defiance of a new city bylaw prohibiting business on Roman Catholic holy days.

Business and shopping districts were deserted early in the day while Roman Catholics attended mass on the feast of Immaculate Conception—first day that the controversial bylaw was to be applied since its adoption.

Things began to hum by midmorning when major department stores on St. Catharines street opened their doors to Christmas shoppers.

Smaller stores, such as jewelry and men's clothing retailers were the first to open.

Clerks and managers were jittery when a reporter peered through the window and walked inside, sniffing the air in the manner of a bloodhound. The newspaperman didn't make any purchases, but chatted with the store employees.

Planned Reserves

Police officers, who Friday announced they would call out reserves to help enforce the bylaw, were few and far between. The reporter noticed one motorcycle traffic cop within several blocks of St. Catherine Street and two or three plainclothesmen.

The detectives walked past a men's clothing store and looked at each other knowingly. They didn't stop or even take notes.

The department stores previously announced—and advertised in Friday's English newspapers—that they would be open for business.

A group of the stores indicated they intended to break the law in order to have a test case brought to court.

The $40 fine for infractions meant little to the retailers who expected to draw shoppers given a day off from work because of the bylaw.

Several small concerns also planned to open, but most of them waited until noon to give their Roman Catholic employees a chance to attend mass.

Cheese Producers Market Goods

BELLEVILLE, Dec. 8. (CP)—The Ontario Cheese Producers' Association officially took over the curing and marketing of its products Friday — and received applause from representatives of four governments.

Agriculture Minister Kennedy of Ontario noted that it was the first time in Ontario that farmers have processed and shipped their own goods.

The occasion was the opening of the association's new $350,000 cheese curing and storage warehouse here by Mr. Kennedy.

Applause also came from Sir Andrew Jones, representing the British food ministry, W. S. Cameron, associate director of marketing service for the Federal Department of Agriculture, and Roland Camirand, representing the Quebec Department of Agriculture.

The plant contains a curing room with a capacity of 35,000 boxes of cheese. Altogether there is space enough to cure and hold more than 5,000,000 pounds. Producers feel this will enable them to hold cheese when marketing conditions are unfavorable.

Atom Agreement Not Accepted

PARIS, Dec. 8—(AP)—The western powers were reported today to have informed the United Nations Assembly president, Luis Padilla Nervo, that they have not agreed to the immediate prohibition of the atomic bomb.

Big Four delegates met for about 2½ hours today after western advisers and delegates sat up most of the night preparing replies to a memorandum tossed before the Big Four by Padilla.

The Big Four will meet again Monday for what might be the final session of their closed-door talks. They are sitting as a subcommittee of the Assembly's political committee.

Informed sources indicated that the United States, Britain and France were making it clear that they still stand for prohibition of atomic weapons only after a genuine and effective system of international control has been established. They said this is far different from Russian demands for immediate prohibition of the atomic weapons with controls to be talked about later.

Jet Battles Resume On Korean Front

SEOUL, Korea,, Dec. 8—AP)—The swirling air war over northwest Korea resumed Saturday after a one-day layoff. Three jet battles were fought in the brilliant blue skies.

United States Fifth Air Force said no damage was inflicted on either side.

The ground front was uncomfortable but quiet. The only action of any size appeared to be an early-morning thrust by a reinforced company of Communists on the central front. The Communists hit a United Nations hill position two miles southwest of Kumsong. UN troops drove them off in a 3½ hour batle.

Biggest jet battle reported Saturday matched a flight of 31 F-86 Sabre jets against about 75 Mig-15 jets. The battle broke off after 15 minutes.

MP's Pass Authority For Seaway

Ottawa Will Appoint Three Men To Carry On Work

OTTAWA, Dec. 8. (CP). — Parliament gave initial approval Friday for creation of a St. Lawrence Seaway Authority for construction of the big ocean-to-the-Great Lakes navigation project and regulation of it when it is built.

It took three days of debate to get first reading of the bill providing for establishment of the three-man Crown agency and there is a promise of more debate to come.

The legislation makes it clear that the door remains open for the United States to participate in the project. It gives the authority power to charge tolls on the self-liquidating navigation project, but states that in event of agreement with the United States for joint construction, the tolls may be only those directed by the Canadian government.

A companion measure also got through its initial stages. This is legislation to ratify an agreement signed between the federal government and the province of Ontario, giving the province power to go ahead with hydro development in the International Rapids section of the St. Lawrence River. Ontario will undertake this $4,000,000 project on an equal-share basis with the State of New York.

It was another day for Maritime members in the seaway debate. Some western members joined them in arguments that the seaway will be of no benefit to the Maritimes and that the government should produce a national plan to benefit all parts of Canada and not just Ontario and Quebec.

Dying Child Meets Her Hero

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 8 (AP)—A cheerful little girl who is said to be dying toured the town today with the man of her dreams, tenor Mario Lanza.

Ten-year-old Raphaela Fasano arrived by plane from New York Friday night amid the same fanfare accorded the biggest celebrities. She embraced Lanza before a battery of spotlights and newsreel cameras.

Raphaela, who lives with her parents in Newark, NJ, has Hodgkins disease, an affliction of the lympathic glands and spleen. When she saw Lanza in a movie she said she wanted to meet him before she died.

Two New York business men arranged the trip.

She will join in a birthday party Sunday for Lanza's two daughters, Colleen, three and Ellisa, one.

Pleven Demanding Vote Over Coal-Steel Pool Treaty

PARIS, Dec. 8. (CP)—Premier Rene Pleven today pegged the life of his government on a vote of confidence over the Schuman plan to pool the coal and steel industries of six European countries.

Pleven is urging immediate ratification of the plan. But a determined group of deputies in the national assembly wants to leave it in cold storage for another four months.

The premier conferred before dawn with President Auriol, summoned hastily from his country residence, then told the assembly he will submit a formal confidence vote.

Under the French constitution, a confidence issue must lie on the table for two days before a vote. The vote is expected to be taken Tuesday, when the assembly returns from its weekend recess.

The coal-steel plan was originated by Robert Schuman, now foreign minister in Pleven's coalition cabinet. After much negotiation, it finally was signed several months ago by France, Belgium, Luxembourg, The Netherlands, Italy and West Germany. But so far the only country to follow up its signature with full ratification is The Netherlands.

French politicians from far left and far right—Communists, De Gaullists and right wing independents—all opposed it. Chief criticism was a fear that France will be making a one-sided surrender of sovereignty to Germany, and that the pool may strengthen the Germans at French expense.

The Socialists, who are not taking part in Schuman's coalition government, support the plan. With their support most observers believe Pleven will win the vote of confidence.

The pool treaty envisages a single market without trade and customs barriers for coal and steel.

Difficulties in the debate arose when opposition deputies moved an amendment to adjourn ratification until the treaty had been given further consideration and amended in certain respects.

Pleven, feeling that the vote on the amendment might go against him, decided to make the vote a question of confidence.

THE 70-FOOT BRIDGE at Riviere du Loup, Que., on the St. Lawrence River's south shore, collapsed when a truck loaded with a bulldozer and other heavy construction machinery moved across it. The driver and his helper were unhurt. A temporary bridge will be strung across the gap to link Riviere du Loup with the main highway pending construction of a new and permanent structure next year.

Telephone Foils Bank Robbery, 5 Thugs Flee

PORT PERRY, Dec. 8 (CP)—A jangling telephone Friday night helped foil a robbery attempt by five armed men on the Canadian Bank of Commerce here.

The sound apparently frightened the five who were holding up bank manager J. R. Helm, causing them to flee after tying up Mr. Helm and his wife and son.

The manager told police the group entered the premises while they were being cleaned up by the janitor, Tom Asher. They forced the janitor to accompany them to the manager's upstairs apartment.

Eating Supper

Mr. Helm said he was eating supper when the group entered, holding Asher among them. They attempted to get Helm to open the safe but he said he didn't know the combination.

While they were arguing the telephone rang. Helm was allowed to answer but was warned not to mention the holdup. They then tied up the manager, his wife and son, 19, and robbed them. When the telephone rang again, they left.

Provincial police said the men were reported to have used the names of Boyd and Jackson while talking. Edwin Boyd, Leonard Jackson and William Jackson escaped from the Don jail on Nov. 4. They have been blamed for most robberies since that date. The descriptions furnished Friday, however, did not tally with those of either Boyd or the two Jacksons.

After making their escape, the five men were believed to have gone north. Four provincial police cruisers were sent to the scene, blocking off No. 12 Highway, on the east shore of Lake Scugog.

Cadillac Owner Won't Pay Fine

VICTORIA, BC, Dec. 8 (CP)—Mount St. Mary's Hospital here Friday received a cheque for $675 from a 74-year-old horseman serving a three-day jail sentence for refusal to pay a $15 fine.

Wealthy Robert Jackson went to jail rather than pay the fine after pleading guilty to unlawfully keeping animals on his property in the plush Rockland Avenue district here.

Spry Mr. Jackson admitted cheerfully in police court that he keeps two horses, two goats, two calves, and a pig. His well-to-do neighbors had objected to them—and the manure pile.

Instead of driving to court in the Cadillac he owns, Jackson arrived on horseback, wearing jodhpurs, riding boots and a tartan shirt.

Before he went to jail, Jackson wrote out a cheque for $675 to buy a television set for patients at Mount St. Mary's Hospital.

Parliamentary Committee Approves Banning Resale Price Maintenance

OTTAWA, Dec. 8. (CP)—The government has completed another step in its plans to make it illegal for manufacturers to set the retail prices of their products. After three weeks of stormy discussion, a special parliamentary committee placed before the Commons Friday a report approving proposed government legislation to ban resale price maintenance. It also recommended vigorous action to enforce a section of the Criminal Code dealing with price-cutting aimed at killing off competition. This brought from George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, the comment that it implied the Criminal Code it not being enforced.

He hoped, he said, that Justice Minister Garson noted this "implication," but Mr. Garson made no reply.

Resale price maintenance is the practice whereby the manufacturer or supplier sets the price at which his product will be sold to the general public.

Sharply Criticized

It has been sharply criticized by consumer and farm organiztaions, but strongly defended by manufacturers and retailers who warned during the committee's public sessions that if price maintenance is made illegal, price wars may break out and new monopolies created, pushing prices to higher levels.

In preparing its report, the committee defeated two motions, one of which dealt specifically with predatory price-cutting, or "loss leaders" as they are known in the trade.

A motion by David Croll (L-Toronto Spadina) was defeated on the grounds that members could not agree how to define a "loss leader" and were not too sure that legislation against it could be enforced.

The other motion, by E. D. Fulton (PC-Kamloops), was to have the committee bring in a report recommending that the whole subject be given further consideration, particularly in relation to the fair trade laws of the United States and the possibility of applying them to Canada.

Chinese Reds Deny Blackmail Racket

HONG KONG, Dec. 8—(Reuters)—Reports that Chinese Communists extorted money from Canadian and American Chinese by holding their families for ransom in China were described as "groundless" in an official Chinese Communist statement published here today.

The statement, from Canton, alleged that a Chinese in Canada named Chu Hwung, reported to have been asked for a huge sum of money, had "misappropriated" public funds when he was in China in 1947.

He was now being asked to "make good this money," the statement said.

The report gave no address for Chu.

Howe Refuses To Discuss TCA

OTTAWA, Dec. 8 — (CP) — Trade Minister Howe declined in the Commons Friday to give information concerning a dispute between the government-owned Trans-Canada Air Lines and its pilots as to who may occupy the flight deck of commercial airliners.

His action brought a prompt rebuke from George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, that the minister's attitude was not in keeping with the rights of parliament and that there is no reason information could not be given.

G. K. Fraser (PC—Peterborough West) asked Mr. Howe, the Minister responsible for TCA, how many TCA pilots have been "dismissed" in the dispute.

Mr. Howe replied it was not usual to divulge information on internal matters of a Crown enterprise.

Mr. Fraser asked if it is not the custom to get information when a "strike" was pending.

Mr. Howe replied that he knew of no strike pending anywhere.

The Canadian Air Lines Pilots Association charges that several TCA pilots have been suspended for refusing to permit unauthorized persons to occupy the flight deck, that portion of the plane occupied by the pilot and crew.

Plague Outbreak

DAR - ES - SALAAM, Tanganyika, Dec. 8 (Reuters)—A second outbreak of bubonic plague in this African territory was reported Friday from the area of Basotu, where 108 cases are already being treated.

Threaten Violence From Cairo, No Fighting Yet

FAYID, Egypt, Dec. 8. (AP)—Strong British forces today demolished an Egyptian mudhut village and began building a short road and a bridge to bypass a spot where they have been attacked by Egyptians. Interior Minister Fouad Serag El Din had ordered Egyptian police in Suez to "resist by force, if necessary," but a spokesman at British headquarters here said not a shot was fired. The 16th Parachute Brigade had started the project expecting trouble.

The independent newspaper, Al Zaman, in Cairo quoted Serag El Din as saying 6,000 British troops, 250 tanks and 500 armored cars had been sent in to back up the bulldozing operation. There was no confirmation of this from any British or Egyptian authority.

British sources said only that five tanks were being used to knock down the huts. They added that no Egyptian police had been seen in the area up to noon.

(Shortly after noon, the Egyptian interior ministry in Cairo issued a communique saying that Egyptian police "have Egyptian government orders to stop" the demolitions "by force." The communique made no mention of immediate violence.)

Delayed 24 Hours

Lt.-Gen. George Erskine, commander of the strong British garrison which holds the Suez Canal area, had postponed building the shortcut for 24 hours while he negotiated with Egyptian officials in Suez.

But Friday night he gave the order to go ahead and said he is through trying to reduce friction between his troops and the Egyptians unless the Egyptians become more co-operative.

"The future lies in the hands of the Egyptians," Erskine said. "...We are not looking for trouble and we are doing everything possible to avoid it. But we must meet violence with action."

The new road will bypass the spot where Egyptians and British clashed Tuesday. Two British servicemen were wounded; the Egyptians said 50 Egyptians were killed.

It will shorten the distance between the British garrison and its water filtration plant on the Sweetwater Canal which supplies the Britons with drinking water. The new road is 500 yards long and will include a new bridge across the narrow canal.

British engineers estimated they would finish the job in 24 hours.

The Egyptians said about 75 families were moved out of their huts. The Britons promised compensation for the bulldozed huts.

UN Unable To Break Long Truce Deadlock

MUNSAN, Korea, Dec. 8. (AP) —United Nations negotiators today made another unsuccessful effort to break the long deadlock over policing a truce in Korea.

The Communists rebuffed all UN overtures and again said "no" to every key UN proposal for supervising an armistice.

After five hours of debate, in which tempers on both sides of the conference table became frayed, the two-man sub-committees appeared no nearer to a break in the 12-day deadlock.

Nonetheless, some observers saw hope of a compromise solution soon. They said they believe the negotiations have reached the hard bargaining stage which frequently comes just before an agreement is hammered out.

In Tokyo, general headquarters accused the Communists of "attempting to pour supplies, equipment and men into North Korea" while the armistice talks are under way.

Marmora Nurse Helps Save Eskimo's Life In Labrador

HALIFAX, Dec. 8 — (CP) — Courage, skill and science saved the life of an unidentified Eskimo —unidentified because he speaks only his own language and can't tell his name.

The RCAF told Friday night how Flt.-Ltd. L. B. (Mike) Pearson of Woodstock, took a chance when he landed his amphibious Canso aircraft on the water beside Hebron, far in the Labrador northland, to pick up the injured Eskimo.

Floating ice and the skimpy size of the landing run made the touchdown hazardous, so Pearson dropped a portable radio set that those below could tell him whether the Eskimo, his arm shattered in a shooting accident, could wait for treatment. The answer was that the Eskimo would die without immediate medical help.

Pearson made a "semi-stall" landing—with the aircraft on the verge of disaster. To get out of the tiny space available, he was forced to use Jato—a rocket-assisted takeoff device.

The Eskimo was flown to Goose Bay, Labrador, for hospital treatment, cared for on the way by Nursing Sister Margaret Mary Kennedy of Marmora.

Plane Wreckage Spotted In French Alps

MARSEILLE, France, Dec. 8—(CP).—United States Air Force searchers today spotted what they said may be the wreck of a missing C-47 cargo plane in the mountains of southern France near here.

The plane has been missing since Thursday night with 10 men aboard. American officers at Marignane airport, centre for the search, said what was believed to be wreckage was spotted near Draguignan, about 70 miles east of Marseilles.

US, British and French planes taking part in the search were immediately concentrated on the area, which has mountains ranging up to 3,500 feet high.

A ground search party also was directed to the spot.

The twin-engined transport, which had crossed the Mediterranean from Wheelus Field, US airbase near Tripoli, Lybia, disappeared after radioing late Thursday. It was 40 miles out and letting down for a landing in 16 minutes at nearby Malignane airport.

Returning From Mission

The plane, attached to the US Third Air Force base at Bentwaters Field, England, apparently was returning from a Mediterranean defence cargo mission.

One search pilot reported:

"The plane seems to have burned. The ground around it is blackened and the tail and nose elements have been thrown far apart. The scattered wreckage is still smoking. The plane must have hit the mountain at high speed."

The Paris newspaper Aurore, which is campaigning for more extensive radar and other air-traffic signs on European routes, recalled that in the last year three other passenger planes have crashed in the Alps and central and southern mountains.

Volcanic Island May Be Sinking

MANILA, Dec. 8—(AP)—Lava spewed from four holes near the top of Mount Hibok today as the volcano continued its eruptions into the fifth day.

The holes were marked by four glowing red spots seen clearly through the smoke and steam swirling around the peak on Camiguin Island in the Southern Phillipines.

Fissures opened in the earth near Mabajoa on the northern coast of the island. These brought fear that parts of Camiguin might sink into the sea.

Constabulary, troops and rescue workers were evacuated hastily by boat from the Mabajao area.

Philippines news service said also it had received an unconfirmed report that part of the village of Panasan, west of Mabajao, had sunk into the sea.

Volcano experts in Manila discounted the report. They said such a sinking of the earth near an erupting volcano would have shown on their seismographs.

Liquor Stores Shut Day After Holidays

TORONTO, Dec. 8. — Ontario liquor stores will be closed for two days at both Christmas and New Year's, Liquor Commissioner Welsh announced Friday. They will be closed on Christmas and Boxing Day, and on New Year's Day and Jan. 2.

Wine and brewer's retail stores will be closed Dec. 25 and Dec. 26, and Jan. 1, but will be open Jan. 2. Regular hours will be observed by both beer and liquor stores on all other days.

Prof. C. Wheeler Writes Of Peterborough

Correspondence received from Prof. Carleton A. Wheeler of Peterborough, NH, included this week a copy of a letter which he received from Mayor G. R. Chamberlain of Peterborough, England.

"The Mayoress and I have more or less recovered from the excitement we had in Peterborough, Canada," Mayor Chamberlain wrote. "We thoroughly enjoyed the wonderful experience, and we received nothing but kindness from everyone we met. Our only regret is that we had no time to look around at our leisure, and I am really sorry that we were unable to cross the border. With the early spell of hard weather, we thought it best to cut our stay short, but unfortunately for us our return voyage was every bit as bad as our first crossing.

"Once again, I should like to say how much I appreciated your kind invitation to visit your home town of Peterborough, New Hampshire, and to receive letters from your townspeople endorsing your invitation. Should any residents of Peterborough, NH, be visiting this country at any time, a hearty welcome will be awaiting them in this city. They need only call at the Town Hall and make themselves known."

Mr. Wheeler writes on his own part to Mayor Swanston: "We are to have here next year the celebration of the 200th anniversary of the building of the first church in this Peterborough. I feel sure that an invitation will go to Peterborough, Ontario, to participate, and also to Peterborough, England, and to Peterborough, NY. I fear that the bugbear of this era, the money question, will prevent our having the presence of friends from England."

Prof. Wheeler says that Harold Robertson and himself will never forget the five days of adventure "our 1,050 miles of auto travel brought us in our visit to the two other Peterboroughs on this continent....May I here thank your city, through you, for extending to us the opportunity to be rated as guests at the exercises of the opening of your City Hall.

"While I was in your city I was able to get into touch with a few of your school children (in addition to the greeting in the Odeon Theatre 'Kiddies' program), and we are already establishing correspondence between the young people in our two Peterboroughs.

"Some of your citizens have been to visit us 'over here' in recent months, although not always making themselves known to those of us most desirous of welcoming all such visitors. Be assured that we count it an honor when any of you make it a point to look over our little town, and we trust all such visitors will call at the local newspaper office, the Town Hall, etc.....and will not fail to visit the American Guernsey Cattle Club $750,00 new, spacious and eminently practical building dedicated about a year ago.

"And I personally would be especially pleased if such visitors would give me a ring, so that I could really show that 'Our Town' has many unusual features, a memory which I would like them to take back with them."

For any persons here, and especially young people, who would be interested in the Six Peterborough Club, of which Mr. Wheeler has already laid a basis in exchange of letters and recordings with Peterborough, England, it is expected that definite method of corresponding may be announced from him in the near future. It has been his project, but so far intercommunications have been confined to the Peterboroughs, England and the United States.

May Be Forced To Pull Out

PORTLAND, Ore., Dec. 8 (AP)—If the Russian air force enters the war the United States is ready to pull its forces out of Korea, Senator Wayne Morse (Rep. Ore.) said Friday.

He made the report in a speech on foreign policy to the Portland City Club. Later, when asked to amplify the statement, Morse said:

"I've said almost all I can. But this is clear. Russia is based in such proximity to Korea that it is in immediate striking distance of our forces. We are in no position to let Stalin select our battlefields for us."

He said the withdrawal program is not new. He has discussed it in Congressional speeches, h said, and the joint chiefs of staff have made it clear in their testimony before the senate armed services committee that the US has no intention of fighting a major war in Korea.

(High military officials in Washington said they had no comment.)

Morning Blaze Burns Car, Damage $275

An alarm turned in at 1:30 sent firemen to 564 Brioux St., where fire destroyed a car owned by Laverne Healy.

Mrs. Healy noticed the glow when she got up to feed their four-months-old baby. At first she thought the house next door was on fire. Just at this point, a truck driver, passing by noticed the car afire and phoned the fire department.

Mr. Healy said that when he got downstairs, the car had been pushed from the rear of his home into the street.

Firemen had to use water to quell the blaze and the car was a total loss. All of the interior of the 1934 coach was gutted. Mr. Healy estimates the loss at $275.

Cause of the fire is not known. Mr. Healy said the car was working fine when he drove it into the yard about 7 p.m. Friday night.

Dies At 114

RICHMOND, Calif., Dec. 8 (AP)—A man whose records show he was born 114 years ago at San Augustin, Mexico, died Friday night. Quirino Perez Ortiz had attributed his long life to hard work, early bed-time and arising hour and restrained drinking.

Car Batteries Stolen In Campbellford Raid

CAMPBELLFORD, Dec. 8 — (ENS)—Thieves struck at three places in this town on Thursday night, stealing car batteries and a radio. At the garage and service station operated by Thomas Hall on Grand Road they searched cars parked on the lot and stole one battery. The garage itself was not entered.

On the parking lot of an implement dealer on Doxee Ave., one tractor battery was stolen. A $70 radio was taken from a car parked on a lot on Bridge St., where it had been left by Campbellford Motors. Chief Constable George H. Hardy said more entries may have been made in other sections of the town but had not been reported. The nature of the thefts were all similar and missing batteries and other equipment might not be noticed until the owners came to use the vehicles.

26 Men Affected In Cobourg Lay Off

COBOURG, Dec. 8 (ENS)—Due to the general slump in business that is affecting many industries, the CGE plastics plant here are laying 26 men off during the next few days. Ten men were laid off last evening, more on Tuesday and the balance on Wednesday. Early in September a number were laid off and some of them resumed work a few weeks later when business picked up a bit. Already in Cobourg 300 men are without steady employment of which about half are working part time.

Take To Hills

HONG KONG, Dec. 8 (AP)—Chinese Communist border inspectors at two points north of this British colony have taken to the hills in fear of arrest by their superiors, press reports said today. The Hong Kong Independent said inspectors at Lowu and Mankentou had been found lax and corrupt by the Communist Frontier Security Bureau, which recommended they be replaced and "reorienated."

Denies Houses Unfit

TORONTO, Dec. 8 (CP) — Charges that Toronto emergency housing units are "unfit for human beings" because of lack of proper maintenance and sanitation, "are absolute falsehoods," Harold Locke, manager of the centres, said Friday. He was replying to charges made by the Toronto and district Trades and Labor Council Thursday night when the council passed a resolution asking race tracks in the city be turned over to be used as construction sites of government-paid housing projects.

H. Andrew Heads Kawartha Police

Constable Harold Andrew was elected president of the Kawartha Police Association Wednesday night when the asssociation held its annual meeting and election of officers in the Armouries.

Other members of the 1952 exectuive are: Acting Patrol Sergeant Harold Mesley, first vice-president; Constable Don Mackay, second vice-president; OPP Corporal Ray Pope, secretary; and Constable John Conlin, treasurer.

Constables Pat Gillis and Robert Menzies and Corporal Pope were elected to the three-man executive committee.

The association made plans for its annual Christmas Tree for the children. It will be held at the gunners' mess in the Armouries on December 20.

Constable Mackay and Corporal Pope gave a report on the Ontario Police Association convention held in August.

Cheese, Produce And Livestock

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, Dec. 8 (AP) — Grains opened firm today in a carryover of Friday's strength.

The initial bulge sent several contracts of wheat, oats and rye to new seasonal highs. Wheat sold at a new high since February, 1948.

Wheat started ⅛-⅞ higher, December $2.69-$2.69⅛, corn ⅜-⅞ higher, December $1.92⅝, oats unchanged to 1¼ higher, December $1.01⅞-$1.02, and soybeans ½-¾ higher, January $3.07-$3.07¼.

WINNIPEG GRAIN

WINNIPEG, Dec. 8 (CP) — Prices moved narrowly in early trade on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange today but were showing a firm tone in sympathy with United States markets.

Trade was light in oats. Shipper buying and small export interests appeared in barley. Dealings were local in flax. Rye showed a good trend on continuation of aggressive buying of a general nature.

11 am prices:

Oats—Dec. ⅜ higher 1.00½; May unchanged 98B; July—Not open.

Barley—Dec. not open; May ½-⅝ higher 1.36; July ⅜ higher 1.28-⅝A.

Rye—Dec. not open; May 1¼-1⅛ higher 2.25⅛A; July 1 higher 2.19⅜.

Flax—Dec. 3½ higher 5.05½A; May 2 higher 5.11; July not open.

Says England Requires Christianizing

ROSENEATH, Dec. 8 (ENS)—"England is a vast mission field that has to be christianized again," was the statement made by Rev. A. J. Patstone, recter of St. James' Anglican Church, as guest speaker at the Christmas meeting of Roseneath Women's Institute. Continuing with his subject "This is England," the speaker told of his trip home this summer after an absence of 44 years, of the cities scarred with war and the tremendous task undertaken to repair war damages; of a 75 per cent tax on new motor cars and of social clubs organized by the municipalities for people over seventy, known as "The Sons of Rest."

Rev. Patstone was introduced by Mrs. Frank Brown and thanked by Mrs. Alfred Pringle

The meeting was held in the township hall with Mrs. Fred Murphy as hostess and the members of the Alderville Homemakers Club as guests.

The president Mrs. Harold Taylor presided with Mrs. Oscar Adams as pianist.

Carole Pollard, winner of third prize and the Women's Institute Trophy at the township speaking contest, presented her subject "The Beaver" and at the conclusion was presented with a silver miniature cup by Mrs. Fred Murphy on behalf of the WI.

The treasurer Mrs. Bart Thackeray reported a balance on hand of $192.48.

The good cheer report showed 29 persons had been remembered during the past two months.

During the month a large parcel of clothing including a new quilt had been donated to the Salvation Army in Cobourg. A 20-pound box of Christmas cheer had been packed and sent to Miss Isa Lewis, Baptist Deaconess in England and a donation of $10 had been sent to the needy people of Northern Greece.

Plans were made to pack parcels for the aged, the ill and the shut-ins at Christmas. The following committee were appointed: Mrs. Alfred Pringle, Mrs. Clarence Thackeray, Mrs. George Mouncey, Mrs. Charlton Grigg and Mrs. Harold Taylor.

A Christmas program with Christmas tree and exchange of Christmas gifts was in charge of Mrs. Alfred Pringle.

Christmas carols were sung with Mrs. Edgar Carew at the piano; the roll call "My Favorite Christmas Carol" was responded to by every member and visitor present.

Mrs. Alfred Simpson, Honorary President of the Alderville Homemakers, told of the work done by that organization.

Mrs. Charles Sandercock gave a reading "Christmas in Holland"; Mrs. Edgar Carew played an instrumental solo "Star of the East"; Mrs. Ernest Burrison conducted a Christmas quiz won by Mrs. Chas. Sandercock's group. Marie Robins contributed a piano solo "Good King Wensceles."

At the conclusion of the program, tribute was paid to the memory of the late Mrs. Alex Moir, nee Flora Coyle who passed away in Winnipeg last week. Mrs. Moir was a charter member of Roseneath WI and it's first secretary.

Mrs. Jas. Bigwin Jr. on behalf of the Alderville Homemaker's tendered a vote of thanks to the local WI for their invitation to this Christmas meeting. Vote of thanks were also tendered the hostess and those assisting with the program.

The meeting closed with the King.

Lunch was served by the hostess.

Game Costs $1,400

WINCHESTER, England, Dec. 8 (Reuters)—A game of whist Friday cost Mrs. Gwendoline M. Vampler $1,400. The Assize Court found that she had falsely called four fellow-players cheats, and awarded each $350 damages for slander.

MP's Pass

The minister was pressed to answer questions regarding the government's plans for a Canadian steel industry. But he said he had already made two general statements and would go into details when the legislation reaches a later stage.

The St. Lawrence Seaway authority will consist of three men to be apointed by the federal government. It will have power to establish tolls with respect to vessels using the seaway, goods or cargo landed, shipped, transshipped or stored, the use of wharves and other facilities and for any service performed by the authority.

No toll rates have yet been set but the legislation said "they must be fair and reasonable and designed to provide a revenue sufficient to defray the cost of the authority of its operations . . ."

The authority will be permitted to borrow up to $300,000,000 to carry out the construction work.

Will Suggest Strike Be Ended

VANCOUVER, Dec. 8 (CP). — Negotiators representing striking brewery workers in British Columbia said today they will recommend to the men that they return to work Monday.

The men went on strike 43 days ago to back up demands for a wage increase of 35 cents an hour, cutting off the source of most of the province's beer.

The announcement followed a five-hour conference with brewery officials, during which a tentative contract agreement was hammered out.

The proposed settlement — terms of which were not announced—will be put before the union rank and file at a meeting today. The union has recommended acceptance.

If the men agree, beer will probably be flowing again in BC taverns Tuesday.

Dollar Down

Montreal, Dec. 8—(CP)—The United States dollar today opened at 2⅜ per cent. premium to the Canadian dollar, down 5/32 from Friday's close. That is, it took $1.02⅜ Canadian to buy $1 American.

The pound sterling was $2.86⅝ down 7/16 from Friday.

Long Flight

Obituary

JOHN EDWARD PULCINE

Four-months-old son of Mr. and Mrs. John Pulcine of Lakefield, John Edward Pulcine, died today at his home. There are a sister, Mary, 5, and a brother, Michael, 2. Burial will be in Ray's cemetery, Lakefield.

Dr. J. W. Wright Reeve 4th Year

MILLBROOK, Dec. 8 (ENS)—Dr. J. W. Wright was acclaimed as reeve Friday night at the Millbrook nomination meeting. In 1952, the doctor will begin his fourth year as reeve.

None of the five men nominated for council has qualified. Three of the nominees are veterans—J. H. Raper, Clifford Larmer, Weldon Coulter—and the other two are newcomers. They are G. T. MacPherson, a former school trustee, and Alex Gilbert.

Also nominated for council was George F. Harrington, who refused, but later accepted a nomination for the post of hydro commissioner. He went in by acclamation when retiring commissioner C. B. Sutton refused nomination.

Only three school trustees were nominated: Fred Lowrey, Mrs. Anna Kennedy, Edward Nattress. Mr. Lowrey and Mrs. Kennedy have qualified, and it is expected Mr. Nattress will qualify before the 9 pm deadline today.

About 20 people were present at the meeting held in the village council chambers. If an election is necessary, it will be held December 14.

Change Odd Name Of Historic Hamilton Hotel

HAMILTON (CP) —There will soon be no Honest Lawyer in Hamilton.

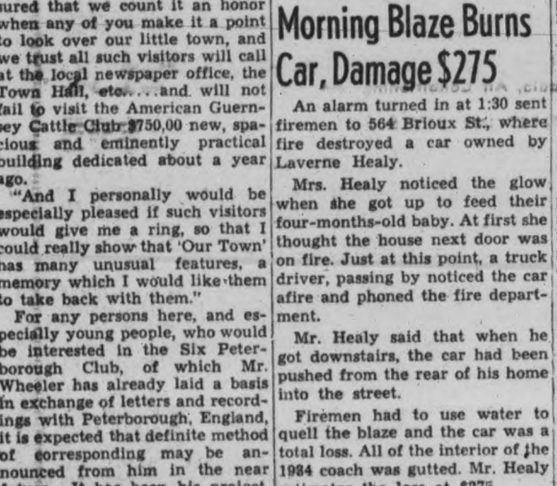
The famous old hotel, the Honest Lawyer House, has changed its name after more than a century and a half of operation and will soon be known as the Colonial House. The name was changed at the suggestion of the Liquor Control Board of Ontario, said the owner, Burton Crawford.

The Inn was founded by Henry Upton who fled to Canada from Philadelphia at the close of the American revolution. Before he left, Henry Upton put all his property of a lawyer named Mackay.

For years Upton, first a farmer then a hotel proprietor in Hamilton, heard nothing of his property. Then one day Mackay arrived with all the money turned into gilt-edged securities and handed it over to Upton.

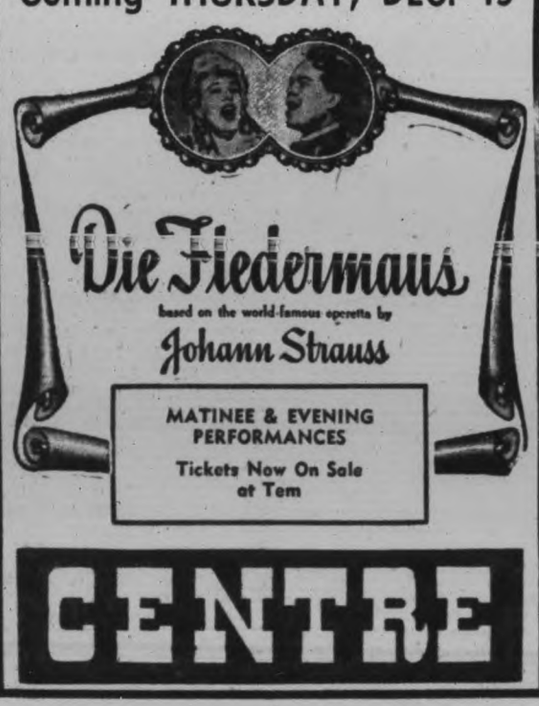
Name New Hotel

Upton built a new hotel and, at the insistence of his daughter, Cora, named it after Mackay—"The Honest Lawyer."



The story of the hotel's unusual name was dug up from old records and family histories by Dr. J. F. Thompson who saw the sign when he visited Hamilton some 20 years ago. The ending of his story reads:

"From the front of this building there hangs a large conspicuous sign board on which is inscribed in letters of no small size the legend 'The Honest Lawyer Hotel.' May the hand of the iconoclast be paralyzed if it should venture to change in any way this old memorial sign."



Gifts Duty Free

OTTAWA, Dec. 8 (CP)—Canada's fighting men serving abroad will be allowed to send home gifts duty free under an order-in-council passed Friday by the government. The order, tabled in the Commons by Prime Minister St. Laurent, provides for admission to Canada free of customs and excise duty personal gifts from servicemen abroad not exceeding $25 in value. The gifts cannot include cigarettes, tobacco or alcoholic beverages.

Park St. Baptist Church Choir will be heard on Eventide on Wednesday Evening at 7.45 over CHEX.

Plan To Make Accurate Film About Reporters

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 8 (AP) — Here is heartening news for newspapers: Hollywood is making a picture about them that is guaranteed to be accurate.

At least that's what its makers claim. The movie is called "Deadline USA," and its writer-director is Richard Brooks, a former newspaperman himself.

The studio has constructed a newspaper city room that looks more authentic than most of those whipped up for movies. It has the appearance and smell of a newspaper office. No bottles or blondes sit on the desks.

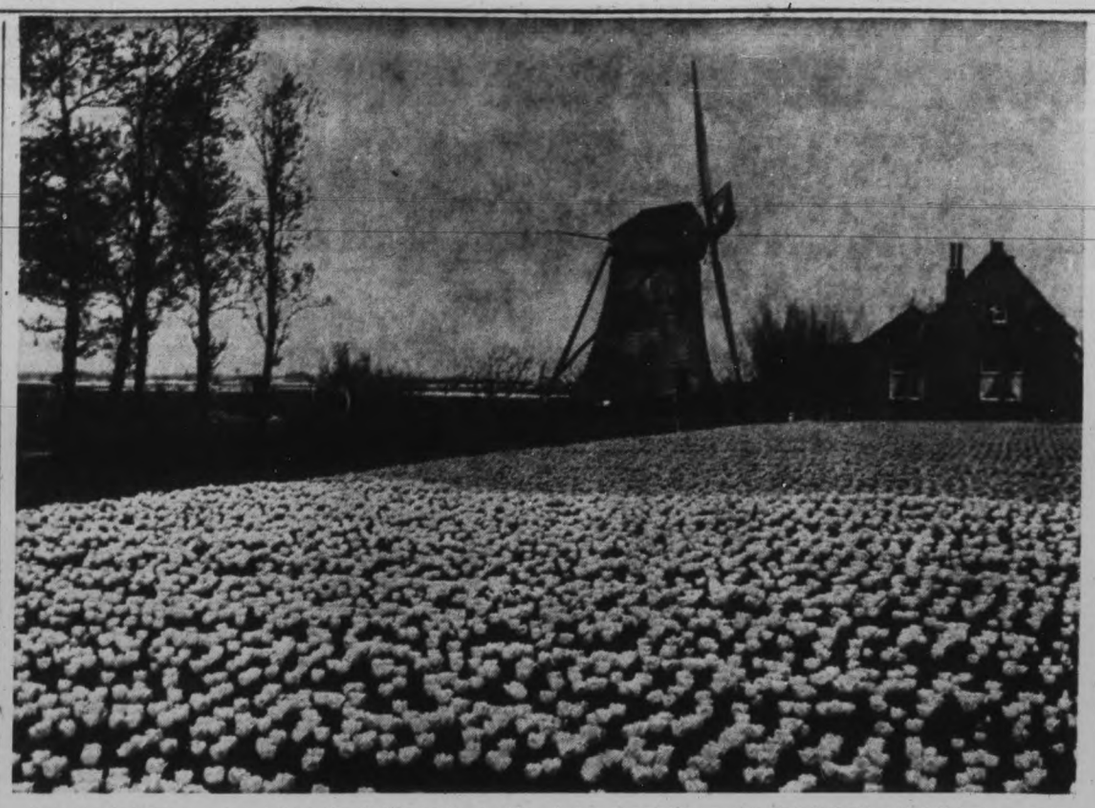
Real McCoy

"This is going to be the real McCoy," assured Humphrey Bogart, who plays the managing editor (with a crew-cut toupee). "No reporter is going to come running through the city room shouting 'Scoop! stop the presses!' "

The city room will neither be a hub-hub of noise and activity, nor will it have a funereal hush.

Asked if he was a member of the vast "I-used-to-be-a-newspaperman" club, Bogart said:

"I should say not. And most of the guys who claim they were, were'nt either. That's just like all the he-man movie stars* who claim they were once lumberjacks, sand hogs or steel workers. Most of them never did a hard day's labor in their lives."



Capsule Review

"I'll Never Forget You" is a fantasy which should not be taken too seriously. The story involves an atomic scientist who returns to the 18th century by some quirk of time and nature. As with the Connecticut Yankee, he gets in trouble because of his predictions. The result is fantastic but rather entertaining. Tyrone Power and Ann Blyth are the leads in this new version of "Berkeley Square," which starred Leslie Howard in 1933.

RUMACAPS

SEA OF COLOR — Beautiful tulip fields such as this stretch for miles in Holland, making a wonderful checkerboard of color every spring. A short trip from Amsterdam bring the visitor to this delightful land of flowers, a never-to-be-forgotten scene.—(Netherlands National Tourist Office Photo).

TRAVEL—with Jean Stenton

Brilliant Fields Of Lovely Dutch Tulips Draw Thousands To Old Amsterdam and Nearby Towns Every Spring

Every spring, the country around Amsterdam in Holland is a huge checkerboard of wonderful colors—a sign that the Bulb Festival is in full swing. No words can describe the marvellous effect of field upon field of flowers on a visitor and no camera can capture all the brilliance of the scene.

Excellent train service from Amsterdam brings sightseers to the heart of the flowerland in a short time and places like Haarlem and Aalsmeer (archipeligo of flowered islands) welcome everyone. Not only do the flower fields appeal to the eye, but today the tulip remains Holland's top export.

The tulip has been the Dutch stock exchange. Fortunes have been made and lost in its speculation. Imported from Turkey in the middle of the 16th century by the Austrian ambassador, the tulip swept the Dutch off their feet.

Instead of building temples and palaces, the Dutch went into the bulb business. In the records of Haarlem and Alkmaar are recorded many fabulous deals. Money was not always enough. Some people gave houses and parks. One variety bears the name of a brewer who gave his factory and its equipment in payment.

Tulip Crash

As the tulip craze pyramided, there was great speculation. Companies were formed and buying spiralled. In 1636 came the great tulip crash and its effect was as deadly as the stock market crash in the United States of recent years.

Although the starving children of Amsterdam had to be fed precious bulbs in 1944, today the tulip is once again the top Netherlands export product. It is a grand sight to see the polder land divided into squares by canals, giving the appearance of a big checkerboard. In springtime, there is a six-weeks tide of color between Haarlem and Leiden, making wonderful trips from Amsterdam. The second Sunday in April every year is Tulip Sunday, a national event. Even in the autumn, the chrysanthemums and glads make almost as splendid a showing.

Amsterdam, the Venice of the North, is a wonderful city to visit. A metropolis of canals, it offers an interesting contrast to other European cities. It has had a magnificent past and at one time in its history, it was the principal business centre of the world.

The Hague and Amsterdam were great rivals in the past, each claiming to be the capital of Holland. The rivalry was finally settled by Napoleon's brother, Louis. He made Amsterdam the capital, but put the seat of government in the Hague.

Take Canal Ride

One of the delightful things to do in the Dutch capital is to take a trip in one of the glass-topped motor launches. The boats go through all the important canals as well as the smaller ones. They pass under historic old bridges, by steep-gabled houses, past houses with purple window panes and by the famous old church of Our Lord in the Attic, a hide-out church dating from the Reformation.

The visitor staying at the Victoria Hotel across from the station is within a three-minute walk from the Dam (heart of the capital) with the royal palace, the post office, New Church and the largest department store. From this station you can go to Haarlem, Alkmaar etc. The Station Square is also the heart of the streetcar system.

If you would turn back the clock a few hundred years, a visitor must go to the picturesque islands of Marken and Volendam. Here tourists find the natives dressed mainly in traditional Holland costumes. Steamers for this trip tie up a stone's throw from the Victoria's door, as do the canal launches.

Few spend time in this city without visiting a diamond cutting spot. The VVV (Netherlands National Tourist Office) at 5 Rokin, will arrange such a visit. There are also the great Rijksmuseum (museum housing Rembrandt's work and other great artists); the New Church dating from 1645 (the coronation church) and the Concertgebouw which is Holland's Met.

Good Meals

Holland is almost as well known for its food as for its tulips. It is excellent and not expensive. Breakfast is something to cope with in Amsterdam. Ordinary fare consists of coffee or tea, a variety of breads with butter and jam, a platter of cheese always, a platter of cold meats generally. Eggs and fruit juice if ordered, are extra and rather dear. A Dutch breakfast is so firmly established by custom that you will not find anywhere cheese is not served. Hot rolls are a great rarity.

Some delightful Dutch foods include: Rolpens (minced beef usually served with fried apples), herring, smoked eels, oysters, lobster, salmon, Poffertjes (small salted fritters); kroepoek (made of ground shrimps pressed into bars, sliced thin and fried until somewhat the consistency of potato chips). Some of the exotic East Indian dishes include nasi goreng (a fried rice dish) and loempia (Chinese egg roll) etc. Water is fine for drinking.

Visit Five Flies

One of the trademarks of an experienced traveller is to have visited the Five Flies. Known the world over since 1627, this restaurant takes its name from an old inn originally owned by a man with the surname of Five Flies. It consists of a tiny bodega downstairs where you sit at a winecask to sip your chosen beverage and an equally tiny dining room or chophouse upstairs reached by a narrow stairway, so steep it is almost a ladder. The place though old, is full of charm. One of the meal features here is poulet Moeder Hendrina en casserole.

The Hotel Amstel has possibly the most artistic restaurant with its garden terraces overhanging the water. This is where celebrities stay and their special dessert with ice cream (Souffle Glace au Grand Marnier) is out of this world. But it must be ordered well in advance.

Other places offering something different in the way of atmosphere and meals include Hotel de l'Europe. It is superbly located where the Rokin canal broadens into the Amstel River. Water is on every side except one and a bridge leads from it to the central Muntplein. Its restaurant is at water level and patrons can look out over water traffic to the lively street scenes beyond.

Those enjoying oriental food should drop in at the Nanking, and the Schipol airport restaurants adds variety. For about 75 cents (Canadian) one may buy a Suggestion du Jour at the latter and for about $1.50 a four-course dinner settling down in comfort to watch activities on the field. You can reach Schipol by launch from Amsterdam or go by tram.

Reasonable Tipping

Service in most hotels is on a 10 per cent basis and is put on your bill. The total bill is commonly brought to the visitor's table by the headwaiter on the morning of his intended departure or to his room if the guest eats there. The bill is settled with the waiter and you are all set to go. The porter is given an extra tip for bringing the bags down. Rates is the average, good hotel are from $2-$3 a day and breakfast is always included.

Common courtesies are much like Canada. Coffee is served in all offices at 11 am. Luncheon hour is 12.30 to 2 pm and it should be noted dinner is early, not later than 7 pm. English is spoken almost everywhere.

When walking on or across streets in Holland, a person should never halt or change pace abruptly. This is of the utmost importance. Otherwise you may get a bump from a cyclist. Holland's bike pushers plot their swift silent course on the assumption the pedestrian will keep going where he seems to be going and that he will not strike off at a tangent. Always keep a lookout for bicycles, the visitor is warned, because they bear down in squads from unexpected directions.

Amsterdam is easily reached by air from Canada in 17 hours or by ship. A valid passport is all a Canadian needs for a visit of less than three months. On arrival a tourist is required to fill out a customs form about the amount of money he is carrying (cash and travellers cheques). This form must be kept and filled out when cashing money. It is handed in when leaving the country. Further information is available from J. Hogenkampf, 6277 MacDonald Ave., Montreal. Currency is not a great problem. The monetary unit is the guilder or florin worth about 26 cents. Travellers cheques are readily accepted.

Jailbreaker Seen

TORONTO, Dec 6 — (CP) — Edwin Alonzo Boyd, sought as a jailbreaker and for questioning about a $35,000 bank robbery in Toronto last Thursday, was reported seen Wednesday in the city. Police said Boyd was seen walking along a downtown street, but that he eluded capture despite a wide police search for him.

Warsaw WMS Holds Christmas Meeting

WARSAW, Dec. 8—The Christmas meeting of the Women's Missionary Society was held in the Sunday schoolroom on Thursday afternoon. Mrs. Dyson, president, presided. The roll call was answered with a Christmas verse.

Miss Clara McCracken gave a temperance reading and Mr. Dyson was the guest speaker and gave a very beneficial address on Stewardship. This was followed by a candlelight and carol service. Candles were lit by Mrs. Anderson, Mrs. Park, Miss McCracken, Mrs. William Darling and Mrs. Russell.

Mrs. George Taylor sang an Indian carol with Mrs. Roland Payne at the piano.

Lunch was served.

An Immoral Expedient

So far no satisfactory explanation has been forthcoming from Ottawa about the release of General Kurt Meyer from a Canadian prison, and his transfer to a German prison where, it appears, he enjoys remarkable privileges. And because the Government has not stated its case many rumours have arisen which are disquieting to thoughtful Canadians. The most important of these rumours is that Meyer is to be released in order that he may be used in a Western European army, the purpose of which would be to quiet the enthusiasm of Russia for war, and to be on the spot if Russia decided to make war. We are in agreement with Rabbi Abraham Feiberg who said in Toronto on December 5 that such a use of Meyer would be an immoral expedient.

* * *

Why immoral? Because Meyer was sentenced to life imprisonment because, in a trial of war criminals, he was found guilty of condoning the murder of Canadian prisoners. We have said in these columns that we doubted the wisdom of such trials; there is no well defined legal code which governs them, and it has proven hard to make the sentence of such offenders valid. Crimes committed in war are committed under extraordinary circumstances, and not in conditions of peace when a firm legal code is in effect; military crimes are best left to military justice which, though it may be rough, is also summary. But to invoke a process of law, and then to set it aside in favour of some other consideration, weakens respect for all law. To condemn Meyer to death, then to reduce that sentence to life imprisonment, and then to set Meyer free because he may be useful to us, is to make nonsense of legal processes. If Meyer is to be free to stand against the Russians, why should we not offer freedom to any rascal in a Canadian penitentiary who will undertake to join Meyer's army? Legal systems must have a moral, as well as a legal, coherence, and we refuse to believe that Meyer is so necessary to the democratic cause that we must make nonsense of the law in order to gain his services.

* * *

What sort of figure would Meyer cut as a leader in an army fighting for democracy? He is a very capable army commander; nobody denies that. But he was also a keen Nazi, and presumably he held Hitler in high esteem. The Russians were our allies against Hitler and his gang—allies of a peculiar kind, admittedly, but allies still. Are we to use Meyer against them? What becomes of all our high-flown pretension to a morality superior to that of the Communists if we do? If we put Meyer in the West European army we shall look like fools—fools without honesty, principle, decency or even common sense. The Russians will make plenty of it; there can be no doubt about that. They will taunt us, and they will be right to do so. And the Germans—who do not appear to have forgotten any of their arrogance, though it is at present practised on an individual, rather than a national, scale—will smile at our hypocrisy and naivete.

* * *

It is time that Ottawa said something plain and sensible about the Meyer business.

Thirty Years Of Chawing On The Weed

The nicotine habits of Canadians, as revealed by an analysis of Department of National Revenue figures, tend to be plebian, if cigar-smoking and snuff-taking are aristocratic, and plug-chewing rustic. (The hypothesis is itself questionable, considering the number of United States plebs who chew cigars, the common habit of Danish women to smoke them, and the favour which snuff finds among musicians.) In 1922, each Canadian on the average smoked 229 cigarettes, 20 cigars, chewed or smoked 1.14 pounds of plug tobacco, and used 1¼ ounces of snuff. The last available figures show that now each Canadian smokes at least 1,230 cigarettes a year, but only 16.3 cigars; however he still continues to use 1¼ ounces of snuff. The common-man trend towards greater consumption of cigarettes is reflected also in the increased use of cut tobacco for 'roll-your-own.' Now the average consumption of cut tobacco is 2.01 pounds; in 1926 it was 1.26 pounds. The hearty individualist of fields and jeans who cuts off a wad of cut-plug is merging with the common weed-smoker, for the figures show a constant decline from the 1922 use of 1.14 pounds of plug tobacco.

Thus nicotine which goes out the mouth in smoke or down the gullet in juice is an indicator of general levelling of society in all its phases; soon we shall all be eating the same things, drinking the same things, wearing the same things, living in the same houses, sleeping in the same beds, and smoking the same thing. The plug chewer will be as rare as the man in a castle.

Startling Disparity In Sentence

On December 7 the Toronto Globe and Mail called attention to the very light sentences imposed upon the youths who raped a girl in Willowvale Park, Toronto, on May 15. So brutal was this rape that the judge said that it had irrevocably altered the life of the girl; yet the heaviest sentence imposed upon these offenders was of eighteen months, with a possible additional twelve months; the lightest of the sentences was of four months.

On the same day this newspaper reported that a Cobourg man, convicted on April 5 of raping a neighbour's wife, and sentenced then to twenty years, had been denied any mitigation of this term.

For one rape, four months; for another, 240 months. Can there be such a vast disparity in the seriousness of such an offense? Rape is regarded, rightly, as a very serious crime, and it can bring a death sentence; in a civilization which has the highest regard for the rights of the individual, this must be so. But how can there be so much difference between two rapes?

Architects And Engineers In The Chips

The annual green book (plum-green; how delicate these tax collectors are in their presentation of the case!) of the Department of National Revenue has just been issued. It tells who paid what income and corporation taxes for the year 1949—in discreet general statistics. Lo and behold! engineers and architects have ousted lawyers from the top drawer of personal income.

For the last several years lawyers in Canada have been—statistically—the best heeled people in the country, taking them by and large. But now architects and engineers (taking them in the round) are the biggest money earners. For the year under review (1949) in the 1951 edition of the blue (pardon, plum-green) book we learn that the average declared income of engineers and architects was $10,428. Lawyers came second, with an average declared income of $9,533 each during the year; in third place (formerly occupied by the architects and engineers) were the doctors of medicine and surgery: $9,009.

Should we commiserate with the lawyers and doctors at having dropped back; or exult with the engineers and architects? Well, the K.C.'s and M.D.'s, despite their drop in rank, still earned more in 1949 than they did in 1948: we'll not waste tears on them. Lawyers on the average earned only $8,309 in 1948; in 1949 their declared income was $9,533. Doctors went up from $8,274 each to $9,009. Architects and engineers made the highest leap, from $7,455 declared income in 1948 to $10,428. Of course, it was then that Councils and commerce began building like fury and costs were rising as fast as the walls. The total declared income for taxation purposes, in the year under review was: engineers and architects, 1,210 of them, $12,600,000; lawyers, 3,870 of them, $36,900,000; doctors, 8,010 of them, $72,200,000.

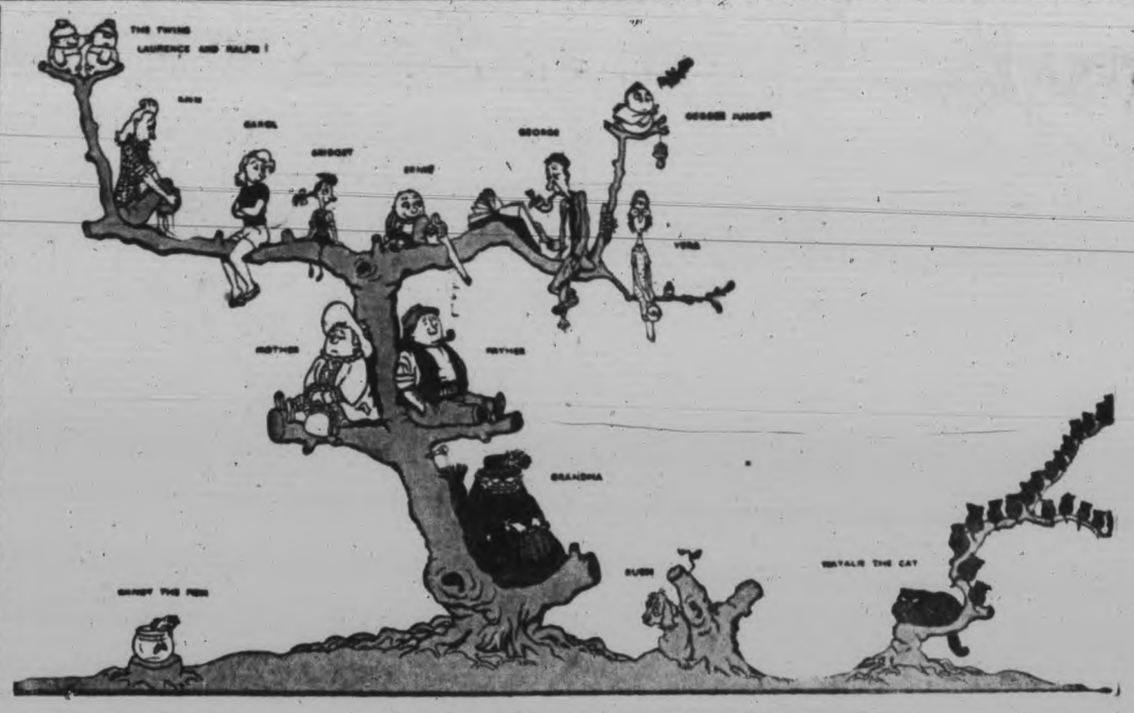
While we are dealing with the hierarchy of day-labourers, we might add that 2,920 dentists came fourth (average income $5,748); and a species labelled "investors" (their work is probably with scissors and bond coupons) was fifth: 42,120 of these human hybrids earned on the average (so they declared on their tax forms) $5,719. Perhaps we might also mention that "Deceased" declared their average earnings to be, during the year, $4,512, and farmers $3,801. The farming figure is rather bewildering, since only 52,880 of them said they had taxable income at all, even though, across the Dominion, farm income ran to $1.6 billion in the year, which was as much as the total income of the inhabitants of Toronto, Winnipeg and Vancouver. (These urban people paid $140 million dollars in tax on this income; the farmers of Canada paid $18 million.)

Sole Business Props Without Employees had average incomes of $2,737; employees had declared incomes of $2,589 (that includes government employees, employees in business and industry, and employees of His Majesty in the armed services). Nurses had the lowest taxable incomes: $1,604. The average income for everybody in Canada was $2,881, and altogether 2,231,970 of the citizens of this fair domain paid a grand total of $501,000,000 income tax for the year of grace 1949.

A despatch from Washington says that the Canadian frigate Swansea last Thursday became the first Canadian warship ever to visit the capital of the United States. What about the naval force from Halifax which sailed for the Chesapeake in August 1814 and set fire to the public buildings in Washington? But that was just a call, not a proper visit.

BIBLIOMANIA

The Old Master



THE COMPLETE SHORT STORIES OF SOMERSET MAUGHAM, volume 1 (Heinemann).

THERE ARE FEW PROFESSIONS which benefit so pleasantly from longevity as authorship; if an author has any genuine quality, and if he can contrive to live to a good old age, he will reap rewards of critical and popular acclaim which must be very agreeable to him, and must also bring a wry smile to his lips. Mr. Maugham, who is now in his 78th year, has lived to see these short stories of his hailed as little masterworks, although it is not so long ago that critics were calling them "slick", "contrived" and any other uncomplimentary thing they could lay their pens to. But there is one thing that not even the most foolish critic ever dared to call them; nobody called them "dull". They are unfailingly entertaining.

The short story is a curious medium which has, during the past twenty-five years or so, been much pawed over by writers and critics who are seeking for new ways of telling stories, and new stories to tell: these adventurers have produced a handful of very fine stories, and much trash. Mr. Maughan has never sought new ways of telling a story; he is content to tell his tale as sparely as he can. He seems to care little for style, and his writing is sometimes flat and never exciting in itself, but he makes his effects with wonderful sureness. He does not seek for new themes, and he does not need to do so, for he has the real story-teller's art of making the old themes seem new; this can only be called genius.

There are thirty-three stories in this first volume of the three which will contain all that Mr. Maugham wishes to be remembered. The most famous of them is "Rain". The book will undoubtedly give great pleasure to anyone who receives it, and if you are on the lookout for a Christmas present for a friend who likes reading, here it is.

The Giles Family

(Admitting the twins are embarrassing, here's how the others fit in)

Cartoonist Giles has been pegged down at last. In a book just published he sorts out for his millions of readers the bewildering collection of beings who make up his cartoon family.

With the exception of Vera, and all those in the family named George, names have so far been avoided. But because of constant public inquiries about which is which, the following census has been prepared:

GRANDMA: Apart from mentioning that there is always a faint sniff in the air of bulls'-eyes, embrocation, and brandy when Grandma is around, the less said about her the better.

FATHER: The son of Grandma, is strictly a peace-loving character. With a family such as his he must be forgiven for occasional lapses into mild vagrancy with his less-married colleagues. Like all fathers, he has a vague idea that he is head of the household.

MOTHER: Father's wife. There is nothing vague about Mother's idea of who's head of the household. What Mother says goes for everyone. Sometimes.

GEORGE: Their elder son. George has read everything and that's about the lot for George.

ERNIE: So called as a change from George, he is the younger son and the most dangerous element of the family. Nine times out of ten he is the brain behind the more unpleasant happenings. The other time he is asleep.

ANN: The eldest daughter. She is very much like George except that she does work sometimes. One day we shall have to produce Ann's husband if only to put those twins of hers on a respectable basis.

CAROL: In all large families there is always one who causes less trouble than the rest: so far that's Carol.

BRIDGET: She is the youngest daughter and has more cunning than the whole lot put together. Nobody has ever been able to pin anything on Bridget. A very dangerous ally when working with Ernie.

VERA: The intellectual wife of George. Somebody or something took the poetry out of Vera's life. She considers she is disenchanted. She is. Aspirins are as important to Vera as brandy is to Grandma.

GEORGE JUNIOR: Only son of George and Vera. Usually takes the can back for the twins.

THE TWINS (LAURENCE AND RALPH): Named after their mother's (Ann) favorite actors. So far neither Sir Laurence nor Sir Ralph has taken legal action.

RUSH: The family spaniel. Like Vera he considers he is disenchanted.

NATALIE THE CAT: Named after Nat Gubbins because she takes after Nat's cat.

RANDY THE FISH: The best that can be said of Randy is that he is non-productive.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

And the apostles said unto the Lord, Increase our faith . . .

And it came to pass, as he went to Jerusalem, that he passed through the midst of Samaria and Galilee . . . And when he was demanded of the Pharisees, when the kingdom of God should come, he answered them and said, The kingdom of God cometh not with observation: neither shall they say, Lo here! or, lo there! for, behold, the kingdom of God is within you. (Luke 17: 5, 11, 20, 21.)

Unto every one of us is given grace according to the measure of the gift of Christ. . . . And he gave some, apostles; and some, prophets; and some, evangelists; and some, pastors and teachers; for the perfecting of the saints, for the work of the ministry, for the edifying of the body of Christ: till we all come in the unity of the faith, and of the knowledge of the Son of God, unto a perfect man, unto the measure of the statuse of the fulness of Christ. (Eph. 4: 7, 11-13.)

NOW SHE KNOWS

Mrs. Brown: "For months I couldn't discover where my husband spent his evenings."

Mrs. Smith: "How did you find out?"

"Well, one evening I went home and there he was."

THE FORRESTAL DIARIES, edited by Walter Millis (Macmillan).

THE LATE JAMES FORRESTAL, first U.S. Secretary of Defence was an estimable man, and beyond that a man of very great patriotism and courage. He bore responsibility, the machinations of other leaders and critics, and spiritual loneliness with a fortitude that eventually unbalanced his mind and led to his suicide. Perhaps his intelligence was too great for his heart. These excerpts from his notes which he kept for five crucial years (1944-49) reveal not a man of superlative stature but an American of surpassing integrity.

The Forrestal papers, as here collected, are an intimate glossary on most of the western world's great events and people of the years they cover. James Forrestal is not a figure of history-making proportions, but what he has said in his notes about his nation and its leaders, frankly and out of close experience of them, will become part of history. "The Forrestal Diaries", one of the most revealing documents of this era, is the stuff from which the political atmosphere of his important times will be sensed by future historians. It is so near us that its subjects are the fabric on which the present is being fashioned.

It is a fascinating book because of its frankness, the status of the writer in important American affairs, and his own character. The notes were written for Forrestal's private re-reading. Characteristic of their frankness is this comment made to Admiral Leahy after a visit to General MacArthur in Manila in 1945; Forrestal remarked that the General had "a high degree of professional ability, mortgaged, however, to his sensitivity and his vanity". Such a book by a Canadian about inner Canadian Cabinet affairs and members would set this country by the ears, if, indeed, it ever got by Cabinet and military censorship.

The book is published in the United States, sells in that country for $5. In Canada, the price is $7; same binding, same printing, same dust cover.

MR. SMITH, by Louis Bromfield (Musson Book Co. Ltd.).

WRITERS ARE ALLEGED to have a microscopic eye with which they are able to study the faults and failings that the average person is not aware of, either in his own character or the world about him. Louis Bromfield in his new book "Mr. Smith" has lent us this better vision, and with biting clarity has revealed the littleness of American social climbers. In the small town in which Mr. Smith lives, where all the members of the wealthy and near wealthy classes are trying to keep up with, and surpass, their neighbours, the real meaning of human relationships has been lost. Everyone is playing a part, the wives are the smart young wives of the fashion-fiction magazines, speaking only as they suppose their counterparts in the magazines would speak, furnishing their houses to a pattern and living their entire lives without a single individual thought. Whereas the rest of the world merely allows good manners and the conventions to be a facade to living, in the section of the American population that Mr. Bromfield has chosen to explore, there is nothing left but the facade.

The story is written, for the most part, in the first person. Mr. Smith, the hero and narrator serving in the United States army on a small island in the South Pacific, spends much of his time trying to write the story of his struggle against the suffocating atmosphere of his marriage. His wife, living the life of the well-to-do small town matron—the loved wife, the successful mother—refuses to stop the act for one minute even though, in desperation, Mr. Smith appeals to her for a divorce. A divorce would ruin the pattern, shatter the portrait of herself that she has built for her friends, and no one else's happiness is going to be allowed to interfere with this. So Mr. Smith drags on through the years, all his ambitions sapped, until the war. Then suddenly he is catapulted into the world of real people. On his island he has four other soldiers—Meyer, a young lonely Jew from Brooklyn, Al, a farm boy from Kansas, and Homer, an uneducated, bigoted nigger-baiter from Georgia. Then there is the Sergeant, a tough, honest man who disciplines with his fists but who is as completely unbiased in his judgements as only a man with a basic set of values can be. Among these men, Mr. Smith finds his way out of the jungle in which he lives (and which he finds so much worse than the one in which he fought a war) and it is here, on this little Pacific island that he works out his salvation.

Louis Bromfield has written a very readable book and an indictment of the pettiness and stupidity which he finds in the wealthy suburbs of America.

THE SERPENT-WREATHED STAFF, by Alice Tisdale Hobart (McClelland & Stewart, Ltd.).

THIS IS AN ARRESTING novel by the author of "Oil For The Lamps Of China", which deals with 'the story of medicine caught in the maelstrom of world revolution . . . . . and of the human heart under stress in the hysteria of to-day'.

It is the chronicle of the medical profession in the modern industrial world, where the specialist has replaced the family doctor, and the resulting advantages and disadvantages. The scene is laid in a mid-western American city and the chief characters are the Towne brothers, both skilful orthopaedic surgeons. But there the likeness ends, for Sam, the elder, is conventional, ambitious, and impersonal to his patients, who believes he has found the correct 'professional groove' in the mechanical age by streamlining his office visits and caring only for the perfect operation.

Alan, on the other hand, possesses a restless, enquiring mind and a need to minister to the sick and the ideas of professional humility, learned from his grandfather, are broadened by war service in the Far East. Alan antagonizes the conservative elements in both the profession and society, with the result that he discovers that times have changed little from the days when his ancestress was the victim of a witch-hunt in Salem.

The author has seized upon all the drama of this situation, as well as Alan's fight to save his marriage from disaster when attacked by illness and race prejudice, to create a most absorbing plot. She describes the valiant struggle of Esther, Alan's wife, against crippling disease with the sympathy and understanding of one who has suffered in like manner. This should be a very popular choice as a gift—there are so many facets to the story that it is sure to interest every reader.

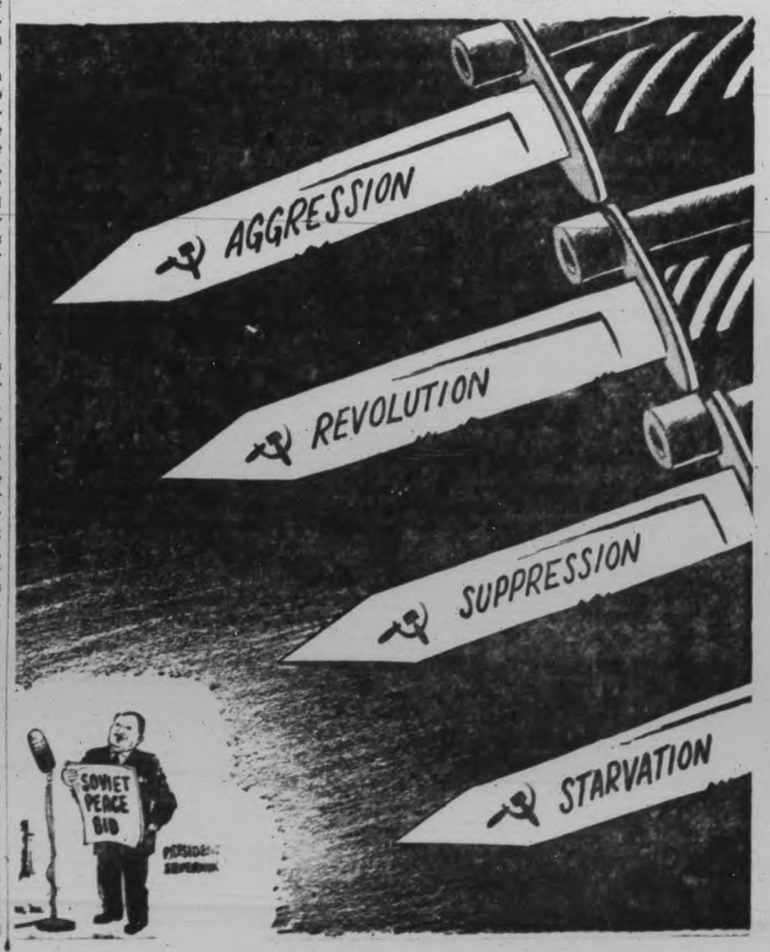
AS WE CAME BY, by Judith Robinson (J. M. Dent & Sons).

MISS JUDITH ROBINSON of Toronto has taken her good reporter's eye and her probing mind to England, France and Italy. This unpretentious volume is a collection of essays on what she saw, thought and touched, and about people she met, during a leisurely year abroad. They are good essays. Some Canadian reporters on assignment for their papers send back mawkish stuff limited by small experience and ill-informed minds; Miss Robinson, lively and knowledgeable, writes with a calm poise which is only occasionally disturbed by twitters or streaks of sententiousness. As a Canadian not unused to Europe, but surfeited with reports which innocents abroad send home and get printed, I am pleased with this book.



I mention two essays from many which are pleasing. One illustrates the politically conscious writer, and her lack of acerbity. It springs from articles by Etienne Gilson the historian, a candid friend of Canada, articles which appeared in Le Monde when Miss Robinson was in Paris. Gilson argues for neutrality towards the West in the present conflict between the U.S.A. and the U.S.S.R. Miss Robinson's balanced, deft three-page presentation of the French and American peoples' attitudes towards each other, of their "hostility born of baffled good will" is mature and gently pungent. "The accusation [French against American and vice versa] . . . . was essentially the same both ways, for gratitude is the other side of generosity."

The other essay which particularly attracts me is called "Follow my love, come over the strand". Its two pages are worth the price of the book. I cannot quote from it without misrepresenting both its meaning and its atmosphere. It deals with expatriates from this continent who choose to live in France, and particularly with two who choose to live in the little town of Gassin in the Department of Var, on top of a "private" mountain overlooking the Italian Alps and the Mediterranean. This moving reportorial essay will rank among the best a Canadian has written of Europe, I suspect, and should find its way into anthologies . . . I recommend this little book.

ENDING, AS ALWAYS, with a quotation which we think will please people discriminating enough to read this column, we reprint these sad words by Samuel Taylor Coleridge: "Talk to a blind man—he knows he wants the sense of sight, and willingly makes the proper allowances. But there are certain internal senses which a man may want, and yet be wholly ignorant that he wants them. It is most unpleasant to converse with such persons on subjects of taste, philosophy or religion. Of course there is no reasoning with them, for they do not possess the facts on which the reasoning must be grounded. Nothing is possible but naked dissent, which implies a sort of social contempt; or—what a man of kind disposition is very likely to fall into—a heartless tacit acquiescence, which borders too near on duplicity". How often have you not thought thus, while some stupid bore raved on?

SOVIET POINT FOUR PROGRAM

AFIELD AFOOT

with NICK NICKELS

Each year as we grow older we declare that we can't get into the spirit of Christmas. But a lot of little things start happening.

The youngsters spend their evenings making Christmas cards. Against all warnings they have rooted out cartons of tree decorations from the attic. There are whispered conspiracies in corners that break off suddenly if you happen to pass close by.

It is rather nice to hear the sounds of church choirs practicing the old familiar carols as you stroll along the dark foggy streets of an evening.

"Deck the halls with boughs of holly,
Fa, la, la, la, la, la, la, la, la, la, . . . "

Deck the halls. Go get a Christmas tree. The cutting of it is a family ritual. It wouldn't mean anything to me or my clan to buy one at a corner lot. We have always fetched our own.

Last week I had a good look at the annual harvesting of a million Christmas trees down Orono way. Quite impressive, I guess, and quite as impersonal as all big business projects.

We have had all sorts of experiences and fun gathering our trees one Yuletide and another. One of them was even upsetting.

♠ ♠ ♠ ♠

That was the time we were in the Lower St. Lawrence country. There, if ever, one lived amid Christmas card scenes that started with November snows. Red cutters and carrioles racing around town. Bells pealing from pointed parish church towers. Normal gaiety on streets and in stores.

T'ose Craz-ee Anglais

Our obliging grocer, Adelard, had a hammer-headed delivery nag and a fancy Quebec cutter on which the driver sits in front of the curved dashboard above the shafts.

Was it possible to rent his outfit?

It was indeed.

We drove out of town one Sunday morning early to find ourselves a Christmas tree. As we passed through the parish of Sacre Coeur, roads from all directions poured sleigh traffic towards the church. Our patient steed pulled us steadily into the rolling foothill country away from The River. This was the life.

After some dickering and pantomime at a farmer's steep-roofed house, we were welcome to hunt for a tree at the back end of his narrow Canadien farm. We tramped through the deep snow and found a tree to our liking and dragged it back to our cutter.

The nag perked up considerably when we turned him towards home. The road was single tracked and winding and we bounced along at a merry clip. Suddenly, we met head-on with a carriole-load of folks on their way home from church.

Our hard-mouthed horse refused to give half the track to the passing team. Neither sawing on its bit with the lines, whacks with the whip or yells of atrocious French would change the nag's mind. There was a loud splintering noise as cutter shafts locked and shrieks from the carriole as it upset on its side. There was a great commotion, I can tell you. And you have no idea the nasty-sounding things that were shouted at the £%@$+lb Anglais.

After binding the broken woodwork with wire from a fence we arrived home without further trouble. Adelard, the grocer, thought it was all a great joke. No doubt we paid for any damage in hidden charges in our grocery bill. No matter. When the tree was set up in the living room it looked right handsome, especially with a basket of fancy wine under it, a gift from admiring Adelard.

♠ ♠ ♠ ♠

The gathering of Christmas trees in the Kawartha is not so care free. It is a MUST to get permission from the owner of the woodlot and another MUST to refrain from chopping ten feet from the top of a 20-foot tree. You will not be pinched for trespassing, possibly, but you can be hauled into court for breaking an Act of the Criminal Code. The charges start with a minimum fine of $25. But go right ahead if you have this sort of money to throw around before Christmas time.

♠ ♠ ♠ ♠

Monster Field Meet

If I owned a foxhound instead of a heizhound, I would enter her in the season's top field trials to be held on Sunday at Guerin's Ranch, Indian River. It is being sponsored as usual by the Kawartha Foxhound Club and the boys are really laying it on. Entries are expected from Oshawa, Bowmanville, Cobourg, Port Hope, Cornwall, Smiths Falls and Trenton.

Beagle clubbers will look after numbering the animals as well as acting as field trial judges; they are president Jerry Coughlin, field secretary Bob Runnett and directors Herb Routley, Bill Thompson, Gordon Simmons, D. Henderson, R. Lacey, Frank Millard and Bud Lloyd.

Starting time 8 a.m. on the dot. Road signs will show the way. The smartest pooch will be able to eat out of a big silver jug, a trophy put up by the Lowe's Paint Store. There will be prize money for second and third place dogs, too. Wish my mut was a great outdoors girl instead of a rug warmer. Might rake in some extra cash before Christmas. Ah, well . . .

Saw a heart-warming thing in a Grade Two school classroom this week. Each moppett brings a small beat-up toy that they cherish and the collection is to be forwarded to other Canadians of their own age at an Indian-Eskimo TB hospital somewhere in the North Country. Is this a general thing throughout city schools, I wonder ? ? ?

Has Patient Meningitis? Is Water Fit? Test Tubes In City Hall Give Answer

A doctor in Minden wondered if his patient had meningitis.

An obstretician at a city hospital wanted to be sure the blood about to be given his patient was "Rh negative". His patient was a woman about to have a baby.

A cottager from Chemong Lake wanted to know if the water in his well was fit to drink.

The answers all came from the Ontario Department of Health laboratory in Peterborough's city hall, directly or indirectly.

The Minden doctor took a sample of spinal fluid from his patient, a child. He sent it to Peterborough with a provincial police cruiser. Once at the laboratory the sample was thoroughly examined, and a report was telephoned to Minden.

The obstetrician found out whether the blood was Rh negative by checking records of the blood kept at the hospital. The facts in the records were provided by tests at the same laboratory.

Water Approved

At the laboratory, the man with the well water found out what he wanted to know. Technicians examined the water carefully and sent him a report saying his well water was clean enough to drink.

The answers all came from the Ontario Department of Health laboratory in Peterborough's city hall, directly or indirectly.

For the laboratory technicians and their chief, Dr. C. B. Waite, work is a ceaseless fight against germs.

Routine work at the lab consists of bacteriological, chemical and tissue examinations. Bacteriological tests include examination of throat swabs sent in by doctors for the identification of germs causing diphtheria and septic sore throat.

Chemical work is pretty well concerned with analyses of milk and water, although some blood chemistry is done for doctors and hospitals.

Tissue examinations are done mostly for St. Joseph's hospital; the Civic has its own pathology technician. The senior lab technician, Harry Kelcey, does most of this work.

After treatment in more than a dozen different solutions, bits of tissue are embedded in paraffin and thin slices are removed on a machine called a microtome. The slices are transferred to slides for microscope study.

Established 1921

The provincial laboratory was established here in 1921, under Dr. A. Y. McNair, who left Peterborough for Vancouver (where he still lives) in 1925. Dr. Murray Fraser took over in that year, and in 1928, he left the laboratory.

For a number of reasons, the Department of Health threatened to close down the lab that year. Dr. C. B. Waite offered to take it over on a part-time basis and quieted the howls of protest that went up at the announcement that the lab would be closed.

Peterborough's lab is one of six in the province that are subsidized by the government. It serves about 150 doctors—75 in the city and 75 more in the counties.

Work in the laboratory is done for Peterborough, Durham, Northumberland, Victoria, and Haliburton counties. From time to time, samples come in from sections of Hastings county, although there is a provincial lab in Belleville.

Day in, day out, week in, week out, in a series of white ground floor rooms running around the entire south end of the new city hall, swabs of blood and other fluids are tested, fibres of diseased tissues examined, and post-mortem specimens of hearts, livers, brains and muscles prepared and kept in jars for the pathologist's examination.

The laboratories are stocked with Bunsen burners, test tubes, elaborate apparatus of mysterious shapes, and bottles of weird, wonderful and sometimes alarming contents. In the big refrigerator are kept the supplies used by city and district doctors for vaccinations, inoculations and other preventative needle-work. In it, too, are stocks of precious insulin for diabetics.

Through local health services and family physicians, the Provincial Laboratory in Peterborough silently serves more than 150,000 people.

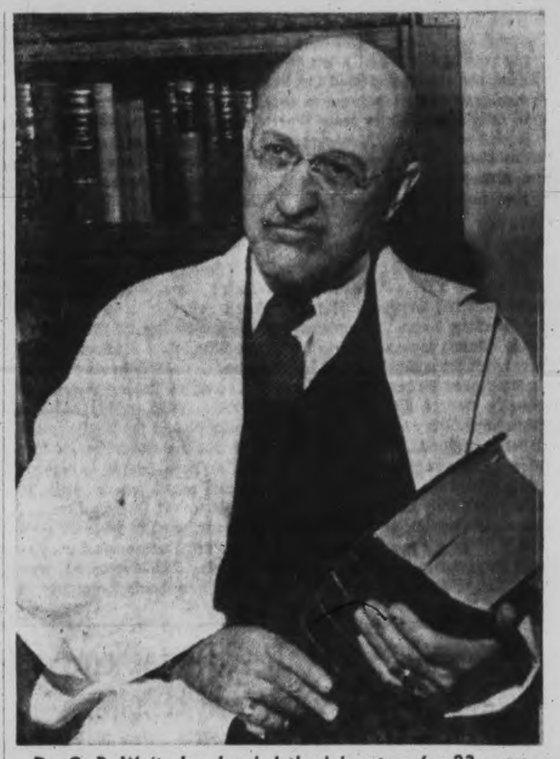
Provincial Laboratories

The Department of Health of Ontario maintains a large new Central Laboratory, Christie St., Toronto, nine regional branch laboratories, and six subsidized branch laboratories. One of these six is in the new Peterborough City Hall building, transferred there from the old one when the City Hall was opened. It is concerned with the laboratory examination of clinical material and all other types of specimens which may be related in any way to public health. The Provincial Laboratories perform about a million and a half examinations every year.



The great bulk of the work comprises the bacteriological investigation of infectious diseases, which is performed without charge, as a service to the public through the medical profession. Bacteriological control of milk and water supplies is also an important function. All specimens for examination other than water are accepted only from Medical Officers of Health and legally qualified medical practitioners of the Province of Ontario. Water supplies may be submitted by any citizen.

In addition to general and special medical bacteriology, the Laboratory offers examination facilities to the profession, at a nominal fee in parallel to the service of hospital laboratories, in bio-chemistry and tissue pathology.

The laboratory acts as a depot for the distribution of all biological products such as anti-toxins, toxoids and vaccines. These are supplied by the Department of Health of Ontario as a free service to the public through the medical profession.

Scientists In Lab. So High Water Won't Boil For Tea

Dr. Gordon Cook, a research chemist who is now head of a unit that makes scientific films, recently visited one of the highest laboratories in the world. It lies more than two miles above sea level on the snow covered Jungfraujoch and was built by the Swiss in 1937 for international research. It clings to the edge of a granite outcrop high above the snow line and to reach it he set off at eight in the morning by the funicular railway from the Lauterbrunner Valley.

As they crawled slowly upwards the white wall of the Jungfrau towered above them and they saw the watershed of Southern Europe leading down towards Italy and the Mediterranean on the other side. When the train pulled into the little station of Kleine Scheidegg, nearly seven thousand feet above the sea, they left the rich pastures, changed trains and entered the four and a half mile tunnel that climbs steadily upwards inside the Jungfrau. After one and a half hours they reached the station, the highest in Europe but, oddly enough, still underground.

Dr. Cook walked along another tunnel towards the scientific station and was shown, round it by Kenneth Canfor, a 22-year-old research student from London University. Through the double glass windows of the library he looked down on to the Aletsch Glacier, the largest in the Alps, as it curved away down the valley towards Italy. On the other side of the ridge the face of the mountain fell away in a precipice on to snow 600 feet deep, the beginning of the Eiger Glacier.

In the physical and chemical laboratory he met a dozen or so scientists. The British workers came from London, Manchester and Cambridge and there were meteorologists from France and two priests from Belgium studying infra-red rays. They had small but comfortable sleeping quarters, a well-equipped kitchen and living-room and the whole building was heated and lit by electricity from the Jungfrau railway which kept it warm and cosy. The scientists looked after themselves in their eyrie and supplies of food were brought up from the valley.

Studying Cosmic Rays

In a small aluminum hut perched on the outside of the laboratory Dr. Cook talked to the British scientists who were studying cosmic rays, those strange showers of atomic particles which rain down on the earth from outer space. Another laboratory was crammed with equipment sent from Manchester and some of this photographer the atoms that were being split by cosmic ray collisions.

This work on cosmic rays is closely allied to atomic energy and is part of the fundamental research by which scientists hope to arrive at an understanding of what goes on inside an atom — Cosmic rays, as Dr. Cook said, are still one of the major mysteries of science and no one knows where they come from or what causes them.

By the time they reach sea level they consist of various different sorts of particles and among them are mesons, in which scientists today are particularly interested. These mesons are the most powerful atom-splitting bullets that scientists possess and if one collides with another atom it can disrupt it more efficiently than any sub-atomic particle produced by laboratory cyclotrons and similar gadgets. The intensity of cosmic rays depends on the distance that the rays have travelled through the atmosphere which is why scientists work in such strange places as the Junfrau laboratory.

Dr. Cook remarked that working at such an altitude can be physically unpleasant; he himself began to feel quite dizzy after an hour or so and some of the scientists told him that they were often sick for a couple of days when they first arrived. There is one major snag for British scientists working in the laboratory: "water boils at 87 degrees instead of a hundred," said Dr. Cook, "and it is impossible to get it hot enough to make a decent cup of tea."

Majority And Minority

Though the will of the majority is in all cases to prevail, that will, to be rightful, must be reasonable; the minority possess their equal rights, which equal laws must protect, and to violate would be oppression.

THOMAS JEFFERSON: Inaugural address, March 4, 1801

✧ ✧ ✧

The history of most countries has been that of majorities—mounted majorities, clad in iron, armed with death, treading down the tenfold more numerous minorities.

O. W. HOLMES: Address to the Massachusetts Medical Society, Boston, May 30, 1860

✧ ✧ ✧

A minority may be right; a majority is always wrong.

HENRIK IBSEN: An Enemy of the People, IV, 1882

✧ ✧ ✧

The moment a mere numerical superiority by either states or voters in this country proceeds to ignore the needs and desires of the minority, and for their own selfish purpose or advancement, hamper or oppress that minority, or debar them in any way from equal privileges and equal rights—that moment will mark the failure of our constitutional system.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC PERDUE, Sports Editor

If one referee is too little and too late, get two. That seems to sum up the pro grapplers' outlook on mat officiating. Whipper Bill Watson and Lord Athol Layton went to a main bout draw here last week with Sammy Gotter a most inefficient third man in the ring. So they asked for a rematch with two competent arbiters to keep law and order. And that's the way it'll be when they tangle again Tuesday night at the Brock in the main go. With no time limit, it'll be a real show between these smart wrestlers. Bobo Brazil tackles rough Hi Lee — of the gravel voice and shaggy mane — in the semi-final, while Sonny Kurgis is pitted against Abe Zvonkin in the prelim.

For the love of Peter, someone dropped on the desk a tear sheet of cheese cake. Actually, it's a page of pix of Hollywood glamor girls, with pithy comments in gridiron language underneath each cut. Like these: "Piper Laurie—no one has more passes tossed at her; Lana Turner—has so much to guard; Shelly Winters—she's always kicking; Sonja Henie—she's so used to guarding her jewels; Ann Sheridan—never penalized for roughing the passer; Barbara Payton—she's always in the middle; Denice Darcel—outstanding in the two-platoon system; Dagmar—she's great at line plunging; Deborah Kerr—being English, she's tea-formation expert." Gypsy Rose Lee? Dunt esk!

Reasonable Tariff Here

Noted an item this week in an Orillia paper, where they've a new puck arena. It announced that the club there has set a single price of 75 cents for all seats, with 50 cents for standing room. "At the present inflated prices," the item says, "with eggs close to 90 cents and steaks a dollar a pound, the hockey prices aren't at all out of line, even though hockey expenses are higher." Peterborough fans should appreciate the fact that general admission to senior "B" games at Civic Arena is 50 cents, with seats guaranteed, and two bits for children. You can also pay 75 cents for reserved seats. But the hockey clubs aren't making any heavy moolah out of the deal.

Kingston and the Eagles are the hockey antagonists Monday eve here, and that should be quite an ice battle. The Eagles are coming along fast lately, despite the odd setback, and giving promise of crowding all and sundry in the race to the finish line this season. But the Kingstons, bolstering steadily, will be plenty tough, too, ere the final returns are in. These teams when they clash don't spare the bodies any—they really step into each other. It shapes up as a stiff scrap of senior "B" calibre to open up the week's arena program, a game that should draw a hefty gallery.

Petes Take Kingston

The K's didn't look too hot last p.m. in dropping an 8-3 decision here to the Petes. But then the latter didn't play their best, either. Just one of those jousts on slow ice on a mild night. Neither team at full strength, nor up to peak form. That doesn't happen often. So, the standing now has Belleville out in front again by a mere two points with the other three clubs tied up tightly in second position. What a group! Pick of the Petes last eve were Arn Dugan, Don Floyd and Junior West. Runners-up were Curly Mason and Gus Leonard, while Ron Horton played another good game on defence. A fair-sized crowd viewed the Petes' revenge on Kingston.

* * * * * *

Belleville Hawks returned to form on home ice last gloaming to pluck the Eagles 3-2 before 1,300 noisy fans. It regained the loop leadership for them. Only spectacular work in goal by the veteran Ross Nicholls of Ned Vitarelli's squad kept down the count as the Hawks were plenty hot for two frames. Had a big edge on territorial play. However, the old third-period fighting spirit of Eagles again was displayed as they refused to curl up. Fought back fiercely to tally twice, Slater from Wootton first, and then Vitarelli from Crowley and Montgomery. Kept peppering Lefort in the Quinte cage right to the gong. MacDonald scored two and Goyer one for the winners. It was rated as probably the best senior "B" scrap seen so far this semester.

Black's beat CGE girl basketeers 29-17 last eve in the only tussle staged in the YW.... Utilities and Loblaw's are tied atop the Mercantile Bowling League.... Harold Mesley rolled high in the men's City Bowling Loop.... Confederation intermediates of the School Hockey Circuit took a 5-0 win o'er King Edward.... Junior Oddfellows are off for a game tonight in Kingston.... OHA is having a heck of a time over its residence rule; it turned down Eagles' request to reclassify George Brabin as a non-import.... OHA ruled that had Brabin kept living in Oshawa he could have played for Eagles without being regarded as an import, since it was the closest senior "B" centre.... However, because he is now living here, Brabin is regarded as an import.... Petes' request for dough spent on a trip to Queen's was checked, too, and the Petes told to bill Queen's first.... A reversed decision gives Ken Medhurst permission to play for Port Hope if he gets a job there by Dec. 17; a Port Hope protest on Cobourg players was tossed out.... Davis Horse Places Second At Dufferin

TORONTO, Dec. 8.—Blanche Grattan, owned and driven by Hugh Davis of Peterborough, placed second in the first race at Dufferin Park, Friday.

Confederation Wins

Confederation blanked King Edward intermediates 5-0 in a School Hockey League game at the arena. Casey scored three goals for them, with Nichols and Copping getting the other. The latter and Woods had an assist each, as Patterson aided on a pair. Outstanding players were Copping and Casey for the winners, and Walling for the losers. Teams:

Confederation: Outwater, Woods Ruttan, Casey, Kimball, Patterson, Warner, Copping, Nichols, Moffat, Pulkinghorn, Henwood.

King Edward: Finney, Heard, Smith, Riel, Walling, Kemp, Hope, Murduff, Meredith, Detlor, Davies, Rowe, Warner.

Referee: J. Barnard.

Expect Stanky To Become Card Manager

NEW YORK, Dec. 8—(AP)—Eddie Stanky was expected to become the new St. Louis manager following a "yes or no", huddle today between Cardinal president Fred Saigh and officials of the New York Giants.

Only an unexpected last minute obstacle, or stubborness on the part of one or both of the club executives, will prevent the year's outstanding deal from being made.

In exchange for the aggressive second baseman, the Giants were to get pitcher Max Lanier and center fielder Chuck Diering, the players they have been demanding since last Nov. 20—shortly before Marty Marion was released as pilot of the Cardinals.

Saigh, who is here to attend the major league meetings opening this morning, has been reluctant to part with Lanier, the Cards' 37-year-old southpaw who had an 11-9 record last season. He had tried, without success, to interest the Giants in right hander George (Red) Munger.

President Horace Stoneham of the Giants, however, has insisted all along: "No Lanier, no deal."

Stoneham would rather keep Stanky but is resigned to letting him go because he knows Eddie is eager to manage the Cardinals.

Stanky is the highest paid Giant player. He inserted his own figures on a blank contract last year—calling for $30,000. Stoneham not only is willing to raise that figure for next season but has promised Stanky a lifetime job with the Giants if he wants it.

But Stanky wants a crack at managing a big league club. He feels that he is qualified and ready after nine years of major league baseball with four clubs—Chicago Cubs, Brooklyn Dodgers, Boston Braves and the Giants.

He holds a record of playing on three pennant winning teams. He was with the Dodgers in 1947, the Braves in '48 and the Giants last season.

Here And There In Sports

By The Canadian Press

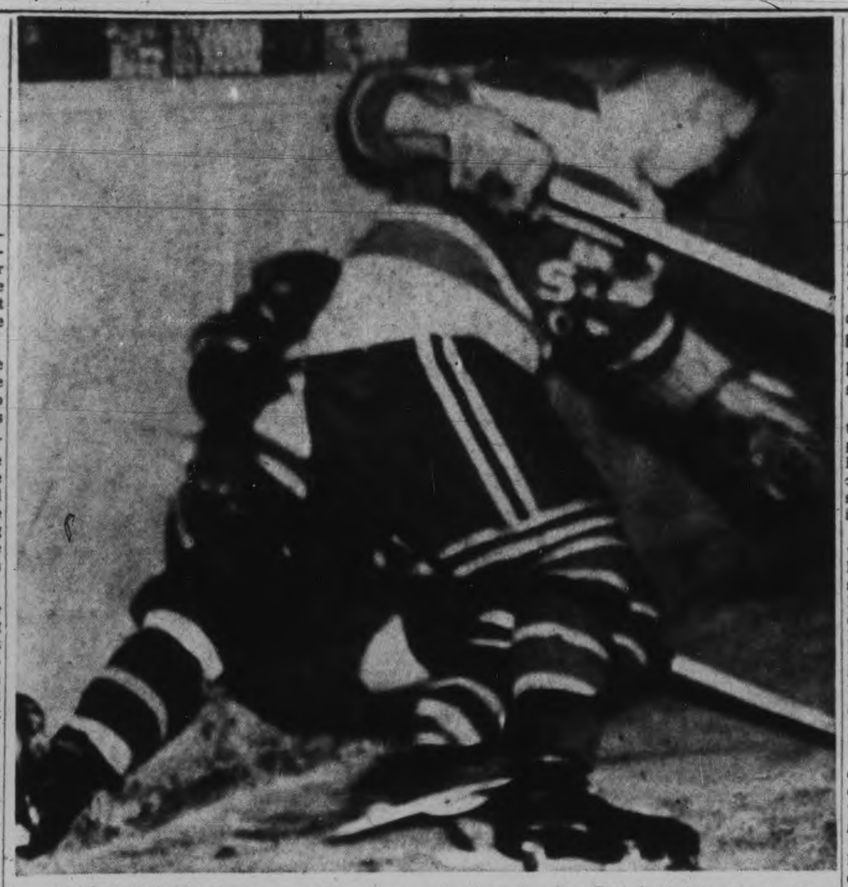
Baseball's minor leagues wound up their annual convention Friday at Columbus by eliminating the ban on chatting with high school players and asking the majors for half their radio-television revenue.

Unless the big leagues go along with the action of the minors, the high school rule will revert to the current one which prevents baseball men approaching scholastic stars in any way.

Under a compromise worked out of three separate proposals, the minors agreed that during 1952 the professionals might talk with high school players, but not sign them to a contract until their class had graduated. In 1953 the rule would change, allowing the scholastic players to sign contracts, but would ban them from playing a game until their eligibility had expired.

The major leagues vote on the rules next week in New York.

At Valleyfield, president Arthur Vinet of the Valleyfield Braves said that unruly hockey fans will get the heave-ho—and for that reason. Vinet said persons throwing things on the ice or jumping on the ice will be put out of the arena and barred for the remainder of the season.



All provinces except Newfoundland are expected to enter the Canadian high school curling championships, to be held at Moncton Feb. 18-21. Newfoundland still is considered a possible entry, officials of the local organizing committee said Friday night. Playoffs will be conducted in each province, with the winners advancing to the all-Canadian play here.

At Miami, Fla., four golfers tied with 132 at the end of 26 holes Friday in the $10,000 Miami open tournament as par took a beating over the Miami Springs municipal course. Sam Snead, defending champion from White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., and Tommy Bolt of Durham, NC, co-leaders with 64s in the opening round, remained deadlocked as each carded 68 in the second trip around the 6,310-yard 35-35—70 course. Toney Penna of Cincinnati and Bob Hamilton of Evansville, Ind., joined the leaders in the top bracket. Penna had a 34-32—66 and Hamilton had 32-33—65 in Friday's play.

The possibility of a championship bout between Kid Gavilan, world welterweight titleholder, and European champion Charles Humez of France was disclosed Friday. Bob Christenberry, chairman of the New York State Athletic Commission, said he had received a letter from the European Boxing Union secretary, R. Robert, disagreeing with the recognition of Gavilan as world champion.

Christenberry showed the letter to Al Weill, matchmaker for the International Boxing Club, and said Weill replied he would see Gavilan's manager and try to arrange such a match in the United States.

Herb Dickenson, 20-year-old left winger with New York Rangers of the National Hockey League, was returned to Cincinnati Mohawks of the American League yesterday, it was announced in New York.

BENDER BENDS THEM — Though it was a clean senior tussle here last night, there was the odd bit of bouncing action at either end. Above is shown Eddie Bender blasting Don Floyd of the Petes into the boards after Don had finished a nifty rush and passed the puck. He was in on three goals and helped his side a lot in the 8-3 win over Kingston to pull the Petes up into a second-place group tie.—(Examiner Staff Photo).

Petes Down Kingston, 8-3 In Senior "B" Contest To Earn Second Place Tie

Trouncing Kingston 8-3 here last night before 1,200 fans, the Petes pulled up into a second-place tie in the standing of their OHA senior "B" group race. On slow ice, the squads turned in a rather sloppy showing over most of the route, with the homesters having a good edge on play in all but the second period. It was a clean tilt, the winners drawing three of the four penalties.

Striking hard from the start, Jim Ellis' outfit racked up a 5-0 lead in the first frame before the visitors could get untracked. The latter fought back in a more even second heat to gain a 2-1 scoring edge; but the Petes outscored them 2-1 again in the final chapter. McGregor and Wagar were Kingston absentees, and Chum Fryia sat it out for the Petes, nursing a broken thumb. Mild weather made for sticky ice and this helped slow play down.

Hawks Lead

With Belleville winning at home last night 3-2, the Hawks took over first place in the standing with eight points, leaving Petes, Kingston and Eagles knotted next to them with six points apiece, Kingston and Petes having one game in hand.

Top snipers for the Petes in the Friday fray were Arn Dugan, Don Floyd and Junior West with three points apiece. Dugan also went good on defence. Two points apiece were garnered by Curly Mason and Gus Leonard, as singles went to Bob Wyatt, Freddy Garvey, Jake Wade and Earl Leonard. Joe Catlin led the losers with two markers, Bud Ohlke getting the other. Don Murray clicked for two assists, and White and Tinkess one each.

In the penalty-free first period, the Petes poured in to tally five times. West got the first on a neat pass from Gus Leonard early. Floyd took Garvey's pass then and dipsy-doodled through defence and faked the goalie out for a nifty one. Later, Dugan's screened shot on Floyd's pass beat Anderson to make it 3-0, the shot being from outside defence. Mason tipped in the fourth on a play built up by Wade and Earl Leonard as the home squad kept fighting in against listless checking. Dugan added one more at 16.08 with a slap shot in close on a passout by West from back of the net.

More Even

Ohlke clicked for Kingston's first marker in the second with Murray aiding as they waltzed through unchecked. Play speeded up some and Harding looked good on several quick saves. Gus Leonard backhanded home West's in-close pass for the Petes as play swept up and down. Horton drew a tripping penalty but Kingston didn't get a shot on net in his absence. It slowed up considerably and was ragged near the close, with Kingston adding a goal as Catlin tipped in a corner passout by White. Collins and Sweetman roughed it up to draw penalties at the gong.

Not So Good

It was slow again in the third and sloppy hockey, except for the odd flash of good play. Jake Wade hit the post for the second time on neat tries, and West came close once as Anderson came out to beat him. Kingston forwards tested Harding several times, too. The peroid had gone past the 13.00 minute mark when Floyd's backhander in a scramble caught the cage corner for the Petes, and they got one more shortly by Wyatt, from Mason and Dugan on neat combination. Just before the finish, Catlin slapped home the last marker near the crease, aided by Tinkess and Murray, as West sat out a tripping penalty. Teams:

Kingston—Goal, Anderson; defence, Stewart and Bender; centre, Murray; wings, Ohlke and Aitken; alternates, Catlin, Tinkess, White, Larmer, Sweetman, Goodfellow and Watts.

Petes—Goal, Harding; defence, E. Leonard and Jopling; centre, Wade; wings, Mason and Wyatt, alternates, G. Leonard, West, Mortimer, Garvey, Collins, Floyd, Dugan and Horton.

Referee, L. Lecompte; linesman, H. Payne.

Summary:

First Period

Petes—West (G. Leonard) 4.04
Petes—Floyd (Garvey) 5:32
Petes—Dugan (Floyd) 13:35
Petes—Mason (Wade, E. Leonard) 15:06
Petes—Dugan (West) 16:08
No penalties.

Second Period

Kingston—Ohlke (Murray) 4.29
Petes—G. Leonard (West) 10:25
Kingston—Catlin (White) 16:35
Penalties—Horton, Collins, Sweetman.

Third Period

Petes—Floyd 13:15
Petes—Wyatt (Mason, Dugan) 17:15
Kingston—Catlin (Tinkess, Murray) 19.38
Penalty—West.

College President Blamed By Judge

PEORIA, Ill., Dec. 8 (AP)—D. Blair Owen, blamed by a New York judge of morally debasing three basketball players in his position as president of Bradley University, was joined today by school officials and townspeople in labelling the blast as "unfair."

Owen, who rose from the job of sports publicity man to the $14,000-a-year president of Bradley, was assailed Friday by Judge Saul S. Streit, after the judge gave suspended sentences to three former Bradley basketball players on charges of conspiracy to fix games.

The three are Gene Melchiorre, George Chianakis and William Mann.

Judge Streit accused Owen of giving university sanction to "moral debasement" of the three former players who had pleaded guilty.

Streit denounced Owen for "his acquiescence" in the three players' "subsidization, and by his extensive travelling with the members of the team while their studies were ignored he gave official university sanction to their moral debasement."

H. Mesley Leads Way

Harold Mesley led all bowlers this week in the men's City Bowling League with a triple of 869 and single of 367 rolling for De Laval. Bassel's hit a neat 3,607 pinnage as Anthony's led in single efforts with 1,322. All wins were 4-2 ones for Clapper's, Sunoco's, Bond's, Bassel's, Maddil & Post over Moore's, Kawartha, McGillis, Anthony's and De Laval.

Good scores included: Fred Martin 846 (347), Vern Ferguson 821 (329), Bert McCarrell 835 (350), and singles of Art Pilling 319, Ross Hopkins 311 and Frank O'Heron 304.

MRS. E. FOLEY WINS TELEVISION SET

MRS. E. FOLEY, 524 Murray St., with Ticket No. 8402, was the winner of the Television Set, drawn for at Friday night's Petes-Kingston game by Referee Louis Lecompte. The Peterborough Hockey Club wishes to thank everyone who helped in this venture, especially Mr. Ben Swartz of the SWARTZ FURNITURE STORE, whose untiring effort made the draw a success. The set will be installed free by Mr. Swartz.

Black's Victors By 29 to 17 Over Electrics

Black's beat GE at the YW last night in the only girls' basketball game played. They had a 16-9 lead at the half and withstood a late drive by CGE to outscore the Electrics 13-8 in the final session. The losers drew 17 fouls and the winners seven the latter clicking on one free throw and CGE on five.

R McInroy sparked Black's with a dozen points, R. Maylor being next with six, as M. Hollingsworth got three, and M. McGill, J. Krough, C. Raper and E. McIlhagga two each. For the losers, D. Jackson was top girl with eight points, three going to M. Jones, and two apiece to L. Lee, B. Luther and M. Waye. Teams:

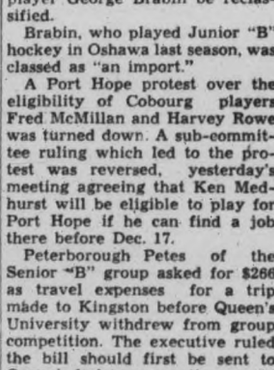
CGE—D. Jackson, M. Jones, L. Lee, M. Batley, B. Luther, J. Luther, B. Rashotte, M. Waye.

Black's—R. McInroy, C. Ferguson, R. Naylor, M. McGill, J. Krough, M. Hollingsworth, M. McIlvena, C. Raper, E. McIlhagga, M. Vint.

Officials—D. Burrows, D. Beatty and J. Cooper.

Local Hockey Angles Checked By OHA

TORONTO, Dec. 8 (CP).—The executive of the Ontario Hockey Association yesterday turned down a request from Peterborough Eagles Senior B team, that player George Brabin be reclassified.



Brabin, who played Junior "B" hockey in Oshawa last season, was classed as "an import."

A Port Hope protest over the eligibility of Cobourg players Fred McMillan and Harvey Rowe was turned down. A sub-committee ruling which led to the protest was reversed, yesterday's meeting agreeing that Ken Medhurst will be eligible to play for Port Hope if he can find a job there before Dec. 17.

Peterborough Petes of the Senior "B" group asked for $266 as travel expenses for a trip made to Kingston before Queen's University withdrew from group competition. The executive ruled the bill should first be sent to Queen's before any action would be taken.

Lindsay Rink Downed

TORONTO, Dec. 8 (CP). — R. M. Cairns of Montreal's Lachute Club Friday skipped his curling rink to an 8-5 victory over H. H. Chisholm's Torontos in the final of the men's consolation tropny event of the Granite Club's 75th anniversary bonspiel. The ladies' primary event final went to a quartette skipped by Mrs. H. W. Kochs, of Chicago, who defeated a Lindsay four skipped by Mrs. L. Perkine, 7-6.

Hawks Defeat the Eagles In Hard-Fought Tilt To Stay In First Position

BELLEVILLE, Dec. 8—Completely outplayed for two periods' the Peterborough Eagles desperate third period rally failed to overcome a three-goal lead and the local Hawks regained the Senior "B" group leadership with a 3-2 victory, here last night. The Hawks win coupled with the Peterborough Petes 8-3 defeat of Kingston in Peterborough forces a three-way tie for second place in the four-team group standing.

It was Hawks all the way for the first two periods, and only the performance of Nicholls in the Eagles net, which was little short of sensational, especially in the second chukker, held the score to its low level.

The local Senior B squad, reverting back to its early season hard checking style of hockey stymied the speedy Eagles front lines for 40 minutes. In the second period they hemmed the Eagles behind their own blue line for six straight minutes while Nicholls reached almost sensational heights in turning back the goal-hungry Hawks.

Ross Starred

Big Vern Goyer was in alone on Nicholls on four separate occasions, but the Peterborough veteran coolly outguessed the group's leading goalgetter.

It was clean, hard and fast hockey all the way through. The desperate Eagles finally got the puck by Lefort early in the thrid chukker and that seemed to spark them to greater efforts.

The third period was clearly a battle of the goalies. The Eagles had the better of the play scoring two goals to come within striking distance and Lefort in the Hawks net stood out with his fine stopping of hot Eagle rubber. By the same token Nicholls, the hardest worked man on the ice all night, repeated his first and second period performance with another fine display.

With 39 seconds to go Coach Ned Vitarelli yanked Nicholls from the Eagles' net. A few seconds later he was back as the Hawks hurled back the Eagles' threat.

Referee Bil Reason held the hockey faction down to strict business. He issued 13 penalties but all were of the minor type, with seven going to the Hawks.

The game was halted for several minutes during the third period when Referee Reason had to go to a dressing room for repairs after he stopped a high stick with his lip. He came back with one stitch, and a taped mouth.

A Swell Game

Nearly 1,300 fans saw one of the better hockey games of the senior "B" season. They stood on their feet in the second period and gave Nicholls in the Eagles net, well-deserved applause. He earned it.

An inspired Hawks' team carried play from the start and had a wide edge in the first period. Over 13 minutes had gone, with Nicholls the hero, before Vern Goyer finally batted in the puck from a scramble to open the scoring. Surging to the attack the Hawks scored their second goal in 20 seconds when Keith MacDonald batted home the rubber from a goal mouth scramble.

The second period was scoreless with the Hawks practically skating Eagles into the ice for six minutes, but there was too much Nicholls.

It looked like the game was on ice when the Hawks surging again to the attack scored their third goal before two minutes had elapsed when Keith MacDonald slashed home the rubber on what looked like Vern Goyer's assist.

Three minutes later, Slater took Wooton's pass from close in to break the duck egg. Play speeded up with Eagle roaring to the attack. Vitarelli cut the margin to one with a minute to go on a neat combined play with Montgomery and Crowley. The Hawks staved off any further efforts.

Keith MacDonald was one of the best players on the ice scoring two Hawk goals with Vern Goyer, another star, getting the other. Bastedo played a fine game for the Hawks on defence while Lefort also turned in an outstanding effort. Slater and Vitarelli were the Eagles' snipers.

The teams:

Belleville: Goal, Leforte; defence, Semark, Bastedo; centre, Goyer; wings, Moher, MacDonald; subs, Jones, Desjardins, Barrett, Doran, Wardhaugh, Day, Reeves.

Eagles, Nicholls; defence, Montgomery, Munro; centre, Hill; wings, Crowley, Vitarelli subs, F. Mortimer, Greenlaw, Stewart, Parnall, Brahis, Slater, D. Mortimer, Wootton.

Referee: Bill Reason.

Summary:

First Period

Hawks—Goyer 13:34
Hawks—MacDonald 18:18
Penalties — Wardhaugh, Doran, Moher, Montgomery, Munro.

Second Period

No score.
Penalties—Day, Semark, Munro, D. Mortimer, Montgomery.

Third Period

Hawks—MacDonald 1:44
Eagles—Slater (Wootton) 4:33
Eagles—Vitarelli (Montgomery, Crowley) 18.24
Penalties—Jones, Semark, Munro.

We have two important bonspiels coming up within the next few weeks, and are just reminding curlers to keep the dates open:

Saturday, Dec. 29—The Examiner Trophy, men's rinks, schedule calibre.

Saturday, Jan. 5—The Canada Packers Trophy, men's rinks, open.

In both these 'spiels 28 entries are needed for a complete draw. Give your entry to any member of the committee.

Mrs. T. Doughty, Mrs. G. Wood, Mrs. J. Fanning and Mrs. H. Dulmage are playing at the Toronto ladies' curling club next Monday in the ladies' open bonspiel for the Malcolmson Trophy. Mrs. Doughty's rink won this trophy last season and hopes to repeat this year. Also entered in the same 'spiel is Mrs. V. Selkirk, Mrs. J. Watts, Mrs. M. Holt and Mrs. M. McCartney.

OHA Tosses Out Appeal Of 9 Kingston Players Against Hockey Suspensions

TORONTO, Dec. 8—(CP)—The appeal of nine Kingston hockey players against suspensions levied for alleged participation in a fixed hockey series was tossed out early today by the Ontario Hockey Association. The executive questioned the group for more than five hours, all of them suspended following investigation of charges that Kingston Nylons hockey club threw a league final series to Peterborough Petes last spring.

The discussion lasted until nearly 2 am and there were indications that although some members of the OHA executive believed some of the nine might be innocent, there was no means of distinguishing them from the guilty parties.

The nine players, who were accompanied by their lawyer, were: Buddy Aitken, suspended for two years; and Walter Gerow, Ken Partis, Jack McEown, Fred Harrison, Joe Watts, Glenn Udall, Bob Joyce and Kenny Potts, all suspended for one season. Affidavits of innocence were in the hands of OHA secretary Bill Hanley.

Similar Stories

When questioned separately every one of the nine told similar stories of the "party" following the last scheduled game which earned the Nylons a playoff with the Peterborough club. It was at this party that the plan for throwing the series was said to have been made.

George Dudley, secretary of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association, remarked that the strong feature of the situation was that none of the nine players ever had voiced any indignation at being accused of throwing a game.

OHA president Jack Roxburgh said: "Not one boy came into the previous hearing mad at being charged falsely. Everyone had a story and stuck with it, but in spite of that there were actual cases of lies and reversals of statements."

Lorne Cook and Dinty Moore, two other executive members, cautioned that there appeared to be some members of the group who were innocent. Cook blamed team manager E. L. McKnight and coach George Patterson. "A lot of the younger boys didn't realize what was going on," Cook said.

Both McKnight and Patterson were suspended for life.

May Settle Panther Rumpus Shortly

TORONTO, Dec. 8 (CP). —A rumpus between promoter Sam Manson of Hamilton and acting secretary Tommy Alison of the Canadian Rugby Union may be smoothed out today.

The dispute is over the status of Hamilton Panthers, who defeated St. Boniface Legionnaires 18-0 at Hamilton last Saturday for what was billed as the Canadian intermediate rugby championship.

Alison said Friday night that the Panthers are not the official Canadian champions as no challenge was received through the CRU office. Manson said at Hamilton he'd been assured by CRU president Meyer Insky that the Panthers "are most certainly the champions."

The rhubarb began with Manson issuing a statement that the CRU had demanded a financial statement for the contest and that the request was "unmitigated gall."

The game attracted some 8,000 spectators who paid more than $8,000. Manson said a cheque for $3,000 had been mailed to the St. Boniface club, which had been guaranteed $2,000 for making the trip. Panthers, who had been about $2,000 in the red, wouldn't have much left after other expenses were paid.

Jump On Bandwagon

Manson, chairman of the committee which promoted the game, said "We were told the CRU wouldn't have a thing to do with it. They wouldn't help us one bit. . . . It was a success and now the CRU is trying to jump on the bandwagon. They will get a statement over my dead body."

Alison said he couldn't understand the excitement over the letter, sent 10 days ago.

"We do not want any of their money," he said. "But in the interests of keeping CRU records straight and complete, I simply asked Sam Manson to let me have a statement."

Replying to Manson's remark that the CRU didn't want anything to do with the game, Alison declared that the CRU tarpaulin was loaned for the game and CRU crests were provided for the players of the winning team.

Manson, who is also one of the holders of the Big Four franchise in Hamilton, said it was planned to make the intermediate final an annual affair run strictly by the local Hamilton committee.

If the CRU wanted to take it over it would "cost them something like $10,000 because that is what it would have cost if the people of Hamilton had not been so generous in giving us prizes, meals for the bands and just about everything we asked for."

Afison commented: "Perhaps he forgets there are 15 other teams that have a right to have the game if they can finance it."

Caps Top Reds 5-2 For Fourth Time

PROVIDENCE, RI, Dec. 8 (AP) —Indianapolis Capitals, winners of only six of their American Hockey League starts, Friday night topped Providence Reds for the fourth time 5-2 before 2,469 fans.

Veteran Ed Bruneteau and Enio Sclisizzi, scored Indianapolis tallies before and after Jack Stoddard, the league's top scorer, notched the first Providence goal.

During the third period Earl Reibel scored twice and Larry Wilson once before Jack McGill provided the second Providence marker with less than three minutes remaining.

Crippled Leafs May Be Victims

By The Canadian Press.

The "hungry" clubs of the National Hockey League may get their chance this weekend.

The New York Rangers and Chicago Black Hawks, who have been batting each other in and out of the league cellar all season, may make the most of the occasion when they take on the crippled Toronto Maple Leafs.

The Chihawks, who have a few casualties themselves, showed an animation that impressed railbirds in their practice session Friday at Toronto's Maple Leaf Gardens.

The last-place Rangers, with a new coaching hand at the helm, encounter Leafs Sunday night.

Coach Ebbie Goodfellow of the Hawks, moaning over an injury list that includes forwards Max McNab, Pat Lundy and Fred Hucul, said he was calling up Harry Taylor, former Leafs farmhand, from St. Louis of the American League.

For their part the Leafs called on Tim Horton from Pittsburgh to bolster their depleted team.

On the ailing list are forwards Howie Meeker, Danny Lewicki and Rudy Migay and defenceman Bill Juzda.

New York's Hapless Rangers, who have won six of 23 games, have nothing to lose when they face Toronto. They may be fired to excel themselves by the presence of their new coach, Bill Cook, scheduled to reach New York today from Saskatoon.

Barrie Wallops Biltmores 9-2 As Dutchmen Clip Indians 10-7

By The Canadian Press.

Hap Emms' hot and cold Barrie Flyers came up with one of their best Ontario Hockey Association Junior A performances Friday night and delighted a home crowd by walloping first-place Guelph Biltmores 9-2.

The victory moved Barrie into eighth place in the 10-team standings and left Guelph tied with Toronto Marlboros for the league leadership.

In Kitchener, the fifth-place Greenshirts whipped the cellar-dwelling Windsor Spitfires 10-5.

The border city crew has won only three games in OHA Junior A play this season.

Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen put an end to Stratford Indians' unbeaten home record in the OHA Senior A Friday night when they set the first-place club down 10-7. The win moved the Dutchmen into a second-place tie with Hamilton Tigers who dropped a 7-3 decision to Owen Sound in Hamilton. It was the Tigers' fifth straight loss.

Sailors Score Win

At Brantford it was Sarnia Sailors who showed their heels to the Redmen and pounded out a 7-4 victory. The win over the Senior A tail-end club kept Sarnia in a fourth-place deadlock with Owen Sound.

Up north, Sudbury Miners climbed into second place in the Northern Ontario Hockey Association Senior A standings with a 5-4 overtime victory over league-leading Sault Ste. Marie Greyhounds. The win moved the Miners to within three points of the Sault club.

Dan MacDonald Dave Whalen and Bob White paced Barrie's 9-2 junior win with a pair of goals each. Doug Mohns, Paul Emms and Danny O'Connor counted singletons for the winners while Ron Murphy and Dean Prentice scored for Guelph.

Herb Dares led the Kitchener Greenshirts' 10-5 win over Windsor with two goals while one each went to Joe Ingoldsby, Garry Edmundson, Ron Austin, Art Jarvis, Herb Simon, Dino Candido, Orval Tessier and Frank Toyota. Bobby Brown countered three for the Spits while Jack Miller and Rod McElroy scored the others.

Bang In Goals

Ed Stankiewicz, Bill Mitchell, Robbie Schnurr and Harvey Jacklin banged in a brace of goals each as the Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen came through with their 10-7 senior victory over Stratford Indians. Jim Pernfuss and Art Hurst each scored once. Billy Flick, George Aitken and Mickey Roth lit the red light twice each for Stratford while Jack White scored the other single.

At Brantford where the Sarnia Sailors won 7-4, Harry O'Connor and Bill Cotterell were the winners' two-goal boys while Don Emms, Charlie Glaab and Stew Cousins scored singletons. Joe Holoty and Billy Taylor tallied two each for the Redmen.

Mike Bukacheski notched three goals to lead the Owen Sound Mercurys to their 7-3 victory at Hamilton. Buck Forslund, Harry Kazarian, Joe Rypka and Andy Grant added the others. Hamilton Tigers marksmen were Bill Hammond, Paul Miocinovich and Ab Conick.

Split Decision In Rowdy DeMarco Battle

By MURRAY ROSE

NEW YORK, Dec. 8 — (AP) — Billygoat Paddy De Marco, who butts with the most angelic look on his face, was aiming for a title shot with lightweight champion Jimmy Carter today following his split decision over featherweight king Sandy Sadler.

As for Sandy, he still was spluttering with rage over the tug-of-war, wrestling match, judo exhibition and part-time boxing contest he and the Brooklyn battering ram staged at Madison Square Garden Friday night. Any resemblance to the fine points of boxing was purely co-incidental.

Tears trickled from the infuriated Saddler's eyes as he stormed into his dressing room and declared, "I'm through—this is my last fight.

"What do they want me to do?" said the tall Negro, "go in and beat a man down to win a decision?"

"I wasn't rough," said De Marco with a grin on his face. "Saddler is rough. He can't fight any other way. My corner told me to let him be the tough guy."

Changes Mind

Saddler, of course, soon changed his mind about retiring.

Referee George Walsh voted for De Marco, a 3-to-2 underdog, by an 8-1-1 count. Judge Harold Barnes also had Paddy the winner, by 6-4. The other judge, Frank Forbes, scored for Saddler, 6-3-1. The Associated Press' score card had De Marco in front, 6-3-1. De Marco had a six pound weight edge, 136 to 130.

"De Marco sat down deliberately twice without being hit," stormed Sandy's manager, Charley Johnston. "He should have been disqualified for that. He turned his back not only once but three times. He ducked out and grabbed the ropes. He did all the pushing and holding."

"Saddler pushed De Marco to the canvas twice," said the referee who had a very busy evening. He warned Saddler in the first minute and admonished him at least seven times. He told off De Marco at least three times. The gladiators hit on the break, held and hit, heeled, butted and broke almost every rule in the book.

Moses As Nation Builder

By WILLIAM GILROY, D.D.

It is one thing to deliver a people from bondage, but another thing to build them into a strong, sound, and prosperous nation.

It was a lesson that Moses learned, and it is a lesson that we are learning in these modern days of world war, when, as is often said, it is possible to win a victory and lose the peace. War in a sense represents conditions of bondage, while peace represents conditions of freedom, safety, and prosperity.

We know to what extent the peace was lost after the victory of World War I, and we realize full well how much of the peace has been lost since World War II, though hope is strong that through alliance and treaties we may yet retrieve that loss, and build safely for the future.

It was the distinction of Moses that he was not only a deliverer, but also a builder. He encountered all the dangers, difficulties, and delays of reconstruction, the waywardness and rebelliousness of the people, and the forty years of wandering in the wilderness—fewer years than the world in this Twentieth Century has wandered in a wilderness of war and fear.

In the Old Testament, and the New Testament as well, it is Moses who is recognzied as the founder and builder of the national and religious life, following the return of the people from Egypt, just as Abraham is honored as the original founder and pioneer.

One cannot tell, even after consulting the seemingly best authorities, how much of Jewish law and ritual was based upon the original foundation that Moses laid, but it is notable that the authority of Moses was attributed to whatever came later.

What were some of the stones in that national foundation that Moses laid?

First and basic, I think, was the insistence upon racial and national unity as the essential means of strength and preparedness. It was sought to achieve this by strong interdiction against mixed marriages, and by utter destruction of enemies (See Deuteronomy 2: 34; Numbers 31:9, 17) Though such measures seem unjust, the principle of unity is sound; no nation with intermingled races can be strong unless all elements are built into one united people. This is particularly true in the United States and Canada.

Moses built upon the foundation of religion. Even if the harshness of various measures was decreed to prevent the infiltration of idolatry, and the running of the people after strange gods, the integrity of religious life, allowing for freedom of faith, must be as valid today as it was then.

Much, undoubtedly, in law and ritual was directed toward the maintenance of good health in the individual and in society, hygienic measures such as every community needs. Much, also, was designed to prevent social abuses, the strong over-riding the weak, and anti-social acts of immorality and unneighborliness.

How much the world needs a Moses!
